Ernest Hemingway is back from Africa, where he shot a lion and a magazine publishes his picture, looking something like Wallace-Beery-Pancho-Villa, posing with the lion....Hemingway explains the difference between hunting and "shootism." If it's "shootism," you drive up to a lion and shoot him from an automobile. That's easy because the lion isn't afraid of automobiles and doesn't know you're going to shoot him. But hunting lions is driving up to a lion in an automobile and getting out and having the automobile go away and then shooting the lion. That way you give the lion a little chance, because if you miss him and he charges you may get badly mauled or he may chew your head off.... Perhaps you see the difference, although you may not see why a distinguished American author should take the trouble to go all the way to Africa to make an unprovoked attack on a lion—or even to pat one on the back. Although, as far as the Browser can see, he would be much prouder of going to Africa and tickling a wild lion with a flower, as Eric Wells, who wrote "Lions Wild and Friendly," did—than to stand off and kill him with a rifle ....But of course the Browser isn't one of those he-men and perhaps he has no right to say what he thinks....Perhaps he shouldn't say, either, that he was disappointed in Storm Jameson's new book, "Company Parade." That disappointment makes him a fickle fellow, because only a few months ago he was her best friend and most unsevere critics...."Company Parade" is the first of five or six novels in which, Miss Jameson says, "an attempt, necessarily incomplete, is made to depict the contemporary scene." She means the contemporary scene in England because she has no great love for these United States....The family name of all the books is to be "The Mirror in Darkness"....The chief complaint the Browser has against "Company Parade", which many critics praise so highly, is Storm Jameson's lack of inventiveness. As he read the book, which is about a young woman working in an advertising agency, with an unfaithful, worthless husband around occasionally, and her little son in the country, and she trying to become a successful novelist, the Browser had the feeling continuously that he had read all this before....And he had. ....Either in the Mary Hansyke Hervey trilogy, or in her novel, "Three Kingdoms" or in her short autobiography..Mary Hervey's husban was unfaithful to her; so is Hervey Russell's husband; and they both cry every night for a year.... The woman in "Three Kingdoms" tries to be wife, career-woman and mother—and fails. Hervey Russell tries the same thing and doesn't do so well, either....So it goes.... And if Storm Jameson didn't write so well, and didn't have such passionate bitter wisdom and such a fierce desire for a better world and such contempt for the predatory folk of this one, the Browser wouldn't read her..He recommends this book to all those who haven't read her books before; perhaps they'd better read the trilogy—"Lovely Ship" "Voyage Home" and "Richer Dust"—first anyway.

The Browser admits that he had great difficulty putting down Ray Shermans "If You Want to Get Ahead"....but finally, with a great psychic wrench, he closed the book, snapped out the light, and tried to go to sleep, with his poor brain reeling with grand resolutions for getting ahead and making something of his life.

ON THIS DATE

A DAY IN CANADIAN HISTORY

By Fred Williams

THE U.E.L. CENTENNIAL

On this date, in 1884 there began the celebrations in Ontario of the centenary of the coming of the Loyalists to Upper Canada a hundred years before. There were three such celebrations, the first at Adolphustown beginning June 14th and lasting four days; the second at Toronto on July 3; and a third at Niagara on August 14.

That at Adolphustown began with the laying of the corner stone of a U.E.L. Methodist Church on the site of the frame church which had replaced the original Hay Bay church (abondoned in 1860). On the Sunday morning there were special services at St. Paul's, Adolphustown, and at the Anglican church at Fredericksburg, while in the afternoon another service was held at the original burying ground. On the Monday people thronged in from all sections, bringing their bands with them. There was a great mass of meeting of descendants of Loyalists, followed by the laying of the corner stone of St. Alban's church by Hon. John Beverley Robinson, then lieutenant governor, with these words:

"We lay this stone of foundation to the honor and glory of God, in memory of the United Empire Loyalists, who, one hundred years ago, laid the corner stone of our province in peace and righteousness and in loyalty to the British crown."

Another permanent memorial of the centennial was a cenotaph, the corner stone of which was laid with Masonic ceremonies, and which bears this inscription.

"In memory of the U.E. Loyalists, who, through loyalty to British institutions, left the United States and landed on these shores the 16th day of June, 1784."

This year the U.E.L. sesqui-centennial is to be celebrated in the Bay of Quinte district by a three days of worship and festivities at Belleville, which will be thronged with the descendants of the Loyalists.

THE MOON

BY H. W. L. MAHOOD

By H. W. L. MaHood

THE MOON

The Moon is an attractive dresser. Its garb is every day different. At times it looks small. At other times it is large. When low down and near the horizon it appears as large as a washtub. When higher up in the sky it seems much smaller. The enlargement and the dimidation are apparent and not real. In the autumn it puts on seasonable garments. Usually the atmosphere on autumnal days and nights carries more mist and fog than on summer hours. Then the moon dresses in a charming red garment. Lowell wrote Prometheus:

And I looked
And saw the red Moon through the heavy mist,
Just setting, and it seemed as if it were falling,
Or reeling to its fall, so dim and dead
And palsey-struck it looked.

In Brownings poem, "The Ring and the Book," an old Italian story is told by twelve persons, each in his own way; but such is the dramatic genius of the poet that each version resembles the others only as different men look alike, or as the landscape now blossoming and green and a little later buried in snow is still same Canada. These different versions of the same story in "The Ring and the Book," are among the most extraordinary feats or tours de force in literature. The variety of the Moon's appearances proclaims the Master hand that made them so.

Baroness Orczy, in Petticoat Rule, pictures, "A fair crescent Moon, chaste and cold," far away to the East beyond the grim outline of cedar and poplar trees," at eleven o'clock on a June evening.

Character From Handwriting

By BLANCHE A. DRAPER

A Feature Conducted by Peterborough's Leading Handwriting Analyist for the Readers of The Examiner

Full name and address (complete) must be given in all samples sent in.

Brian Gilbert Hancock,
R.R. No. 1, Norwood, Ont.

Your handwriting indicates impulsiveness and shows that you are inclined to become easily impatient. You are energetic, but not forceful, there is a faculty for grasping ideas noted in the manner in which your small letters form themselves. I might explain, that although you readily grasp the fundamentals and do the explaining, and you are concise about it, yet you do not always put your idea across.' It perhaps would be a great deal better for you, if you would allow yourself to go into detail more, for the benefit of others who cannot read your mind. You have good business ability, and you are magnetic. You do not appear to be quite as confident in your own ability to accomplish things as you might be. You should try to remember that a man is, only as he thinks he is. You are discreet, humorous and lively. You are fond of fun and you are a careful, and fastidious dresser. Your number is 3. Your birthsign Aries the Ram. You are ruled by Mars. June and July your most fortunate months. Tuesday your lucky day.

Irma Olive Jewison,
R.R. No. 1, Baliiebero, Ont.

Your handwriting indicates that you are artistically inclined. You are secretive and conservative and carefully guard anything concerning your own affairs. Your disposition is changeable according to circumstances and people, but you are happy-go-lucky and congenial. Your friends think you are a good sport, and so you are, but certain types of people make you impatient. This is because you are such a quick thinker and lack patience with those who cannot grasp facts as readily as you do. The capital letters show that you are fond of good music. The fine definite pressure of the small letter formations reveal discriminating taste and refinement. You are not what one would term argumentative, yet you like to have 'full say' in matters in which you are interested. You are not gishing in your affections but you prove a 'real friend' to those who enjoy the pleasure of your friendship. Your sign is Pisces the Fishes. You are ruled by Neptune. May and June are your most fortunate months. Saturday your lucky day. 5 is your number.

Lenore Desi,
Keene, Ont.

Your handwriting reveals kind-hearted characteristics. You are very friendly and sympathetic. You seem to appreciate that life is not lived for one's self, but must be shared with those who are less fortunate. Nursing or teaching might appeal to one with your splendid sense of proportion but business interests might also be undertaken with much success. Your disposition is fine and even, and if you have occasion to remonstrate with someone, you do so quickly, decidedly and without preamble, then forget the incident. You are an interesting individual, genial and clever. You have a will-power of your own, and should be quite well able to plan work for others to execute. You are agreeable and adaptable, courteous and very discreet. You are loyal to your friends. You are quite sensible, industrious and persevering. Your general character is excellent. You have many well expressed qualifications, but the chief of these is your honest and friendly nature. 6 is your number. You are ruled by Mercury, and Virgo the Virgin is your birthsign. February and November your fortunate months and Wednesday your lucky day.

NEW YORK, June 14 (C P.).—Stocks quietly backed and filled at lower levels to-day. Speculative interest was stagnant and the late tone was somewhat heavy. Auburn Motors showed a loss of around 3 points, while shares down a point or so included U.S. Steel, Santa Fe, American Telephone, National Biscuit, and Dupont.

Transfers approximated 525,000 shares.

NICKEL SOFTENS TODAY'S TRADE

Brewery, Distillery, Construction and Utility Issues Ease Down Slightly.

STEEL GROUP DROPS.

TORONTO, June 14. CP). Slow all day and mildly unsteady in the early trading, industrial shares drifted down narrowly in the closing ptriod. Nickel showed a drop of about 30 cents, Brazilian ¼ and Smelters a full point. Brewery, distillery, construction and utility issues eased down and the morning strength in the steel group was diluted by afternoon losses in Page Hersey and Pressed Metals.

Distillery stocks had their slowest day in many weeks and they closed with losses of ⅛ to ¼ for Industrial Alcohol and Distillers Seagram. Brewery shares followed the trend with Brewing Corporation common showing the only turnover of any importance. Canada Bud dropped ⅝ and Canada Malting, selling ex-dividend, was down ⅜.

WINNIPEG, June 14.—Slight losses took place in all grains today but in wheat there was some support during the day on the breaks. There was a fair demand for cash wheat with good enquiry slightly under the market. Naturally the rains through the west was no encouragement to investors today. Coarse grains came in for a little liquidation but prices moved up from the low with good buying for all of the list.

Broker's Opinions

Pearl & Co.—We do not expect advance carry into materially higher ground without being forced to absorb some profit taking from time to time.

Munds, Winslow & Potter—Think market has consolidated its position and that a further rapid extension of the advance is imminent.

E. A. Pierce—Admittedly, the list is negotiating a difficult level of resistance but chances of success are it would seem better than fair.

MINING ISSUES RETAIN FIRMNESS

Some of the Cheaper Golds Close Higher on Heavy Volume—Base Metals Steady.

TORONTO, June 14 (C.P.).—Mining shares maintained a show of firmness till the close to-day despite a noticeable attitude of cautiousness on the part of traders and a bearish tingle to the market news. Only scattered trading appeared in the big gold shares, with Bralorne holding the main interest. Some of the cheaper golds, including McKenzie, Red Lake, Howey, Gunnar Gold and Creene Stabell, gave a buoyant exhibition and closed higher on heavy volume. Base metal and silver stocks were barely steady.

Heavy buying in Bralorne, apparently on the strength of its dividend prospects, failed to produce a rise, the price closing unchanged at 14.60. Pioneer recorded a small recession as did also Dome, McIntyre and Teck Hughes.

San Antonio worked higher in the morning session, recovering most of the loss sustained on Wednesday but it was up only about 10 cents at the close.

60TH ASSEMBLY

report of the judicial committee and aproved by the assembly. "It is realized now the Presbyterian Church does exist, has existed and will continue to exist to carry out the principles of Presbtyerianism in Canada," said Mr. Rowat, urging the time was not opportune to go to the legislatures with request for such a board due to recent unfavorable court decisions.

Publications Untouched

The Assembly decided to leave the business of Presbyterian Publications in the hands of Rev. N. A. MacEachern, Toronto, and allow the profits to accumulate in the meantime. A committee will report to next year's Assembly on the matter of church assuming control of the organization.

"We don't want the publications to become an ecclesiastical football," said Mr. MacEachern in presenting his report.

Retention of Dr. A. S. Reid, Toronto, as secretary of the Budget Committee as long as his services are needed. When his work is no longer required he is to revert to his position as synodical secretary at Montreal.

Approval was given a motion by Rev. A. J. Graham, Thorold, Ont., that Assembly thank Rev. William Barclay, Hamilton, for his work as deputy acting principal of Knox College and thank his congregation for allowing him to hold the position.

HALIFAX, June 14.—(C.P.)—Sergeant N. A. MacCalder was examining applicants for a job on the Halifax police force when a husky negro stepped up.

"Are you an applicant?" the sergeant asked.

"No, sir," came the quick reply, "I'm a Baptist."

The list of candidates was reduced by one.

The party then turned to walked toward a waiting motorboat a short distance away, Hitler close at Mussolini's right. Scores of plainclothesmen and Fascists were grouped about the field.

Troops Salute

Troops at the boat landing presented arms smartly as the statesmen prepared to go aboard.

The husky Mussolini helped the slighter Hitler onto the boat. Bearing a huge Nazi flag, the motorboat moved rapidly acrosss the lagoon, receiving salutes from a squadron of destroyers as it passed. The lagoon gleamed under a brilliant sun and a bright blue sky.

Norris Williamson Is Acquitted of Criminal Negligence

JURY SENT BACK WHEN REPORTED NON-AGREEMENT

Trial Arose Out of Death of John Allison, Young Cyclist.

EYE WITNESS ON STAND.

Jury Reached Agreement After Hour and Half of Deliberation.

Norris Williamson, 24-year-old local car mechanic, was acquitted yesterday afternoon of a charge of criminal negligence by a jury before Judge R. N. Ruddy, of Whitby, acting Judge of Peterborough County, the jury return.ng with its verdict of not guilty after an hour and a half of deliberation.

At one stage the jury reported that it could not agree and it looked as though a new trial might be necessary. However, Judge Ruddy instructed them to return to the jury room and "try to reach an agreement." Twenty minutes later, at 6 o'clock, the jury brought out its unanimous verdict.

The case arose from the fatal accident on the evening of March 16 near the corner of George and Dublin streets in which John Allison, 18, a cyclist, was injured when struck by a car driven by Williamson.

Crown Attorney V. J. McElderry, K.C., conducted the prosecution and Hon. G. N. Gordon, K.C., the defence.

Mr. Gordon in addressing the jury urged that Williamson had acted in the accident as any reasonable and careful car driver would act when confronted with a similar situation. He maintained that there was no evidence that the accused had shown wilful neglect or misconduct in driving the car.

Mr. McElderry argued that by Williamson's own admission that he had been momentarily blinded by the headlights of an approaching car while passing another car going in his own direction, he should never have tried to pass the car and therefore had been wilfully neglectful under meaning of the criminal code.

Arthur Rhodes, first witness, told of informing Norris Williamson on the evening of March 16 to go to his home and repair some mechanical trouble that had developed in his car.

Dr. Herbert Young stated that he had performed a post mortem on the body of John Allison and in his opinion death was due to a completely severe bowel suffered in the crash and shock. Dr. G. R. Scott, who had taken part in the post mortem, substantiated Dr. Young's testimony.

Eye Witness on Stand

Roland Penrose, merchant, explained that he was driving his car south on George street with Raymond Delahaye as passenger in the front seat. Near the Dublin street intersection another car, driven by Williamson, turned out from behind him to pass. "Ie was going about 20 miles an hour and the speed of the car passing me, I judge, was about 30 miles per hour," he stated.

Just as the car passed he saw the headlights shine on a bicycle just ahead of it. Then he heard the crash of the car hitting the bicycle, the accident occurring just north of the Dublin street intersection. The car driven by Williamson came to rest about 150 feet south of the Dublin street crossing on its wrong side.

Mr. Penrose said the bicycle was lying about six or seven feet from the east curb just on the edge of the ice on that side. The boy's body was carried across the Dublin street intersection by the car driven by Williamson.

Raymond Delahaye, passenger in the Penrose car, substantiated the previous evidence, also estimating the speed of Williamson's car at 30 miles per hour. He said there was ice along both sides of the road out several feet from the curb.

Heard the Crash

Robert Lovering, student at the Normal School, said he heard the crash. He was in a house on George street near Dublin street where he was boarding, but went out on the roadway and found the injured boy lying on the road. He said the front left headlight of the car had its glass shattered and the nickel top of the radiator was dented.

Allen Harper, who was in the house with the previous witness, gave similar testimony.

Constable William Piercy said he investigated the accident, arriving on the scene about 8.20. Williamson told him that he had had an accident and run into a boy on a bicycle. He found pieces of glass, from a shattered headlight, on the roadway, the most northerly piece being 50 feet north of Dublin street intersection. He found other pieces along to the position where the car stopped, about seven feet from the curb. He found blood on the curb 145 feet south of the place where he picked up the first piece of glass.

Condition of Road

He described the condition of the road, stating that along each curb there was ice, but there was a bare part along the centre portion 19 feet wide. He took the police car to the scene of the accident and driving at 22 miles per hour stopped it in 50 feet. From the place where he picked up the first piece of glass to where Williamson's car had stopped measured 141 feet. Test of the car driven by Williamson showed it to have good brakes.

This closed the case for the Crown.

Ernest Williamson, father of the accused, said his son was 24 years of age and was an experienced and careful motor car driver.

Norris Williamson, accused, told of following the Penrose car down George street and deciding to pass it. "The speed of the other car was approximately 20 miles an hour and speeded up to around 25 30 miles an hour to pass it," he said.

Blinded by Lights

"When I drew up to pass it, I noticed another car coming north about two blocks away. There appeared to me to be nothing else ahead of me. I had a clear road and could easily pass the Penrose car. As I drew out to pass, however, the headlights of the car down the street dazzled my eyes for a moment. One of its headlights must have been out of focus."

He stated that the Penrose car was travelling just west of the centre of the road, and in passing witness's right hand wheels were about on the centre of the roadway.

"I saw the bicycle in a flash just a car length ahead of me. I couldn't do a thing to prevent the accident. If I had turned right I would have had an accident with the Penrose car. The bicycle struck on the left front side of the car. I saw the boy's body going over my left fender. I stopped the car as soon as I could on the left side of the road."

He stated that the cyclist was trying to keep away from the ice that came out 6 or 7 feet on the east curb. He gave his opinion that the boy could have turned to the east and have avoided the accident.

Should Not Have Passed

Under cross-examination, Mr. McElderry asked, "Isn't it right that if the headlights of the car approaching from the sun dazzled your eyes you should not have attempted to pass the Penrose car?"

William answered, "Yes, sir."

He admitted that under similar circumstances he would have failed to see a pedestrian crossing the road and would probably have struck such a pedestrian. After seeing the cyclist, he said he had no time to do anything and did not apply his brakes before hitting him.

Rev. A. E. Moorhouse, Alfred Brummel, A. G. Church and George Cuffe all testified that Williamson had the reputation of being a careful driver.

Members of the jury were: George Morrison, North Monaghan; Andrew Magee, Asphodel; John McColl, Asphodel; Douglas Loomis, 309 Pearl Avenue; Stewart Lang, Otonabee; Robert Tedford, Norwood; J. N. MacFarlane, Otonabee; William Shield, 138 Antrim street; Harry Manley, Otonabee; Archie Kempt, Otonabee; R. Hamilton, Dummer; William Kitchen, Belmont and Methuen.

LAKEFIELD, June 14 (Examiner Correspondence).—On Wednesday, June 6th, a quiet wedding was solemnized at the Parsonage of the Lakefield United Church, with Rev. W. R. Archer, B.A., officiating, when Irene, younger daughter of Mr. Aaron Davis and the late Mrs. Davis of Smith, was united in marriage to Rufus Bullock, son of Mr. and Mrs. Josiah Bullock of Young's Point. Miss Elizabeth Burgess of Orono attended the bride, and Mr. Milford Bullock was the best man. A reception was held after the ceremony at the home of the bride. Mr. and Mrs. Bullock will reside in Smith.

Protecting Your Northern Birthright—

WHAT does the Ontario mining industry mean to the people of Ontario?

What would be the result of a slowing up of production, a decrease in development work or a halting of prospecting for new properties?

How would it affect the workers in the factories of Old Ontario? How many of them would be thrown out of employment?

How many manufacturers would be forced to curtail operations and cut down payrolls if, instead of the steadily increasing markets in the North which have resulted from the sound, progressive policies of the Conservative government and its Mines' Minister, Hon. Charles McCrea, something were to happen which would result in a slowing up of production?

Would the farmer be affected?

ARE PERTINENT QUESTIONS

These are questions which every voter should ask before going to the polls on June 19th.

THE MINING AREA OF NORTHERN ONTARIO IN 1933 PROVIDED A MARKET FOR 97,848,000 POUNDS OF MERCHANDISE SUCH AS CLOTHING AND OTHER TEXTILE GOODS.

In addition it gave purchasing power for 65,618,000 pounds of products of the foundry and 97,848,000 pounds of other, miscellaneous manufactured goods.

It consumed 20,146,000 pounds of flour, 13,528,000 pounds of packing house and dairy products and 9,334,000 pounds of canned goods.

FIGURES ARE BELOW THE TOTAL

These figures are below the actual total. They show only what was actually carried into this area over Ontario's own Temiskaming and Northern Ontario Railway.

They take no account of the hundreds of thousands of dollars of products of the older section of the province which went into the North by truck.

ADDITIONAL BUYING POWER

But they are only a part of the picture provided by the audited statement of the T. & N. O. Railway. In addition, the following freight was carried, the greater part of the raw material finished by Ontario workers, all of it giving employment to Ontario railroaders:

Product	Pounds Carried
Coal and Coke	181,238,000
Gasoline and Oil	42,570,000
Lime and Plaster	18,918,000
Sugar	7,658,000
Salt	2,354,000
Furniture	290,000
Miscellaneous	88,428,000

KEEPING WORKERS IN JOBS

Consider what a market even these incomplete figures indicate. Think what it means to manufacturers, to the thousands of workers it has kept gainfully employed. Realize what prosperity in this newer section of the province has meant to the farmers all over Ontario.

PROSPERED UNDER CONSERVATIVES

Prosperity in the mines of Northern Ontario has been due in large measure to the progressive policies of the Liberal-Conservative government and Hon. Charles McCrea, the man it chose for its Minister of Mines.

FIGURES SHOW GROWTH

Hon. Charles McCrea was named Minister of Mines in 1923 when a Conservative government was returned to power. The following figures for the metal mines of the province show how the industry has grown during his regime:

Year	Production
1923	$44,076,000
1927	62,631,000
1931	72,452,000
1933	78,644,000

The foresight and understanding which fostered this phenomenal improvement during a period when business was undergoing the hardship of world depression resulted, in 1933, in a total of $49,000,000 being paid out in wages and dividends by the producing mines alone.

IN THESE SAME MINES EMPLOYMENT WAS GIVEN DIRECTLY TO A TOTAL OF 20,000 WORKERS.

Thousands of others were on the payrolls of prospects which have not yet reached the production stage.

NEW COMPANIES IN FIELD

How important the sympathetic policies of the Conservative government and Hon. Charles McCrea, its Mines Minister, are to the continued and increased market there for goods from the older section of the province, may be gained from the fact that last year alone charters were granted 76 new companies to carry on development work in the North.

At the coming election it is being suggested to the voters of this province that they should remove this great industry from the hands of the Hon. Charles McCrea and the Conservative government.

It is being suggested that an industry which employs 8,600 people at a payroll of $15,518,000 in the two camps of Porcupine and Kirkland Lake alone, should be delivered into the hands of a government which has not yet intimated who its mines minister will be.

Workers and manufacturers of the south are being asked to entrust a new administration with the task of safeguarding an industry which in the Sudbury district alone provides a direct market of $5,947,000 distributed among 3,848 workers.

Trusteeship of this backbone of Ontario prosperity is too important to be placed in the hands of an inexperienced administration.

Your market in the North needs the HON. CHAS. McCREA and the sound, progressive policies of the Liberal-Conservative government.

Signed: THE LIBERAL-CONSERVATIVE ASSOCIATION OF ONTARIO

Smart Showing Is Made By Collegiate Cadet Corps

INSPECTING OFFICER IS PLEASED WITH CORPS, PRIZES ARE AWARDED

No. 1 Platoon Wins Shield Presented by Daughters of Empire.

CHANCE FOR EXERCISE.

Marching and manoeuvring with the precision of trained soldiers, the cadet corps of the Peterborough Collegiate and Vocational School proudly displayed its efficiency on an inspection parade before a large crowd on Confederation Square yesterday afternoon. Capt. C. C. Mann of Kingston, district cadet officer and general staff officer of Military District No. 3, carried out the inspection.

"Due to the reputation this district has for its cadet corps I came expecting a good deal and I am glad to be able to say that I found what I expected," Capt. Mann declared in making his address to the ranks. "Your march past in column would have done credit to any trained unit considering the limited time you have for your training."

He awarded the annual Daughters of the Empire shield to No. 1 platoon under the command of Cadet Lieut. Harold Botnick as the most efficient of the four platoons in the company and singled out the bugle band and the signalling corps for special praise. Saying that the afternoon was proof of the fact that, with reasonably good material, a good instructor could turn out a high-grade corps, he paid a tribute to the supervisor of the corps' training, Capt. H. A. Craig, D.C.M., of the Collegiate staff.

Chance for Exercise

"It is a pleasure to find the Peterborough Board of Education in favor of cadet training," Capt. Mann said in conclusion. "For the boy not interested in football or other sports, it is his only chance for exercise and boys need exercise during their High School days if they are to be properly fitted for their later work."

The review of the three hundred and seventy-five boys on parade began with the inspection of the lines and then the corps marched past the saluting base in column of platoons, returned in close column and repassed in column of route under the command of Cadet Major Jack Clayton, the able O.C. of the corps. Three-quarters of an hour of company drill and platoon and section drill followed. In the meantime, the Signalling Corps displayed its efficiency by transmitting messages across the Square in both Morse and semaphore codes and the First Aid corps demonstrated a routine. A group of cadets on another section of the parade ground carried out the ceremony of changing the guard before a specially-erected guard tent.

Physical Training

Resulting from the fact that the physical training side of cadet work has been particularly stressed during the past year, a physical training demonstration by the company as a unit was one of the features of the afternoon. In open rank formation the cadets with their tunics removed, went through a brisk ten-minute period of exercises. Then, in connection with the body building side of the corps work, an exhibition of clever mat gymnastics was staged by six cadets under the direction of Ross Pulkinghorn. Hearty rounds of applause from the spectators greeted their efforts.

Cadet Lieut. Ralph Hagerman was singled out for an outstanding mark of honour as a presentation of shooting medals earned by a number of cadets during the past winter season was carried out. He was awarded the Strathcona Medal as the best marksman in the corps. Three Dominion Marksmen Association Medals—bronze, silver and a bronze Dominion of Canada Rifle Association medal also went to him.

Cadet Maurice Dunkley was awarded a gold D.C.R.A. medal and a bronze D.M.A. medal. Cadet G. Hall won a bronze and silver D.M.A. medals and a bronze D.C.R.A. token. Other recipients of medals were Cadets Donald Carr, Allan Clark, J. Hickey, S. Laing, E. Ward, H. Davidson and P. Demos.

Each officer was presented with a school crest in recognition of his services.

Congratulated

In making the presentations, Capt. Mann was assisted by E. F. Reid and Mrs. W. R. Morris, representing the Board of Education, and Principal H. R. H. Kenner. Mr. Reid congratulated the Corps on behalf of the Board expressing the opinion that the exhibition staged during the afternoon was a fitting answer to the efforts of those who have been trying to discourage cadet drill.

Commanding officer Cadet Major Clayton had for his staff Cadet Captain James Wood, second in command; Captain Harry Marsh, adjutant and Captain Kenneth McKee, quartermaster. Cadet Lieut. Walter Perry was in charge of the colours and Cadet Lieutenants Gerald Wooll and H. Rutherford in charge of the semaphore and morse sections of the signalling corps. Commander of the guard was Cadet Lieut. Griffon Young and of the First Aid unit, Cadet Lieut. Hugh Davidson. Cadet Lieut. Eric Westbye was in command of the Bugle Band.

Platoon commanders were Cadet Lieutenants Harold Botnick, Russell Rowan, James Hall and W. Ford. Cadet L'eut. Hagerman served as musketry officer.

After a route march through the business section of the city, the Corps returned to the school gymnasium for refreshments. Lindsay Collegiate Institute was represented by two cadet officers at the inspection, Cadet Capt. Hugh Beall, second in command of the L.C.I. Corps, and Cadet Lieut. Don McKee. Kee.

NOT ALFONSO BUT DON JUAN IS NOW HAILED AS KING OF SPAIN

to do with the tumultuous political situation in Spain.

The John who was meant was Don John, or Don Juan, the third son of Alfonso. Don Juan has been proclaimed king of Spain in succession and in preference to his father. Alfonso is no longer wanted. The Spanish people decided this three years ago. Now the monarchists ratify the rejection. On the king's birthday, he was notified that he does not need to expect a restoration of the monarchy is ever restored the royalists themselves want Don Juan.

"Man Sent From God"

There are two older sons of Alfonso who would ordinarily be in line for the throne. But the eldest contracted a marriage with a commoner last year, a beautiful Cuban damsel. He is ill with hemophilia, the Hessian disease which makes him bleed at the slightest bump, for those who suffer from this disease have but one skin, whereas normal persons have seven layers. The second son is a deaf-mute. Don Juan is healthy, has a good brain, is a brilliant student. He has dash, military bearing and he belives in royal dictatorships. In short, he is the home misses a Deo, the man sent from God, as the royalist journals say, to continue the glories of the Hapsburg-Bourbon family.

King Alfonso was getting ready for a journey to Rome when the disastrous news was brought to him. The king's agents had rented a palace for him in the eternal city. He has a year's lease. The king has still a large income. He is a shareholder in several armament trusts. These concerns report better business of late. Hence dividends. His majesty is also said to be interested in the amusement concessions of the fashionable summer resorts of Deauville and Biarritz on the French coasts. The Queen is rich in her own name. She brought two million pounds worth of jewels with her when she, Princess Victoria of Battenberg, or Mount Batten, married Alfonso. She carried the jewels back with her from Spain when she joined Alfonso with the children.

Conference Is Held

King Alfonso has deferred his departure for Rome. It is a different matter to be deprived of a throne by a socialistic, anarchistic, atheistic democratic rabble and to be repudiated by a gathering of the noblest, the blue-bloodiest and "decent-est" moguls of the kingdom. The king is having daily conferences at the Grand Hotel of Fontainebleau. Half the grandees of Spain are in France. I learn on the best of authority that the conferences between Alfonso and the chief nobles of Spain have been stormy. "Ca barde!" said one of the maitres d'hotel at the Grand, when he came back with an order for refreshments. "They're having a hot time!" he meant.

Alfonso XIII is furious. The queen weeps. The royal princesses go their way silently and morose in the streets of Fontainebleau. The Duke de Miranda, the king's equerry, glowers at all strangers, suspecting them of being newspaperman. Don Juan, the new king, doesn't know a thing yet about his elevation to the royal dignity. And in Spain? In Spain the new government is drawing up an economic program known as "the republican ten-year plan." Restoring the monarchy is not one of the items included in that big plan, as far as I can see.

Monarchy Not Wanted

The Madrilese royalist papers, however, are jubilant over the selection of the new king. They feel that Don Juan's dashing personality will rally many hesitant souls to the banners of the monarchy. "A young king with new ideas that's what we want!" they say.

Never was such a case of building castles in the air (castles in Spain is the French expression). It means working overtime with the imagination. The question of the restoration of the monarchy does not interest the mass of the Spanish people, in the least. It is the question of bread that dominates in the peninsula. The church would like to see the king restored, it is true. For church and monarchy shared a privileged position in the past. Church and monarchy are almost identical in Spain.

Of late the reactionary forces have rallied somewhat from the blow of the revolution. A powerful Fascist movement is growing up in Spain. Although this movement is for the church, it has no use for the monarchy. Under its influence the state has reinstated the church in much of its property. Priests also again receive a salary from the state in Spain. But the throne is vacant and no matter how the grandees rage and storm and divide pro and contra Don Juan, it looks as if Don Juan can take his time in finishing that course of training in the British navy—and then some!

Broad Exploration Casey Contact Mines

The broadscale exploration and development for CASEY CONTACT GOLD MINES getting under way marks an important addition to the growing number of mine-making efforts in the Patricia Gold area of northwestern Ontario and if similar results are secured on this property as have rewarded work on the Casey Summit Gold Mine adjoining, it may not be long before the district will be able to boast of another prospective producer.

The Patricia area has a major gold producer and dividend payer in Howey Gold, has two new producers on Central Patricia Gold Mines and J. M. Consolidated, and will shortly have another mill turning out gold bricks on the Casey Summit. Pickle Crow and McKenzie Red Lake are planning production also. Casey Contact is getting off to a good start with very favorable location, next door to a coming producer, with similar geological occurrences, and with several well mineralised veins uncovered to go to work on. In addition, the company has the benefit of the experience of H. F. Fancy, M.E., who until recently was mine manager at Casey Summit Gold Mines and is therefore thoroughly familiar with the conditions in this particular section.

McCREA DENIES LIQUOR CHARGES FROM HEPBURN

Knew Liberal Strategy Board Were Staging Roorback For 11th Hour.

"ABSOLUTELY UNTRUE."

No Fear Province Going Bankrupt—U. S. Interests Ready to Buy Hydro Says Macaulay.

TORONTO, June 24. — (CP) — More than half a dozen meetings today will find Premier George S. Henry, two of his cabinet ministers and Mitchell F. Hepburn, Ontario Liberal leader, on the political platforms again today as they enter the final round of the Ontario General election fight.

Premier Henry will speak twice today, appearing at Clinton and London while Mr. Hepburn tours the Stratford district. Hon. Charles McCrea, Ontario Minister of Mines will speak at Hamilton and Hon. T. L. Kennedy, Minister of Agriculture will deliver addresses in Tillsonburg and Norwich.

Mr. McCrea at Ottawa flatly denied Mr. Hepburn's charges which he branded "absolutely untrue." He declared they were just another "Hepburn misrepresentation and dud." Mr. McCrea said he had known "for some time that Mr. Hepburn and his board were going to create this impression as a roorbach at the 11th hour."

"I understand Mr. Hepburn and his board of strategy have for months been endeavoring to get into the files of my old friend Wright, former employment agent at Ottawa, carrying out his usual tactics to misinform the public," Mr. McCrea declared. Wright was described by Mr. Hepburn as the person Mr. McCrea assisted in placing liquor with the board.

No Toll Gate.

Wright had been a personal friend, said Mr. McCrea, and he was always willing to do anything he could legitimately to help a friend. He did not know whether Wright had made any headway in the matter of getting a brand of liquor listed with the Liquor Control Board. There was no toll-gate and neither he nor anyone connected with him received any benefits.

Charging that in his own riding of Sudbury his opponents had been seeking to embarrass him by raising the Separate School question, Mr. McCrea predicted he would be returned by the greatest majority he had ever received. The Catholic people and clergy of Sudbury were behind him, notwithstanding what his opponents might say.

"Mr. Hepburn had over-played his hand," he said. "There is no man at a bigger discount in Ontario to-day than Mitchell Hepburn." The Liberal Chief had swung so far to the left that he was a Liberal Leader in the name only. He had parted from the orthodox Liberalism of Hardy, Mowat and Ross in his attempt to link together all the discordant elements whose avowed purpose was the overthrow of the established order.

No Bankruptcy Worry.

Hon Leopold Macaulay made his final speech before the June 19 election in his South York constituency by declaring there need be no worry about Liberal fears of bankruptcy and the province's debt. He said United States private interests were ready to purchase Hydro and this valuable system, he said, would bring more than sufficient to cover the $600,000,000 debt and the investments placed in it by the Government. His reference to Hydro was made in explaining government expenditures along this line were not really adding to the debt but were producing assets for the province.

W. J. Gardhouse, Liberal candidate in West York, denied Liberals had pledged J. W. Buckley would not be opposed by them in an industrial riding in the general elections if he withdrew as C.C.F. candidate in the 1932 by-election. Buckley is the C.C.F. nominee now in West York. Mr. Gardhouse's denial was contradicted by Shaw Keith, who said members of the Liberal Party had made the pledge in his presence.

ELECTORAL LAW TO BE CHANGED UNDER NEW ACT

Franchise Act Provides For Permanent Voters' List to be Revised Yearly.

SPEED ELECTIONS.

Creates Post of Franchise Commissioner for Whole of Canada—Check Impersonation.

OTTAWA, June 14 (CP)—Important changes in the electoral law of Canada will come before the House of Commons when the new Franchise Act is introduced. It will provide for a permanent Voters' List which will be revised once a year, create the post of Franchise Commissioner for the whole of Canada and afford a check on impersonation and "telegraphing" by requiring urban voters to accompany their registration with a signed statement so that, in case of doubt, the signature may be compared.

The resolution authorizing the bill was passed yesterday and the bill will be brought down as soon as it has been finally approved by Cabinet Council. To-day the House turns again to the Shipping Bill, a bulky measure which some Liberals want left over until another year.

Advance reports to the contrary, Canadian citizens who are proficient in neither the English or French language will not be disfranchised by the bill. Such had never been the intention of the Government, Prime Minister R. B. Bennett declared. Hon. Hugh Guthrie said the Naturalization Act provided only persons with a knowledge of one of the official laguages could become Canadian citizens, but it was a fact that a considerable number of people were naturalized who lacked this knowledge.

Urges Two Enumerators

Little opposition was indicated for the bill. Hon. W. L. Mackenzie King, Liberal Leader, said he would object to the appointment of one enumerator in each district, and urge that two, representing two different parties be named in order to guard against abuses. The Prime Minister said he thought Mr. King's suggestion could be embodied in the bill.

No change is made in the actual machinery of conducting elections. The establishment of a permanent Voters' List is expected to shorten greatly the time required to prepare for an election. Whereas 60 days are now required, under the new arrangement an election could be held within 28 days after dissolution of Parliament and possibly in 24 or 25.

The Franchise Commissioner would have general charge of the franchise and the preparation of the Voter's List.

The basic list will be started immediately after prorogation of Parliament. In each constituency the Commissioner will appoint a revising officer who will have charge of preparing and revising the list which will be made in the first instance by enumeration.

The Senate yesterday appointed a standing committee on the tourist traffic. General satisfaction with the work of the special committee headed by Hon. W. H. Dennis of Halifax this year led to the action and except for the addition of Senator W. H. Sharpe to represent Manitoba the personnel of the standing committee is the same as that of the body which looked into tourist possibilities this year. All provinces are represented.

WAGES PAID TO STORE CLERKS UNDER REVIEW

provinces to the minimum set by law or close to them.

The T. Eaton Company, Limited, complies with provincial minimum wage laws, the auditor told W. W. Kennedy, Cons., Winnipeg.

"And where there is no minimum wage law, there is a tendency for wages to drop?'

"Yes."

"As indicated by wages in Saint John?"

"Yes, in Saint John and in the Montreal store which is not affected by the Quebec Minimum Wage Law."

At the same time, salaries and bonuses paid executives came down as well. In 1929, the total was $2,253,187; 1931, $1,951,336, and in 1933, $1,034,060. Both salaries and bonuses fell.

Varied Benefits

Eaton employees receive varied benefits from the company throughout the year. There are retiring allowances to certain employees which in 193 3totalled $193,731 and short term allowance to others, $121,740. Sick pay in 1933 totalled $51,254, wedding gifts, $5,433; payments to widows, $15,345, and recreation facilities, $101,526. n addiation facilities, $101,526. In addisurance, the company paying 10 per cent of the premiums and receive discounts on purchases in the stores.

Toronto Store

Wages paid in the Toronto store were under review.

Mr. Richardson, presented a series of tables showing the extent of wage reductions in recent years. Sales clerks, he said have been paid on a standard plan providing a low basic wage plus monthly commissions in excess of a quota. The weekly wage rate has been $12.55 and $13 for women, $14 and $15 for single men and $18 and $20 for married men.

Of the male employees on April 1, 1933, there were 4.87 percent of sales clerks receiving $13 weekly and under; 30.14 percent being paid $16 per week and under; and 73.47 percent receiving $21 a week and under.

Of the female sales clerks on April 1, 1933, there were 68.87 percent receiving $13 per week and under; 91 percent getting $16 per week and under; and 97.5 percent being paid $21 a week and under.

In certain departments of the Toronto units which had not adopted the standard wage plan, said Mr. Richardson slightly higher salaries, plus commissions, may be paid to clerks of longer experience.

Sales quotas were determined for each section of each department from the past relationship of sales salaries and commissions to sales volumes. "They are varied from month to month according to the seasonal volume of trade and the general trend of the stores business," said the accountant.

A budget selling cost percentage was first determined from the current month and from this employees" quotas were automatically fixed on the basis of the relationship of this percentage of their salaries. If, for example, said the witness, seven per cent. was fixed as the budget selling percentage for the month an employee whose salary was $14 per week would have a gross total ales of $200 the principle applied being that the employees' sales must reach that figure for the week before any commission would be warranted.

In the application of the plan, however, it was the practice until October, 1932, to reduce by 15 per cent. the gross quotas arrived at in this manner and to pay commissions on the excess of sales over 85 per cent. of the gross quota

After that date, said witness, those departments which reduced salaries to the rates provided in the standard wage plan were allowed to deduct 25 per cent. from the quota and the commission rates were increased.

Commission Rates Vary.

"The rates of commission vary from 1 to 4 per cent.," said the accountant.

Clerks in the furniture, piano and men's clothing departments were not paid on the salary and quota commission plan but on a strictly commission basis, added the accountant. They were granted a weekly drawing, which was guaranteed, of $20 to $25. This was regarded as an advance against the commission earned.

Clerks in the women's dress and coat departments were on a somewhat similar basis. The electrical department clerks received only a commission on sales with no guarantee on drawings.

Thre had been a large reduction in the number of Toronto sales clerks receiving higher salaries, Mr. Richardson told the inquiry. At April 1, 1933, there were 804 of a total of 1,200 women clerks receiving a wage of $12.50 or $13 per week, plus commissions. In 1929 approximately 50 per cent. of the female sales clerks received $16 per week or more while in 1933 the total was about 15 per cent.

The average weekly salary of male sales clerks had declined in the Toronto stores from $24.50 in October, 1929, to $19.98 in April, 1933, said the accountant.

The average weekly salary for female sales clerks had been reduced from $16.76 in Oct. 1929 to $14.07 in April 1933.

The average weekly commission earnings of Toronto male sales clerks was $2.13 in 1929, $2.03 in 1930, $2.01 in 1931, $1.73 in 1932, $2.22 in 1933 and $1.89 in 1934.

The average weekly commission earnings of Toronto female sales clerks was one dollar in 1929; 89 cents in 1930; 81 cents in 1931; $1.13 in 1932; $1.59 in 1933 and $1.31 in 1934.

The following is a summary of the financial benefits to Easton employees in Toronto:

Women employees of 55 years of age, and men of 65 years or over, with at least 25 years' service may be retired at the pleasure of the company and receive an allowance of upwards of $5 per week (depending on length of services plus 10 percent of weekly salary at time of leaving. Since Dec. 1932 allowances to new pensioners were reduced by 20 percent of any amount in excess of $20 per month. The company does not obligate itself to pay these allowances and the employees do not contribute towards them. Payments to Toronto employees on this account in 1933 totalled $193,731. These allowances include payments to women employees who were retired many years ago at the age of 45.

Employees not eligible for the above, may, upon discharge, be given a monthy allowance based on length of service, etc., for a number of months. The payments to Toronto empldyees on this account in 1933 totalled $121,740.

Employees with more than two years' service receive part pay, if away through illness more than three days. In certain cases additional assistance is also given. The total spent by the Toronto units in this way in 1933 was $51,-254.

The company pays 10 percent of the premiums on policies up to $25,000 issued by the T. Eaton Life Insurance Company to employees of more than six months' service. The amount of this contribution in 1933 for the Toronto units was $30,115. While this is a direct benefit to the employees the cost to the shareholders of the T. Eaton Company (chiefly the estate of Sir John Eaton) of this contribution is offset by profits accruing to the life assurance company, which by reason of low acquisition costs is enabled to operate more economically than most life companies.

Employees with more than six months' service are allowed a 5 percent discount on all purchases in the stores and an additional 5 percent on certain garment purchases. Prior to July, 1932, 10 percent was allowed on all purchases except certain foodstuffs. The total of such discounts in 1933 at Toronto was $169,273.

The authority under which the Navy acted, according to information here, was the Wartime Espionage Act, which set up sweeping safeguards against the divulgence of information concerning national defence.

Neither the coroner nor any other party to the conference would give any inkling of what was behind the action. The coroner said he had been sworn to secrecy. The naval agent brushed aside all inquiries with a sharp "Nothing to say."

W. B. Cleland Heads J. E. Seagram Firm

W. B. CLELAND

After a connection of 24 years with the Distillers Company of Scotland, W. B. Cleland of Toronto has severed his association with that company to become President of Jos. E. Seagram and Sons of the United States and Canada. With offices at Waterloo and New York, Mr. Oleland will divide his time between these two points.

Mr. Oleland, although a comparatively young man, is widely known throughout this country in the distilling industry, having had over thirty years' experience in both Scotland Canada.

Mr. Cleland resigned from the Distillers Company a short while ago, because of a change in policy restricting the future operations of the Canadian subsidiary. His acceptance of the presidency of Jos. E. Seagram and Sons, of which he was a former director, places him at the head of one of the most important distilleries on the North American Continent, and offers a much wider scope in which to use his vast experience in the distillery industry.

struck the "city," financial district of London, with a distinct shock.

Defaulted Before

British investors subscribed a total of $140,000,000 to the two loans. Altogether Germany has defaulted on debts to Britain aggregating $200,-000,000.

The 7 per cent Dawes loan was issued in 1924, to ensure currency stability in Germany after a period of wild inflation. The prospectus stated the loan was a direct and unconditional obligation of German Government, chargeable on all assets and revenues of the government.

The 5 per cent Young loan was issued in 1930. To the payment of the principal, interest and sinking fund "the full faith and credit of the German Government" was pledged.

Both loans fell on the London market when word of the actual moratorium was received. The Young loan dropped 2½ to 41, the Dawes 2½ to 60.

Persistent reports of impending devaluation of the mark were also responsible for a further fall in that currency.

France To Act.

PARIS, June 14.—(A.P.) — The French government intends to meet the German moratorium shortly by measures to enforce a respect for French interests, according to financial authorities.

These said that the government was awaiting official notification before acting, but that several methods of action were possible.

Among the suggestions are the creation of a clearing house and a special customs tax on all German goods.

France, it was said, may consider collecting the interest on Dawes and Young loan bonds in the same manner as is used in collecting commercial balances.

The bonds were only slightly lower on the Paris Bourse to-day since the moratorium had already been predicted.

Magistrate's Court

Pleading guilty to four charges of breaking and entering and theft by night, a local boy, under the age of sixteen years, was this morning committed to St. John's Industrial School at Toronto, by Magistrate O. A. Langley, K.C.

After committing the series of thefts in Ashurnham, it was stated the boy went to Lindsay where he was taken into custody on the understanding that charges against him in Lindsay would be dropped if it was considered that he had been sufficiently dealt with here.

Ottawa Club Splits Exhibition Fixtures

LAKEFIELD, June 14 (Examiner Correspondence).—Ottawa Cricket Club split a double exhibition program with the Grove School first team this week, winning the first game played on Tuesday by an 85 to 80 score, and losing the second on Wednesday, 107 all out for the visitors, against 113 for six wickets on the part of the Students.

The Capital City eleven who are on an exhibition tour of Central and Eastern Ontario, were to have a game with the Peterborough Cricket Club in this city on Wednesday afternoon, but no suitable arrangements could be made; hence the two fixtures at Lakefield.

The best score of the games was made by John Roper of Ottawa, a son of the Bishop of Ottawa and a former student of the school, while Poly Strickland and Hepburn played a bangup game for the home squad. The affair was given rather a hockey atmosphere with Frank Boucher, star forward on the New York Rangers' club playing with the visiting eleven.

Chief Butter Grader Addresses Makers

John H. Scott of Toronto, chief butter grader of Ontario, last evening addressed a meeting of the Kawartha Butter Makers' Club held in the offices of the local agricultural representative under presidency of C. R. Kennedy.

He spoke of improvements that had been effected in the buttermaking industry of the province since he took over the duties of chief grader in 1916, and also referred to the proposed establishment of another butter club in the Ottawa valley district.

C. H. Davies, district inspector, was also present and conducted a butterscoring contest. Results were as follows: 1, C. R. Kennedy, buttermaker at Silverwood's Peterborough Dairy; 2, P. Bowers of Orono; 3, W. Dunlop, of Lindsay.

The Kawartha Buttermakers' Club, embracing a membership of certificate holders and assistant buttermakers from Peterborough and Central Ontario district, was organized in April. Monthly meetings are meeting with unsusual success.

COAT OF PAINT URGED BY JURY

Grand Jury Makes Its Report to Judge Ruddy After Tour of Inspection.

INSTITUTIONS WELL KEPT.

After making its tour of inspection of Peterborough County institutions, the Grand Jury in its report yesterday to Judge Ruddy said, "We first visited the gaol and are happy to report that its physical condition is much improved over that of a few years ago." The Grand Jury urged that the exterior of the House of Refuge be painted as soon as possible.

The full report follows:

We, the Grand Jury of Peterborough County, beg to report, as follows:

In the first place we wish to express our deep appreciation of Your Honor's remarks at the opening of the session in connection with the great loss sustained by the City and County of Peterborough, in the death of His Honor Judge Huycke. We feel with you, that the country at large is the poorer through the passing of an eminent jurist and true patriot.

We have endeavored to follow your suggestion as to careful inspection of the public institutions. We did not visit them all, having omitted one of the hospitals. These, we understand, were recently inspected by Government officials.

We first visited the gaol and are happy to report that its physical condition is considerably improved over that of a few years ago. We would recommend, however, that sufficient paint be provided to take care of, say, one ward each year until complete renovation is accomplished. We were naturally pleased to see so few inmates.

Our inspection of the House of Refuge found that institution in first-class condition, and our only recommendation is that the outside of the House be painted as soon as possible. Twenty inmates are now being taken care of there, two women and eighteen men. Anson House was duly visited. Inspection of an institution so admirably appointed and conducted as is Anson House, is bound to be merely routine and we have no recommendations to offer.

We also visited the House of Providence, and the same remarks apply to this institution as to Anson House.

St. Joseph's Hospital is always in immaculate order and needs no comments. We were likewise pleased with the condition in which we found St. Vincent's Orphanage and the Children's Shelter. Both institutions seem to have proper facilities and personnel for the care of the children committed to their care.

COLLAPSE OF BUILDING INDUSTRY BLAMED ON HIGH INTEREST RATES

Government Offered Too High Interest Rates on Loans It Floated.

ISSUES GRABBED UP.

The collapse of the building industry in Ontario was blamed on the high rates of interest offered on loans floated by the Henry Government by James F. Coughlin of Toronto, as he spoke at a Liberal rally in the city last night.

"A few years ago new houses and office buildings were being constructed all over the province, and tens of thousands of mechanics and laborers found work at good wages," he declared. "Then, commencing with 1929, a blight hit the industry. To-day, all over the Province we find lumber mills, cement plants and brick companies closed down.

"If you question the builders, they will tell you they are prepared to build houses and employ their old workers but that they are unable to procure progressive first mortgage loans on the houses they would build. The trust and mortgage companies and the big life insurance companies will frankly tell you that the high rate of interest they receive on government bonds has influenced them to invest their funds in these bonds rather than mortgages."

In 1931 the Ontario Government put out a bond issue at 4 per cent. interest and, later the same year, another at 5 per cent., Mr. Coughlin continued. On February 1, 1932, three bond issues were put out, one at 6 per cent. and two at 5½ per cent., and a few months later a fourth for $30,000,000 at 5½ per cent, he said.

Issues Grabbed Up.

"It is little wonder that these issues were grabbed up by the financial companies for the other governments of Canada have been offering only three and four per cent. on their loans. Builders' associations and trades and labor unions have protested against the high rates, but all Henry has done is pass resolutions. It is next to impossible to bring about economic recovery while the building and construction trades are dormant. The Henry Government has a grave responsibility in the deplorable condition of the industry.

Three hundred persons heard the address of Mr. Coughlin, who made the visit to the city in place of the scheduled speaker, Col. A. T. Hunter of Toronto. Col. Hunter was forced to cancel his appearance at the last moment. Mr. Coughlin, a lawyer, opposed Attorney-General W. H. Price in his riding during the 1929 Provincial compaign. The chair was held by Vincent Eastwood, Sr., and J. J. Duffus offered the other speech of the meeting.

Twenty-one cities in Ontario now have their finances in the hands of supervisors, Mr. Coughlin asserted as he drew a picture of the critical situation which he said exists. He criticized Premier Henry's choice of Thomas Bradshaw as chief supervisor, pointing out that Bradshaw is president of the North American Life Assurance Company, a company in which Premier Henry is a director. Even Mr. Henry's own riding, East York, is under the thumb of the supervisor, practically bankrupt, he said.

Time For Change.

"It is no secret that things have gone wrong in the handling of our Ontario business. The trouble lies in the handling of our unemployment problem, in the pyramiding of our public debt, in the re-financing of our Provincial bonds and in the management of our highways, our forests and Hydro-Electric system. It is time for a change of government. To-day our public debt is about $610,000,000. Our debt is something like 42 per cent. of the debt of all the other eight provinces combined."

During a scathing denunciation of the Hydro record he declared: "It is estimated to-day that the Commission has contracted for double its present requirements. In 1929 the Commission had a net surplus of $1,575,226 and in 1932 a net loss of $2,578,366. How was the Commission to face the people with a surplus of contracted electricity on one hand and a huge loss for the year on the other hand? They decided it would be unwise so they appropriated from their reserves $2,688,148, and, presto, the Commission found itself with a surplus of $109,782."

J. J. Duffus.

J. J. Duffus reported that James Hawthorne has been received with enthusiasm throughout the county in the past two weeks Conservatives as well as Liberals are flocking to his standard, he said, as he predicted a landslide victory for him. He said his prediction was not mere optimism but based on actual observation.

Lauding Hepburn as the spirited type of young man needed to pull Ontario out of the morass of debt, Mr. Duffus assured the audience that the Liberals are going back with seventy seats. He reminded that Hepburn has promised to cut administration expenses in half and to carry out a general housecleaning.

Can't Go On.

"It can't go on," Mr. Duffus declared. "Farmers and business men in the Province are on the verge of bankruptcy. I know two of the steadiest farmers in the county who have not been able to pay their taxes for three years and many others who are finding it all they can do to hang on. We must get rid of this extravagant government. More Conservatives are going to vote Liberal in this election than ever before."

He blamed the removal of the Adam Hall Co. from Peterborough to Quebec on the increasing burden being placed on Ontario taxpayers and industries. The Adam Hall Co. is only one of hundreds of firms taking refuge in Quebec, he said. It is time the movement was brought to a halt by election of an intelligent administration.

No Bluff

NEW YORK, June 14 (C.P.).—Sidney Franklin, the policeman's son who became a bull-fighter, believes bull-fighting has not been introduced into the United States because "there is no possibility of betting on it," he said to-day.

"You can't frame a bull," asserted this young man, who at 31 is averaging $200,000 a year in what he considers a romantic profession.

"When you see a good performance where there is no possibility of framing or lying down on the job, you see your money's worth," said Franklin.

Wegner, its builder, observed his golden wedding anniversary. It seats only 22. Wegner fashioned the odd house of worship from bits of ground and broken glass.

20-YEAR LOAN.

LAKE CITY, Fla., June 14 (C.P.).—Twenty years after he borrowed a book from his High School teacher, Milton A. Shirah, now living in Moultrie, Ga., returned it with this note: "I hope you will pardon the delay."

Evangelist is a term which occurs three times in the New Testament, but is not found in either classical or LXX Greek and has not yet been discovered in the Papyri.

RICHARD HALL LIMITED

5,000 ATTEND GARDEN PARTY

Col. Williams, J. F. Hill, M.P.P., W. E. Tummon, M.P., Are Among Principal Speakers.

AT THOMASBURG.

THOMASBURG, June 14 (Examiner Correspondence) — Over five thousand people attended the lawn social under the auspices of the Liberal-(Conservative Association of East Hastings on Monday evening.

This was one of the biggest political gatherings in East Hastings in the present campaign, and was held on the spacious lawn of Mr. Lorne Carleton.

An excellent program was provided consisting of speakers: Col. Cecil C. Williams, Toronto; James F. Hill, M.P.P., East Hastings; W. E. Tummon, M.P., South Hastings; Dr. Eagleson, Madoc and others.

Numbers were given by local artists of the riding. The chairman for the evening was Walter Whytook, Madoc, president of East Hastings Conservative Association.

After refreshments were served, round and square dancing was indulged in with Plainfield five-piece orchestra in attendance.

LOCAL DOCTOR IS APPOINTED

But we must have some real program to offer."

Alderman McIntyre expressed his regret that he had not received notice of the meeting with the Board of Education, because otherwise he would certainly have been among the Council's deputation. He said that Dr. Robb had informed the deputation which waited on him months ago regarding health matters here, that the City M.O.H. should be over the schools. He expressed the strong hope that the Board of Education would see its way clear to co-operate fully with the Council and its M.O.H. on health matters. He stated that he was serious on this matter and it should receive real consideration by the Council and the Board and make more complete the harmony and co-operation between the two municipal bodies on health matters the better.

Combine Services

Mayor Denne said it was his opinion that the Health Association and Well Babies' Clinic and all health organizations in the city would co-operate fully with a full-time, efficient Medical Officer of Health.

Alderman McIntyre said, "That's my opinion too."

The Mayor insisted that it would take the Medical Officer of Health six months or a year to get health matters fully organized. "He's got to bring in a policy to carry out." Alderman Macdonald agreed with this view.

"We are just dragging along and getting nowhere the way we are," stated the Mayor.

Alderman McIntyre said he was disappointed that some definite arrangement had not been reached with the Board of Education. The Mayor said, "It is my honest opinion that no one man can look after the health needs of 4,000 school children and do all the other city health work besides."

Need Both Doctors

Alderman Cotton said it was his opinion that there was need for a full-time M.O.H. and school doctor too, and that they could co-operate nicely together.

Th duties of the Medical Officer of Health were then read to the Council by City Clerk Armstrong. Dr. Fraser had been fully informed of his duties, it was explained.

Alderman Holland asked if the new Medical Officer of Health would have an office in the City Hall and regular hours. The aldermen agreed that such arrangements would be made.

As the result of a telephone call that the Council desired his presence, Dr. Fraser entered the Council Chamber while the by-law decreeing his appointment was being considered.

Alderman Tuggey asked if it was understood that the chief aim of Council in appointing a full-time Medical Officer of Health was to centralize the health forces of the city. Various aldermen stated that was the purpose and the need and a real saving in health costs generally would result. Mayor Denne said it was not the Council's purpose to discourage such worthwhile work as that of the Well Babies' Clinic and Health Association but that the work of such organizations could receive the able direction of the M.O.H.

The by-law appointed Dr. Fraser was then passed unanimously. Dr. Fraser's duties will commence on August 1. Dr. A. W. McPherson, who has been Acting Medical Officer of Health, will retire from that post at the end of July.

The chairman of the Property Committee was instructed to interview the City Trust and make arrangements for an office for Dr. Fraser in the City Buildings.

MONTREAL PRODUCE

The price of butter tended slightly easier yesterday on the Montreal Produce and Dairy Market.

Fresh No. 1 butter in carlots or less was sold for 21¾ cents to 22 cents a pound compared with 22 cents to 22¼ cents a pound Tuesday. Small lots to retailers were quoted by jobbers at 23 cents for solids and 24 cents a pound for prints. Receipts were 62 boxes.

The cheese market held steady at 11 to 11¼ cents a pound for Ontario colored, and 10¼ to 10½ cents a pound for Quebec colored. Arrivals were 413 boxes.

Eggs were unchanged, Montreal less than carlots being quoted at 20 cents to 20½ cents a dozen for A large, and 19 cents to 19½ cents for A medium. Western carlots sold at 21 cents a dozen for A large, 20 cts. for A medium, 19 cents for B and 18 cents for C. Receipts totalled 1,291 cases.

No changes were recorded in the price of potatoes. New Brunswick Mountains brought 70 to 80 cents per 80-pound bag, Quebec Whites 65 to 70 cents per 80-pound bag, and Prince Edward Island Mountains 95 cents to $1 per 90-pound bag.

CHICAGO GRAIN.

Collapsing of prices in the wheat market yesterday went hand-in-hand with expansion of harvest operations southwest and with lively profit-taking in corn.

A wave of selling broke over the wheat pit in the last half-hour and quickly became of a stop-loss character, pulling values down 5c a bushel as compared with earlier-top figures. Threshing returns from Kansas showed wheat yields ranging as high as 35 bushels an acre, and new wheat received at Wichita grading mainly No. 1.

Corn bounded up early almost 2c a bushel, taking December delivery to a fresh high price record for the season, but new gains were more than wiped out at the last, the market sympathizing with wheat weakness.

Wheat closed heavy at the day's extreme low point, 2⅞c to 3⅜c under Tuesday's finish; corn, ¼c to ⅝c down; oats, ⅝c to ⅞c off, and provisions varying from 2c decline to a rise of 10c.

WINNIPEG GRAIN.

WINNIPEG, June 14. — Grain traders put stress on the forecast of further rains over Western Canada, where weather was generally cloudy and cool yesterday, and the wheat prices reflected the continued improvement in crop conditions, with net declines of 1⅝c to 1½c.

July wheat closed at 76⅛c, October at 78¾c, and December at 79¼c. Selling was olly of a scattered nature, but it required little pressure to depress values in view of the light support.

A little buying by export interests constituted the bulk of the purchasing power, and on the whole the volume of trade in the pit was small. Considerable spreading between July and October options, by both local and Chicago traders, was noticeable.

Strength at Liverpool was offset by the improved North American crop conditions after the market had made gains of almost 1c. The English market ended ⅝d to ¾d higher, while Chicago had a similar trend to Winnipeg, and closed at the bottom, off nearly 2c.

Cash grains trading was uninteresting, while coarse grains followed wheat downhill.

The actual demonstrations showing that satisfactory apple tree growth can be secured under a properly managed sod system, as originally carried out at the Dominion experimental farms and stations, have resulted in the almost universal adoption of this system of orchard managent.

HIGHER TEMPERANCE IDEALS STRESSED AT COBOURG MEETING

Peterborough-Northumberland Branches of W.C.T.U. Hold Annual Convention.

OFFICERS ELECTED.

The third annual convention of Peterboro-Northumberland counties W.C.T.U. was held yesterday in the Baptist Church, Cobourg.

It was a three-session convention and the various unions of the county were well represented. The afternoon and evening sessions being especially well attended.

The county president, Mrs. A. J. Throop of Peterborough presided throughout the day and presented an interesting and well-arranged program. The Rev. Mr. Sinclair pastor of the convention church was present at the opening session and extended a gracious welcome to the visiting delegates to Cobourg and to his church.

The convention was called to order by the president and the business session opened with announcements. The following committees were appointed:

For Resolutions—Mesdames Climo and Wand and the Courtesy committee included Mesdames Tyler, Moore, Bowman and Ames.

Officer Elected

The roll was called and members of the W.C.T.U. responded according to the various groups represented. After which the new officers for 1934-5 were elected as follows:

President, Mrs. A. J. Throop, Peterborough; first vice president, Mrs. Wm. Thompson, Cobourg; second vice president, Mrs. Gordon Mann, Peterborough; corresponding secretary, Mrs. E. Wand, Peterborough; recording secretary, Mrs. J. H. Bennett, Cobourg; treasurer, Mrs H. Skitch, Cobourg; Loyal Temperance Legion, Miss L. Lander, Plainville; Y.W.C.T.U. Mrs. G. K. Tyler, Peterborough.

This new executive met in its first session at the noon hour and appointed the superintendents of deparments with the following staff of officials:

Evangelistic and Christian Stewardship—Miss Maude Neill, Gore's Landing; Canadianization and Citizenship, Mrs. A. B. Cunningham, Peterborough; Anti-Narcotics and Medical Temperance, Mrs. W. W. Yale, Lakefield; Fairs and Exhibits —Mrs. Telford, Bridgenorth; Flower Mission—Mrs. Bowman, Plainville; Little White Ribboners, Mrs. Cooper, Cobourg; Medal Contest — Miss Hinman, Cobourg; Press, Mrs. Wagar, Peterborough; Publicity and Social—Mrs. Ames, Plainville; Scientific Temperance, Mrs. J. H. Spencer, Peterborough; Temperancein Sunday Schools— Mrs. R. D. Wright, Peterborough, R.R. No. 1; Traveller's Aid—Mrs. C. Parker, Cobourg; Missionary and Indians — Mrs. H. Lander, Camborne; Law and Sabbath Observance—Mrs. Harper, Camborne.

Higher Temperance Ideals

Mrs. Throop, the president in her fine address, challenged the ladies of the convention to a higher ideal of temperance living for the protection of the home—the abolition of the liquor traffic—and the triumph of Christ's golden rule in customs and laws.

A very beautiful and impressive memorial services was held for the six members who this year have passed into the great beyond.

Reading from the 21st chapter of Revelation "There shall be no night, there." Mrs. Cooper led this part of the service, which was followed with prayer. As Mrs. Thompson called the names of the departed members a pure white carnation was placed in a basket in loving memory. The six deceased members were Mrs. (Dr.) Herriman of Toronto, a charter member of Cobourg Union, Mrs. Salisbury, Cobourg, the mother of Mrs. J. H. Bennett, County Recording secretary, Mrs. A. Allison, Mrs. Weese and Mrs. Doxsee, all of Peterborough and Miss Paulina Udy of Bridgenorth.

A beautiful solo, "There'll be no Night There" sung in sympathetic voice by Miss Francis Thompson, closed this service and was a fitfiting prelude to the noontide prayer offered by Mrs. Allen, Peterborough.

Splendid Reports.

The reports of county officers and superintendents of departments were of a high order and evidenced thorough work. These were followed by lively discussion and brought out much helpful information. In the "Plan of Work" led by the president a full set of rules was set forth for each superintendent and for each separate union. The first and chief among these rules stressed definite and regular prayer. Conferences were held for the various departments, and the keynote of the whole convention was in urging the members to stand firm for temperance at the coming election

At the evening session the president was supported on the platform by Mrs. William Thompson, first vice-president, also the pastor of the church, who assisted in the opening service, and the guest speaker, Rev. A. E. Moorhouse of Peterborough. The county senior contest held an important place on the evening program, when five girls competed for the honor of first place in oratory. Those taking part were Mary Blewett, Audrey Linton, Dorothy Martin, Virginia Shearer, and Agnes Campbell. The winner of the contest was Virginia Shearer. Mrs. G. K. Tyler, one of the judges, gave the decision. Other trophies were a silver cup won by Miss Dorothy Wood of Cobourg, prize to Edna Jamieson of Cobourg for Temperance in S.S., a shield to Gilmour Memorial "Y," and a book to Irene Simpson of King George School in the poster contest of scientific temperance.

Music was furnished during this session by Mr. Leacock, who gave a pleasing cornet solo, and Stanley Church, a vocal solo, "Have courage, my boy, to say No."

Habit-forming Drug.

In a timely and challenging address the Rev. Mr. Moorhouse stated that alcohol is an outlaw, scientifically a habit-forming drug. It leaves wrecked homes, poverty and degradation. It shackles some of our politicians. The preponderance of opinion right now is against liquor, which is the most relentless, audacious and pitiless foe of our homes, and one which requires real courage to battle against. The upholders of this evil spread a cunning propaganda, but our part is to publish the fact that alcohol is not a stimulant but a narcotic. The speaker emphasized the importance of home influence and education for the youth of our land. Another strong weapon in our hands is prayer, and this is free to everyone. In closing, Mr. Moorhouse quoted Harry Emerson Fosdick's words, "The hope of the world is with the minority"—and so concluded his message on an encouraging note.

This successful third annual convention of Peterborough County W. C. T. U. was closed with "God Save the King."

I have just been talking to a very remarkable man, and one of the great master workmen in his field in the world. He is engaged in the business of making artificial limbs. Though this might seem a rather grisly business to most people, the human cointacts that he has made, and the happiness that he has been able to determine, has rendered it a life work of enthusiasm, pleasure and interest to him.

Like most people who are in queer businesses, he got into his quite naturally. He lost a leg below the knee many years ago, and became interested in the mechanical side of making artificial limbs. He worked in a factory to learn the trade from the ground up. Many of his employees are in the same situation wearing limbs manufactured by the firm, and yet it would be difficult for an uninitiated person to go into that office and see them walking around and realize the true state of affairs.

When the war broke out he was sent to England, and employed by various allied governments to superintend their artificial limb manufacture. He explains that their knowledge of the trade in Europe was limited because they had comparatively few accidents before the war. In England, for instance, there were 500 amputations a year compared with 50,000 amputations in the United States. (This, of course, includes all amputations, even finger amputations, but even so, the contrast is appalling.) During the war the British had 40,000 amputations, the French 60,000 and the United States 3,100, of which 1,800 were leg amputations.

The best artificial legs are made of linwood. Linwood and willow have been the woods of choice from time immemorial, because they are light and strong, free from knots, and yield themselves readily to sculpturing.

In an artificial leg for an amputation above the knee, straps are tied to suspenders, and the patient moves the knee and foot quite naturally with the ordinary movement of the body in walking. In most instances it is unnecessary to hunch the shoulders up, although some patients never learn this. Patients vary in their ability to learn to use an artificial limb. Sometimes they can learn to walk on one without a cane within a few days; sometimes they never fully acquire the knack.

Much of the limb makers' success depends on the surgeon's knowledge of how to perform an amputation in relation to an artificial limb. Sometimes the surgeon tries to save too much of the leg, so that the stump interferes with the pulleys above the artificial knee.

One employee I saw had lost the limb at the age of 9, and naturally had to acquire new artificial limbs every once in a while as growth went on. Having tried a number of different kinds, this patient had a clear idea of what should be done.

The success of a limb depends upon individual fitting and adjustment.

Metal is not considered the best material, partly because it is impossible to get away from the noise, and partly because the different kinds of metal corrode at the joints.

The very best artificial leg costs about $200. Good ones can be obtained for $125.

BE BEAUTIFUL
By GLADYS GLAD

The charming Maureen O'Sullivan, who spends a good deal of her time at Malibu Beach during the summer months, always tints her toenails to match her fingernails. Maureen really has lovely feet, and always tries to keep them in the best of condition. And she considers a weekly pedicure just as important as a weekly manicure.

If you've had a slant as yet at the new barefoot sandals that have been designed for beach wear this season, you'll certainly agree with Maureen about the importance of a weekly pedicure. For these sandals do anything but conceal the toes. And unless the exposed toes are prettied up a bit, they're not going to add much to the attractiveness of any gal's appearance.

If you can't afford a pedicure, you'll find it fairly simple to administer your own. In pedicuring, as in manicuring, the first step is the soaking. The feet should be soaked for about 10 minutes in a tub of warm, soapy water and then scrubbed briskly, in order to remove any dead cuticle. Then the feet should be dried and the toenails filed in close, rounded ovals. Use and emery board after the filing to smooth the edges, and do away with any roughness that might catch and tear the stockings.

After the soaking and filing, a good cuticle remover should be applied by means of a cotton-tipped orange stick. Run the moistened cotton under each nail, to cleanse it, and around the sides and base of each nail. All dead skin should be removed during this step, and the cuticle pressed lightly back. It is best to massage a bit of cuticle cream into the base of each nail after this.

After the cuticle has been treated, the toes should be bathed again and dried. Then a bit of nail white should be placed under each nail tip, and the nails buffed to provide a smooth surface for the polish. The polish used on the toenails should always exactly match that used on the fingertips, and should be applied in the same manner. The polish should be applied only to the central portion of each nail, and the half-moons and tips left uncovered. A weekly pedicure of this sort will not only add to the attractiveness of the feet, but will also help to keep them comfortable and healthy.

ANSWERS TO QUERIES

Eyes

Thelma: The only advice that I can give you is that you consult a competent eye specialist about the abnormality of your left eyelid. This is somewhat outside of my field.

Wrinkles

Mrs. L. R.: Lanolin is primarily a skin food and is excellent for diminishing lines and wrinkles. It may be applied several times a week, or if you prefer, nightly, before retiring.

Hair

Ginger: You did not explain whether your hair has merely become dull and dark, or whether it has started graying. If you will write again, making this clear, I shall be glad to advise you.

EDITOR'S NOTE: To obtain Miss Glad's pamphlets on "The New Figure" and "Beauty Culture" write, care of this paper, enclosing a self-addressed envelope stamped with a three-cent stamp, and ten cents in coin for each, to cover cost of printing and handling.

A picnic supper, following the regular brief business session, formed the closing event of the season of the Afternoon Branch of the Women's Auxiliary of St. John's Church, on Tuesday afternoon. Arranged as an al fresco gathering on the church grounds, the incelement weather of the afternoon sent the ladies indoors, where over seventy guests sat down at attractively-decorated tables centered by silver vases and baskets of iris lillies and peonies. The ladies were honored by the presence of the noted sculptress, Miss Katherine Wallis of Paris, France, a visitor to her native city at the present time, whose mother was one of the founders of St. Johns W.A. Another guest was Mrs. George Evans of Toronto, and her hostess, Mrs. S. Newhall. The after-dinner speaker was the Rev. Mr. Dickson, missionary of Travancore, India, who was introduced by Ven. Archdeacon Blagrave, and gave a very interesting talk on the caste system of India. Tht Rev. E. R. James also spoke briefly, referring to the fact that he was born in India, not far from the district in charge of the Rev. Mr. Dickson. A hearty vote of thanks to the speakers was voiced by Mrs. D. B. Falkner and seconded by Mrs. C. M. Campbell, who also included in their appreciation the convenor, Mrs. D. Eldred, and members of the refreshment committee who looked after the very satisfactory arrangements for the affair. At the brief business session which preceded the picnic supper, the president, Mrs. H. A. Morrow, was in the chair and devotional services were taken by the Rev. Mr. Dickson.

Her parents, Mr. and Mrs. William Cairns (the former was a tailor in the employ of the Fairweather Company), came to Peterborough from Kingston in 1867 and lived on Hunter Street in a little brick cottage near the Coughlin Monumental Works, where the small rough-cast house now stands. Mrs. Pappin remembers the town of that time as a little place, with a main street two blocks in length which the young people were in the habit of traversing, up and down, on Saturday nights. The first hotel was the Huffman House on Hunter Street, and opposite it was Wilson's Saloon. Clegg's furniture store and Craig's furniture store were on George Street, also the Post Office, near the corner of George and Brock Street, and Morgan's Hotel occupied the space now taken by the Rogow Store. The Peter Hamilton Foundry was on George Street and the William Hamilton Company, where her husband was employed, was flourishing. Mr. and Mrs. Pappin went to Michigan in 1880, and there raised a family of nine children, six of whom are living. They have sixteen grandchildren and twenty-two great-grandchildren.

Just Between Us Women

A daily chat with Examiner neighbors conducted by Anne Wilcox

Keeping track of one's luggage is not easy when travelling. This is especially true when trips are long, when vacation is in, or when several changes have to be made by motor, train or boat.

* * * * * * *

Everyone who has an auto realizes that it simplifies finding it quickly after it has been parked, when it has some distinguishing feature. It is because of this that some people choose to have cars in light or bright colors, with specially shaped back windows, with painted wheels, or with some outstanding feature or identification that can be recognized at a glance.

* * * * * * *

This same idea is what well-traveled persons apply to their luggage. When connections between incoming trains and those outward bound are short, it may mean that the outward bound one can be caught if the baggage can be recognized quickly. With the checking system in Canada, this is a great help, but imagine what an enormous help it means where such a system does not exist, and the owner must identify his luggage without such checks.

* * * * * * *

When buying luggage it costs nothing, or but a small sum at most, to have owner's initials stencilled on each piece. And if requested a band of the same color will be put around a trunk, or across each end. Color for identification is recognized as a good means. Have the shade or the shape of it on the luggage as distinctive as possible.

* * * * * * *

On hand luggage, initialing is a safeguard. On suitcases, traveling bags, etc., a stripe of color, or a gay tag with the owner's name or initials on it, is recommended. Tags should be so secured to the luggage that they cannot be removed quickly.

KEEPING BIDDING OPEN

A sound opening bid, over-called by a two-suit forcing bid, so uses up the high honors that it makes little or no difference whether or not partner has passed. He rarely holds much of anything. If the one making the forcing bid does so on two five-card suits, he should hold not fewer than eight probable tricks, as his partner cannot be counted to do anything except express his preference.

Within the last few weeks I have twice encountered good examples of two-suiters, each of five cards, obligating forcing bids over opening calls. The first of these hands is shown below. The other one will be given tomorrow.

Bidding went: South, 1-club; West, 2-spades; East, the negative, 2-no trumps; West, 3-hearts, asking partner to choose between them; East, 4-hearts.

The opening lead was the six of clubs. West ruffed and pulled down all opposing trumps in three leads He had hoped to do this in two leads, so that dummy might ruff two diamonds, if spades broke.

Five rounds of winning spades followed, the declarer being fortunate enough to find the six missing spades divided three-three. Dummy discarded three diamonds. West won his tenth trick with the ace of diamonds. Dummy ruffed a diamond for the eleventh trick, and West made a small slam by trumping a club, finally having to give his opponents a diamond trick.

Suppose the holdings of North and East had been exchanged. Bidding then would have gone: South 1-club; West, 2-spades; East, 2-no trumps; West, 3-hearts; East, 3-spades; West, 4-spades, as he was not vulnerable.

West will have to ruff the first club led, as he did when the hand was actually played. Next he should lead his ace of hearts. Ruff if North covers with the K, when he makes a second lead of the Q. In case North declines to cover with the K, either when the Q or J is led, West will lead a fourth heart, and ruff with the J.

As soon as dummy ruffs a heart the J of diamonds will be led and South must cover. The ace will win, and declarer will pull trumps. Then he will take his good heart and his last trump tricks. He can make five-odd, as the cards lie, but careful opponents should win two diamond tricks.

Steam the canned salmon by putting in top of double boiler or in a steamer until it is heated through then turn out on hot platter and cover with cooked and seasoned green peas. Serve with lemon.

Today's Recipes

Rhubarb Betty.—Four tablespoons butter, two cups graham cracker crumbs, two cups rhubarb, two-thirds cup sugar. Melt butter, blend in crumbs. Line a greased baking dish with the buttered crumbs. Put in one-half the rhubarb, sprinkle with one-half of the sugar. Two or three thin slices of orange laid over the rhubarb and sugar improve the flavor. Cover with more crumbs, a second layer of rhubarb and sugar and last a layer of crumbs. Dot butter over the top and bake in a moderate oven until rhubarb is tender. Serve plain, with whipped cream, or with hard sauce well flavored with orange juice and grated orange fluid.

FACTS AND FANCIES

Fill Cup Cakes

To fill cup cakes with jelly, fill the tube of cake decorator with the jelly, insert the tip in the cake through a tiny slit made with a sharp knife, then press the plunger. This should be done as soon as cakes are taken from the oven. No trouble, and children love them.

Why It Shrinks

When a custard pie shrinks from the crust it has been baked in too hot an oven. The oven should be hot for the first eight or ten minutes in order to bake the pastry so it will not become soaked with liquid. Then reduce heat or custard will boil.

Captain Murray, About to Depart for Jungles of Honduras, Says Women Can't Take It on Such Perilous Expeditions.

TAKING HIS PET DOG ALONG FOR COMPANY

By LEONA RAPHAEL
(Central Press Canadian Correspondent).

NEW YORK, June 14.—Rolling a wicked-looking fish arrow in his hands, Captain R. Stuart Murray raised his eyebrows and snickered at his fellow explorers who take their women folk into the jungle with them.

A little gray dog, like a puff of darning wool, lay dozing on the red couch.

"Ah, it's mucky—very mucky," sighed Captain Murray, who just the other day was awarded the 1933 diploma of honor and a fellowship by the Royal Scottish Geographical Society, and who has half an alphabet of honors after his name, including "F.R.G.S."—Fellow of the Royal Geographical Society of London.

"These men who take women — their wives—with them on expeditions are something I can't understand," he said. "I've had women want to go along with me, but I wouldn't have 'em. They tell you they wouldn't mind any discomfort, but women simply can't take it. I've seen 'em act."

Prefers a Dog.

Pointing to the little dog on the couch, he said, "I'm taking her with me when I leave for Honduras. She'll be hot down there, but I'll cut all her hair off. It's sort of nice when you're sleeping to know there's someone who's loyal sitting up and watching over you.

Captain R. Stuart Murray — the 'captain' was acquired in a revolution 15 years ago in Santo Domingo and he is still slightly piqued that they didn't make him a general instead—leaves New York shortly to resume his leadership of the first expedition of the Natural Museum of Honduras, sponsored by President Tiburcio Carias of that country. His suite was crowded with paraphernalia — boxes of anti-venom, great cartons of quinine, maps, piles of bark-cloth and Indian weapons brought back recently when he returned here to hand over specimens to the Museum of Natural History and to the Museum of the American Indian.

Devil Worshippers.

At the headwaters of the Tum-Tum river in Honduras lies a vast, steaming jungle known as the Land of the Mosquito, traversed in the past only by mahogany and chicle seekers who remained close to the river. The Mosquito Indians who live in the jungle are devil worshippers, who are afraid of evil spirits.

The Honduran government, about to throw open the region to colonization, asked Captain Murray to undertake an ethnological study of the aboriginal Mosquito Indians before their primitive mode of life becomes modified by colonists. It is this study that he is about to resume.

"There's supposedly a lost city I'm going to look for, which the Indians call the City of the Monkey God. They are afraid to go near it, for they believe that any one who approaches it will, within the month, be killed by the bite of a poisonous snake. I'm going to look for it, nevertheless.

Muscling In.

"At a village called Bilaimuc," he recalled, "I ran into a bit of trouble. The word spread that a 'Dokta' had come and all the sick Indians came to me to be treated. I did the best I could with the small first-aid supplies I had. Well, the Sukya, the native devil doctors, became furious. I was encroaching on their territody—muscling in on their business of casting out devils, as it were.

"I flattered the Sukya Tara (Big Devil Doctor) and shortly afterwards was invited to a great ceremony. A young woman who was threatened with being barren — a terrible calamity—was having the devil driven out of her.

"The drums were pounding, and the girl sat upon a dais supported by four trees from which the bark had been peeled. Three long black sticks were at three corners of the dais, but none on the east side. The east wind, where the new-born sun rises, brought pure winds, and how could devils ride pure winds, they reasoned.

Puts on Good Show.

"There was dancing and yelling and other ceremonies until dawn. They then proclaimed the girl fertile. Their magic had worked. It was now up to me to do something. The best thing I could think of was a bottle of effervescent fruit salts. I called for a calabash of water and, with a lot of solemn hocus-pocus, poured in my salts. They were mystified by the bubbling and fizzing and naturally thought that the water was boiling. When I calmly drank it, they were more than satisfied. I had performed magic.

"Let me tell you that I had a few nervous moments, none the less, and for this reason. I travel alone. Sorry, girls, but I simply won't take you with me!"

No More Piles

Doctor's Prescription Does the Work.

Few Pile sufferers know that the cause of Piles is internal—bad circulation of blood in the lower bowel.

This is the scientific truth about Piles—the real reason why salves and suppositories so often may not give lasting relief and why cutting sometimes removes the pile tumor but leaves its exciting cause which may create a recurrence.

Your itching, bleeding or protruding Piles will only go when you actually remove the cause. For this an internal medicine should be used. HEM-ROID, the prescription of Dr. J. S. Leonhardt, sold by good druggists everywhere, succeeds because it stimulates the circulation, and acts to relieve congestion.

So isn't it better, when salves fail and before considering operation, to try this internal remedy when McDermid & Jury and Bond's Drug Store invites every Pile sufferer to try HEM-ROID with money-back if not joyfully satisfied with the help one bottle gives.

LITERARY CLUB PILGRIMAGE.

BRANTFORD, Ont., June 14.—(C. P.)— Forty members of the Women's Literary Club of St. Catharines carried out their yearly pilgrimage to a city of historic interest by coming to Brantford to-day, inspecting His Majesty's Chapel of the Mohawks, Mohawk Institute, the Bell Homestead, the Bell Memorial, Brant's Monumetn andthe Brant and Brantford War Memorial. Mrs. James Brighty, president, led the pilgrimage.

To the Electors of Durham County—

There is little need for the C.C.F. candidate to draw attention to the mal-administration and costliness of the Conservative Government in Ontario. We find that unemployment is rampant, that the burden of debt is colossal, with correspondingly high taxes, and that agriculture is bankrupt. The Liberals throughout the province have exposed their Conservative adversaries with vigor. There is, however, one thing the Liberals have neglected to do and that is to explain to the people of Ontario, that while Ontario was sinking into debt, high taxes and bankrupt agriculture under a Conservative government, Quebec AT THE SAME TIME is faced with increased indebtedness, high taxes, low agricultural prices and low wages under a Liberal government.

The C.C.F. is the only party which is entirely free to serve the Canadian people. It is also the only party that has the vision to see that the present economic crisis cannot be laid at the door of either the Liberals or Conservatives. It is the result of the breakdown of the present economic system. We must as intelligent citizens through the use of the ballot change that system and reconstruct the social order so that human rights take precedent of all other rights.

We have arrived in our economic evolution to an age of surpluses and bounty. Let us distribute this bounty through co-operative institutions. Farmers and consumers stand together—Organize! At last we give you an opportunity to vote for yourself by

C.C.F. Candidate for Durham

Adv.

LIBERAL CANDIDATE

James Hawthorne, the Liberal candidate in Peterborough riding, is a practical and successful farmer in Dummer Township living on the family homestead on which his grandfather was an early settler many years ago.

He was born on the farm March 13, 1887, son of Edward Hawthorne, from whom he acquired by example and association an active interest in the general affairs of his community and county.

James Hawthorne was educated in the Public and High Schools and as a youth engaged in farming. Following in his father's footsteps he became interested in the municipal administration of Dummer and was elected to the township council in 1922, was promoted to Reeve in 1924 and held that position continuously until 1931 when he retired. Mr. Hawthorne was Warden of the county in 1930, and in the years of his membership in the County Council he won the esteem of a large number of colleagues and gained a thorough knowledge of Peterborough County.

In the broader field beyond his own personal interests in the management of his farm, Mr. Hawthorne was secretary of the Warsaw U.F.O. Club for a number of years, secretary of the Dummer and Douro Agricultural Society, and is a director of the East Peterborough Agricultural Society, in other words he is a member of the Norwood Fair Board.

He is a director of the Warsaw Cheese factory, and is county director of the Eastern Ontario Dairymen's Association.

Mr. Hawthorne has always taken an active interest in church work. He is a member of the United Church at Warsaw, of which he is a trustee and elder, the secretary of the Quarterly Official Board and Sunday School teacher.

Prior to the amalgamation of the two Peterborough ridings, Mr. Hawthorne was nominated Liberal candidate for the East Peterborough constituency at a meeting at Norwood, and when the new county Liberal Association was formed he was retained as candidate by the Liberals of both the city and county as their first candidate under the redistribution effected during the last session by the Henry Government.

C.C.F. CANDIDATE

In the candidature of Rev. John A. Sutherland, Presbyterian minister, who seeks to win Peterborough riding for the C.C.F., the local election arena has one of the most interesting personalities in the whole Ontario political field.

Rev. Mr. Sutherland is Highland Scotch, having been born at Bonar Bridge, 50 miles north of Inverness, the Highland capital. At an early age he displayed marked scholastic ability and after receiving his secondary school education at a High School in Edinburgh he entered Edinburgh University in 1904 and took his Master of Arts degree. At the university he specialized in Philosophy and Economic Science. His teacher in Political Economy was the late Professor Shield Nicholson, who was famous in that field of study. On graduating from Edinburgh University, he entered New College Edinburgh and took a four years course in Divinity, having Dr. Marcus Dods, the great Greek Biblical scholar, as one of his teachers.

His first charge was a church at Nairnshire, where he remained for 15 years. He left Nairnshire to do war service, serving two years during the war in South Italy, Albania and Montenegro with the Flying Corps, being head of the Y.M.C.A. in that area.

On the signing of the Armistice, Rev. Mr. Sutherland returned to Scotland and was appointed to the War Pension Committee as representative of the whole Highland area; from Aberdeen on the east to the Island of Lewis on the west and including all the Highland counties. He retained this position with the War Pension Committee until 1926 when he resigned to come to Canada. For his service with the Pensions Committee he was commended highly by the London office.

He took an early interest in municipal affairs, and during his charge at Nairnshire served on the County Council and Parish Council for ten years, only retiring from these services when he left for Canada. On his return to Scotland after the war, he was appointed president of the Labor party for Moray and Nairn.

On his arrival in Canada, Rev. Mr. Sutherland was called to the First Presbyterian Church at New Glasgow, Nova Scotia. This important charge he filled for two years. He then went west to the Pacific Coast where he served the church for two years in Central Vancouver and Nelson, British Columbia.

In 1930, he left the Coast and moved to Keene where he accepted the pastoral charge of the Keene, Warsaw and Westwood churches. He resigned this charge in March of this year and is now a resident of Toronto.

CONSERVATIVE CANDIDATE

Possibly the greatest thrill in the life of T. P. Lancaster, Conservative candidate for Peterborough, outside of the fight in 1929 when he realized that he had been elected as representative of Peterborough County to the Legislature was the afternoon he kicked the goal that gave the Havelock football team the soccer championship of Ontario.

The Government standard-bearer in the present election has always been prominently connected with athletics. In his younger days in addition to being a crack soccer player he was equally proficient as a lacrosse star with Hastings and Havelock. He did not lose his interest in lacrosse when he retired as a player but carried on as an active officer of the Havelock club was elected to the executive of the Ontario Amateur Lacrosse Association and later in 1915 was promoted from the executive to the presidency of the O.A.L.A., the first time in the history of the Ontario body that a man became president without first filling the intermediate positions.

Mr. Lancaster is a native of Peterborough County. A son of the late Christopher Lancaster, he was born at Westwood in 1877. He was educated at Hastings and in 1897 became proprietor of the Havelock Standard which newspaper he has published for the past 37 years. This year he was honored by being elected president of the Dominion Weekly Newspapers Association, an organization representing weekly papers from one end of Canada to the other.

For twelve years Mr. Lancaster served as clerk and treasurer of the municipality of Havelock.

In the election of 1929 he was victorious in Peterborough County as Government candidate, and later his interest in fish and game conservation was recognized by his appointment to the special game committee of the Legislature of which body he was the only Conservative member from the district east of Toronto, with the exception of the chairman. Mr. Lancaster is honorary president of the Peterborough Fish and Game Association and through his instrumentality a large game reserve has been established in the northern part of the county.

AT THE CAPITOL

"MANDALAY" AN "LET'S BE RITZY".

There is plenty of entertainment in this double bill. Kay Francis and Ricardo Cortez, stars of "56th Street" are together again in "Mandalay", with "Rangoon across the bay" as the setting for a colorful story that might well have spun itself out to a different ending, with the dark Cortez making another dangerous appearance. It appears to have stiped pat an unsatisfactory moment, but the picture is not unsatisfactory. Far from it.

The luscious Kay Francis is "Spot White" hostess of a notorious night club, in Rangoon, with Warner Oland as the proprietor. Cortez deserts her there and she embarks on adventurous ways. And then Lyle Talbot, drink-ridden young doctor, crosses her path. It is a colorful story.

Frank McHugh, who can steal almost any picture, does his stuff in "Let's be Ritzy" and Robert McWade is the hard-boiled, cranky old grouch, a sort of modernized Scrooge, who acts as the 'god in the machine' for the two four-flushers, Patricia Ellis as the two-timing Ruth who accepts a thousand-dollar bracelet from her boss, and Lew Ayers, star of "All Quiet Behind the Western Front" as her youthful husband, Jimmy Stirling. The Stirlings' efforts to be 'ritzy' and keep up with the Joneses lead them into financial difficulties.

The element in the picture that appeals strongly is the boyish sincerity of Lew Ayres, who has a type of acting that is so extremely real as to make the picture more like a human document than a theatrical effort.

A little white terrier is another very likeable actor in this picture.

—Jeanette.

The name "lacrosse" was given to the game by the French explorers, from the crosse, or crooked, stick with which it is played.

MAGIC ROPE TRICK IS PROMISED IN MADSON SQUARE GARDEN FREE

Mentalist Claims "Nothing to It" Indoors—Open Air Performance Different.

ONLY A LEGEND.

NEW YORK, June 14 (CP)—For exactly nothing Joseph Dunninger, New York "mentalist" will perform the much ballyhooed rope trick in Madison Square Garden.

Mister Dunninger, who writhes and shudders in anguish if one calls him a magician, views with contempt the offer of Dr. Alexander Cannon, British psychiatrist, to perform the feat in London's Albert Hall for a mere $275,000, provided he could have the help of a Yogi, special tropical sand and a machine to provide tropical heat in the hall.

"His offer," quoth the mentalist, "is ridiculous. I will do the trick for nothing in the Garden and all I will require in the way of equipment will be $50 of simple apparatus."

The mentalist, who heads the Universal Society of Psychic Research and loves to confound Spiritualists who maintain they can communicate with the dead, says he has been performing an indoor version of the rope trick for 10 years at society parties and on the stage.

Another Thing.

"If Dr. Cannon had said that he would perform the rope trick under the open sky, in broad daylight as the ancient Yogis are supposed to have done it, that would be another matter. But indoors it can be done comparatively simply; it's just an optical illusion."

Mr. Dunninger said that whenever he had brought up the question of the outdoor trick during his talks with Yogis in India they had laughed in his face.

"Laughed right in my face," he averred. "It's just a legend, they told me. It's a myth."

At the opera house in Philadelphia, at Buffalo and in a theatre in Canada, said Mr. Dunninger, he has amazed crowds by throwing a rope in the air, apparently making it stand of its own accord and sending a boy to climb it.

When the boy reaches the top he vanishes and the cords fall to the stage.

INSIDE THE PADDOCK

BY ART MURRAY

BLUE BONNETS at Montreal is the only track holding forth in Canada today. Long Branch closing a very successful meeting yesterday. Tuesday of this week was the first day that any Toronto track has been heavy this year since Woodbine opened the season on May 19th last, so the mud runners have had very few opportunities to show their wares. Even Stephen, a notorious mud hound dropped from the skies on Tuesday to the tune of twenty to one to celebrate the return of Ol' Mississippi Mud.

Crout Au Pot, the poney sized horse from the Newmarch stable is proving himself to be one of the gamest thoroughbreds in our midst. His race on Tuesday with the veteran Dude Foden in the pilot house was a masterpiece. He came from behind and defeated such good ones as Ladfield and Shady Well. He is only about as big as a minute but how he can turn it on is nobody's business . . . Most of the good ones that have been campaigning at Long Branch are staying for the Dufferin meetings which opens on Saturday. This is quite different from the old days when only the cheaper platers patronized the half mile track. The Hatch stable are the latest to signify their intentions of giving half mile racing a whirl.

LLOYD GENTRY had the unique distinction of sending at least one winner to the post each day during the recent Long Branch meeting. His Lady Hockberger accounting for the second heat on closing day. The Labrot stable's Round Table showed that his victory of last Thursday was no flash in the pan, when he took the feature event of Wednesday's program. And in this he defeated all the good ones. Old Prometheous found the heavy track to his liking and made no mistakes in the last of the double on closing day to pay his backers.

The layoff of today and Friday will not only give the horses a rest but will also give the regular attendants a chance to get a new bank roll together as some of them were badly bent during the previous three weeks . . . The Labrot stable have a small three year hide called Leonie who is due to go places. He has only started once in Canada, that being on the second last day at Long Branch and it was just an opener for him. He is a half-brother of the famous Tred Avon and Springsteel, so he should not need any further recommendation. Eddie Seagram lost his good plater Spartan Lady on Tuesday when she was claimed by the Mayfair outfit.

"Chuck" Gardiner, Chicago Hawks Goalie, Dies

BRAIN HEMORRHAGE FOLLOWING BRIEF SICKNESS ENDS HOCKEY CAREER OF FAMOUS GOALKEEPER

Death is Sequel to Spectacular Season in Which Hawks Won Stanley Cup.

Uraemic Convulsions Cause of Death According to Attending Physicans.

CURLY-HAIRED PUCK CHASER 30 YEARS OF AGE.

WINNIPEG, June 14.—(CP)—The supreme showman of the sport, the grinning curly-head who was both a successful clown and the game's greatest goaltender, Charlie Gardiner rested today in the glory of hockey immortality. His death was mourned across the width and breadth of the hockey world.

At the peak of his spectacular career in the National Hockey League winner of all the symbols of greatness within reach of a big-time goalie, Gardiner returned home two months ago from the scene of his last triumph—to die. At the time he complained only of pains in the head.

Captain of Chicago Hawks

He was captain of the Chicago Black Hawks, Stanley Cup champions. The Vezina Trophy, N. H. L. award to the season's most valuable goalie, was his for the second time. He had been selected almost unanimously on the all-star team by Canadian and United States sports writers.

But he was unwell. Yesterday he died in the hospital to which he had been taken only a few hours before. Hemorrhage of the brain, which caused him to collapse last Sunday, was given as the cause of death. The hockey star was in a coma when he was rushed to hospital.

Dr. W. G. MacIntosh, who attended Gardiner shortly before his death, said a series of uraemic convulsions brought about the brain hemorrhage. The condition originated in a tonsular infection and could not have been caused by any injury received during a hockey game.

7 Years in N.H.L.

Thirty years old, Gardiner played for seven seasons in the National League, always with the Black Hawks. He was the master craftsman between the posts, an acrobatic, kicking, sprawling figure that dove and slithered into oncoming marksmen, leaped nimbly from one side of the cage to the other when the going was roughest.

"He was the greatest goaltender that ever donned the pads," Tommy Gorman, manager of the Black Hawks and now general manager of the Montreal Forum, said last night when he was told of Chuck's death. And the hockey world echoed the tribute with scarcely a reservation. It placed him, in immortality, beside the late Georges Vezina.

Chicago first saw the rollicking, chunky boy from Winnipeg in the fall of 1927 when Gardiner, purchased from Winnipeg Maroons of the American Association, joined forces with the Hawks and Hughie (Eagle Eye) Lehman. The veteran netman had long been Chuck's idol. It was his big chance.

Since his earliest school days here Chuck had pointed himself for a goaltending career. He was six years old when the Gardiner family moved to Winnipeg from Edinburgh, Scotland, where Charlie was born. The groundwork of his polished game was laid on the frozen corner-lots and school yards.

Gardiner Becomes King

In 1931 he was voted to the first Canadian Press all-star team. He repeated in 1932 and 1934. In 1933, when the Hawks had a poor season, finishing at the bottom of the United States section standing, he was named to the alternate team. Gardiner, the student of hockey, had become king.

When Tommy Gorman rebuilt the Hawks last season, he built around Gardiner. Every line was a defensive line. The forwards checked furiously. Lionel Conacher was secured from Montreal Maroons in a trade to bolster the rearguard. For the first time since he joined the club Gardiner was given first-class protection.

The result was a Stanley Cup triumph. In 48 games opposing teams scored only 83 goals on the curly-head, giving him an average of 1.7 goals a game. His average over a seven-year stretch was 2.1 goals a game. In playoff campaigns his average was 1.9.

On the eve of his departure in 1927 for the Chicago training camp, the hockey player married his schoolday sweetheart, Miss Myrtle Brooks. They were married in Grace United Church here. His widow and their three-year-old son, Bobby, survive. The funeral will be held from Grace Church on Friday.

ROYALS DOWN ORIOLES.

(By The Associated Press)

The collapse of Rochester Red Wings had begun to take on serious proportions to-day as they desperately clung to second place in the International League, but even the aftermath of the "goofy" opening day happenings at Albany had ailed to oust George Toporcer's club from that berth.

For a while last night it looked as if the Wings, who had dominated the league for seven weeks only to be dumped out of the lead a week ago by three straight defeats at Montreal's hands, would go down another notch. Toronto, now in third place, and Albany, selected last night to finish their disputed opening game which was halted with the Leafs leading 13-11 and with two out in the last half of the 10th.

When the crowd invaded the field that day, Umpire Roy Van Graflam ordered the game forfeited because the home club had failed to provide proper police protection, but League President Charles Knapp subsequently reversed his decision and ordered the game finished from the point at which it had been halted.

The Leafs got a third man out and gained a tie with the Red Wings, who had dropped both ends of an afternoon double-header to Syracuse, 7-4 and 3-2. But the Leafs and Senators went on to play their regularly scheduled game and Albany won, 1-0, in a mound duel between Bob Barrett and Gene Schott which wasn't decided until the ninth. That left the order unchanged with Rochester still a half-game to the good.

Chiefs Break "Jinx"

Syracuse scored four runs in the opener and went on to win despite Estel Crabtree's homer and break the "jinx" which had cost the Chiefs six games against Rochester previously. The Red Birds had the hitting edge in the second clash as Dykes Potter and Johnny Merena fought it out on the hill, but Foots Blair's single with the bases loaded in the sixth brought the Chiefs from behind to win.

Newark's Bears maintained their league lead by beating Buffalo Bisons, 3-2, as Rotund Walter Brown hung up his eighth triumph of the season in an elbowing argument with Fabian Kowatik, who gave only six hits.

Cliff Melton threw a wild pitch in the 10th to allow Jimmy Ripple to score from second and give Montreal an 8-7 decision over Baltimore in a game which saw George Puccinelli pole out his fifth homer of the campaign.

Bearing the date 1917 an English gun was found recently at the bottom of the bay at Ostend, Belgium.

And Primo does not like it, judging from his threatening attitude towards the cameraman.

"LEFTY" GOMEZ REACHES HIS 10TH WIN MARK GEHRIG HITS 16TH CIRCUIT AS YANKS WIN 6-2

(By Hugh S. Fullerton, Jr.—A.P. Sports Writer).

Washington Senators, like the team which beat them in the world series last fall, New York Giants, have been saying it with hits this season since thier pitchers have not beeen performing so well as they did a year ago.

As the last semi-official check-up last week the Senators had about 30 more hits to their credit than their nearest American League rival, although they hadn't done so well in scoring. They added considerably to both games of a doubltheader, 11-3 and 13-11. The two contests saw them bang out 25 hits, grouping most of them in the early innings of both games.

Cronin Leads Assault.

Manager Joe Cronin was the big gun of the assault as he made three hits and drove in five runs in each contest, contributed a timely homer in the second and did a great deal to overcome the effects of Zeke Bonura's 16th circuit swat of the season. The Sox contributed seven errors to their second defeat.

Return To First Group.

The two triumps only served to return the Senators to a first division place by a few percentage points over the Browns, who took a 6-2 beating from the Yankees as Lefty Gomez pitched six-hit ball for his 10th victory, and Lou Gehrig propelled his 16th homer into the bleachers.

The Yanks' victory put them a game closer to the top when Detroit came out on the short end of a 15-13 score in a slug-fest with Boston, when the Red Sox' eight-run second inning proved better than the Tigers' 22-hit total. With "Sugar" Cain hurling five-hit ball, the Athletics won the fourth American League game from Cleveland by an 11-2 count. Bob Johnson hit his 14th homer for the A's.

MANY STILL INTERESTED IN McLARNIN-ROSS FIGHT

Although ousted from his welterweight throne by Barney Ross, the Chicago Ghetto few in their title bout on May 29, Jimmy McLarnin still has a big following among Canadian padded glove fans because of the split decision among judges at the New York scrap. According to the official ruling one judge voted McLarnin the victor, the other spoke just as strongly for Ross while Referee Eddie Forbes cast the decisive vote in favor of the product of Chicago's west side. Local boxing followers who are stilli interested in the result of this fracas will be able to form their own opinions by a movie short of the Long Island fight which will be shown on the Capitol screen on Friday and Saturday of this week.

KINGSTON GAME CALLED IN 2ND

Rain Halts C.O.B.L. at Limestone City With Petes Leading 6 to 2.

PETES HOLD UPPER HAND.

KINGSTON, June 14.—(Special to Examiner).—Old Man Jinx trailed the Petes here last night when Knotty Lee's team, after scoring six runs on one hit in the first inning, saw a heavy rainstorm put the grounds in such a state that the game was called in the second inning, with the score 6 to 2 for the Petes.

Ponies fell apart in the first inning when the Petes piled up the score. Konopka walked and stole second, and Batten was safe when Smith fumbled his roller, Konopka taking third. Foley hit to Smith, who again fumbled and Konopka scored. Murray walked to fill the bases and after Whatley struck out Ash was hit, forcing in a run. Burton hit to Smith, who got Foley at the plate. Calladine, playing right field for Peterborough, raised a fly back of third and when Smith dropped the ball Murray and Ash came home. Scriver drove a long single through second to score Burton and Calladine and Konopka ended the inning with a fly to centre.

Ponies got two back in their half of the inning. G. Arniel walked and stole second. Scrutton hit to Scriver, who nailed Arniel going into third. J. Arniel raised a fly to Foley and Smith singled. Both runners advanced on a passed ball and both came home on Joyce's smash to right for a base. Boyd walked but Webber rolled to Ash.

The Petes went down in order in the second and as Kingston came to bat rain started to fall. Jamieson fouled to Whatley and then the rain came down in torrents, leaving the diamond a veritable quagmire and making further play out of the question.

One of Greatest Goalkeepers Game Ever Produced, in Opinion of Frank Calder.

COOK VOICES TRIBUTE.

Tommy Gorman, Wilf Cude, Eddie Shore and Frank Patrick Join Hands in Glowing Praise.

(By the Canadian Press)

The hockey world paid glowing tribute to Charlie Gardiner, Chicago Black Hawk goaltender, who died yesterday at Winnipeg. Shocked at word of his death, which occurred only a few hours after it was first announced he was ill, National Hockey League officials, club managers and players joined in terming Gardiner the greatest goalie of his day.

CHARLIE GARDINER

Some of the tributes follow:

FRANK CALDER, President of the N. H. L.—"He was a sportsman from his head to his heels as well as one of the greatest goalkeepers the game ever produced. His loss is irreparable."

BILL COOK, New York Rangers —"It is almost impossible to believe that he is dead. It's too much of a shock to me to say anything more."

TOMMY GORMAN, former Chicago manager—"He was the greatest goaltender that ever donned the pads. He was one of the finest fellows on and off the ice I have ever met."

JACK ADAMS, Detroit Red Wings manager—"He was undoubtedly the finest net-minder in the league and what is more he always played the game as a gentleman. He was a grand chap."

WILF CUDE, Detroit goalie and Gardiner's protege since they were school chums—"He was the greatest goaltender I ever saw—far better than any other. And in addition he was a great showman. I can't express my personal feelings about his death."

CHARLIE CONACHER, leading N H. L. goal scorer—"He was a 100 percent fellow. I always thought of him as far superior to any other goaltender in the National League."

FRANK PATRICK, former managing director of the N. H. L. — "Charlie was one of the finest fellows I have ever known and . his loss will be felt keenly, not only by his teammates and other hockey players but by many friends from coast to coast."

EDDIE SHORE, Boston Bruins — "His death is a tremendous shock to me. He was one of the greatest goaltenders I ever played against."

Winnipeg Mourns Death of "Chuck"

WINNIPEG, June 14. (CP). Winnipeg was bowed to-day in grief over the death of Charlie Gardiner, peer of goalkeepers in the National Hockey League.

Scores of Winnipeggers joined many others in voicing their admiration of Gardiner as a sportsman and gentleman, but few knew "Chuck" as a vocalist.

Stanley Hoban, Winnipeg music teacher, under whom the goalie studied voice culture for several years, paid high tribute to him when he learned of his death.

N.H.L. GOVERNORS SADDENED BY DEATH OF POPULAR GOALIE

Expected National League Will Comprise Ten Clubs in 1934-35 Season.

GORMAN HARD HIT.

NEW YORK, June 14. (CP). — Governors of the National Hockey League asembled in semi-annual session here to-day saddened by death at Winnipeg last night of Charles "Chuck" Gardiner, colorful and popular goalkeeper of the Chicago Blackhawks, Stanley Cup champions.

Gardiner's loss to the major league was inestimable the managers were unanimous in declaring; tributes to the great player were uttered spontaneously by all.

Perhaps the man, more than anyone else at the gathering who felt "Chuck's" loss most keenly was Thomas P. Gorman, manager of the Montreal Forum, said Gardiner was the "greatest netminder who ever donned pads."

10-Club League

Before the day is over it is expected the league will be a 10-club organization — representing three in Canadian cities and seven in United States.

The league governor will survey the possibilities of having St. Louis and Pittsburgh club in operation next winter. They may find the various angles sufficiently smoothed to make a definite decision.

The chances of St. Louis joining "big time" company this year appear bright. Plans for transferring Ottawa Senators to St. Louis are well formed and it is reported the St. Louis rink, now in receivership, will be purchased by auction by one of its largest bondholders.

The popular understanding regarding the situation at Pittsburg is that it, too, will be "on ice" if rink difficulties are cleared away.

GOOD WEATHER FORECAST.

By ALAN GOULD
(Associated Press Sports Editor)

NEW YORK, June 14. (AP). — Convinced that anything can happen when Primo Carnera and Max Baer start swinging to-night in the sunken arena built by the ex-millionaires of Madison Square Garden, the fight clans staged an old-fashioned rally to-day in anticipation of one of the most fantastic fights ever waged for the heavyweight championship of the world.

The turmoil of the big town, even with the fleet in and warlike precautions on all sides, was a far cry from those glamorous days of 1921 when Tex Rickard convinced the faithful, through the gentle art of the ballyhoo, that Georges Carpentier had a chance to beat Jack Dempsey and attract 90,000 customers to see the slaughter in historic Boyle's 30 Acres, just across the Hudson River in New Jersey.

Times Have Changed

For one thing, times have changed radically with the fistic business. For another, the "international angle" has been overworked but perhaps 50,000 will cross another river to-night in the direction of the Long Island city arena to see whether the California song and dance man can topple the 260-pound Italian Goliath within the limit of 15 rounds.

Promoters, more optimistic than confident, predicted 60,000 cash customers would contribute to a gate of nearly $400,000. The probability was that at least 10 percent could be trimmed off these figures by the time the box-office was completed. Good weather was forecast, however, and a late rush anticipated.

Carnera at 6 to 5

The latest shift in betting odds to-day found Carnera no better than a 6 to 5 choice to retain the title he won last year on a knock-out from Jack Sharkey and which he has twice defended, with some difficulty, against Paulin Uscudun, the old Spanish woodchopper, and Tommy Loughran, the Philadelphia boxing maestro.

Eighteen mixed rinks turned out last night to take part in first tournament of this kind held this season. So great was the success of this tournament that it is more than likely that they are now firmly established as a regular event. It sure is the support and co-operation such as this that will make our club the biggest and if not the best in the province.

A few nights ago we passed out a little hint about rolling the greens The next day we were taken to task about "rubbing" it in and to ease up and all that sort of thing....

It was never our intention to "rub" it into anyone, and we offer no apologies....we believed that if the greens were rolled more often that we would have better greens and better bowling....

But now that all this has been done we want to congratulate all those who have anything to do with the greens. We honestly think that we have never seen our greens in better shape and with more sod on than at the present time. It was certainly a pleasure to bowl on our greens, particularly after one has been travelling around the country a little bit.

St. Paul's Bantams Take One Game Lead

St. Paul's Bantams beat Park Street 13-9 last night to put the Saints a game up in the semi-finals. They play again on Friday at Queen Mary. Williamson of St Paul's pitched a steady game and had fine support. Sanderson's support was shaky at times. The Martin brothers, H. Campbell, Mackness, Sedgewick, and T. McMillan led the clouters. DOURO LEAGUE

In the best game of the season at Douro last night, North Douro nosed out Elmwoods, 20 to 19. Bolstered by Pitcher Thompson from Warsaw, the North played much-improved ball over their last game. Errors by the other side in the infield proved costly. Towns pitched a good game but made several errors for Elmwoods. Delaney went good on second. Features of the contest were the garden work of Garvey for the losers and Dwyer for the victors. B. Towns on first for Elmwoods pulled off a neat catch on a foul fly, and Twiggs went fine behind the bat for North. The teams:

TULSA STENOGRAPHERS BOW TO EDMONTON GRADS

EDMONTON, June 14 (CP)— Toggery of the gymnasium battleground was tucked away by Edmonton Commercial Grads to-day and still on display was the Underwood Trophy, emblem of women's international basketball supremacy.

A gallant, hard-checking group of typists from Tulsa, Okla., who under the team name of Stenographers earned wide repute in the United States, bowed last night for the third time to Grads, who won the scheduled five-game series in three straight.

George St. Bantams Win In Semi-Finals

George Street Bantams won their semi-final Church League softball contest from Mark Street 14 to 4, last night, and the latter will have to cop to-night's tilt to even the series at the Oval. Lee was a big help on the mound for the winners and he had good backing, especially by Weese. Ferguson did not have as much luck. Stewart and Wildman found him easy to hit, while Craig and Brady topped the Mark Street hitters. The Ashburnham crew fought hard and may sew up the series to-night. The teams:

Nine little girls from up on top of the big hill in Ashburnham—wearing the bright eye-knocking uniforms of Westclox—went to town in a big way with Omemee at Central in the twilight yesterday. The score was 17 to 6, and that isn't counting a Mack truckload of counters that the Watchmakers garnered in the seventh before the umpires finally said: "Desist!" A lass named Ev. Bigelow did her bit for employment (of the opposing fielders) by slapping out two homers, a triple and a single in four opportunities. What, no doubles? Mary Hall went pretty fair in the box, while the opposing flingers certainly should sue their teammates for non-support, though Dot Sherin was kayo in centre garden.

As usual, the fair ones drew quite a gallery despite the threatening and chilly evening. If we may advance a few suggestions—and there's no use saying "No" as we intend to anyway—we'd advise the catchers in this gals' loop to do more pegging to the bases in an effort to cut down this grand larceny of cushions. We'd also suggest the pitchers do not try to fan every batter, thereby tossing a flock of wild pitches which let runners romp around the sacks at will; let the batter hit and the fielders do some work. And why isn't the bunt (a good weapon in softball) worked occasionally?

• • • • • • •

A woman baseball scribe is something new, but we read the other day of one Mary Standish who sits in the press-box with the men writers at all Big League games. The article concludes: "Mary is no 'lady feature writer', but an experienced newspaper woman who knows baseball and can write about it in the colorful patois of the diamond." But we imagine it must be tough on the male scribblers at those heated moments that come up in any game when they might give vent to their feelings in the colorful patois used by mule-skinners only for a lady being present. And, to be fair, the gal herself must often have to watch her step when things go wrong since there are gentlemen present. It's enough to cause one to let down one's hair and have a good cry!

• • • • • • •

Ho, hum, we're afraid that Baer-Carnera thing is going on as scheduled in N'Yawk tonight. Both fighters insist upon it and no one seems to be able to persuade the lads to give the public a break and just forget this scrap. The ballyhoo experts that play up these fights excelled themselves, carrying their pre-fight dope and arguments to the point where P. T. Barnum—you know, the "sucker-a-minute" man—must have turned over in his grave. However, we suppose there will be some fans who will take it seriously, and who knows? it might even turn out to be a good fight. We wouldn't guess at the winner nor bet a plugged nickel on either one. In case any of the boxing bugs here want to tune in on it, the fight will be broadcast about nine, eastern standard time, over the N.B.C. network. Well, you can always go to a show or something.

Rain forced the calling of the C.O.B.L. game in Kingston last evening with the second inning not quite completed and the score 6-2 for the Petes. That's tough luck as it looked like the Petes were out to push over the Ponies right in their own stable. Jamieson was wild as a coolitch boy when school's out and Smith, thinking he was playing soccer, promptly booted just about everything that came his way on third. The Petes took advantage of all the breaks, plus Spook Scriver's timely single, to ram home half a dozen of the best. Spook was a bit wild to start ale and Kington got two back, but it till looked good for the Pete when a heavy downpour spoiled everything.

While it was mean luck in a way, still it gives the injured Petes a few days grace and anyway they collected the big rain-guarantee. No doubt Kingston would much sooner have lost the game than had to hand over the dough, so that's something. Ike Batten gamely galloped around third, while Bill Calladine played right-field. Kingston is back here Saturday and probably the Spook will again start. Incidentally, he was peeved at the calling of the game as it meant a hit of his wasted, and that was the third clean bingle for the Ghost this year, a new all-time record for him at bat. He can coast through the restof the season and still be pretty well up with his previous batting records. Don't forget to set Saturday aside for one of those real Kingston-Petes' scraps.

A guy named Alden Calkins of the Trotting Horse Club of America, N'Yawk, sends us a whole flock of literature concerning the opening of the Grand Circuit harness-hoss races in Cleveland, June 23rd to July 7th. We don't know why he picked on us. But a meet closer to home is the one being held in Lindsay, June 27th in aid of the new rink fund. There will be three prizes of $120 each for harness-hoss winners, and three each of $40 for runners.

Charlie (Chuck) Gardiner died yesterday. The Chicago Hawks' star goalie—and the best net-guardian in hockey—hadn't been well since the Stanley Cup playoffs in the Spring. A spectacular and effective custodian of the Chicago citadel, he was also a great sport and popular everywhere with players and fans. He was quite a clown and kidder, though he never forgot his job was to keep pucks out of his goal. The last time we saw him was when he tended the net for the All-Stars in that Ace Bailey Benefit Game in Toronto last winter. He will be greatly missed by his team and by hockey followers everywhere.

Undefeated Tanners Take Their 4th Win

HASTINGS, June 14 (Examiner Correspondence) — The undefeated Tanners in the Hastings Softball League chalked up their fourth win on Monday at the expense of the Dramatics by 20 to 12. These softball exhibitions appear to be what the fans have been waiting for as the crowds are growing at every game. Monday night's game started out as if it would be a nip and tuck battle, going into the fourth the Dramatics were leading 7 to 6 but they went to pieces in this inning, Gord Gibson on the mound lost some of his control issuing two walks and uncorking a couple of wild heaves that helped the Tanners to five runs.

The teams:

SPYING ON SPORTS

"GOSSIP AND SUCH

WATCH THE Boston Red Sox.

Mr. Thomas Yawkey's, Mr. Eddie Collins' and Mr. Stanley Harris' crimson-hosed horde may not—in fact, probably will not, win any pennants in this year of the New Deal, 1934, but the Sox look like a ball club about to do something.

* * *

THE BOSTON Americans have been hovering around the .500 mark. It seems that they were, in effect, just marking time to see whether the two new Red Sox aces, Lefty Grove and Wesley Ferrell, were in shape.

Well, Grove and Ferrell are.

THE GREAT left-hander and the almost equally great right-hander of several seasons ago have turned in fine relief pitching performances, giving indication that they are ready to start games and win a good many of them for the Yawkey-Collins-Harris machine.

GROVE AND Ferrell in the same form they enjoyed two years ago would give the Red Sox the best southpaw and the greatest right-hander in the American league—a terrific advantage over the other pennant contenders.

THE SOX have already won more than 20 games. If Grove and Ferrell are really in their old winning form each of these hurlers should account for nearly a score more victories. Twenty-five or thirty more victories by the rest of the Red Sox staff—and Boston would be so close to a pennant that the old world series fever would break out in New England.

THE PRESENT setup of the American league pennant race is very opportune for a dash by the Boston band. At the moment it's a three-day dog fight between New York, Detroit and Cleveland. These three teams have been sloughing each other so effectively that not one has been able to gain a substantial lead on its mates.

THE ST. LOUIS Browns' amazing ability to stay in the first division is a splendid compliment to Rogers Hornsby's managerial ability. He has fired the club with great enthusiasm. But the Browns do not have the material enjoyed by the Red Sox.

* * *

SO—WATCH the Red Sox. They may not arrive in Pennantburg, but they're going places, and none of them down.

Cogs And Electrics Clash This Evening

Cogs play C.G.E. at six tonight in an E.P.L. game at the Exhibition Grounds, weather permitting. The strengthened Electrics believe they can take the Clubmen in this fixture, and following the surprising upset the last game when Fosters tied—and almost beat—Cogs, it is quite in order. Both teams are made up of experienced ball players of Intermediate "A" calibre, showing fine hurling, good fielding and som hard hitting. Fans can generally look for a close, exciting battle when these oldtime rivals, finalists last year, clash.

Percy Vannest is due to start on the Cog mound, though Manager Davis may send Russ Kitchen back again. None of the three Cog twirlers used so far have lost their games. Just who Manager Doug Hatton will select to begin on the slab for the Electrics is uncertain. He has several likely pitchers, but Jack Barry, the slim righthander who showed up so well last summer, may be back with C.G.E. in his first appearance of the season. If so, he should get the call. At any rate, it promises to be an interesting ball game with the issue always in doubt. The teams are advised to start on time.

SAINTS' JUVENILES GAIN 9-8 VERDICT

Eliminated Murray Street and Tie St. James for First Place by Win.

In a fine Church League softball game last evening, St. John's Juveniles pulled out a 9-8 verdict over St. James to wind up their schedule. By winning, St. John's eliminated Murray Street and tied with St. James' for first place. A sudden-death game will be played tonight at King Edward between these teams to decide first and second place, the winner to meet George Street, and the loser to tangle with Knox in the semi-finals next week. This game was close throughout, with the losers having costly errors. Smith and Ridley both hurled nice ball with both catchers, Vollans and Berwick fielding well, while Castle, Berwick, Lawson, Chivras, Thirnbeck and Gibbs led the batters. The teams:

St. James'.—Murduff, cf; Leggett, 1b; Berwick, 3b; Castle, c; Leether, ss; Lawson, rf; McGoverin, lf; Ridley, p; Woods, 2b.

13 RUNS IN FIFTH WINS FOR TRINITY

George St. Seniors Minus Several Regulars Suffer 22-Setback.

A big fifth inning gave Trinity Seniors a 22-9 win over George St. in a Church Softball League game last night, the latter team being minus several regulars. Ward pitched his usual steady game for Trinity. Gadd, McBain, Ward, Miles, Smithson and Payne led the hitters. This win leaves Trinity alone in third place ,half a game back of the leaders, Knox and Mark Street. The teams:

George Street.—Payne, ss; Grant, c⅞ Reid, 3b, p; Cullen, cf; Smithson, p, 3b; Patterson, lf; Jewell, 1b, p; Miles, 2b.

WESTCLOX POUNDS OUT 17-6 VICTORY

Mary Hall Holds Omemee to 10 Hits, Fans Six and Walks Four.

Ross Currie's collection of classy hitters from the Westclox pounded two Omemee pitchers for a parade of hits last night at Central to win a 17 to 6 decision in a Ladies' League game.

Ev. Morcombe pitched the first four frames for the visitors, and despite the fact that she walked nine, deserved a closer score as her teammates failed to display of good fielding and the count soared to a total of eleven for the Clockmakers. P. Bigelow took the mound in the fifth but was ineffective and the locals scored fourteen runs in the sixth and seventh, but the game was called before the Westclox team was retired in the last of the seventh. Mary Hall pitched the whole game for the winners fanning six, and walking four. She was nicked for ten hits.

The teams:

Omemee: D. Rehill, rf; D. Sherin, cf; E. Bigelow, c; Fisher, 2b; R. McQuade, ss; H. Reddick, 3b; M. Pickett, 1b; E. Morcombe, p, lf; P. Bigelow, lf, p.

THE SPUN GLASS MYSTERY

A Tale of Scotland Yard

By A. FIELDING

CHAPTER 23

A few key questions brought no further information from the driver. He did not know any other members of the household by sight. He had not seen the dead man, Mr. Tait, in company with any one this morning. The constable's report was practically the same. Pointer went back to the shut-off part of the dining room where the medical men had finished their inspection of the dead man's face. The family doctor was openly impatient. Tait, according to him, "had a heart," and the cause of death would undoubtedly prove to be due to that organ having been overtaxed by hurry, possibly on top of a heavy lunch. The Home Office expert listened in silence. Both were waiting for Pointer to order the body to be stripped. One by one the garments were taken off, after a careful look at each before it was disturbed. The clothes offered no clues of any kind. Pointer then went through the pockets. There was nothing in them of any interest except what the taximan had called the "gold trinket." It was the top of a lady's fountain pen. Without initials of any kind, but of rather an uncommon pattern of chasing. Pointer thought—or rather hoped. The taximan identified it unhesitatingly as the object that had dropped from Tait's hand as he held him up, and the dust in the chasing bore this out. He was now allowed to go after being asked on no account to mention the fact that Mr. Tait had dropped anything whatever, should the pressmen question him on the matter. The taxi driver, who looked a man of his word, promised, adding that it made him laugh the way papers printed every sort of silly little trifle however unimportant. When he was gone the constable also identified the gold object as the one which he had seen picked up by the driver and dropped into the dead man's waistcoat pocket. He himself had stepped on it, fortunately very lightly, and showed the dent that his glancing boot had made.

"Whoever is the owner is evidently in the habit of biting his or her pen," the constable added, eager to shine before the Scotland Yard officer. Pointer agreed, and put it away in an envelope, but that gold chased top, though a lady's, presumably, from its slender size and ornate work, showed the marks of a Man's teeth, he thought and unusually large and fine teeth they must be even at that. He asked for a wax candle and obtained the prints on it of all the dead man's teeth. They were not in the least like those on the gold top. Tait had rather small and blunt teeth. The man who valeted Tait was called into the half of the dining room whose double doors Pointer had had closed so that the doctors could make their examination in private. All the objects shown to him as found on Tait were identified by him as ones which the dead man usually carried. Pointer had not included the "trinket."

"There's no fountain pen," Pointer said finally. He was told that Mr. Tait never used one. Stooping, Pointer seemed to pick something up from the carpet. It was the little gold top. The man had never seen any pen to which that would fit. All the inmates of the house, if they used fountain pens, had either black or colored ones. He couldn't say for certain about the young lady who had just come to the house—it might belong to Miss Dundas.

Pointer asked him about Mr. Tait's apparent health, which the man thought was quite good. The doctors fancied from his teeth that he had a habit of biting pen or pencil; if so, that would show a certain amount of nerves, Pointer thought. The servant rather indignantly scoffed at the notion of such a habit on Mr. Tait's part. Proof was to be found on his writing table, where the chief inspector would find pens and pencils in plenty and none of them bitten.

At this moment Dr. Merridew opened the double doors and the man was dismissed.

"Heart failure," he murmured, passing through into the hall where he met Naylor and repeated the two words.

"Strictly speaking, of course, medical etiquette demands that Doctor Hardy should acquaint the family with the cause of death, but"—and here Merridew expressed his sincere sympathy and regret at the terrible loss to every one in that house with great feeling, adding, "of course, no pronouncement can be made until after the autopsy. Officially, that is. Yes, it's a dreadful necessity, but it'll be quickly over. Just a necessary formality," and with a few more words he hurried away. He was due at an operation.

Naylor's eyes went over his shoulder, through the open door, to the chief inspector, but he said nothing. Pointer stepped back into the shut-off part of the room where the Home Office expert was still bending over the body. Something in the rigidity and intentness of his figure made the other move close to him.

"I want Angelli," Hardy said, without lifting his eyes from the pressure which he had made in the skin with his fingertip. "Angelli of the Italian hospital. Ask him to hurry."

"Doctor Angelli?" Pointer asked. Hardy only nodded. Apparently he assumed that the name would convey as much to any layman as it did to himself. Pointer got the Italian hospital on the telephone, and in another moment got Dr. Angelli, who, on being told that Dr. Harvey of the Home Office asked him to come at once, assured Pointer that he would be there as fast as his car could carry him.

Pointer returned to the dining room.

"Dr. Angelli is coming at once. Your suspicions confirmed, sir?"

"Yes. But suspicions only. I wish Angelli would hurry up. See that one rigid eyeball and one loose? See the tint of the pressure pits made by my fingers. Angelli read a paper not many months ago on a poison in use in Mediterranean countries and South America which showed those two symptoms after death. It's rather his specialty. Seen plenty of it when he was medical officer of health on a Brazil coffee plantation."

Pointer had a word with the butler. The man gave a brief account of Mr. Tait's goings and comings that morning. He had had breakfast at half-past nine, and left the house shortly afterwards.

Then he had not returned until about a quarter to two, when he had gone on into the room where lunch was served and had sat on with his cousin, Mr. Naylor, after lunch over their coffee, then he had sent word by him to Mrs Burnham, who was with the rest of the ladies listening to the broadcast...g, that he would like to have a word with her alone. The butler saw him walking up and down the library waiting for her, as though in a great hurry. When Mrs. Burnham came in the door was shut for perhaps five minutes or so, then Mr. Tait opened it, and calling back that he wouldn't be more than a few minutes, was hurrying out, when Mr. Naylor met him in the hall, and insisted on drawing him into the little room by the door "for a word." That seemed to be literal, for, after a couple of minutes at most, Mr. Tait hurried on out. The exact words the butler had heard him call back to Mrs. Burnham were, "Well, darling, I shan't keep you waiting more than a few minutes."

"And the lady, what did she do?"

"She waited a minute or two in the room. I could hear her humming to herself as she moved about, and then she went upstairs, smiling and looking very happy."

THE STARS SAY . . .

By GENEVIEVE KEMBLE

For Friday, June 15

According to the lunar aspects of this day, with an adverse sign between the moon and the disruptive and devastating Uranus, there may be sudden upheavals of the affairs, instigating abrupt departure from old routines, or probable contacts with strange persons, associations, interests and environment. It will take wise counsel, calm decisions but well deliberated ones to reap lasting benefits from these quite unexpected visitations. "Make haste slowly" might prove a good axiom.

Those whose birthday it is may find themselves confronted by a year of quite unforseen events, suddenly precipitated "out of the blue", as it were. This disruptive force may end in new scenes, with new associates and inteersts. But all should be handled with calm deliberation and well-thought-out decisions.

A child born on this day may be disposed to be restless, unsettled, hasty as well as independent in word and action. It may lean to original investigations and experiments of a scientific nature.

CURT DAVIS LIMITS CUBS TO 7 CLOUTS

Phillies Come Out on Top of 2-1 Decision—New York Giants Win 6-4.

(By Canadian Press)

A pair of young left handers provided the big news of the National League as Curt Davis of the Phillies limited the Cubs to seven hits and came out with a 2-1 decision with the aid of Ethan Allen's four-play wallop off Charley Root, and Ted Kleinkhans of Cincinnati gave the league-leading Giants a scare before he finally went out in the seventh and New York won 6-4.

Fred Frankhouse, a St. Louis "jinx" made it easy for Boston to beat the Cardinals, 9-0, when he held the second place club to six hits and Leo Durocher made four misplays in the Cardinal infield. Pittsburgh's batters had a field day at the expense of Brooklyn pitcher, banging out 17 hits, including nine extra base blows, to win 15-2.

PREMIER FACES HEAVY HECKLING KITCHENER MEET

Charges Hepburn More Concerned in Being Elected Than in Service to People.

DELVES INTO SAVINGS.

Queries Liberal Chief for Particulars on His 50 p.c. Expenditure Slash.

(By Ernest Burritt, Canadian Press Staff Writer)

KITCHENER, Ont., June 14 (CP)—Premier George S. Henry moved further westeward to-day, continuing his election campaign in this section of the province. He will address a gathering at Clinton in the afternoon and another at London in the evening.

The Premier received a mixed welcome here last evening when he addressed some 1,500 persons in the Hockey Auditorium, but interjections and laughter from one section of the top gallery failed to deter him in his attack on Mitchell F. Hepburn, leader of the Ontario Liberal party.

A clipping quoting Mr. Hepburn as saying "Providence in removing" Hon. J. D. Monteith and Hon. Edward A. Dunlop, "had saved the province money," was described by Premier Henry as "the most appalling statement ever made from a public platform in this country."

Died in Harness

These two Ministers had served the people and their province well, the Premier said, and "both died in harness." From his close affiliation with their respective departments the Premier said he could appreciate "just how shorthanded the Government is in being forced to carry on without them."

The Premier also charged Mr. Hepburn was more concerned in being elected to office than he was about being of service to the people who Mr. Henry "warned" regarding his opponent's promises.

Mr. Hepburn had promised to reduce administration cost 50 per cent., said the Premier, but reading from newspapers Mr. Henry said all he had seen was some reference to 23 commissions and boards. "I would like Mr. Hepburn to designate the ones he would eliminate and how much cost to the province he would save by transferring their work to other Government departments."

Many of these were honorary positions, the Premier said, so the Liberal Leader would have to go further to make his promised reduction. He also criticized Mr. Hepburn for his "boast that Chief Engineer Gaby of the Hydro would lead the parade from Queen's Park if the Liberals were elected to power."

Mr. Henry pointed out that Mr. Gaby had been appointed by the Hydro founder, the late Sir Adam Back and said the engineer had headed the "great organization since that time." And yet, "all this would be disbanded because they worked under Liberal-Conservative Government," the Premier added.

Raps Slaght

Arthur G. Slaght, who the Premier described as the "millionaire lawyer," had denied receiving between $200,000 and $250,000 for his work in the Solloway-Mills brokerage trials, but Mr. Henry said if this were true he would like the Toronto counsel to say "just how much he did get."

Several times the Premier was interrupted by questions to which he denied he was a millionaire; that he instigated the amendments to the Liquor Control Act and denied the Ontario Government was in any way connected with the $350,000 payment to John Aird, Jr.

Previous speakers also received some heckling, and Chairman D. G. MacIntosh said if it continued he would summon police to eject the disturbers. His warning brought replies of "Call the Militia," "Bring on the Tanks," and much booing from the same source in the top gallery.

$58,000 Road Program for United Counties

COST COUNTIES $22,000 GOVT'S PAY REMAINDER

County Road Improvement Program is Approved by Roads Committee.

DETAILS NOT COMPLETE.

Equalized Assessment of the Two Counties Will Remain Unchanged.

(By Staff Reporter.)

COBOURG, June 14.— A program of county road improvement involving an expenditure of $58,000, of which $22,000 would be provided by the United Counties of Northumberland and Durham, and the rest by the Ontario and Dominion governments, was approved in principle by the Roads committee of the Counties Council yesterday afternoon, with the likelihood that it would be adopted by the council as an unemployment relief measure this week.

The Government's proposal of co-operating with the county councils of the province last fall in financing local road construction as a means of creating new work for unemployed men was considered by the Counties Council at a special session last year, and it was decided then not to take any action for the reason that it was believed many of the townships and villages would accept the provincial government's plan. In its general outline, it was designed as a winter relief project, and some of the minor municipalities did take advantage of it.

At yesterday's meeting of the Roads and Bridge committee, of which Reeve K. Denyes of Brighton township is chairman, Reeve C. H. Curtis of Percy township recalled the council's decision, followed during the January sessions by a resolution that no road program would be planned or undertaken until the June sessions when the reeves would confer with George Greer, county road superintendent, as to the details of this season's work.

Mr. Denyes explained that when the Government announced that its winter relief scheme would be extended throughout the summer the County Road Commission took the initiative of placing the counties in a position to accept the Government's offer by outlining a plan of necessary work, and subsequently submitting it to the Department of Highways on the understanding that it had to be ratified by the Counties Council at the present sessions.

"When we could get $58,000 of road work done at a cost of $22,000 to these counties, the commission considered that we should at least be prepared to go on with the work if the council backed us up," Mr. Denyes informed the committee yesterday.

"A program had to be planned in order that the Dominion Government could be shown how many man-days of labor would be provided, but it was understood that we were not compelled to carry out the actual work on the roads designated by Mr. Greer. If we wished to make any changes as to roads to be improved, we could do so, Mr. R. Muir, Deputy Minister of Highways, told us."

Reeve Curtis and Reeve Stinson of Millbrook remarked that although the proposed program was described as relief work, the plan prepared by Mr. Greer was actually the usual summer county road program of improvement in construction and maintenance.

The council had spent approximately $20,000 last year from its own funds in county road work, and the contemplated expenditure for this year was at the same figure, but Mr. Denyes pointed out that for an additional $2,000 the counties could obtain about $18,000 more by co-operating with the Government in this season's road improvement. Last year's program had cost $40,000, of which the Department of Highways had paid fifty per cent, but the plan prepared by Mr. Greer for this year estimated an expenditure of $58,000 of which the counties would pay $22,000.

The committee yesterday first agreed to adopt the policy of a $58,000 outlay this season, and it was then suggested that the reeves of the municipalities would consult with Mr. Greer as to where the money should be allocated.

Mr. Greer was called before the committee in regard to the plan he had previously prepared and referred to the Department. Mr. Greer informed the members that he could not suggest any change or improvement in this plan.

The bulk of the county road work last year had been done in Durham county, and for this season the major part of the appropriation would be needed in Northumberland. The complete details were not finally agreed upon at yesterday afternoon's session.

Calling for Tenders

The committee decided for the first time to call for tenders for supplying the counties with gasoline, oil and grease required by the county road department.

Fred Waterman, Reeve of South Monaghan, requested the Road Commission to widen the road at Bensfort Bridge or to build a protective railing for the safety of traffic.

Equalization Unchanged

Equalized assessment of the counties remains unchanged this year. Reeve Hooton was appointed chairman of the committee of the Reeves of the two counties who reviewed the equalized assessment and recommended that it be adopted for this year's county tax purposes at the same figures as in 1933.

County Rate 10.03 Mills

This year's county tax rate is only fractionally higher than for last year. The rate in 1933 was an even ten mills, and for this the Finance Committee is recommending a rate of 10.02974 mills or practically 10.03 mills.

The details of rate were drafted by the committee, of which Reeve W. E. Cooper of Cobourg is chairman, as follows:

County road	.61174

Millbrook Delegates Will Attend Meeting

MILLBROOK, June 14 (Examiner Correspondence) — Mrs. H. J. Armstrong entertained the local branch of the Women's Institute for its June meeting, when twenty-five were present, and the president, Mrs. T. G. Harkness, in the chair for the initial time since her election last month.

The treasurer reported receipts of a little over $5 in collection taken at open Agricultural meeting, three dollars of which had been remitted to A. E. Summers, Agricultural Representative, as a prize for the Junior Farmers to be applied as Mr. Summers should see fit. A letter from the Port Hope office thanked the Institute for the money.

Arrangements for having delegates attend the district annual at Mount Pleasant on June 22 were made, and Mrs. J. L. Byam, convenor of the committee on Legislation, took the chair for the program. Miss Maretta Elgar gave a reading, "When Mother's Away," that was warmly encored, and Mrs. H. W. Jordan read a paper dealing with "Legislation" as affecting the Institute that was provocative of much thought and discussion. Mrs. D. Lunn contributed a humorous reading, "Hank Spink's Plan," and Mrs. R. J. McKnight gave "Our Government" with suggestions for W.I. activity, and information for practical action.

Mrs. Harkness and Mrs. J. McBride were appointed again as the quilt committee for the current year, and the meeting closed with the National Anthem after which a social hour was enjoyed.

Austria To Remain Free, Independent

HITLER, IL DUCE MAKE DECISION VENICE PARLEY

Chancellor Also Announces Germany Not Returning to Arms Parley.

NO ACCORDS SIGNED.

Mussolini is 10 Minutes Late in Morning—Guest Doubles It in Afternoon.

VENICE, June 15 (C.P.).—Chancellor Hitler of Germany and Premier Mussolini of Italy to-day decided that Austria should remain a free and independent nation.

Their decision, regarded as of major international importance, was reached at a conference in which the German and Italian Dictators discussed disarmament and the general European situation.

VENICE, June 15.—(A.P.)—Germany will not return to the Geneva Disarmament Conference despite conversations between Chancellor Hitler and Premier Mussolini, German correspondents were told at a press conference this afternoon.

The conference, to which only German newspapermen were admitted, took place immediately after Hitler's return from his second meeting with Mussolini.

The correspondents were told no accord would be signed as a result of the meeting, although the premiers found themselves in agreement on many points.

Nothing was decided with reference to disarmament, it was said, although diplomatic conversations between Germany and Italy on this subject will continue.

With reference to a possible Italian-German bloc to offset French and Russian blocs, correspondents were told no such step is being planned. The German newspapermen were told that the chief value of the meetings was to establish a personal contact which the chiefs of the two nations believe will be valuable in the future.

The conversation between Hitler and Mussolini began immediately after a luncheon at the golf club on the Lido. Again, as yesterday, they were alone as they conversed and they talked in German.

Hitler Still Visionary.

Well-informed Italians represented themselves as greatly disappointed with yesterday's conversation between the two leaders on the ground that Hitler had proved himself to be still a visionary, while Mussolini, essentially an idealist, wanted to get down to cases, immediately.

To-day's discussion was more concrete.

Although Il Duce kept der fuehrer waiting ten minutes for a review

HORACE HOPE WON ROTARY CAR

Winning Ticket Was Number 15190—Draw Made by Mayor Denne.

BIG CROWD ON LAST NIGHT.

Horace Hope, of R.R. No. 7, Peterborough, did not hope in vain when he purchased ticket No. 15190, which gives him the right to own the 5-passenger Chevrolet car for which tickets have been sold in connection with the Rotary Carnival that ended its two-day sessions last night on the Market Square.

After much churning about of tickets in a ballot box recruited for the purpose, and after allowing time for late buyers of tickets to get the stubs into the box, Mayor Denne picked the winning ticket at 11.10 last night, with a churning crowd of hundreds of hopeful people milling about the hot dog stand near which the car was parked.

There was a splendid crowd last night, and all the evening hours saw plenty of patronage for every booth and every amusement. If numbers count, the Rotary Club have every right to consider this year's carnival a success.

Pups Bred In The Purple Strut Paces As Toronto Sees Initial Dog Auction

TORONTO, June 15.—(CP)—Puppy dogs bred in the purple take their place beside antiques and costly furnishings now as subjects of auction room oratory.

Last night the first dog auction Toronto has seen was staged and it was successful enough to lead its sponsors to plan it as a semi-annual event. Strutting about among costly rugs and vases, the puppies were knocked down for as much as they would bring.

An exceptionally fine Kerry Blue male brought the highest price, $80, and many were sold for prices within the reach of the person who wants a good dog but is not interested in show benches.

STEVENS ENTERS POLITICAL FRAY SATURDAY NIGHT

Slaght Charges New Election Act "Deprives" Thousands of Vote.

Liquor Board Toll Gate Only Imagiantion of Hepburn Says McCrea.

TORONTO, June 15.—(CP)—Hon. H. H. Stevens, Dominion Minister of Trade and Commerce, will enter the Ontario general elections campaign this week-end when more than 75 Conservative meetings will be held throughout the province as government supporters appeal for return of the Conservative administration, June 19.

Mr. Stevens will take the platform at Lindsay Saturday night, defending the record of the Ontario government and replying to charges against the Dominion Conservative administration.

Premier George S. Henry who spoke at London last night, will make an address in Brantford tonight.

Mr. Hepburn delivers an address in Windsor tonight.

Appointment of a commission, as soon as the legislature rises again, to investigate workers' grievances in connection with low wages and working conditions, was the suggestion of Russell Nesbitt, K. C., Conservative candidate for Toronto Bracondale. He advocated revision of the minimum wage laws and making it compulsory for firms to abide by this law.

"Thousands Lose Vote."

From Bracebridge came charges by Arthur G. Slaght, K.C., of Toronto, against the Government's new election act, which he said had "deprived" thousands of voters, now on relief, from exercising their franchise. He charged in Toronto St. George riding, 4,693 names had been left off the voters' lists "by the Henry-Price official enumerators." He added "204 dead persons or persons removed from the riding were on the list." He also claimed an attempt had been made to keep 420 Toronto jobless from voting.

The youth of Mr. Hepburn was referred to by Hon. Leopold Macaulay, Minister of Highways, who mentioned that the Liberal leader had described him as "a bumptious young man." Such a remark from the Liberal leader was "the biggest joke of the campaign," and the Minister added he was eight years older than Mr. Hepburn, "and in

U.S. Debates Seizing Bolivian Munitions

WASHINGTON, June 15.—(AP)—The question whether the United States shall seize $600,000 worth of munitions sold to Bolivia for the Chaco jungle war depended today on the exact time of the sales.

The munitions, consisting of mortars, aerial bombs and military trucks, are now on the docks at New York and Norfolk, Virginia, waiting to be shipped.

If the sales contracts were signed after 6.30 p.m., May 28, when President Roosevelt forbade sale of arms for export to Paraguay and Bolivia, the munitions may be seized as evidence in prosecution to the shippers. If the sales were made before the proclamation, the material will be allowed to move.

The Justice Department has asked the manufacturers for pertinent papers to determine just when title passed.

The marshal intimated he would appeal to Washington for help from his dilemma.

TWO CONVICTS OUTWIT GUARDS

Cut Way Through Doors and Escape to Mainland in Prison Motorboat.

WIN 4-MILE DASH.

TACOMA, Wash, June 15.—(A.P.)—Two prisoners from the McNeil Island penitentiary were sought by armed posses to-day after a sensational four-mile dash for the mainland in a motor boat.

Throughout the night officials of the penitentiary, known as the "prison without walls," led guards through the woods of the Fort Lewis military reservation in search of the men, William L. Fitzmaurice, 34, San Francisco counterfeiter, and T. F. Audette 32, Portland, Ore., automobile thief.

Working with boldness and unerring precision, Fitzmaurice and Audette broke through a barred door in the cell block and won their way into a tunnel leading to the prison's auditorium yesterday afternoon. From there, they made their way to the main prison yard. With no tower guards on duty, the desperate men cut their way through a wire gate.

Their activities were discovered, but they broke into a sharp run down a 30 yard incline to the prison's dock, at the prison alarm sounded. Brandishing knives they overpowered the pilot of the motorboat, hurled him onto the dock and started the motor. Before other boats set out in pursuit they were more than two miles away on the four mile race to the mainland.

DERIVATIVES OF OPIUM EASE COMMON COLDS

CLEVELAND, June 15. (AP). — Experiments with 2,508 common colds which show two derivatives of opium as the best remedies, and about twice as effective as anything else tried, are described in a paper read to the American Medical Association by Harold S. Diehl, M.D., of Minneapolis.

He gave these same findings to the medical world last December, when they attracted wide attention. Yesterday's report repeated the findings with a new feature, that the opium had continued to work in the same flavorable way on a larger number of comon cold victims.

Against opium Dr. Diehl tried 12 well known common cold remedies. The dozen produced improved in from 30 to 48 percent of the sufferers, while the opium derivatives were effective about 70 percent.

But plain sugar tablets improved 35 percent of the common cold victims, and as sugar had no effect on colds Dr. Diehl said this showed that baout 35 percent of the patients would have improved withuot any cold remedy at all.

EATON COMPANY IS UNDECIDED AS TO REPLYING

Mass Buying Committee Completes Probe Into Eaton Affairs.

WINNIPEG STORE.

Several Department Stores Been Consistently in the Red.

OTTAWA, June 15 (CP)—The Mass Buying Committee to-day completed its main investigation into the commercial ramifications of the T. Eaton Company Limited of Toronto. It adjourned until Tuesday, when the Hudson Bay Co. will be analyzed by committee auditors, and one or two smaller department stores.

Officials of the Eaton Company said to-day they were undecided about making a reply to the evidence submitted to the committee, and no decision would be made for some days.

Chairman H. H. Stevens indicated to-day that reports on factories, chiefly garment manufacturers, supplying goods to department Stores, would be taken up later, probably on completion of all department store evidence.

Period of Expansion

Auditors summed up the evidence relating to the Eaton organization. They referred to the period of expansion between 1925 and 1929 when fixed assets increased $47,000,000. The volume of business has been falling off recently and several units in the chain, Canadian Department Stores, Groceterias, Toronto factories and small department stores in Saskatoon and Calgary, have been in the red consistently.

To counteract falling sales, the Eaton Company increased its mark-up, auditors said, and cut its operating expenses by wage reductions. This resulted in a small net profit last year after losses in 1931 and 1932.

Profit in Montreal Store

The Montreal store recorded a net profit last year of $111,480, the eighth successive year it has es-

TWO KIDNAPPERS LAND IN PRISON

Police Arrive Instead of $2,000 Cash Ransom for Chicago Youth.

ONE OF GANG ESCAPES.

CHICAGO, June 15.—(A.P.) — A mother, alarmed by her son's sobs when he telephoned a request for ransom, brought about the arrest of two men as the kidnappers who had tortured him.

Mrs. Rose Welch, of Toledo, Ohio, promised her son, Harry, last night that she would send $2,000 to free him, but instead Chicago police were notified of the address where the ransom was to be left. A police squad seized Harry Seigal and Harry Sway at the house.

Welch, 32, meanwhile had escaped from a third member of the gang who took him to a restaurant while the others awaited the $2,000. He shouted to a passing policeman and his guard fled.

Identifying both prisoners, Welch said they had threatened him with a machine gun, when he refused their demands for money, burned him with a hot hammer head on the chest, feet and face.

Mrs. Dall has leased a home at Lake Tahoe.

The daughter of the president has been separate from her husband for more than a year. With her two children "Sistie" and "Bussie," she lived at the White House during the past year.

Mr. and Mrs. Dall were married in June 1926.

The young birds hatched out the other day. Now the robins peck Mrs. Lynch severely every time she tries to go on the porch.

KIDNAPPED TRIO GIVEN FREEDOM ABDUCTOR TAKEN

TEXAS JAIL FUGITIVE.

Prisoner Picked Up on Highway 15 Minutes After Letting Captive Go.

ST. JOSEPH, Mo., June 15 (A.P.)—Held prisoners for nearly 18 hours by an escaped Texas convict, three Iowa men were released here early to-day and 15 minutes later the abductor was captured.

Release of the three men, Elmer Schleuter, Davenport, Ia., policeman, Al Schultze, secretary-treasurer of the Davenport Baseball Club, and Dr. W. H. Fitch, Walcott, Ia., veterinarian, ended a night of anxiety for their safety and terminated a widespread search for them by Federal agents and posses.

The abductor was identified by police as Joe Palmer, 32, who with four other men escaped from the Eastham, Tex., prison farm last February 16, after killing a guard.

Ready to Face Charges.

Palmer readily agreed to return to Iowa to face robbery and kidnap charges in connection with the abduction of the three men, saying:

"If they take me back to Texas, they'll sizzle me."

He explained that by "sizzle" he meant the electric chair.

Palmer explained he kidnapped the policeman because he feared the officer halting him for questioning, would find a pistol he carried in his brief case, take him to headquarters, check his record and return him to Texas.

The three victims returned to Strike Is Settled At Noranda Mines

NORANDA, Que., June 15.—(CP)—Officials of Noranda Mines today declared the strike of 300 miners was at an end and that the men have asked to be permitted to return to work immediately. It was not announced whether there had been a settlement of differences or whether the miners had capitulated.

The 300 underground workers walked out on strike Tuesday morning as the night shift came out of the shaft. The strike was decided upon at a meeting the previous night when it was learned that demands of the men for 10 percent wage increases, better working conditions and the right to organize had been rejected by the company.

There were no serious disorders during the three days the miners were out.

RESIGNATION IS VOLUNTARY SAYS GUTHRIE

No Pressure Brought to Bear in Case Claims Minister of Justice.

REFUSES TO COMMENT.

Believed Effective at Once—Been Warden Past Year and Half.

OTTAWA, June 15 (C.P.).—Resignation of Lieut.-Colonel W. B. Megloughlin, M.C., as Warden of Portsmouth Penitentiary, Kingston, was announced by Hon. Hugh Guthrie, Minister of Justice, here to-day Beyond the bare announcement, the Minister had nothing to say. He declared, however, that no pressure had been brought to bring about the Warden's resignation.

Col. Megloughlin is in Ottawa to-day.

Col. W. B. Megloughlin was appointed temporary Warden of Kingston Penitentiary October 24, 1932, a few days after the outbreak of the serious rioting among the convicts of the institution. The appointment was later made permanent.

Hon. Hugh Guthrie, Minister of Justice, in announcing the appointment referred to Col. Megloughlin's fine war record. He had recently been in command of the Ottawa Highlanders.

Brig.-Gen. D. M. Ormond, Superintendent of Penitentiaries, under the power vested in him, made the temporary appointment. General Ormond had taken charge of the institution temporarily after the first outbreak. Leave of absence had been granted to Inspector Gilbert Smith, Acting Warden at the time of the outbreak, who was "fagged out," Mr. Guthrie said.

The riots of Oct., 1932, were followed by various official and unofficial investigations, and protracted trials in 1933 of various convicts alleged to have been ring-leaders. There have been rumors of further disturbances in the penitentiary during the past few months, although it was understood some of the reforms demanded by the convicts had been granted.

EFFECTIVE AT ONCE?

TORONTO, June 15 (C.P.). — A despatch to the Telegram to-day from Ottawa says Lieut.-Col. William Megloughlin, Warden of Kingston Penitentiary for the last year and a half, has resigned, effective immediately. Hon. Hugh Guthrie, Minister of Justice, is said to have made the announcement. The re-

Downfall of Hitler Comes Next in Germany, Strasser Declares.

PARIS, June 15.—Hitler in the ash-can. Goering executed by the firing squad. Gobbels swinging on the gallows. Roehm, Papen, Seldte, Ley and the rest of the Nazi cabinet with their heads on the block. That's the next thing we are going to see in Germany, according to Otto Strasser, erstwhile bosom-friend of Hitler, who is the leader of the Black Front, which is the left-wing of the Nazi party. Herr Strasser is in exile in France. He crossed the border before the vindictive Goering could throw him into prison. "But he doesn't expect to stay long in France. Events are moving so rapidly in the Reich today, he claims, that the rule of the present brown regime draws to a close.

Otto Strasser's following in the Nazi party amounts to about sixty per cent of the total membership. This is no exaggeration. It's probably an understatement. All the working-class elements in that party are on his side. Still Hitler and Goering managed when he insisted that they complete the "revolu-

BORN IN ENGLAND.

Respected resident of this city for over sixty years, Mrs. Sarah Ann Heap passed away at her residence, 512 Stewart street, last evening in her 94th year. A woman of remarkable vigour she retained all her faculties to the end.

Born in Huntingdonshire, England, on October 13, 1849, the deceased was the second eldest and last surviving member of a family of ten children. Her parents were the late John and Ann Howell, who came to Canada seventy-nine years ago to settle on a farm in the Cobourg district.

Married at Cobourg and resident there for some time before coming to live in Peterborough she was the wife of George Heap, brick manufacturer, who predeceased her 55 years ago. Surviving her are two daughters and three sons, as follows: Mrs. H. Butcher of 512 Stewart street; Mrs. E. Castle of Fort William; Samuel Heap of Buffalo; George Heap of Williamsport, Pennsylvania; and William Heap of Toronto.

LONDON, June 15. — (AP) — A proposal that Great Britain turn over Bermuda or some other islands near the American coast to the United States as a "payment in kind" on war debts will be made in the House of Commons next week.

STRIKE DEMAND BY STEEL MEN GETS STRONGER

Labor President W. F. Green Advises Moderation—Delay Vote.

DECISION LIKELY TO-DAY.

Walkout Predicted Between Midnight To-night and Saturday Noon.

PITTSBURGH, June 15. — (AP). Pleading in "all good faith" for peace in the strike threatened steel industry, William Green to-day proposed Presidential appointment of a board of arbitration to handle all collective bargaining disputes.

The president of the American Federation of Labor offered what he termed a "counter proposal" to the revised Wagner labor control bill submitted to the industry by President Roosevelt in a move to avert the strike.

PITTSBURGH, June 15 (AP) — Cries of "strike now" sounded today as union representatives of the men who toil before the furnaces filed into convention to say whether there shall be a strike in the great steel industry.

The strike demand came insistently from a group of youthful delegates.

Many observers predicted, however, that unless the strike advocates are able to bring a vote on the issue before nightfall, their cause will be seriously affected.

The union is paying only transportation costs, and many of the delegates may be unable to remain over Saturday. In addition, the hour of the walkout, if ordered, may be between midnight Friday and noon Saturday. This would necessitate an immediate return home of the leaders.

With the highly technical parliament procedure in the hands of the conservative 72-year-old president, Michael F. Tighe, the Amalgamated Association of Iron, Steel and Tin Workers' Assembly first will hear William F. Green, president of the American Federation of Labor. Green is expected to advise moderation—delay—before a resort to the strike.

The self-styled "rank and filers" are demanding "Action, not talk." Their "committee of ten," headed by Earl J. Forbeck of McKeesport, Pa., pushed through the "sign or strike" ultimatum, demanding "recognition."

LINDSAY CASE TO BE RETRIED

Claxton's Are Awarded Costs of Appeals by Supreme Court Judges.

CRASH NEAR MYRTLE.

OTTAWA, June 15. — (CP) — A new trial was ordered today by the Supreme court of Canada in an appeal growing out of an automobile collision which occurred near Myrtle, Ont., and involved five residents of Lindsay.

Arthur T. Claxton, Cora Claxton, Sara Storey, and Maria Grace, of Lindsay, appealed against a judgment of the court of appeal of Ontario which upheld the trial judge in dismissing their claim for damages against Robert Grandy, also of Lindsay.

Their claim arose out of personal injuries received as the result of the collision. The jury which sat at the trial found the accident unavoidable and due to the icy condition of the road. It held neither party negligent. Some $4,000 damages for doctors' bills, hospital bills and car repairs was claimed by the Claxtons and in their appeal they sought to prove that the jury's finding was perverse and that they ought to have held Grandy negligent.

The Supreme Court today allowed their appeal and ordered a new trial of the case; the Claxtons to have the costs of the appeals, the costs of the former trial to abide the event of the new trial.

HENRY DENIES PACT TO SPLIT BUILDING PROFIT

Labels Charges Regarding East Block of Parliament Buildings "Roorback."

NO PROBE ASKED.

Suggests Opposition Get Information From Public Accounts Department.

(By Ernest Burritt, C.P. Staff Writer.)

LONDON, Ont., June 15 (C.P.).—Campaign allegations against the Conservative Government regarding liquor "toll gates" and "profits" from construction of the east block of the Ontario Parliament Buildings are without foundation, according to Premier George S. Henry.

The Premier made this denial before an audience that filled the Grand Theatre here last night. The charges were branded by the Premier as "roorbacks," and he said the details had been in the hands of those making the charges for months "and even years."

"If they thought there was anything wrong with them why weren't they brought up for investigation when the House was sitting?" he asked. "They hadn't done this," he added, "because they daren't."

Charges had been made to the effect that "a secret pact" had been held to divide "profits" from the building, the Premier asserted. It has been said that the construction cost $160,000, whereas the correct amount was $185,000, he said.

Boon to Ontarians.

This sum was expended beyond the original specifications to permit the extra cost of cutting Ontario stone—a harder quality than Indiana limestone provided for in the original plan. "And it not only put the Queenston Quarry on its feet," the Premier added, "but gave employment to men in stone shops throughout the province."

The Ontario Government had had no direct dealing with those who supplied the stone, cut it, or placed it in the building, he said. All the Government had done was approve the name of the sub-contractor.

Allegations had been on the completion of the building, Premier Henry recalled. These had been dealt with by a commission of which the late Mr. Justice Raney was a member and the Commission failed to find any grounds on which to base them. This Commission, he said, commended the sub-contractor for the work.

Premier Henry suggested those making allegations in connection with the Queen's Park construction should go to the public accounts department and avail themselves of information there "before going around making such statements to the public."

No Toll-gate Evidence.

The Liberal leader had mentioned the names of George Grover, former president of Ward 4 Conservative Association, Toronto; Ray Price and Hon. Charles McCrea, Ontario Minister of Mines, in connection with alleged liquor control "toll-gate" practices. Nevertheless, the Charges Excessive Outlay in Parliament Block—Hints of Combine.

CHATHAM, Ont., June 15 (CP)—New campaign darts were flung at the Ontario Government by Mitchell F. Hepburn, Provincial Liberal Leader, here last night when he warmly criticized the administration for what he termed excessive expenditures in connection with the construction of the East Block of the new Legislature Buildings at Queens' Park.

Through the granting of the stone tenders to one firm, Mr. Hepburn claimed, the construction cost had been increased. And, he added, "We firmly believe it can be proven" that an agreement was entered into for this purpose.

The Liberal Leader deplored the fact that the Ministers had not been required to submit their estimates to the Legislature. If this had been done, he claimed, the cost would have been reduced.

The new East Block had cost the people of the province around $4,000,000, Mr. Hepburn said. He said that "We have been convinced for some time that there have been grave irregularities in connection with the building of that magnificent and expensive pile."

Difference in Price

"Our investigations," he contined, "have disclosed two interesting facts. First is that the stone in the building cost $8.00 per square, whereas the same in the North American Life Biulding, of which company Mr. Henry is a director, cost only $3.50 per square." He gave other comparative costs purporting to support his allegations.

LANCASTER RECORD OUTSTANDING SAYS GEORGE WALSH, TORONTO

Successful Conservative Rally is Held in the Lakefield Hall.

WIDENING SHOULDERS.

LAKEFIELD, June 15. — (Staff Reporter).—Making his first appearance before a Lakefield audience since his official nomination in the former provincial campaign, T. P. Lancaster last evening received an enthusiastic reception from a large representative gathering.

He tendered an account of his stewardship, that was subsequently spoken of by George T. Walsh, K.C., of Toronto, as being one of the most outstanding records of public service that he had ever heard tendered by any other member in the province. Mr. Walsh did not know what more any man could have done in the interests of his constituents than Mr. Lancaster had done.

Former Millbrook Boy.

Mr. Walsh, former Millbrook old boy, acted in capacity of "pinch-hitter" for the Hon. J. R. Cooke, chairman of the Hydro Commission, who postponed his visit to the district until this evening. In addressing a meeting at the Opera House in Peterborough this evening, Mr. Cooke will be deputizing for the Hon. William Finlayson, Minister of Lands and Forests, who was to have spoken, but who is unable to fulfill his engagement owing to illness. The address of the chairman of the Hydro Commission is to be broadcast by remote control over radio station CFRB.

Dr. J. R. Fraser ably presided as chairman at the meeting here, while other speakers included Rev. Dr. A. W. Mackenzie, head of Grove School, and Rev. E. C. Moore, of Young's Point.

Mr. Lancaster spoke of his efforts in securing the taking over by the Government into the provincial highway system of the Lakefield road; referred also to his subsequent successful efforts to have the road designated as a highway as far north as Burleigh Falls, where it will link up with the trunk road now under construction; and told his audience of the paving work that is to be undertaken from Peterborough to Lakefield.

Comments on Letter.

In the latter connection Mr. Lancaster remarked upon a letter that had gone forward from Lakefield Council to the Department of Highways complaining that the section of the highway through the village had not been assumed by the Government.

He pointed out that while he had been successful in having sections of highway No. 7 through Norwood and Havelock taken over by the department, it was not the usual policy of the department to assume roads running through villages. However, he was hopeful that if elected he would be able to obtain similar privileges for Lakefield Village.

Last year, Mr. Lancaster remarked, Havelock and district had experienced the heaviest tourist traffic in history, which, he contended, was directly attributable to the completion of highway 7 through to Ottawa. He forecast the same advantages for Lakefield and the northern townships as a result of

Toronto Livestock Review

TORONTO, June 15.—(CP)—With the exception of hogs, receipts all classes of livestock were lighter in volume this week on Toronto Livestock Market compared with last week. Rainfalls and cooler weather halted forced liquidation as well as helping to accelerate the movement of meats to consumers.

Calf prices registered the only gain for the week, closing 50 cents higher at $6.00 while lambs dropped the same amount to record the only loss of the market. Cattle prices after declining 15 to 25 cents on the opening market regained loss by the close. Hogs closed unchanged with the previous week's level.

With 1,300 head of cattle carried over from last week, the opening run of 2,700 head was too heavy for requirements. Prices declined 15 to 25c on all grades and there were 2,300 head unsold on Monday. Very light supplies for the balance of the week, however, allowed an active clean-up at stronger prices.

Weighty steers opened at $5.75 for tops and closed with some at $6.00 to $6.10. Choice butcher cattle closed at $5.00 to $5.25 with the majority selling at $4.50 to $5.00.

Butcher cows closed at $3.50 to $3.65 for choice while canners were unchanged at $1.25. Bull trading was rather dull at $2.50 to $3.25 according to quality. Fed calves opened at $6.00 for tops and closed at $6.50 on two loads from the west.

The improvement in the pasture outlook created a better inquiry for stores. Stocker prices were higher at $2.75 to $3.50 and the supply included several loads of light stockers from Winnipeg.

Milkers and springers remained dull at $25 to $35 each for the majority. Export agents shipped 282 cattle to Great Britain during the week.

Calves were a light run of 1,700 head. The market opened slow at $5.50 for tops, but gained to $6 on Tuesday and held firm for the remainder of the week. Common to medium calves, the bulk of the supply sold between $3 and $5, with good and choice vealers at $5.50 to $6.

Hog receipts of 4,700 head were 300 more than for last week. After a dip of 10 cents on Monday, hogs got back to last week's closing level of $8.50 f.o.b. for bacons, $8.85 off trucks and $9.25 off cars. The close was unchanged. Other Canadian markets registered liberal gains.

Sheep and lamb receipts were 3,000. Lambs lost another 50c at the opening, good lambs going down to $9 and held at that figure for the balance of the week. Closing feeling was a little firmer with a few picked lots making $9.25 to $9.50 but with the majority still at $9. Culls ranged from $3.50 to $7. Sheep were slow at 50 cents to $2 cwt. for the majority, with a few picked ewes at $2.50. Two decks of western feed-lot lambs sold at $6 cwt.

REV. F. G. MACINTOSH ELECTED PRESIDENT OF O.R.E.C. BRANCH

Seymour, Campbellford and Belmont Delegates Meet at Trent River.

SPLENDID REPORTS

TRENT RIVER, June 15. (Examiner Correspondence). — The heavy showers and counter attractions elsewhere affected the attendance at the afternoon session of the O.R.E.C. held at the United Church Tuesday; however a faithful few gathered for the afternoon session at half past two o'clock with the chair taken by the president, G. A. Kingston; devotional exercises were to have been taken by Rev. S. A. Kemp who was unavoidably absent owing to having to conduct a funeral service. Greetings were given by D. Walker of Trent River Sunday School and responded to by Rev. T. G. MacTavish of Seymour circuit. Hymn "Take Time to Be Holy" was sung with Mrs. A. G. Watson of Campbellford at the piano. Scripture lesson by G. A. Kingston, followed by prayer led by Rev. R. C. Tait of Campbellford.

The secretary-treasurer, Mrs. A. G. Watson, read the reports of the various departments and suggested that more enthusiasm should be practiced in the Sunday School work; she also gave the treasurer's report showing receipts $37.66. Discussion was taken up regarding forwarding money to the department at Toronto or keeping on hand for the executive committee. The secretary had difficulty in securing reports but nevertheless gave a helpful and inspiring report.

Mr. Kingston spoke in regards missionary monies that St. John's Church, Campbellford, had one cent a day for families to contribute and $110 was raised. Discussion was taken up whether or not to cancel reports for convention and have the work function through inspiration. Hymn "Soldiers of Christ Arise"; offertory and roll call.

In the appointment of nominating committee Mr. MacTavish suggested that the executive committee present be members of nominating committee. This was decided. Rev. H. W. Foley of Stanwood gave an address on "What the Church Might Do For Our Children" he said: "We can't control home but we can control the Sunday School. The Stanwood Sunday School had a standard and are trying to follow it." Mr. Foley showed a chart as follows: 1. Year begin, October 1 Rally Day; 2. attendance at S.S. and church, with minimum standard at 70 per cent.; 3. satisfactory class work (some children cannot memorize); 4. Take part in worship (result is revolutionizing the work in a year); 5. daily prayer at home. Grace at meals (this requires a tactful teacher to acquire what parents should do; 6. attendance at other S.S. courts and not to be marked absent on account of illness; 7. reward—diploma (he didn't advocate prizes to lick the other fellow and come out first.) The Robert Riggs' diploma requires 7 years' work and is a liberal education.

Round Table Talk

Rev. M. R. Sanderson of Toronto representative of the Department held a round table conference which proved helpful and interesting Mr. Sanderson has travelled the greater part of the province of Ontario in the interests of the O.R.E.C. He urged the teachers to have memory work. We should have more leadership. As to Boy Scout work we are spending three times more in Ontario than the whole of England.

Rev. H. W. Foley pronounced the benediction after which the delegates assembled in the dining hall where members of the Ladies' Aid had prepared a bountiful repast on tables decorated with cut flowers.

Evening Session

At 8 o'clock the meeting opened with the newly elected president Rev. F. G. MacTavish in charge. Miss B. G. French supplied as pianist. Hymn "Jesus Calls Us O'er the tumult." Mr. MacTavish read the Scripture lesson from Proverbs 3, followed by prayer led by Rev. R. C. Tait. The secretary read the report of nominating committee. Rev. M. R. Sanderson of Toronto conducted the induction of new officers. The new president asked for the co-operation of the association on behalf of the new officers. In the evening roll call Trent River had the majority as there was a larger attendance for that session.

Rev. R. C. Tait of Campbellford gave an address on "The Home and What it Has to do with Religious Education." His thought was first of all "authority"—the reason we have so many law breakers, they have not learned to respect the law. Home not only stands for authority but for liberty. Home should stand for happy social intercourse. If you fail to make home an attractive place for a boy or girl the time will come when you will be sorry. Home stands for sacrifice. Home is the place for lasting impressions. Some mothers think more of their furniture than their boys and girls. Home is the place for indelible impressions.

In closing, the speaker remarked that home should be the place of worship. Do you know that a motto in the Prince of Wales' cottage in the foothills of the Rockies reads: "As for me and my house we will serve the Lord". Also, King George conducts family worship in his household every morning. Bring religious aspiration into the home.

Vocal solo. "Breath on Me the Breath of God", by Mrs. A. G. Watson (formerly Emma Meikleon of Campbellford) with Miss B. G. French playing piano accompaniment. Mrs. Watson is a member of the Madrigal Singers under the leadership of Dorothy Allan Park of Peterborough. Her number was most acceptably rendered in full, rich clear voice. Hymn "Onward Christian Soldiers."

Rev. Mr. Sanderson of Toronto addressed the meeting on "The Rights of the Child." There is nothing in the world as vital as the rights of a little child. Every child has a right to be well born. Blood counts not only in the physical realm but in the moral realm. Every child has the right of fellowship with parents. In this day of keen competition many boys and girls are to be denied this environment. A great many parents are delegating their responsibilities over to an institution. Every child has a right to a pure community atmosphere. There is an old saying "You Cannot Legislate People Into Goodness." We can live Christ-like life in their presence. Every child has a right to a good education. The province is putting forth every effort to give every child a good education, and lastly and most important, every child has a right to know God and Jesus Christ, his Saviour, should be emphasized in the Sunday School. In the home the child gets the first impressions. Happy is the Child who knows God through devotion of parents. Rev. F. G. MacTavish conducted the closing exercises. Hymn "O Master Let Me Walk With Thee"; prayer led by Rev. R. C. Tait concluded the evening session.

The convention for 1935 will be held at Zion Church, Petherick's Corners, Seymour township.

Delegates from outside points in attendance were: Rev. and Mrs. M. R. Sanderson and son Roy, Mr. S. Steele of Toronto; Rev. F. G. MacTavish of Seymour; Rev. H. W. Foley, Mrs. Garnet Redden, Mrs. Carmen Redden, Mrs. John Lane, Mr. Allan Rutherford of Stanwood; Rev. R. C. Tait, Mr. and Mrs. G. A. Kingston. Mrs. S. Mowat, Misses Estella Keir and Elva Mowat, Ruth Palliseer, of Campbellford; the Misses Watson and Wright of Pethericks Corners.

Block was a "very definite combine," he claimed. It was the same kind of combine, according to Mr. Hepburn, "for which various associations were prosecuted and heavily fined."

Mr. Hepburn reiterated his intention to slash salaries of Cabinet Ministers in line with the capacity of the people to pay.

Action of the Government in refunding part of license fees to Port Stanley fishermen on the eve of the elections was branded by the Liberal Chairman as "the most barefaced and contemptible thing I have ever seen."

The Port Stanley fishermen had been fighting for years to obtain a reduction in their license fees but had been unsuccessful until now, he said. The refund, he claimed, was an instrument used by the Conservatives to defeat him in his own riding of Elgin.

"Contemptible" Move

One fisherman had been honorable enough to refuse the refund and had a photostatic copy made for him, he said. He displayed the photostatic copy. "Contemptible," he termed it.

No charge had been made by him against the Conservative administration which could not be proven by fact, he claimed.

He referred again to his "toll-gate" charge involving Hon. Charles McCrea, Ontario Minister of Mines; Mr. McCrea had refuted the allegation, but the Liberal Leader said he could not accept the denial. He again exhibited letters allegedly exchanged between the Minister and Philip Wright purporting to substantiate his charge.

At his Strathroy meeting Mr. Hepburn promised educational reform would occur under a Liberal regime. He said he would make a general improvement in the system and abolish the "silly" 2nd-year Normal course for teachers. He also would remove the tax on children's examination papers, the Liberal Leader said.

Premier Henry's administration of the Department of Education was described by the Liberal Leader as the "most inefficient we ever had." He denied Premier Henry's charge that he had spoken disparagingly of two Cabinet Ministers of the Conservative Government who died this Spring.

"I was dealing with economies affected through non-filling of vacant Government offices," Mr. Hepburn said, in explaining his remark. "I remarked that two Ministers had died and had not been replaced with resultant reductions in administrative costs."

Millbrook Auxiliary Meets at the Home of Mrs. J. W. Hamilton.

WOMEN'S LEAGUE MEETS

MILLBROOK, June 15 (Examiner Correspondence).—Mrs. J. W. Hamilton, Zion Line, entertained the Woman's Missionary Auxiliary of St. Andrew's Church for its June meeting on Wednesday, at 3 p.m., over forty motoring to the comfortable farm homestead where a hearty welcome was extended.

The chair was taken by the president, Mrs. (Rev.) W. W. Jones, and in the course of the meeting the vice-president, Mrs. (Dr.) L. H. Rae, spoke feelingly of the fact that it was the last Auxiliary gathering at which Mrs. Jones would be present in her official capacity; an exchange of ministers meaning that the family moves to Cardinal in July. Reference was made to the capable manner in which Mrs. Jones has filled her office, often at a considerable cost of time, strength and convenience, and appreciation was expressed of the excellent service rendered and the society's growth under so efficient a head. Keen regret at the loss to be shortly sustained was also expressed, and in her reply Mrs. Jones said she had found her duties a real pleasure because of the faithful support given by the other officers and members. "Unless on account of severe weather conditions we have never had a poorly-attended meeting, and I pray that you may go forward, reaching your allocation if possible, but remembering that to pray, to study, and to work doing the best you can will bring the Divine blessing.

The treasurer, Miss M. E. Hetherington, reported Easter thankoffering of $57.06, and the amount raised to the and of May as $108.05; the allocation for Auxiliary, Circle and Band is $500. The matter of filling the presidents' chair was left over for the present; the second vice-president, Mrs. J. McKnight, agreeing to look after the July meeting; it is hoped, however, that the new minister's wife, Mrs. Siscoe, will take the chief office.

Mrs. Hamilton took the chair for the program, Mrs. H. Patton reading the devotional leaflet, and Rev. Mr. Jones leading in prayer; "The Chinese in Canada" was the study theme and assisting with the study were the leader, Mrs. W. Brown, Mrs. Jones, and Mrs. H. A. Earle. The hostesses, assisted by several members of her committee, served dainty refreshments at the close, and all enjoyed a social hour, the vote of thanks being moved by Miss Estella Hetherington, seconded by Mrs. F. J. Smith, and carried with prolonged applause.

Grace Women's League

The Women's League of Grace Church held a special business meeting on Wednesday evening at the home of Mrs. Mervan Kinsman to complete arrangements for the "Centennial Garden Party," the date settled on being Tuesday, June 26. The president, Mrs. C. Thorndyke, took the chair and committees were appointed for the many details in connection with the event; Mrs. R. J. McMahon will look after the making of the tea, and strawberries will be procured if possible, the supply this season being doubtful. Mrs. H. A. Kerr and Mrs. F. J. Deyell will attend to the program arrangements; a one-act play, "Auntie's Night Out," to be one item.

It was decided, after discussion, to make it known that those who wish to give flowers for the church on Centennial Sunday, June 24, in memory of departed loved ones will be given this opportunity. The high birthday cake to be made by the society in honor of the one hundredth anniversary will be a feature of the supper at the garden party which will be held at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Thorndkye.

LIBERALS OF NORWOOD AREA RALLY TO HAWTHORNE BANNER

Candidate, P. McNulty, G. A. Brethen, T. J. Carley and J. J. Duffus Give Live Addresses.

NORWOOD, June 15 (Examiner Correspondence). — The political meeting held in the Town Hall Tuesday in support of the candidature of James Hawthorne was well attended. Mr. Patrick McNulty of Asphodel presided.

Mr. Hawthorne, in the opening address, reminded the meeting of the enormous debt the province was carrying and stated taxation is becoming a serious matter. While our municipal and county bodies have been doing all in their power to keep down local expenditure the Provincial Government hopes to bring back prosperity by spending money in huge sums, all of which has to be borrowed with little or no provision for the retirement of the debt.

Mr. G. A. Brethen, in a short address, discussed the beer and wine question, and deplored the fact that partyism endeavored to tie the hands of our representatives and force them often to vote in opposition to their better judgment. Mr. Brethen made it plain that he was not on the platform as a sponsor of the Liberal or any other party, but as a supporter of Mr. Hawthorne, whom he believed would stand by his convictions on all issues regardless of party. We need more men and fewer politicians in the governing bodies of our country, was Mr. Brethens' opinion.

T. J. Carley

Mr. T. J. Carley of Peterborough, in reviewing the record of the Liberal party, pointed out that they had laid the foundation of all our institutions and when the administration closed under the leadership of the Hon George Ross they left the province with no bonded indebtedness.

Under the leadership of Sir James Whitney who belonged to the old school whose rule was: Pay as you go; much of the Liberal policy was carried on, and all citizens regardless of their politics will agree that the administration of Sir James Whitney was a wise one.

Mr. Carley discussed at some length the yearly increase of provincial debt under the Ferguson and Henry regime, comparing Ontario's debt in 1932 of $577,706,000 with the combined debt of New Brunswick, Nova Scotia, Prince Edward Island, Quebec, Manitoba and Saskatchewan of $405,122,000 in the same year.

The last speaker, Mr. J. J. Duffus of Peterborough, held the rapt attention of his audience. As he compared the cost of carrying on the government under the last year of the Drury regime at $38,000,000, with the sum of $58,000,000 spent in 1928 under the Ferguson administration. Yet Mr. Ferguson had promised he would exercise the utmost economy. Ontario's debt had grown from $240,000,000 in 1922 to nearly $600,000,000 in 1933.

Dr. Duffus dealt at some length with the management of the Hydro Electric system, which has been a live question through this section of the county.

the extensive highway improvement and construction work that is now being undertaken.

Work Was Needed.

The speaker told his audience that he had prevailed upon the department to provide work in widening the shoulders on highway 28 because he had been impressed with the urgent need of employment. The fact was, he said, that a few weeks ago Peterborough had 632 families on relief, while North Monaghan had 40 families on relief. As a result of the work on highway 28 the heads of 150 families had secured work at 25 cents an hour each.

"We are not filling ditches at all. We are widening the shoulders in providing work that was urgently needed," Mr. Lancaster said in replying to opposition criticism.

Mr. Walsh provided some facts and figures relative to the public services and social reform instituted in Ontario under Conservative administration.

Speaking of the Hydro investigation launched as a result of unfounded charges launched by Mitchell Hepburn, Mr. Walsh said the investigation had resulted in a finding by the commission of no irregularities whatsoever. As if that had not been enough for Hepburn, he said, the leader of the Liberal party in Ontario was still going up and down the country making wild statements.

Public Services.

Mr. Walsh spoke of Hydro as being one of the greatest public undertakings instituted by the Conservative regime. He referred in similiar terms to the Workmen's Compensation Act, the Mothers' Allowances, and the Old Age Pensions.

"Hepburn," he said, "would make us believe the Government has been doing nothing but digging ditches and spending money like drunken sailors."

Dr. Fraser in his remarks as chairman stated: "I was present at Mr. Lancaster's nomination five years ago, and I can say with fullest assurance that in my opinion he is the best member Peterborough County has ever had in my 45 years' residence in the district."

Dr. Mackenzie defended the expenditures of the Henry Government and spoke of the assets which the province could show in return for expenditures that had been termed "extravagance" by the opposition.

Vote for the Man.

While he did not apologize for being on a Conservative platform, Dr. Mackenzie felt it was generally good policy to vote for the man and not the party. He believed that he would vote for Lancaster even if he had been a Liberal.

He had felt the same way, he said, about the late Hon. J. R. Stratton. He and Lancaster were alike in that they both had reputations as active workers in the interests of all their constituents, no matter what their politics or creed.

Mr. Moore referred to Mr. Lancaster "as the man who has put Peterborough's north country on the map." The road work in the north, he said, was not a political trick, but rather was it a thing which Mr. Lancaster had fought for ever since he was first elected to the Legislature. The important thing about the road work to the speaker was that "it is giving the youth of the province an opportunity to build up their souls." He knew, the speaker stated, because he had ministered to those youths in the camps.

HENRY DENIES PACT TO SPLIT

Premier said, not "the least bit of evidence to show the liquor had been purchased through the tollgate" had been given.

Mr. Hepburn also was criticized by the Premier for his reference to "Providence saving the province money" through the death of Hon. J. D. Monteth and Hon. E. A. Dunlop, who, Mr. Henry said, gave to the province "their every ounce of energy and died in harness."

"If this is the way the prospective Prime Minister of a great province talks," he said, "I say shame on you."

The Premier said he had no doubt that on June 19 "Mr. Hepburn will learn to his everlasting sorrow the people have respect for their public servants and will not tolerate such talk."

Wrong Attitude.

The Liberal Party have given the people no indication of how they stood on the various issues, the Premier said, and he charged them with being more interested in getting a chance to "sit in the seats of the mighty" than in problems facing the province. Mr. Hepburn was accused by the Premier of seeking to gain office through support of Radicals, including the type the Premier described as those refusing to stand during singing of the National Anthem.

"But I say as head of the Conservative Government I don't want support from any such ilk."

Despite this reference two men refused to stand when the audience sang God Save the King, and others pulled at the coats of the seated men but they clung to their seats. It was from their direction came the few interruptions of the evening.

wisdom I hope I am 48 years older."

Col. Frank Moss' demands for a new trial for Aemilius Jarvis, broker., convicted in connection with bond transactions with the E. C. Drury farm government, were replied to by Attorney-General W. H. Price in a Toronto address. Col. Price said he had letters from W. F. Nickle, former Attorney-General, and from J. C. McRuer, K.C., to show Andrew Pepall had been given the opportunity to return from California and testify. He said Col. Moss was "a paid representative of Jarvis," and he maintained a new trial for Jarvis was "an Ottawa affair."

"An Imagination"

The so-called Liquor Control Board "toll tate" exists only "in the imagination of Mitchell Hepburn and those foolish enough to listen to him" declared Hon. Charles McCrea, Minister of Mines, in a Hamilton address. He denied he was involved in a "toll gate" practice, replying to Mr. Hepburn had said he had letters purporting to show the minister had assisted Philip Wright of Ottawa in placing liquor with the Board but Mr. McCrea said it was not even suggested that "five cents" should be paid for any assistance.

Mr. Hepburn's promise of grading stations for apples and other farm products if the Liberals went into power brought the statement from Hon. T. L. Kennedy, Minister of Agriculture, that the government already was accomplishing this. He said it was done three years ago and 50 percent of the agriculture department's plans in this regard had been completed. In two years the work will be finished, he said.

Domination of pulpwood resources and timber limits by four large corporations in Ontario was the charge made by Arthur Roebuck, Toronto Liberal candidate, at Hamilton meeting. He said the corporations controlled every square foot of pulpwood and he charged the government with fostering monopolies.

Speaking Line-up.

Premier Henry Monday night will speak at Oakville and on the same night Hon. William Finlayson, Minister of Lands and Forests, speaks at Midland and Orillia; Hon. T. L. Kenendy at Brampton and Hon. W. G. Martin, Minister of Public Welfare, at Brantford

ANCIENT AUTOMOBILES.

The Guelph Mercury calls attention to the case of the man who the other day bought a used car for $5, drove it out on the highway, and a few hours later got into a traffic accident that caused damage amounting to $100.

While this is perhaps an extreme case of this kind, there are numerous instances where ancient and decrepit automobiles have been involved in expensive motor car accidents, some of them undoubtedly caused by the defective mechanism of the worn-out machine.

Certainly it would seem necessary to protect the public against such occurrences; it should not be possible for an individual without any assets that could be realized on to buy a broken-down old car for a few dollars and then take it out on the highway and expose other motorists to the risk of having their automobiles damaged without the slightest chance of receiving any compensation.

The regulations in this respect need a certain amount of tightening up, and sooner or later we will get around to the point where no automobile that is not adequately insured will be allowed to be operated on the highways.

At the same time, in the interest of public safety, the whole question of the mechanical condition of cars should be carefully studied before licenses are issued for their operation.

A SHARP INCREASE.

There is only one bright side to the figures given by the Workmen's Compensation Board in regard to industrial accidents in May, and that is that all records for that month may perhaps be indicative of the fact that more men are employed in Ontario factories than a year ago.

Otherwise the statistics would be rather disheartening from the viewpoint of those who have always sought to make the people of this country realize the necessity of being careful at all times.

The report shows that the number of accidents reported to the Compensation Board in May of this year was 4,452, as against only 2,851 in the same month a year ago, while the fatal accidents jumped from 16 to 23.

Increases in the total awards for compensation and medical aid and the grants for medical aid only followed as a natural consequence, the former item amounting to $376,957.54, as against $321,073.57, and the latter to $69,920.76, as compared with $56,334.50 a year ago.

The increases may be the result of a greater number at work, but at all events they are sufficiently large to arouse industrial executives and shop personnel to the necessity of exercising greater caution against accident.

VOTE AS YOU LIKE—BUT VOTE.

The Examiner would feel that it had not done its full duty as a community newspaper if it did not stress the desirability of every eligible voter using his or her franchise next Tuesday.

It is the primary duty of citizenship to play a part in the selection of governments and the deciding of issues, and every man and woman whose name is on the lists as a qualified voter should regard it as an individual responsibility to go to the polls on June 19th and vote.

If an attempt were made to deprive thousands of our citizens of their franchise there would be a deafening chorus of protest in which every one of the persons so affected would join; at the same time large numbers deprive themselves of their franchise every election by refusing to take any part in the campaign.

Just why this should be so it is difficult to understand; ample facilities have been provided for registering the vote of the entire electorate, and here in the urban sub-divisions the polling booths are not more than a block or two away from the homes of most of the electors, and there is no real reason why practically all of the eligible vote should not be polled.

To use his or her franchise is the plain duty of every elector; let us hope that so far as Peterborough is concerned that duty will be discharged on Tuesday next.

SOME SAFETY IDEAS.

Don Herold is responsible for a few thoughts on automobile accidents that are worth the consideration of every driver.

His first suggestion is to drive carefully enough at all times for yourself, and the other fellow, too, for the chances are that he isn't.

"My own system," writes Mr. Herold, "is to expect the world's prize idiot around the next corner."

We have, he said, been letting the other fellow take care of us, and look at the figures!

And then there's the matter of speed.

Hurry—there's the rub of this whole accident business.

Probably nine-tenths of our automobile accidents are caused by people trying to save five minutes. We rush like mad to get somewhere, and it doesn't amount to much when we get there. Methods of locomotion have improved greatly, but places to go have remained about the same. And, as Mr. Herold puts it, if we have an appointment with somebody the chances are anyway that he will be 30 minutes late, having been smashed at an intersection or pinched by a cop for rushing through a red light.

Courtesy, too, would help.

We are usually pretty peaceful in our attitude towards our fellow-man, but the minute we get behind a steering wheel we seem to regard every man as our enemy. The fact is Americans have killed more than 326,000 of their friends with motor cars in the last 15 years, whereas their enemies have killed only 300,000 in all the American foreign wars to date.

Big ideas seldom come from swelled heads.—Quebec Chronicle-Telegraph.

OWEN D. YOUNG TO YOUTH.

There is one man on this continent whose speeches and writings we always want to read. He is Owen D. Young. A great industrialist and a great student, he has that limpid style which comes from the quality of his thinking, a calm and poised spirit and philosophy which, in these days of loose thought and blind pessimism, are a sheer delight.

This week Mr. Young spoke to the graduating class of Nebraska University, and, judging from the newspaper summaries of what he said, it is to be hoped that, as in the case of his celebrated address at Notre Dame two years ago, his words will be preserved permanently. Mr. Young has little patience with the people whose stock-in-trade is to tell university students that their bad fate is to repair the follies and blunders of the present generation. He said to Nebraska's graduates:

"What it hands to you is a country so well off in material things that you cannot bankrupt it by any experiment which you may make in your time. You may impair it, but you cannot altogether ruin it. It will take more than one generation to destroy what we have built for you. However much you may chide us, however much you may criticize the results of the last five years, However severely you may indict us for failing wisely to administer, you must still give us credit for providing the plenty that ruined us."

And again:

"My generation has had its victories and its failures. To-day you inherit them. Our victories are your tools, capital to invest in a better world. Our failures are your opportunities to make them your successes."

There is humility in this, but there is pride as well, and truth, and courage. One might well wish that more of our graduating classes could be blessed with an Owen D. Young to speak to them.—Ottawa Journal.

THE WHEAT SITUATION.

The news that Argentina has shipped abroad more wheat than she pledged herself to export will make Australia as hopping mad as any kangaroo. Australia did not want to subscribe to the wheat agreement, and to think that the contract has been broken by a country that pleaded with her to come in is enough to make any self-respecting nation angry. Possibly the unrest, the disorders, the threatened and suppressed revolts in the Argentine during the year have had something to do with the breach of faith; a weak government does not find it easy to enforce restrictions. But the default is not likely to help Argentina's credit abroad.

The wheat agreement, signed last August, was one of the wonders of the post-war world; an international conference had achieved something. The Canadian, United States and Argentine delegates were all for it. Nothing seemed more reasonable to them than that exports should be curtailed and production cut 15 per cent. Premier Bennett, Canada's delegate, was as enthusiastic as the others. But not until United States Secretary of Agriculture Wallace threatened to pour grain into the East, Australia's sales territory, did the antipodean dominion sign on the dotted line.

The situation at that time was unexampled. The world had the greatest store of grain in history, running to nearly a billion bushels. When supply exceeds demand prices fall. And it meant a great deal to the wheat-producing countries of the world that, by curtailing the supply, they should get more for their product. More money for the farmers meant more money for the people generally, as cash received for the grain went into circulation.

Since then Nature has taken a hand in the game. A severe winter and drought have done still more to curtail production. The United States Federal Crops Reporting Board, on the basis of conditions on June 1, predicts the shortest wheat crop in that country since 1893. The Dominion Bureau of Statistics' figures for field crops, on May 31, were the lowest in the twenty-six years during which records have been kept. Compared with last year, Canadian figures for fall wheat are down from 95 to 45, and for spring wheat from 99 to 79. Ontario has the poorest crop prospects on record.

Russia and the Danubian countries were also parties to the wheat agreement of a year ago. Russia, while she agreed to restrict exports, did not agree to any figure; she merely said she would do her best. There were famine conditions in Russia then. Now crop conditions in the Soviet are good in some parts, bad in others. The smaller acreage sown and unfavorable crop conditions are likely to reduce the yield in the Danube basin. What was desired last August, when the international conference on wheat met, is now being accomplished. Though Argentina's defaults cannot morally be condoned, its economic effects may be slight. Higher prices for wheat are indicated.—Hamilton Spectator.

EDITORIAL NOTES AND COMMENT.

Vote as you like on Tuesday—but vote.

The support given the Rotary Carnival shows that the public appreciates the fine quality of the social service work carried on by the organization.

The doings at Ottawa are being side-tracked for the present by the provincial campaign, but the capital will get back into the headlines after next week.

American license numbers are becoming a common sight. Every indication points to unusually good tourist trade this summer.

What politics in Ontario needs, we are convinced after listening to many radio campaign addresses, is a few politicians with a sense of humor—but then if they had that they probably could not make political speeches.

A FORECAST OF COMING EVENTS

Failure of the National Recovery Administration will be a forecast of the defeat of the Democratic Party on November election day in 1936. What the Wickersham Report did for Prohibition the Darrow Report is likely to do for the National Recovery Act. The Baltimore Sun, a democratic publication, and one of the greatest newspapers in the United States has said, "The Darrow Report, whatever its real or imagined short coming, contains a clear warning for the Roosevelt Administration." The same newspaper has declared, "The Roosevelt prestige is measurably less to-day than when this Congress began. This is clear to the nation. Regardless of the merits of the Darrow charges and the Johnson replies, the net effect will be to deepen the impression that what the N.R.A. attempted is too vast to manage and that things are in a mess."

The Effects Being Sifted of the N.R.A.

Summarized and put in concise form the Darrow Report may be stated as follows:

1. The N.R.A. fosters monopoly and oppresses the "little fellow."
2. Certain N.R.A. Codes are badly administered.
3. The consumer suffers under the N.R.A.

The Darrow Report recommends:

1. Socialized, collective ownership and control of industry, followed by a plan of America's resources.
2. Transfer of code enforcement and fact finding from N.R.A. to the Federal Trade Commission.
3. Restoration of the anti-trust laws.

The above is food for thought for The Examiner readers. What any one nation thinks and does is of concern to every other nation. The world is a community.

JOHNSON REPORT

Opposition rightly viewed has been the making of many a man. It has been the undoing of many more. Opposition has slain its hundreds. Jealousy has slain its thousands. Jealousy is blind to the merits of others. It is just as blind to its own defects. Jealousy is stuffed with rage. On occasion it breaks out in passionate violence. It will shear a Samson of his strength.

Three weeks were consumed in formulating a reply to the Darrow Report and the Darrow Recommendations. Then General Johnson came forth in evident hot temper. In that moment he lost utterly the confidence of the American people. In one hour he lost what he cannot regain in ten years. Weakness once discovered in a public servant by the people whom he serves is fatal. At that spot the career ends.

Johnson rushed into the presence of President Roosevelt after reading the Darrow Report. A more surprised man than Roosevelt would be hard to find. Here was one of the men upon whom he was depending for the success of the National Recovery Administration in a high rage. Mirable dictu! and he in a towering passion because of criticism. The look of Roosevelt was enough to say what he thought of his man.

Johnson blurted out, "A more superficial, intemperate and inaccurate document than the report, I have never seen. "Of course it was a hard blow. If Johnson had really anything of value to show for his year's work that would have been his vindication. He acted like a boy who has been cuffed by another." I recommend that the Review Board be abolished forthwith," he demanded rather than advised. He did not have all the facts necessary to be in the least dictatorial.

MOTION PICTURES, IRON AND STEEL

In American business the Motion Picture, Steel and Iron hold a large place. The Darrow Report says that after a study of eight of the codes the discovery was made that they tended to monopoly and the oppression of small business men by the larger business units. Of the Steel industry it says that its Code Authority is, "perfectly equipped to exercise monopolistic control," and, "is endowed with extraordinary powers incompatible with the ideals heretofore entertained in a free country." And that its methods are calculated, "to hasten the exit of the small enterprises, and, foster "the always growing autocracy of the greater."

The Darrow Report condemned the Motion Picture Code because it bore the ear-marks of having been made by the "representatives of the large producing companies," and theaters, to force the small, independent theater-owner out of business.

The thorough going character of the Report stands out in the minute details of the research. It was found that the Code helped preserve a monopoly in the manufacture of electrical equipment; and urged that the divisional Code Authority having charge over the bituminous coal industry in Northwest Virginia and Western Pennsylvania be replaced by, "persons that have a higher conception of social obligations than an impulse to seize every opportunity for personal aggrandizement."

"Big business," it continues, "begins by making it impossible for the small man to survive; and after he is eliminated it turns upon the weakest of the common aggressors."

Emphasis was put upon the advisability of reviving the practices of the anti-trust laws to prevent monopolies from controlling the business of the nation. All in all this report is a pretty stiff criticism of the administration.

TOMATO GROWERS MAY GET INCREASE

Canning Companies Likely Arrange Conferences With Growers.

Following a resolution presented by a joint committee of Canners and Growers to the Honourable Thomas L. Kennedy, Minister of Agriculture for Ontario, urging that something should be done to increase prices to tomato growers for the coming season, conversations have been held between the Ministers of Ontario and Quebec under the auspices of the Federal Minister of Agriculture, the Honourable Mr. Weir.

As a result of these conversations it has been announced that if the Canners of Ontario and Quebec call a conference for the purpose of arriving at an agreement on the matters under discussion and make possible an increase in prices to the tomato growers over and above the Ontario Canners' contracts already made, ranging from 25c to 27½c per bushel, that the three governments, on invitation, will send representatives to the meeting with a view to discussing ways and means of making any such agreement effective.

Word has since been received from J. A. Grenier, Deputy-Minister of Agriculture for Quebec, that the canned goods manufacturers of that province have agreed to attend such a meeting and it is expected that the canning companies of Ontario will take immediate steps to arrange the conference at an early date.

What's in The NAME

of Canadian Cities and Towns?

By FRANK H. WILLIAMS

RED DEER, ALBERTA

This city will be forever associated, in the minds of the majority of Canadians, with the name of the late Dr. Michael Clarke, their representative for many years in the House of Commons. "Red Michael" was known far and near as a rough and tumble debater of a class fast disappearing.

According to local history the name Red Deer is the Anglicized version of the Cree word for the blacktail deer which inhabited the district in large quantities. The Cree dialect gives it as Was-Ka-Soo In the Cree language this was evidently contracted to Waskasoo.

This was the name apparently given to the river and the district and when the white man came the English version was adopted.

Situated midway between Calgary and Edmonton it is the centre of a very rich mixed farming area.

A Thought

THE POWER OF SILENCE

What a strange power there is in silence! How many resolutions are formed—how many sublime conquests effected—during the pause when the lips are closed, and the soul secretly feels the eye of her Maker upon her! When some of those cutting, sharp, blighting words have been spoken which send the hot, indignant blood to the face and head, if those to whom they are addressed keep silence, look on with awe, for a mighty work is going on within them, and the spirit of evil, or their guardian angel, is very near to them in that hour. During that pause they have made a step towards heaven or towards hell, and an intern has been scored in the book which the day of judgment shall see opened.

They are the strong ones of the earth, the mighty flood for good or evil—those who know how to keep silence when it is a pain and a grief to them; those, who give time to their own souls to wax strong against temptation, or to the powers of wrath to stamp upon them her withering passage.—Emerson.

Character From Handwriting

By BLANCHE A. DRAPER

A Feature Conducted by Peterboroughs Leading Handwriting Analyist for the Readers of The Examiner

Full name and address (complete) must be given in all samples sent in.

Miss Veronica Elizabeth Kilcher, 158 Albertus St., City.

Your handwriting describes a gentle nature. You are kind and thoughtful. You enjoy all things which are beautiful. You have an artistic tendency which lends itself to the betterment of your life. Your mind is intelligent and keen. You have the ability to impart knowledge. This does not of necessity mean school teaching, though I think you would have made a splendid teacher had you so desired. Your will-power is normal. Your determination is exceptionally well developed, but it does not make you obdurate in the least. You should be interested in music and enjoy definite types of music. Colors should appeal to you, especially soft toned pastel shades. You have a keen insight and penetration into the faults and failings of human nature, therefore, you always endeavour to think before you speak, and try to make your words impressive. You are humorous and very artistic; discriminating as to clothing, and love to do things with a grand gesture. Those peculiar 't' bars of yours denote an individual characteristic and mark you as different. It is very nice to find someone who can keep a decidedly different personality, and I hope you will continue to be 'Just yourself.' Keep people guessing, for you can. Your number is 10. Your birthsign Capricorn the Goat. You are ruled by Saturn. Tuesday and Saturday are your lucky days, March and November your most fortunate months.

Reginald R. Soames, Warsaw, Ont.

Your handwriting reveals a conservative nature, bound by conventions at all times, so not original. You have will-power and determination, and you are progressive. You possess an interesting and keen mind. You are dignified and aloof most of the time. You are energetic and critical, and perhaps a little too active. You are cautious and emanat a high standard of justice. You like to dress to suit your individual taste, but if others criticize your mode of attire, you are easily and deeply hurt. You do not waste much time in foolishness, because you appreciate the value of time and money. Friendship seems quite difficult for you to cultivate, due to your reticence and reserve, but if people could see into your heart, they would love you instantly.

Martha Burridge, 45 Hunter St., E., City.

Your handwriting reveals friendly qualities. It illustrates impulsiveness and genuine humor. Your lower loops suggest an interest in out-of-door recreation. It also denotes the pioneer spirit of leadership. The capital letters denote generosity, and it would be well for you to endeavour to curb this impulse before you give away too much to others who do not deserve your bounty. The general outline of your writing is interesting, in that it depicts wisdom and common sense. It shows that you are in the habit of doing your own thinking, and that you do not thank others who interfere with your personal affairs. Flowers should grow anywhere, if planted by your gentle hands. There is something about a person of your type, which has an irresistible impulse to growing things. It is as though plants and flowers knew that you had put them in the ground, and so would grow, just in order to please you. Your number is 6. Your birthsign Taurus the Bull. You are ruled by Venus. May and July are your most fortunate months, Friday your best day.

MONTREAL PRODUCE

Butter prices tended fractionally lower, while prices of cheese, eggs and potatoes remained unchanged on the Montreal Produce and Dairy Market yesterday.

Fresh No. 1 butter eased ¼c to 21½c to 21¾c a pound in carlots or less. Small lots to retailers were quoted at 23c for solids and 24c a pound for prints. Receipts were 1,004 boxes.

The cheese market was unchanged, Ontario colored being sold for 11c to 11¼c a pound, and 10¼c to 10½c a pound for Quebecs. Arrivals were 1,096 boxes.

The price of eggs remained at their former levels, graded shipments of Montreal eggs in less than carlots being 20c to 20½c a dozen for A-large, 19c to 19½c for A-medium, 18½c for B, and 17½c to 18c for C. Western carlots were quoted at 21c a dozen for A-large, 20c for A-medium, 19c for B, and 18c for C. Receipts totalled 2,268 cases.

The potato market held firm. New Brunswick Mountains brought 70c to 80c per 80-pound bag, Quebec Whites 65c to 70c per 80-pound bag, and Prince Edward Island Mountains 95c to $1 per 90-pound bag.

CHICAGO GRAIN

Dominated by big stop-loss selling, the wheat market crashed yesterday to 14¾ cents a bushel under 1934 top quotations attained hardly a fortnight back.

Heavy liquidation of weakly-held speculative lines of wheat took place, attributed in the main to disturbing effects of rapidly increased marketing of newly harvested wheat southwest. The fact that announcement of the German moratorium happened to coincide and was an unsettling influence on other commodity markets, received no special attention among grain traders, European grain quotations having long been far below an export parity with prices in the United States.

Following an extreme tumble of 7¾ cents, compared with Wednesdays' high point, wheat rallied at the last, closing nervous, 1⅝ to 2⅛c under Wednesday's finish. Corn ⅛c off to ⅛c up, and provisions unchanged to a rise of 12 cents.

WINNIPEG GRAIN.

WINNIPEG, June 15. — Improved moisture conditions over spring wheat areas of U. S. and Canada brought aggressive selling on the Winnipeg Grain Exchange yesterday. Despite a late recovery wheat prices were ⅝ to ⅞ cent lower at the close.

July wheat ended at 76⅛c, with October at 78⅛c, and December at 79 cents. The late rise from bottom levels about 1⅛ cents down, was aided by liberal purchasing by houses with seaboard interests.

Export sales of Canadian, most of it destined for Glasgow, reached fair proportions on the break, but no figure was placed on the movement. Chicago interests were the best sellers of Winnipeg futures, with considerable spreading in evidence.

Outside markets were all easier. Liverpool wheat finished 1¼d to 1½d lower, and Chicago ended about 2 cents down.

Wheat clearances from Black Sea ports totalled 384,000 bushels and estimated shipments from Argentina for the week were 3,858,000 bushels.

Cash grains trading was dull with spreads on the poorer grains ¼ to 1 cent better. Coarse grains were irregular. Oats and barley held comparatively firm with flax and rye easing.

GENERAL LIST MINING MARKET HOLDS STEADY

Senior Gold Issues Come Out in Broken Lots But at Steady Prices.

CHEAPER GOLDS WEAK.

TORONTO, June 15 (C.P.).—The mining section of the Toronto Exchange was left to the specialties to-day as the usual leaders stood aside to await something definite about strike possibilities in the United States. Senior gold issues came out slowly and mainly in broken lots but at steady prices. The board maintained a general appearance of firmness but for some selling in several of the cheap golds.

After hitting $5 in a morning slump, San Antonio was able to recover most of the loss and the close at 5.15 was down only 5 cents. Sylvanite, Macassa, Howel, Little Long Lac, B.R.X., God's Lake and Gunnar Gold dropped 2 to 5 cents each, while the strong issues of the group were McKenzie Red Lake, Read Authier and Ventures.

GAINS-LOSSES EVENLY DIVIDED

International Nickel and Pete Supply Bulk of Activity at Toronto.

TORONTO, June 15. (CP). — In a generaly dull market, international Nickel and International Uete hamered out a good day's business on the industrial section of the Toronto Stock Exchange today and both closed well on the up side. Pete touched a new high mark. Gains and losses were about equally divided at tht close.

Slow and barely steady in the morning session, interlisted shares were improved in tone in the afternoon. Nickel closed 35 cents up, and Ford of Canada was up ½ at 21⅝. In the distillery stocks Distillers Seagrams and Industrial Alcohol finished off ¼ each and Walkers Common was unchanged.

Broker's Opinions

Harris Upham & Co.—The market suggests for the present a continuation of considerable underlying strength but with actual progress likely to be slow and hesitating.

Theo. Prince & Co.—Apparently stock prices will work somewhat higher before attracting selling in sufficient volume to cause any reaction of consequence.

Weingarten & Co.—We do not anticipate any increase in volume at this time and until there is a more definite indication of trend we feel the market will continue in a relatively narrow trading range.

CHICAGO, June 15—Despite bullish crop reports a liquidating movement yesterday sent prices crashing downward. Corn showed independent strength. Trade gossip indicated a large line of wheat alleged to have been owned by a local operator had been liquidated during the day and another house was credited with having sold freely for outside account. Price changes were rapid and stop loss orders were uncovered on the way down.

A Boy Does It

LONDON, Eng., June 15.—(AP). A red-coated, brass-buttoned, 15-year-old drummer boy escaped from the Tower of London yesterday afternoon — thereby accomplishing a feat at which a tragic Queen, Princes, Sir Walter Raleigh and spies during the Great War failed.

The drummer boy, who tired of learning to be a drummer, merely asked permission to mail a letter. He slipped through the big gate and began to run.

A sergeant took after him and joined the chase over Tower Hill toward Mark Lane. The boy dodged into a crowd attending an open air meeting and the hunt is still on.

KIDNAPPED TRIO GIVEN FREEDOM

their homes a few hours after they were released.

The kidnapping of Schultze and Schleuter took place in front of the Western League Baseball Park at Davenport. The patrolman approached Palmer to question him. But Palmer drew a pistol from his pocket and forced the officer to stop. When Schultze approached his motor car, Palmer forced the policeman into it and ordered Schultze to drive.

Commandeer Second Car.

Palmer complained about the condition of the machine, and near Walcott stopped Dr. Fitch and commandeered his coupe.

He forced the officer into the rear compartment of the couple and ordered Dr. Fitch and Schultze to take turns at driving.

"We zig-zagged here and there," Schultze said. "We travelled all the time. We must have gone at least 700 miles. Once Palmer stopped to buy himself a candy bar, but bought no food for us.

When the kidnapper and his victims arrived here, Palmer said he would let the three men have the motor car, if they would promise to go back to Davenport. When Palmer started off walking, the men reported the kidnapping to police. About 15 minutes later the convict was taken prisoner.

Judge Upholds Rights Of Married Women, Rules School Tax Split, Mixed Marriages

LONDON, Ont., June 15 (C.P.).—Upholding the rights of married women, County Judge Joseph Wearing to-day delivered a judgment that in the cases of "mixed marriages" school taxes may be divided equally between the public and the Roman Catholic separate schools. His Honor's decision affects about 50 cases in the city of London and countless more throughout Ontario.

Judge Wearing's judgment upholds the ruling of the local court of revision. It holds that where a Roman Catholic wife and Protestant husband hold joint leases of their property, the wife may direct that half of their school taxes go to the support of the Roman Catholic school, while the public schools may only collect the husband's half.

The case in point was brought as a test by Thomas J. Holmes, representing the Board of Education, against four London women as an appeal against court of revision's decision.

In the women's coat, suit and dress department, the mark-up by the Eaton Company over laid down costs ranged from 17.9 per cent to 84 per cent. The average mark-up in this department, said W. L. Gordon, Toronto accountant, was 24.2 per cent.

In the women's shoe department, the mark-up ran from 35 to 80.4 per cent. The average mark-up by the company over laid down costs was 45.9 per cent.

Profitable Unit

The Winnipeg mail order division made more money last year than the vast commercial edifice as a whole. Auditors told the committee the Western catalogue office had a net profit in 1933 of $911,600, compared to a net profit of $878,000 for the T. Eaton Company Limited as a whole.

The Winnipeg mail order division has been the most profitable unit in the Dominion-wide Eaton organization, escaping red ink every year since 1924 and returning net profits as high as $2,545,100. Although sales have been dropping—50 per cent decline between 1927 and 1932—gross profits have eben maintained by increasing the spread between cost and selling prices in the catalogues.

For the Winnipeg store samples of mark-ups in the boy's suit department were given by W. L. Gordon, one of the committee auditors. Suits that cost $9.05 in Winnipeg sold for $13.95 a mark-up of 54.16 percent. Other spreads in this department were 60.33; 54.53; 52.12 and 57.01 percent.

The laid down cost of boys' overcoats had been 11.14 each, the coats had been sold at $18, making a mark up of 61.5 percent. Boys' overcoats had been purchased by Eatons at $1.26 each and sold at $1.95, making a mark up of 54.27 percent, said the accountant.

The gross profit for this department in 1933 was 33.8 percent after charging overhead interest write-downs and other charges the department showed a net loss last year of $2,614.

Turning to shoe departments the auditor showed that one branded shoe cost Eatons $2.97 in 1930 and sold for $4.29 a mark-up of $2.31. The manufacturer's price dropped until last year the shoe cost Eatons $2.37, yet the selling price was $3.75. Thus the mark-up increased from 44 percent to 51 percent.

"In other words, the manufacturer took the reduction," suggested Norman Sommerville, committee counsel.

"The company took a small part" replied the auditor.

On three other branded lines, although prices dropped between 1930 and 1933, the mark-ups increased from 38.1 to 59; 31.3 to 55.4 and from 31 .8 to 55.1 percent.

Eaton's officials had told him frequently the cost sheets of manufacturers were examined by representatives of the Eaton company to determine the profit being made by shoe manufacturers, answered Mr. Gordon.

The mark-up in the Winnipeg shoe department was in proportion to the mark-up in the Toronto shoe stores of the company, said witness.

In the Winnipeg store of the women's and Missess' skirt and coat department, 15.1 percent were brought from Eaton's Toronto factory, 19.2 percent from firms in Quebec, 24.7 percent from Ontario manufacturing firms, 38.8 percent from suppliers in Manitoba and 2.2 034:3, 5 from other sources.

The auditor showed mark-ups ranging from 31 to 117 percent in washing machines with an average for the department of 51.56. The drug department, unfirmly profitable maintained a mark-up of 34.97 and the tire department 22.68.

JURY ACQUITS FRED REYNOLDS

Found Not Guilty of Non-Support After Three Hours' Deliberation.

MARRIED IN 1929

Fred Reynolds, this city, was acquitted on a charge of non-support of his wife by a jury yesterday before Judge R. N. Ruddy in the General Sessions of the Peace. The jury was in retirement for more than three hours, returning with its verdict of "not guilty" shortly after 8 o'clock last night.

Crown Attorney V. J. McElderry, K.C., conducted the prosecution and Hon. G. N. Gordon, K.C., the defence.

The couple were married in 1929 in Detroit and lived more or less happily together there and later in this city until last September, Mrs. Reynolds testified. Witness said she went to Toronto for a brief visit, her husband consenting to her trip and giving her some money, but when she returned to their Albert street home she found that her husband had removed all their furniture and had left her.

Paid For Furniture

Her mother and father had been boarding with them, paying first $8 a week for the board of both and later $5 a week. She said she had used some of the board money to purchase furniture, but under cross-examination she admitted that all receipts for payments on the furniture were made out in her husband's name.

She had charged her husband with stealing the furniture in police court and later with non-support. Before the late Judge Huycke it was agreed that she and her husband would live separately but that her husband must pay her two dollars per week. He had made six such payments, and then stopped. She stated that she was living with her mother and father who were receiving city relief.

Thomas McDonald, a taxi driver, stated that Reynolds had several times asked him to appear as a witness in the previous non-support case and promising that if he would swear that he had been out with Mrs. Reynolds he would be paid $10. He stated that he had not been out with Mrs. Reynolds at all, although in 1925 he "went around with her" for a couple of months. Under cross-examination he denied that he had ever told Reynolds that he had been out with his wife and might just as well as a lot of other fellows.

This closed the Crown's case.

Kept Late Hours

Reynolds testified that in September his wife had gone away against his request that she remain at home. She had been keeping late hours, often coming home smelling of liquor after being out with other men, he said, and while she was away he decided to separate from her. He admitted removing the furniture from the house, but insisted that it was his and he made all payments for it.

Reynolds stated that he had ceased to make the weekly two-dollar payments to his wife as per agreement made last January because she was misconducting herself, going out with travellers in cars and staying out late. "Under those circumstances I decided I didn't have to make the payments," he stated.

He said he was employed at the Lawn Bowling Club as caretaker of the club house and his earnings approximated only ten dollars a week during the summer, while in the winter they averaged about half that amount.

With Strange Men

He told of seeing his wife in cars with strange men and named other men who had also seen his wife car-riding with commercial travellers. He told of one incident last April when he saw his wife leave the Capitol Theatre in a car with a man and trailed the pair to Chemong. He drove back to the city then and took two friends out to Chemong Park to identify his wife. "I flashed a light on the car and told the man that the woman he was with was my wife," he stated. "She said, 'It's all right Harry, I divorced this man some months ago'."

Quinten Hargrove and Lavern Killingbeck said they were the men who had accompanied Reynolds to Chemong Park that night and saw his wife sitting in a parked car with a strange man near the park pavilion. They substantiated his evidence as to what occurred when he accosted the man.

D'Arcy Whaley swore that he had seen Mrs. Reynolds on two occasions sitting in cars along the street late at night with strange men.

A. G. Metheral, relief officer, said that he had secured a job for Mrs. Reynolds last January as housemaid with a farmer near Fowlers' Corners, but she had refused to take it because her case was coming up a few days later.

Miss Amy Wood, police matron, called by the Crown, said that she had met Reynolds on the street one evening some months ago. He had then charged that his wife was misconducting herself, and she had told him that such was not the case and that she was tired of hearing such accusations.

Obituary

ROBERT McCUTCHEON

(Examiner Correspondence.)

HAVELOCK, June 16. — The funeral of the late Robert McCutcheon, was held from his late home on Alexander street to St. John's Anglican church at 2.30 p.m., Tuesday, and was very largely attended. The deceased passed away on Saturday afternoon after only a few weeks' illness, in his eighty-second year. The funeral was held under the auspices of L.O.L., 326, Havelock, and the local Black Preceptory, 946. A larger attendance than usual of the order were on hand to pay their last respects to a brother who was always a jolly good natured gentleman, kindly, and with a keen sense of humor.

Of Irish parentage the deceased was born in Percy township, and started a hard-working career on farms in Keene and Peterborough district. Forty-five years ago he moved to the Oak Lake district, where he farmed and drove the Oak Lake stage for 12 years. Here he was responsible for the first cheese factory and post office being established.

The next farm home was taken up in Rockdale 2 years ago. It is 16 years since he entered on a retired life in the village, and since that time acted as an implement agent.

Left to mourn the loss of a loving father are four daughters, and three sons: Sarah, Mrs. J. J. Buchanan, of Belmont; Louisa, Mrs. W. Buchanan, of Clayton, Saskatchewan; Mary E., Mrs. Max Post; Annie, Mrs. E. J. Leeson, Hugh, of Winnipeg, Robert J., of town, and Alex., of Midland.

"Abide with Me," an old favorite of the deceased, was sung during the Anglican service, conducted by the incumbent, Rev. E. W. G. Worrall. The palibearers were three sons and three sons-in-law: Robt. J., Alex. Hugh, E. J. Leeson, J. J. Buchanan and Max Post.

EARL WHITNEY

(Examiner Correspondence.)

HAVELOCK, June 1.—The funeral of the late Earl Whitney, aged 34, who was drowned in the waters of Oak Lake on Saturday afternoon, was held from the home of his brother, Leslie Whitney, George street, on Wednesday afternoon, when a large crowd of sorrowing friends and relatives paid their last respects to a young man who has spent most of his life in Belmont and Havelock district.

The unfortunate accident, the first fatality in the history of Oak Lake, cast a pall of gloom over the entire community. The tragedy took place less than 50 feet from the landing of J. E. Wood, the well known lumberman, where young Whitney played as a boy. He was raised only a short distance from the lake in Belmont township. Unable to swim when the canoe capsized he struggled to hang on, but sank in 12 feet of water, while a companion, Albert Bettes from Peterborough, almost lost his life in an effort to save him. Walter Cooney of Havelock, dove and recovered the body a few minutes later.

The funeral corege left the house at 2.00 p.m., and services were held at the United church and conducted by the Rev. S. A. Kemp, pastor. Interment was made in Maple Grove cemetery. The pallbearers were six cousins: Jack and Ted Whitney of town; Harry Whitney of Wellington; Noris Whitney, Jr., of Oak Lake; Isaac Anderson of Round Lake, and Max Post, of Oak Lake.

A brother, Isaac, was a victim of the Hollinger Mine disaster of 1928. Besides his mother, Mrs. James Whitney of Timmins, he leaves to mourn his loss, four sisters, and and three brothers: Mrs. Robert Mackey of Timmins, Mrs. Wm.Gourley, of Toronto, Mrs. William Althouse of Smith's Falls, and Mrs. Wilfred Spooner, of Havelock; brothers: Ray of Quebec, Leslie of town, and Arnold of Timmins.

NIXON SKEPTICAL HENRY'S LOSSES

Asks Premier to Show How He Dropped Cash on Abitibi Deal.

SCORES LYONS.

BELLEVILLE, Ont., June 15 (C. P)—Harry C. Nixon, Ontario Progressive leader, yesterday left a challenge before Premier George S. Henry to state "specifically" how he lost money in the taking over of the Abitibi development by the Hydro Commission. Premier Henry, Mr. Nixon charges, held $25.000 worth of bonds in the Ontario power service an Abitibi subsidiary.

"I have listened to the Premier's explanation of this transaction," Mr. Nixon said in his address here last night, "and how he had lost money on the deal but I challenge him to show specifically how he lost money."

Mr. Henry not only had $25,000 worth of these bonds, Mr. Nixon declared, "But he, with Meighen and McCrea, were in companies that jointly held $300,000 of O.P.S. bonds."

The Progressive leader criticized Mayor James Lyons of Sault Ste. Marie and Conservative candidate in that riding. He said Mr. Lyons apparently had a "change of heart" and now plans to support Premier George S. Henry "when not more than a year ago the same man had written an open letter discrediting the leadership of the Conservative party and asked for a new convention to elect some one else."

Mayor James Lyons, he charged, had created a road camp "80 miles from nowhere" wherein men of Liberal persuasion were placed. Mr. Nixon said the mayor had done this knowing the men would be unable to vote and would be unable to come out to civilization and cast their ballots.

King Edward School Cadets Capture Denne Cup

CADET UNITS OF PUBLIC SCHOOLS ARE INSPECTED

Each School Corps Inspected Separately by Captain C. C. Mann.

SIX UNITS PARADE.

Abolition of Grants Has Brought No Lowering in Standard of Efficiency.

With an unusual display of efficiency and discipline, the corps of King Edward School captured the Roland Denne Cup, presented annually to the best public school cadet corps in the city, as the six public cadet companys paraded in review yesterday. Captain C. C. Mann, cadet officer and general staff officer of Military District No. 3, carried out the inspections.

In accordance with a policy adopted with the restriction of the cadet grants to public school corps, each company was reviewed individually on its own parade ground. After concluding a tour of the six schools — Central, King George, Queen Alexandra, King Edward, Prince of Wales and Queen Mary—Capt. Mann expressed himself as well pleased with what he had seen. The abolition of the grants has apparently brought no lowering of the standards of efficiency or resulted in any loss of enthusiasm for the work, he said. The cadet corps of Peterborough schools have always had high reputations and are continuing the good work, the officer declared.

A total of more than 350 paraded in the six units, King Edward heading the list in numbers with 71 in its company. The Prince of Wales corps, winners of the Denne Cup last year, comprised 70 cadets while Central boasted 62 men and Queen Mary 57. Queen Alexandra with 50 on parade, and King George with 49 put forth the two smallest units for review but the units were by no means least in the contest for the trophy honors. Capt. Mann stated that his decision had been a very difficult one to reach and that he had found it necessary to consider intently every factor involved before he was able to arrive at a choice. Beyond a slight superiority in appearance and discipline, there was little to distinguish the King Edward unit from any of the others.

Similar Routines

The units were under no regulations in regard to their inspections displays yet each followed through approximately the same routine. On his arrival at each school, Capt. Mann received the general salute and then carried out an inspection of the lines. The ceremonial march past in column and the return in close column was carried out, followed by demonstrations of company drill with the company commanders in charge. Each company put on a physical training exhibition as part of its program, indicating the increasingly important part which purely physical exercise is taking in cadet work. The physical training demonstrations at several of the schools were of a very high order, bespeaking serious and whole-hearted application and careful preparation on the part of the youngsters.

Reviews of the corps at Central, King George and Queen Alexandra Schools were carried out in the morning and the remaining three in the afternoon. At King Edward the program was given a novel touch by the execution of a relay game by one section of the company as the other section engaged in the regular physical training display. Capt. Mann singled out the excellence of the marching for special mention as he addressed the Queen Alexandra corps. At several of his points of visit he had a word of praise for the cadet instructors responsible for the training of the companies.

Officers

Instructors and officers of the corps were:

King Edward—Capt. D. T. Crawford, instructor; Cadet Captain Cyril Davis, company commander; Cadet Sergt.-Major H. Blondin, and cadet lieutenants, Earle Berwich, Jack Mackness and Bert Howden, platoon commanders.

Prince of Wales—Lieut. Elmer Frost, instructor; Cadet Capt. David Fowler, company commander; Cadet Lieut. Aubrey Braund, second in command; and cadet lieutenants Bill Beggs, Max Williamson and Steve Csumick, platoon commanders.

Queen Mary—Lieut. E. G. Wagar, instructor; Cadet Capt. Rudell Crary, company commander; cadet lieutenants Bill Davidson and James Harvey, platoon commanders.

School Inspector A. Mowat accompanied Capt. Mann on his tour of inspection. Considerable numbers of spectators witnessed the drill at each school.

ARM IN SLING WITH NEURITIS

A "token of gratification" this woman says she is giving when she writes of her relief from neuritis:

"For twelve months I have had neuritis in my arm, and up till the last two weeks have had to carry it in a sling. Since then I have abandoned my sling, am able to sleep undisturbed, and can perform household duties that previously I would not have done. These benefits I have received from Kruschen Salts. This has all happenrd in two weeks, and I am optimistic enough to think that in another fortnight I shall have said good-bye to neuritis once and for all. Call this a testimonial if you choose—to me it is a token of gratification." —(Mrs.) N.E.L.

Neuritis is a result of impurities in the blood. And it is impure blood, circulating all over the system and setting up inflammation in the tissues that causes those excruciating pains. Kruschen Salts can be safely trusted to set the matter right. Because Kruschen contains just what Nature needs to persuade your internal organs back into a healthy, normal condition.

"SHADOWS OF SING SING" and "THE MORNING AFTER"

Feature No. 2, "Shadows of Sing Sing," is one of those extremely interesting pictures which never fail in their appeal. It illustrates the age-old combat between the forces of law and order and the gangland criminals who try every means to offset the efforts of the law to maintain the peace of the realm.

Bruce Cabot and Mary Brian (who, by the way, seems to have lost some of her freshness and good looks), have the stellar roles, with a familiar little upstanding gentleman as the father of the law student who falls in love with the sister of a gangster. Strangely enough, both the father and the gangster agree to fight the match, and, young love being just as determined to have its way, the showdown which follows has all the elements of tragedy and sustained interest. There are several new angles to the situations which unfold, with a courtroom scene as the finale and a really intriguing solution of a murder mystery.

This reviewer did not see the first feature, so therefore it goes unheralded.

tion" by confiscating the landed estates, chase the owners of factories and seize complete control of the means of production. Strasser's program sounds Socialistic. But he is an anti-Semite as well. The two things don't go together, as every schoolboy knows. (It's schoolboys who know such things these days.)

Kept Election Secret

"Poor Adolf," said the Fuehrer's former associate, "he thinks he can halt the march of history. He is finding out to-day that the evolution of history does not resemble a slide at the fair, but that it is a succession of world-shaking catastrophes, which propels mankind. In spite of the tens of thousands of murders, in spite of Goering's menaces and three separate systems of secret police, the tide is mounting against Hitler. The chiefs are fooling themselves in making a brave show of militarism. Students and young boys in uniform. It looks very impressive. But it is a case of whistling in the dark to keep their courage up. The working-class is not with the Fuehrer. His "Vertrauungsmaenner" (men of confidence) obtained less than 30 per cent of the total votes in the "Gewerkschaften" in the beginning of May. (The Gewerkschaften are the new Nazi instituted labor unions.)

"I did not hear of that election," I said. "Of course not," replied Strasser. "They kept the result from becoming known to the outside world. For it was a smack in the face to them, such as they never had before. The workers in Germany begin to see the fraud of Hitler's regime. They suspected treason right along. But now they know Hitler has sold them out to finance capital and the trusts. Yet as far as the working-class is concerned, a revolt is ten times more dangerous now than it was a year ago. The workers are unarmed and the Junkers and bourgeoise have the machine-guns."

War Means Revolution

"What will happen if Hitler goes to war and calls the mass of the workers to the colors, for you can't conduct a war without them, can you?" I asked.

"No, you can't fight without the proletariat," asserted Strasser. "And there you have Hitler's problem at the present moment. He would go to war to-morrow, if he dared, but he is shaking in his boots. For mobilization means revolution within three months and the firing-squad for the whole cabinet."

War Would End Hitler

"Well, then, Hitler won't declare war. That's clear," I said. "But what else can he do, for war can bring work to German industry?"

"Hitler is being driven to war by events and at a terrific rate," came back Strasser, "yet he is mortally afraid of it, for he is not a fool. He knows that war is the end of him. He knows just as well as I do, that in the event of mobilization there will be a slaughter without precedent in Berlin, an orgy of blood and destruction. Berlin is still red in every fibre of its being. Russia and the French revolution will be child's play compared to what's coming in Germany."

"And after that?"

"After that German-Socialism!" said Strasser, curtly.

"What is that, German-Socialism?"

"A Socialist society on a German national basis, free from the dictates of Moscow or Amsterdam (Amsterdam is the headquarters of the second or Reformist-Socialist international, of which Emile VanderVelde is the president).

"But still nationalistic?" I asked. "Is your revolution putting the emphasis on Nationalism or on Socialism?"

"On both. We will liberate ourselves from the Versailles treaty. We want absolute freedom for Germany to decide her own destiny and we will abolish classes."

"Hitler claims to have abolished classes already," I suggested.

"Oh, yes, Thyssen (the trust magnate) and 'Auwi' (Prince August Wilhelm of Hohenzollern) are also National-Socialists now, wonderful Socialists, 'gut zum erschiessen, good to be shot'," growled Strasser.

No Socialism by Vote

"You seem to be set on shooting a whole lot," I said. "How about that if they are told that the fatherland is in danger, and Hitler will not fail to tell them this, they will respond as one man, as they did in 1914, social-democrats and pacifists included."

Strasser grew angry at this. "There are no social-democrats now in Germany," he snapped. Prussian like. The social-democracy is liquidated. But there are millions of revolutionaries, millions of men silently lured to object, "that the Germans are men of discipline. I am afraid bringing about Socialism by the vote, by peaceful persuasion of the capitalists to abdicate?"....I could not finish my question.

"Don't talk like an idiot," interrupted Strasser. And he added: "Sixty-five per cent of the Austrian people voted for Socialism. And still Dolfuss hammered them down with siege-guns."

"On what do you base your predictions of disaster in Germany?"

"On the sinking of the gold reserve; the gold coverage of the mark is down to four per cent. That means inflation in a few months. Inflation means bankruptcy for the middle classes, impoverishment, proletarianization. Yet the lower middle classes are Hitler's chief support. There is already talk of rationing the population as in war time. In July half the storm troopers are going to be sent on furlough"....He stopped.

"So what is going to happen?"

"Read history, read what happened to Hampden and Essex, to Vergniaud and Mirabeau, to Muljokoff and Kerensky!"

"I know what happened to them, I said. Do you mean that Kerensky-Hitler will be succeeded by a Lenin?"

"The moment will produce the leader," he said.

"A Communist?"

"No, not a Communist, decidedly not a Communist!" he said emphatically.

"You?" I asked.

"Who can tell?" came back the proscribed chief of the Black Front.

Stranger things have happened.

RICHARD HALL LIMITED

COUNTIES' $58,600 RD. PROGRAM TO PROVIDE WORK FOR 454 MEN

Roads South of Hastings and at Bensfort to be Surfaced.

SEYMOUR ROAD INCLUDED

COBOURG, June 15.—Details of the $58,600 county road program prepared by George Greer, superintendent, have been generally approved by members of the counties council, and the whole scheme of relief work is likely to be adopted this week.

The cost to the counties of this project is estimated at $22,000, the equivalent of the money to be expended as the total labor item, and the remaining $14,600 is assumed by the provincial and federal governments in an effort to promote local work this season.

Mr. Greer has planned an expenditure of $2,400 in South Monaghan on the mile stretch of road north of Bensfort, including grading and surfacing and building one large culvert.

In Percy township $7,000 is to be spent entirely on surfacing three roads south of Hastings village, including part of the Roseneath road; also from Hastings to Brickley on the Warkworth road; and from Cuffe's corners on the Hastings-Warkworth road east to the boundary of Seymour.

In Seymour township $4,200 has been appropriated for improving the Hoard's road, a mile of which is to be graded, surfaced and ditched.

The whole project will give 12,467 man- days' work to 454 men.

The program was reported by Mr. Greer as follows:

Haldiman—Estimated cost $3,800; number of men, 74; man-days' work, 1,162; labor cost, $1,860.

Murray—Estimated expenditure, $4,000; number of men, 68; man-days' work, 1,117; labor cost, $1,790.

South Monaghan—Estimated expenditure, $2,400; men employed, 48; man-days' work, 518; labor cost, $830.

Seymour—Estimated expenditure, $4,200; number of me to be employed 64; man-days' work, 1,231; labor cost $1,790.

Percy township—Estimated cost of surfacing $7,000; number of men, 32; man-days' work, 2,050; cost of labor, $3,500.

Brighton township — Estimated cost, $1,500; number of men, 20; man-days' work, 468; labor cost, $750.

Darlington—Lengthening concrete bridge, $3,000; number of men, 64; man-days, 870; labor cost, $1,400. Bridges and culverts on other roads, $3,200; number of men, 16; man-days, 870; labor, $1,500.

Machinery—Estimated cost, $5,000; 4 men; man-days, 114; labor, $400.

Maintenance — Estimated cost, $20,000; 64 men; man-days, $4,000; labor cost, $8,000.

General—Estimated cost, $4,500.

Totals—Estimate of cost, $58,600; number of men, 454; man-days, 12,467; labor involved in this expenditure, $22,000.

Insurance Renewed.

Renewal of the counties' municipal liability insurance with the Consolidated Insurance Company was recommended by the Finance Committee yesterday afternoon. For a premium of $628 the counties are protected, in the event of any accident for which they might be liable, for the amount of $5,000 for one person injured, $10,000 limit for one accident and $1,000 covering property damage.

The Globe Indemnity Company quoted $1,092 for the same protection, and the committee spent nearly an hour in hearing representatives of the two companies and discussing the two policies. The division in favor of the Consolidated was 12 to 9.

Salaries and Wages.

The council's oversight in January to renew the 1933 schedule of salaries on the basis of a ten per cent cut was rectified by Reeve C. H. Curtis' motion, seconded by Deputy-reeve Leslie Campbell of Cramahe, that the salaries be the same as in 1933.

Warden Davey told the committee that when his attention was called subsequent to the January sessions to the fact that the term and effect of the resolution in 1933 had expired on December 31, he signed the cheques for that month on the basis of the salaries paid in 1932. He was reluctant to call a special meeting of the council for the sole purpose of dealing with this question, and notified the counties' staff that he would sign the following monthly cheques only for amounts corresponding with the council's reduction in 1933.

The officials affected were the counties' clerk and treasurer, road superintendent and his secretary, superintendent, matron, surgeon and caretaker of the House of Refuge.

In presenting his motion Reeve Curtis said that the farmers were no better off than last year, and the staff should not expect to have their former salaries restored. It was also decided that the excess payment in January should be deducted from salaries coming due.

A suggested revision of wages for county road employees was finally referred to a special committee to report today. Some townships are paying their men $1.50 a day, but the wage on the provincial highways is $2. It was stated that this rate of pay has attracted laborers from farm work because farmers are not able to compete for labor on that basis.

The county has paid 20 cents an hour, but George Greer, superintendent, reminded the committee that in accepting the governments' relief plan the council should not overlook the official intention of paying laborers a fair wage. He was not aware of any compulsion in this regard, but the governments had expressed the desire that the special work for the season would be of real assistance to many men. To that end the government had been unusually generous in helping to finance the county road work.

HECKLING OF COOKE PLAYED BY TORIES

Successful Conservative Rally Held for W. H. Ireland at Springbrook.

BONARLAW, June 15.—(Examiner Correspondence).—The Conservative rally held in the Orange Hall, Springbrook, on Tuesday evening of this week in the interest of W. H. Ireland. Conservative candidate, was well attended, the hall being filled to capacity with a large number of women in the audience.

George E. Thompson, reeve of Rawdon, acted as chairman, and the speakers included the following: W. H. Ireland, Col. R. J. E. Graham, of Belleville; H. B. Graham, ex-mayor of Trenton; George A. Reid, chairman Belleville Public Utilities; R. A. Elliott, president of West Hastings Liberal-Conservative Association, and Mr. W. Reddick.

Nearly all the speakers referred to the nomination meeting at Stirling in the afternoon and deplored the disgraceful heckling of Hon. J. R. Cooke when he was replying to an address of a Liberal speaker which had lasted for over an nour without the least interruption on the part of the many Conservatives present.

H. B. Graham spoke of the lack of leadership in the Liberal ranks. There are no men, he said, who have knowledge of provincial affairs, and we cannot afford to have men in government who are inexperienced. "Consider," said Mr. Graham, "what the Conservatives have done, and also what the Liberals have done, and mark your ballot accordingly.

George Reid declared that on June 19 Belleville will go Conservative. He referred to the Hydro of Ontario as a wonderful investment, and not as a debt, and to prove his point cited the experience of the city of Belleville, who bought their Hydro five years ago at a cost of $176,000, have added $150,000 to plant, built an office valued at $37,000, and gave back to the people $215,000 in rebates and light and power, and today owe only $52,000, but have $30,000 on hand.

THAT DEPRESSED FEELING IS LARGELY LIVER

Wake Up Your Liver Bile . . . Without Calomel, And Feel Like a Million Dollars.

Nothing can put your system out of kilter more quickly than your liver. All it has to do is stop pouring its daily two pounds of liquid bile into your bowels—and life certainly gets grey.

That sluggish flow of bile slows up digestion and elimination and makes you "feel punk". Your stomach acts up—gas, bloating, sourness, pain. Your breath is bad and the taste in your mouth is nasty. Your head aches. Skin is blotchy. All, of course, because your system is full of poisons.

Mere bowel movers like salts, oil, mineral water, roughage, laxative candy or chewing gum are not good enough to correct this condition entirely. You're livery and you must wake up your liver bile to be happy again.

Avoid calomel (mercury). The thing for you is a box of Carter's Little Liver Pills. They never upset you because they're purely vegetable, gentle and safe; but how they do change your view on life!

Don't waste your money on substitutes. Be definite. Ask for Carter's by name—and get em! Look for the name, Carter's, on the red label. 25c, at all druggists. 29

CAMPBELLFORD, June 15 (By Examiner Staff Correspondent) — Two former rectors' of Christ Church, Campbellford, will be the special preachers at the anniversary services of that church, to be held on Sunday, June 24, when the 80th anniversary of the opening of the church will be observed, as well as the 85th anniversary of the beginning of the parish history. The guest speakers are: Rev. C. E. Clarke, M.A., rector of St. Michael and All Angels Church, Toronto, and the Rev. N. Clark Wallace, rector of St. Nicholas Church, Birch Cliff.

Three special services will be held on that Sunday. At eleven o'clock in the morning a Choral Communion will be celebrated, with the Rev. T. Stannage Boyle, M.A., D.D., rector of St. Peter's Church, Cobourg, the special preacher. In the afternoon a special memorial service will be held in Christ Church cemetery, at which the Rev. Mr. Wallace will speak, and at the evening service the Rev. Mr. Clarke will preach. Services will be conducted by the rector, Rev. T. H. Floyd.

On Monday, June 25, an anniversary lawn social will be held on the church and rectory grounds, at which the special speakers will include Archdeacon R. C. Blagrave, D.D., rector of St. John's Church, Peterborough, and the Rev. Charles Carpenter, of Toronto.

In a message to the parishioners, both old and present, the rector made an appeal for the support of this anniversary, both by attendance and by any donation of money which would go toward the support of the parish and the work of the church. It is expected that many former members of the church who are now resident out of Campbellford, will come home for this occasion, and again worship in the fellowship of their church home.

ONTARIO PUBLIC SCHOOL Supporters

Whereas, it has now become definitely known that the Roman Catholic Separate School Taxpayer's Association have decided, as a body to oppose the Henry Government, because it has not granted their requests for certain amendments to the schools assessment act, thereby making the school question the primary issue in this election. We therefore call upon all Public School supporters in Peterborough county to vote for and elect Premier Henry's candidate in this riding on Tuesday next. This issue has been forced upon us and we must accept it.

SENATOR RANKIN TAKEN BY DEATH

Prominent Figure in House, Commons Since 1908 Dies in Stratford.

ILL THREE WEEKS.

STRATFORD, Ont., June 15 (CP) —A prominent figure in both the Senate and House of Commons since 1908, Senator D. J. P. Rankin, of Stratford, died in hospital here this morning in his 80th year. He was appointed Liberal Senator for North Perth in 1921.

He was stricken with a serious illness in Ottawa a little more than three weeks ago and was removed to his home in Stratford a few days later. Later he was taken to hospital where an operation was performed June 3.

Dr. Rankin was a leader in the social and professional life of Stratford for 43 years. Before entering the political arena he served the city as a member of city council and also was a member of the Board of Education.

He was born in East Zorra township and after his education in medicine he started practice in Tavistock, later going to Toronto. He located in Stratford in 1891 and has lived here ever since.

Coming on the eve of a provincial election, the death of one who had played an outstanding role in political affairs for the past quarter of a century was deeply mourned by citizens of this city and county regardless of political affiliation today.

Dr. Rankin's wife predeceased him in 1915. He has two daughters, Miss Gertrude Rankin and Miss Ethelwyn Rankin residing at the family residence on Church street. A son, Dr. Ramsay Rankin, died in 1921.

Funeral arrangements have not yet been completed.

Eleven Senate Vacancies
OTTAWA, June 13 (CP) — The death of Senator Dr. J. P. Rankin, increased to 11 the number of vacancies now in the Red Chamber. Of these two are from Nova Scotia, three from New Brunswick, three from Quebec, two from Ontario and one from Manitoba.

Conservative Senators are in the majority, with 49 seats to 36 Liberals.

Mail Bombs Continue Terrifying All Paris

PARIS, June 15 (A.P.).—A bomb exploded in the office of Andre Citroen, the "Henry Ford of France," to-day in the campaign of terror by the "three judges of hell," which has frightened all Paris.

The bomb was addressed to Citroen personally, but was opened by the librarian of the motor plant. His hands were badly torn and the office was slightly damaged.

Four other infernal machines which failed to explode were received in the morning mail to-day, bringing to 10 the total of bombs mailed by the terrorists in the last 48 hours. Four persons have been injured by them.

The fourth bomb found to-day was in the mail distributing office of the Paris suburb of Arcieil. It was addressed to a Paris department store.

SOAP FAT WANTED
Some time ago we made an appeal for fat to make soap. This was for a woman with a large family that is trying to make a little extra money by making laundry soap and needs the fat for the purpose. She has been able to sell some of it, and now would like some more of the fat.

There is also a request for a summer dress by an old lady, size 38.

A man who has been able to assemble a bicycle lacks only the front wheel to have it complete. This man has tried to help himself in every way during the depression and makes good use of anything. He is willing to do odd jobs after five o'clock daily, in return for the front wheel.

And we have been trying to get a comfortable, clean bed for an invalid woman. We have the double bed and springs, 4 foot six inches, but lack a mattress. Please telephone Miss McCarthy at The Examiner if any of these things are available and we will call.

FORD REDUCES PRICE OF CARS

Reductions of $15 to $25 in List Prices of Cars Announced.

EFFECTIVE IMMEDIATELY.

EAST WINDSOR, Ont., June 15.—Reductions of $15 to $25 in list prices of 1934 Ford V-8 passenger cars and $15 to $20 in list prices of Ford V-8 commercial cars and trucks were announced Friday by Wallace R. Campbell, President of Ford Motor Company of Canada, Limited. The reductions became effective immediately.

Ford prices have remained unchanged since the introduction of the 1934 Ford V-8 last December. The reductions announced are, therefore, a decrease in the original prices.

The greatest reduction announced was in the list price of the Ford V-8 which was lowered $25. The price reduction on the standard and deluxe tudor sedan, most popular individual models in point of sales, was $20. Prices of other standard and deluxe types were reduced $15, except prices of the roadster, phaeton and cabriolet, deluxe types, which remain unchanged.

Both standard and deluxe Ford V-8 passenger cars have the same Ford V-8 engine and 112-inch wheel base chassis. Body types of standard and deluxe cars are identical except for the deluxe equipment.

Accept Our Thanks

To the public which so generously supported our effort and to the scores of citizens who helped so effectively in every way to make the 1934 carnival a complete success the sincere thanks of the Peterborough Rotary club are extended. The generous assistance that was given us on every hand, from volunteer workers in the booths, the police department and from other organizations and individuals will never be forgotten by Rotarians. In return may I say that every cent of the profits from the carnival will be used in crippled children's work, boys' camp activities and other social service efforts.

CITY'S UNEMPLOYED ARE URGED TO ATTEMPT TO SECURE WORK

Expenditures on Relief Reaching Point Where May Impair City's Credit.

LETTER IS SENT OUT

In a special appeal to the unemployed the Special Relief Committee, while giving the assurance that no persons unable to provide for themselves will be neglected, urges upon every physically fit man to procure work in the city, on farms, on the highway or wherever work can be found, in order to establish some form of independence.

The plea is also made by the Relief Committee, on the ground that the expenditures on city relief are reaching the point, where if the condition is not improved, it will impair the city's credit to such an extent that banks lending money to the city may be compelled to refuse to furnish money needed.

The appeal is worded as follows:

To All Receiving Relief

In a previous letter the Relief Committee endeavoured to point out the difficulties the City has in raising money for relief and other expenditures. So many taxpayers have found it impossible to pay their taxes that if this condition continues banks lending money to the City may be compelled to refuse to furnish money required for relief and other purposes until the City's credit is improved.

Members of families receiving relief are again urged to procure work in the city, on farms, on the highways or wherever it can be found, and, further, those procuring work should practice economy and prepare to provide for themselves next winter so far as they can in order that those less fortunate in securing work may be taken care of as well as lessening the demands on the public funds, as a repetition of last winter's relief costs will not be possible.

In presenting the above facts to you we do so in the belief that every physically fit man wants to be independent as soon as he possibly can and earn for his family a standard of living he desires them to have. The Relief Department will not see any persons want, who are unable to provide for themselves, so far as it is able to prevent it, and asks for and must receive the full co-operation of everyone concerned.

KINGSTON, June 15 (C.P.).—The will of the late Dr. William Spankie, M.P. for Frontenac Addington, which has been probated, reveals that the late member left an estate of approximately $50,000. The will directs that the sum of $10,000 be given to Queen's University to establish the William Spankie memorial medical research endowment fund, revenue to be used to promote medical research at the University.

The sum of $5,000 is given to the general endowment fund of Kingston General Hospital and $1,000 to the endowment fund of St. Andrew's Church. The residue is left to the family, including his widow and five children.

FLIN-FLON BOARD TRADE HEAD'S HOME PICKETTED

FLIN FLON, Man., June 15 (CP) — Pickets to-day stood near the home of George W. Bridgman, lumber dealer and president of the Flin Flon Board of Trade, as the strike of 1,300 employees of the Hudson Bay Mining and Smelting Company, Ltd., was continued.

Heads of the Mine Workers' Union of Canada claimed Mr. Bridgman was endeavoring to have men desert the ranks of the strikers and return to work. Mr. Bridgman admitted he had compiled lists of workers but said he did it purely as an individual with public service at heart.

The deadlock between the strikers and the company officials continued. The men, who quit work last Monday, are demanding recognition of their union and restoration of pay cuts imposed a year ago.

RAPID PROGRESS MADE BY HOUSE ON SHIPPING BILL

Observers Believe Prorogation May Come End of Next Week.

MEIGHEN, MURDOCK CLASH.

Dandurand Claims Market Act Smacks of Fascism—Against Tory Principles.

OTTAWA, June 15 (C.P.).—Rapid progress made by the House of Commons in passing the 700 odd clauses and numerous schedules of the voluminous shipping bill led some political observers here to look for prorogation of Parliament by the end of next week. Most of the contentious legislation has already been enacted although the marketing bill, subject of the longest debate in the House this session, stirred up heated debate in the Senate last night when it received second reading, over the objections of Western Liberal and Farmer members.

The restrictive clause on Canadian coastal shipping, enacted last session but never brought into effect, was approved for insertion in the new shipping act. It provides that only British ships may carry goods between two Canadian ports whether or not they are transshipped at a foreign port on the way.

The clause is aimed particularly at reserving to Canadian ships the business of hauling grain down the Great Lakes from Fort William and Port Arthur. A similar restriction in the law of the United States prevents Canadian ships from engaging in the coastal trade of that country.

Murdock Raps Meighen

Rt. Hon. Arthur Meighen, government leader, and Hon. James Murdock clashed in the Senate over the Marketing Bill when Senator Murdock declared the bill was an attempt to go about the problem in tht wrong way and launched an attack on "grafters."

He charged a man revealed as a "grafter" in the Mass Buying Committee was the same man who had influenced Senator Meighen against allowing Grand Trunk Railway strikers to receive pensions. Senator Meighen declared Senator Murdoch had no right to say he had been influenced by anyone.

Hon. Raoul Dandurand, Liberal leader, could not understand the Marketing Bill being sponsored by a Conservative administration for it was at variance with all the economic doctrines of that party as well as of the Liberal party. It smacked of Facism and was an effort to substitute compulsion for competition. It tended towards the socialization of industry.

The bill was defended by Senator A. B. Gillies, received its second reading and moved into committee.

Canada's problem of keeping out of war in the event of an international conflict was presented to the upper house by Senator W. A. Griesbach who thought this country should secure some adequate naval defence to maintain the neutrality of Canadian ports, particularly on the Pacific coast.

Next War On Pacific

The Pacific, he believed, would be the arena of the next great conflict. One of the great problems of nations seeking to remain neutral was to prevent belligerents from using their ports as to permit it, was a violation of neutrality and usually taken by the opposing side as justification for interference.

Canada needed a sufficient force to maintain neutrality and to keep Canadian ports open and should not look to the United Kingdom for aid in this matter. After a brief speech from Senator Raoul Dandurand, Liberal leader, in which he recalled the defeat of the Laurier naval policy in 1909 which would have accomplished this, the question was dropped.

The new Companies Act was given third reading in the Upper House as Senator Meighen expressed confidence the provinces would join with the Dominion in surrounding the incorporation of companies with stricter regulations.

BABY BAND GUESTS AT JUNE MEETING

Members of St. James' United Church W.M.S. Enjoy Pleasing Program.

The June meeting of the W.M.S. of St. James' United Church was held this week under the direction of Mrs. Copson and her group.

This meeting was an innovation taking the form of a Baby Band party, and the guests were received by Mrs. Copson, Baby Band superintendent, and her assistant Mrs. Evans.

The opening devotional service included a prayer hymn, scripture reading and prayer, and was conducted by Mesdames Byers, Cripps and Buckler.

Mrs. Moorhouse, the president, presided throughout the meeting, and a most inspiring program was enjoyed, preceded by a brief but intesting business session. This included reports from the officers and secretaries of departments.

The mite-boxes were received and fees and offerings gathered in, after which the offertory hymn, "We Give Thee But Thine Own," was sung.

Two of the Juniors contributed a share in the program in vocal solos by little Sylvia Moynes and Joey McMahon.

By special request, the playlet, "Mothers of Other Lands" was given by a group of W.M.S. members and was very appropriate. A timely reading on Temperance, by Miss M. Kidd was another appreciated item, while the solo, "Guide Me, O Thou Great Jehovah," sung by Mrs. Jones in both English and Welsh, made a delightful variation.

Silent prayer for the adopted missionaries of St. James' Auxiliary was followed by the closing hymn and the Mizpah Benediction.

An enjoyable social hour was spent with the mothers and babies as guests when they gathered in the adjoining room for afternoon tea.

The decorations were carried out with iris and peonies which formed a lovely setting for the table, done in lace cloth, centered with a silver basket of flowers on reflector. Tall yellow candles in silver holders also brightened the tea tables.

Tea was poured by Mrs. Copson, while the tea-room assistants included members of the group, Mesdames Evans, Cripps, Byers, Lockhart and E. M. Davis.

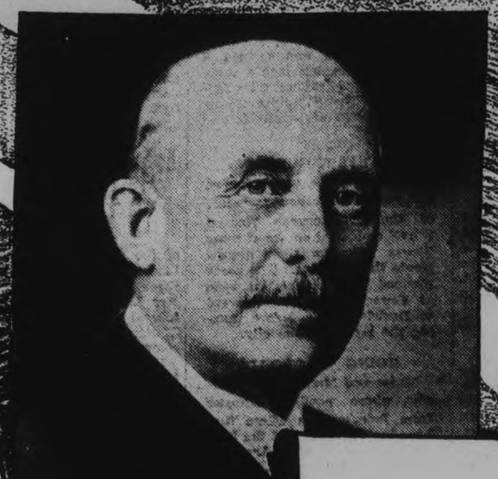
To the Electors of Ontario



AT THE LAST MOMENT, a shameless attempt is being made to capitalize to the advantage of the Hepburn opposition the organization of the Catholic Ratepayers' Association of Ontario. This association has acted within its rights in pressing its views on public attention but, unfortunately, it has fallen into the hands of irresponsible Liberal zealots who are now seeking to use against my Government the organization which they misrepresent.

I am confident the vast majority of the people of this Province, Protestant and Catholic alike, are fair-minded enough to demand that the rights of the parties be determined by the highest court of the Empire, and that, until this has been done, it is unfair and unpractical to raise any political issue; and it is certainly unfortunate that an interested clique of partisans is now endeavouring to stir up a religious war where we have had peace and harmony for well nigh half a century.

I am going to win this election; and win handsomely; and Mr. Hepburn will never have the opportunity of implementing the many secret pledges he has given to bolster up his campaign during which every one of his alleged issues has gone bankrupt.

Whatever secret pledges Mr. Hepburn has given on School taxation are, however, of no importance, as good Canadians will never embitter our situation with a religious controversy and, by their division, enable him and his discredited minority to play with our destinies in business, in religion, and in morals, by allowing him to swing us "well to the left, where many Grits fear to tread!"

If we swing "well to the left", we will land in the ditch in which Russia and other European countries now wallow, with state seizure of all Church properties, Catholic and Protestant alike, and the final suppression of all religious training in either school, home, church, or elsewhere!

I stand for a policy of "Straight ahead!" and of holding tenaciously our standard of morals and our religious beliefs and practices on the solid rock of civilization, order, and fair play, guaranteed under the British Constitution and Parliamentary democracy!

Yours faithfully,

Geo. Henry.

Just Between Us Women

A daily chat with Examiner neighbors conducted by Anne Wilcox

There are three words which are great barriers to success. One is Someday, and the other two are, I Can't. Persons who use these words fail to do what they would like to because they put a hindrance in the way. The people who say I can't don't even try. They limit their will power, and frustrate their wishes. No one can succeed who doesn't even try to. It is the ones who start and steadily pursue their way who eventually arrive at the desired destination. Those who lie down on the job and excuse themselves with the idea they cannot do the thing, who audibly, or mentally say to themselves, "I can't", are failures.

* * * * * * *

It is a serious matter just to think "I can't" do whatever is to be done, or what one longs to get accomplished. It is promoting failure. If a mother sees that a child is inclined to say "I can't" she should encourage him to try to do the thing. She can show him it can be done by doing the thing before his eyes, and helping him to do it after her. She can spur him to action by offering him a trifling prize for succeeding. Or if the youngster is really too little to do whatever the thing is, she can stimulate his mind to realize his growing power and ability to succeed when he is older. In these ways she can nip in the bud the insidious idea that he cannot even try. She encourages the idea that whatever is worth doing, is worth trying to do.

* * * * * * *

While the attitude of failure as expressed in "I can't" has its beginning in childhood, in immaturity, the attitude of postponement featured in Someday is one of maturity. One looks down a long vista into the dim future and finds no view of the indefinite Someday. It is a day "conceived or thought of but not definitely known". We can only see it as a mirage, an optical illusion.

* * * * * * *

It is true we cannot expert fruition in the building season, but we can know that fruition does not come without bud and blossom. Our thought is like a bud, work is like the blossom and success comes as the fruit of our thought and work. There is nothing indefinite about this. And there is pleasure all along the way, whenever we see progress.

* * * * * * *

We do not have to wait for the miraculous Someday. Now is what we have in time, in power, and the opportunity for enjoyment. We always have Now. It is never in the past nor the future. We can learn to say I can, now—and act accordingly.

CONTRACT BRIDGE

WRITTEN FOR CENTRAL PRESS

By E. V. SHEPARD

THE FORCING OVERCALL

North made an opening bid of 1-heart, third hand. East made a forcing overcall of 2-spades. South was cagey enough to pass. He knew that East had a game hand, if allowed to show his second suit, and he hoped that West would not take a force, having once passed. As a matter of fact, West clung to the exploded idea that his partner's bid was only a strong invitation to bid, provided he held anything of value. West never would have responded had he held a worthless hand. The hands are shown below.

Having a real suit, bidding continued: West, 3-diamonds; East, 4-clubs; South, 4-hearts; East, 5-clubs, which held the contract.

The opening lead was the king of hearts, followed by the jack. East ruffed the second lead. He took 2 diamond tricks, winning the second in dummy, then he led dummy's top spade, overtaking with the jack and leading the ace. Dummy won the next trick by ruffing a spade.

Three rounds were taken of winning clubs, picking up all opposing trumps and leaving all of the declarer's hand good, giving him a small slam.

Had West continued his bidding of diamonds he also would have made a small slam, provided he ruffed the second lead of hearts with East's ace of diamonds, in orders not to block the run of that suit.

All hands do not go well together with this type of forcing, any more than they do in various other instances. There always will be misfits. Had the hands of South and West been exchanged there would arise an almost impossible situation.

An Interesting Question

"Dear Mr. Shephard: May I ask a question about proper final bid on the two hands shown, with reasons for your conclusions? Upon receipt of your reply I will mail you the full hands about the table."

Below are the two hands. Tomorrow I will give my reply and the full hands.

TEMPERANCE TOPIC STRESSED AT MEET

Mrs. Percy Van Ness Hostess to Members at X. L. Mission Circle.

Mrs. Percy Van Ness, Reid street, was hostess this week to the members of the X.L. Mission Circle, when twenty-six girls answered to the roll call.

The program for the month was in charge of Miss Jessie Martin, past president, who also presided.

Opening with the Doxology, the worship service continued with prayer offered by Connie Wagar, for the Circle Missionaries. Misses Helen Robertson and Elizabeth Reid, and by Zetta Wood for the temperance cause.

Temperance was also stressed in the Scripture lesson, chosen from Galations 5: 13-26, read by Nina Andrus. In a very interesting talk on the work of her department, Edith Wright, temperance secretary, presented some pertinent facts on up-to-the-minute issues.

An excellent resume of the Study Book, by Jean Hammond, the president, recalled the story of "Lady Fourth Daughter of China" very vividly to the girls who have greatly enjoyed this interesting study.

The musical part of the program included a vocal solo, "I Am Happy in Him," by Geneva Sedgwick and a piano selection by Aileen Rose.

Arrangements for the bale allocated to the X.L. Circle, met with hearty response, when every article was volunteered by the girls in a few minutes of the business session, led by the president. Plans were also made for the summer picnic at Nicholls Park on July 11. The treasurer's report was most gratifying, the Circle having exceeded the allocation for the half year.

The singing of prayer changes things, and the Mizpah Benediction closed the program proper, and the usual social time followed. Everyone joined gaily in the new version of musical chairs in which Nina Andrus was the lucky prize winner.

The hostess, assisted by Mrs. A. Rosborough and the Misses Aileen and Jean Rose, served delicious refreshments, bringing to a conclusion another happy gathering.

Campaign Notes

LIBERAL RALLY.

At the Liberal meeting at Warsaw last evening at which the Town Hall proved inadequate to accommodate the numbers in attendance, J. J. Duffus scored the Hon. Robert Cooke, chairman of the Hydro-Electric Commission, and the Henry Government for the improvident contracts made by the Hydro and the introduction of the forces of the Hydro into the political arena. It was pointed out that it was with reluctance that the Hon. Mr. Cooke and the Prime Minister made known the salaries of the Hydro Commissioners and officials on the grounds that the Hydro is apart from politics, and that even the members of the Government should not be interested in Hydro officials' salaries.

Yet this independent official, the Hon. Robert Cooke, who would have you believe that the Hydro was a separate, independent, non-political body, is not only drawing $20,000.00 per year, but is about the country stumping for the Conservative Party at the same time.

The meeting was also addressed by Alex. Elliott and the Liberal candidate, James Hawthorne whose address was greeted with bursts of enthusiasm from the large audience. Dr. Munro, president of the Peterborough Liberal Association, was chairman of the meeting.

You can't imitate GENIUS

NO trick of imitation can take the place of this man's outstanding genius—no laboratory, no foot clinic has ever had the opportunity to diagnose, treat and prescribe shoes for tens of thousands of feet as has Dr. Locke. The benefits of comfort, health, correct posture and graceful carriage through the assistance of the M. W. Locke shoe is due to the fact that they are exactly the same as those Dr. Locke uses in Williamsburg.

Men know of only one Cobb in baseball; one Jones in golf; one Knute Rockne in football—only one champion in any sport. DR. M. W. LOCKE IS CHAMPION when it comes to selecting the proper type of shoe for human beings. Our Shoe Department has been properly trained in the Dr. M. W. Locke method to select the correct shoe to remedy your foot troubles.

Make a Test. Visit our store. Tell your foot troubles to us—and then slip into a pair of M. W. Locke shoes. You'll agree with us that we certainly fitted you to the original comfort fitting shoe—a shoe that can't be imitated.

INSIDE THE PADDOCK

BY ART MURRAY

THERE WAS lots of activity at Long Branch yesterday with most of the stables vanning over to Dufferin and some going on to Hamilton. Old Mr. Gaiety came through with one of his old time stretch runs on closing day at the Orpen plant and paid off to the tune of $24, which shows that it does not pay to neglect an old fellow in the wagering. He was so full of run at the finish that even after he was unsaddled he wanted to run from the judges' stand to the barns. His half-brother Pat Gaiety was in the same race but finished far up the track.

AT THE COMING Hamilton meeting which opens on June 26 they are contemplating a derby which will bring together Horometer, Ladfield, Khorasan, Live One,, Shady Well, Crout Au Pot and several others. In this we will see how good the McLaughlin horse really is. To date he has not beaten any outside Canadian breds and even in one of these races Crofter gained a decision over him. While admitting he is an exceptionally good Canuck performer we do not think he is entitled to all the ballyhoo that some racing sheets are giving him. In fact it is our opinion that at even weights a horse like Crout Au Pot or Round Table would run away and hide on him. However, if the Hamilton Jockeky Club are successful in putting this over we will see who is right.

WE SUPPOSE you noticed where Art Halliwell changed his trainer and immediately his Black Diamond banged down in front on Wednesday of this week at Detroit Fair Grounds. The payoff was over $30 which is nice gravy these days. While we are speaking of Detroit did you notice where Mild won his first rattle and roll, where it was quite evident that Frankie Mann was not riding him. Young Cochrane who rode with much success at the recent Long Branch meeting was up on Black Diamond and he will pilot many more before the Detroit session comes to and end.

INDIAN DANCE who finished second to Even Stephen the other day should salute the judges first at Dufferin. He is in superb condition and likes the small oval. Carydon is another that can take the sharp curves on high, and Bill Campbell his trainer expects him to gather in at least one purse at Dufferin. Uvira has not won a purse this year or for that matter even been close. So it would not surprise us one little bit if she steps to town any day now as she possesses a lot of class although inclined to be a little unruly at the close.

TOMORROW afternoon will see fourteen or fifteen thousand people packed in little Saratoga and about a thousand more on house tops and roof of adjacent buildings. After the fifth race on every day except Saturdays A. M. Orpen allows everyone in free and there is never less than three thousand come in to witness the last two races and try to make the winter's coal at the same time. As we have said time and again Dufferin has an appeal all its own and is distinctly different from any other track on the continent.

New Champion

MAX BAER

Carnera, Reeling And Gory, Moans, "I Am Fini," As Referee Donovan Stops Fight In Eleventh Round—52,000 Spectators Roar For Kill As Huge Primo Floored 11 Times.

NEW CHAMPION MIXES CONTEMPTUOUS GRIN WITH KILLING RIGHT PUNCH TO GAIN WIN.

(By Alan Gould, Associated Press Sports Editor)

NEW YORK, June 15. —(AP)— Reverberating today from the smashing savagery of the most spectacular battle of big men in nearly 11 years of ring history, the fight world acclaimed a new heavyweight champion of the world — Max Adelbert Baer of California, a curly-haired wolf of a man who combined a contemptuous grin and the stage mannerisms of a movie actor with a killing right hand punch.

With magnificent gestures, absolute disdain for anything his giant foe could do and a sporadic but vicious onslaught, Baer stopped the huge but helpless Primo Carnera in the 11th round of a 15-round match before a roaring crowd of 52,000 in Madison Square Garden's Long Island Bowl, thereby ending the Italian's one-year rule at the top of the heavyweight heap abruptly and bringing the crown back to the United States.

Carnera was knocked down no less than 11 times from the force of Baer's smashing blows before Referee Arthur Donovan stopped the one-sided affair, with only 44 seconds to go in the 11th round, and awarded the verdict to the broad-shouldered, 25 year old American on a technical knockout.

"I Am Fini"

The giant 263-pound Italian was still on his feet at the finish, after bravely trying to continue against odds that he knew were overwhelming against him, but he was a bloody, reeling wreck of a fighting man and he was muttering "Fini—fini!" in utter helplessness when the referee decided finally to halt the slaughter.

Carnera was knocked down three times within the first minute of fighting as Baer loosed a succession of Long, dynamite- laden right hands to the head, followed by bruising lefts to the body. The Italian was down three times again in the second round, with Baer rolling on top of him as they waged the wildest kind of a melee. For the seventh time in three rounds, the giant was flopped to his haunches in the third, still too bewildered to take anything like a count and recover his wits. He rallied bravely for the next few rounds but in the eighth he sprawled full-length to the floor from the force of an ineffectual lunge.

Only the bell saved Primo from a knockout in the 10th round, at one stage of which Donovan stepped between them and changed his mind after giving every indication of his intention to stop the fight. Twice in the round and twice more in the 11th, the toppling tower of Italy went down under crushing blows.

Absolutely dazed, his face a blotchy red from the terrific pounding he had received and his features distorted in grotesque bewilderment, Carnera was led stumbling from the ring after the most severe beating any heavyweight champion has absorbed since Jack Dempsey pounded Jess Willard into bloody pulp in three rounds at Toledo in 1919.

WINGS BREAK STREAK.

(By The Associated Press)

Rochester Redwings have broken a serious losing streak but their return to the winning column failed to help them make up any ground in their pursuit of the Newark Bears, pace-setters in the International League.

Rochester pounded out 21 hits in beating Syracuse, 17-10, yesterday, but Newark likewise won, beating Buffalo, 3-1, in a night game, and remained 4½ games in front of the Wings.

Joe Brown and Tom Winsett contributed four hits apiece to Rochester's victory, the latter's string including two home runs.

Ray Harrell was well-battered by Syracuse's batsmen but had such a wide lead that he remained on the mound until the ninth. Then the Chiefs rallied for four runs and had the bases filled with two out when John Berly came in to pitch to the last batter, Bill Sweeney, who grounded out.

Turns Back Bisons

Jack Larocca pitched five-hit ball as Newark turned back Buffalo. Ken Ash was a match for the Newark youngster until the eighth when the Bears pushed over the two winning runs. Buffalo's only score came on Ollie Carneigie's homer in the fourth. Larocca struck out nine men, Ash six.

Toronto and Albany split a twilight-night doubleheader and remain in third and fifth places respectively. Toronto took the opener, 7-5, a seven-inning affair although outhit, 11-8.

The second game, a wild affair, went to Albany, 11-10, when the Senators pushed over one run in the ninth to break a 10-10 deadlock that the eLafs had forced with a six-run rally in the seventh.

Six runs of Chad Kimsey and John Pomorski in the seventh enabled Baltimore to top the fourth-place Royals, 11 to 5, in a night game.

The Royals peppered Cliff Melton for three hits, and the Baltimore pitcher issued one base on balls and made a wild pitch, in the first inning before he was removed with only one out. Euel Moore came in to retire the side after four runs had scored and then pitched effectively the rest of the way although he gave up 12 hits. Baltimore collected 14 hits, including three doubles by George Puccinelli.

Senior Petes and Scrappy Ponies Tangle Here in Next C.O.B.L. Game.

BATTEN ALL SET

Kingston will be here to-morrow afternoon to play the Petes a C.O.B.L. fixture at three o'clock in Riverside Park. The Ponies won their first game here, staging a late rally, but they were trailing the Petes in Kingston, 6-2, when the game was rained out last Wednesday. These teams—finalists last year—always stage a real battle, with personal feelings injected throughout, and this is one game that always draws a huge crowd. The Petes are due to beat Kingston this time, but the scrappy Ponies are never licked till the final out.

Jamieson and Scriver are the logical choices to start the pitching, though neither manager has announced his selection yet. The Spook and Yammy started the rained-out game and may be sent back. Several of the Petes are on the injured list, including two pitchers, Calladine and Deyell, but Knotty Lee will have his squad out there fighting to overcome the injury jinx and knock off the visitors to-morrow. Ike Batten expects to hold down the hot corner, and if the Petes play as they started in the Limestone town Wednesday, the home rooters should not only see a grand ball game but should be cheering the winner at the finish.

MARMORA, June 15.—(Examiner Correspondence).—From a drawn-out game twice halted by rain and featured with errors due to a slippery ground Deloro emerged victorious over Havelock on Wednesday evening by the score of 7--5. Considering the handicap occasioned by the rain, both pitchers turned in a good game, Callery striking out fourteen opponents while Jones fanned nine.

The teams:

BAER HAS SCORED 13 KNOCKOUTS DURING FIVE YEARS IN THE RING

Fistic Rise Has Been Steady, Combined With Marriage, Divorce, More Heart Affairs, Breach of Promise Suits, Movie Acting and Night Club Engagements.

NEW YORK, June 15 (AP)—Max Baer, world's heavyweight champion five years after he first pulled on a pair of boxing gloves, has been the joy and despair alternately of a procession of managers and handlers since he decided to give up an irksome task of wrestling quarters of beef on his father's farm to try his hand at thumping chins.

From the time he knocked out Chief Cariboo, an obscure Indian ringster, the one-time Livermore butcher boy has engaged in the clowning tactics that rankled some fans, made others laugh, and caused still others to tap their heads in significant fashion.

Scored 13 Knockouts

His showmanship and ability marched hand in hand from the first. He scored 13 knockouts, won three decisions and lost one fight on a foul in 1929. He had gone under the guidance of J. Hamilton Lorimer, now engaged in litigation with Ancil Hoffman, his present manager.

been steady, mingled with marriage, divorce, more heart affairs and resultant breach of promise suits, motion picture acting and night club engagements, all combining to make Max a spectacular figure.

Earned $200,000

He has earned probably $200,000. About all he has to show for it, according to Manager Hoffman, is plenty of experience, a home in San Leandro, California, he purchased for his parents, and two pending lawsuits.

When the money was rolling in for a time, he maintained a chauffeur and footman, both liveried, and a private secretary.

After the automobiles and hired help had gone, Max said, "Never again. If I get back into the money, I'll drive my own car. I'm through playing around."

Baer was born Feb. 11, 1909, at Omaha, Nebraska, of German-Jewish-Irish extraction. The family moved to the coast.

His fistic rise since then has

Albion Juniors Lose To Seymour Farmers

HAVELOCK, June 15.—(Examiner Correspondence)—When the East Seymour farm lads journeyed to Havelock for the big Aryshire Breeders' field day on Wednesday afternoon, June 13th, they had a lot of little tricks up their sleeves that took the Junior Albions completely by surprise. And to just what extent they put it over the local youngsters can best be indicated by the score of 17 to 6. Those "in the know" say it was the junior clubmen's worst game this season.

The teams:

Seymour East: J. Rennie, lf; R. Runions, ss; B. Eagleson, 3b; L. Bateman, p; K. Oddie, 1b; W. Jeffs, c; R. Odde, 2b; G. Heath, rf; D. Watson, cf.

Brintons crept up on the heels of the loop-leading Johnston's Tires in their City Softball League game last night at Central by hammering out a 24 to 11 victory over C.G.E. It was a real slugfest with the Sturgeon crew pounding two pitchers for a total of twenty hits and taking advantage of loose fielding by the Electrics. Abbot, on the winners' mound, held the opposition to ten hits while fanning three and walking eight. Heffernan of C.G.E. struck out one, walked three and gave eleven hits before Martin relieved him in the fifth. Martin fanned two, issued three complimentaries and was nicked for nine bingles.

The winners showed some nice fielding, featuring a G. Dormer-to-Smith doubleplay and one by Calladine to Weir. G. Dormer went good on short and Bradshaw pulled off a smart catch to end the game. Newson and Fleming played good infield ball for C.G.E. Vitarelli led them at bat with two in four. Doubles were conked by Mowry, Osterland and Heffernan, while Fleming, Miller and Martin clouted homers. Weir topped the Brinton batters with a homer, two doubles and two singles in seven trips. H. Dormer got a double and two singles, Sturgeon a triple and single, G. Dormer a three-baser, and Dallin a double and single.

BROACA HURLS ONE-HIT GAME AT NEW YORK

Former Newark Pitcher Gives Stellar Display as Browns Lose 7-0.

INDIANS BEAT MACKS.

(By Hugh S. Fullerton, Jr.—A.P. Sports Writer).

In three games, 23-year-old Johnny Broaca, who took his degree as master of the art of elbowing under Joe Wood at Yale, has become the reigning sensation of the American League.

Only two hours after he joined the Yankees, Broaca started a game and promptly was shelled off the hill. His confidence was unimpaired, however, and he came back to pitch and lose a three-hit game against the Athletics, and then yesterday turned in a one-hit feat against the Browns that brought him his first major league victory by a 7-0 count.

Babe Ruth also had his say when he started things off by hitting his 10th homer of the year with two on base in the first. But it was mostly Broaca who led the Yanks back to the League lead. Ten strikeouts offset the ill-effects of six passes. With Detroit Tigers kept idle by rain at Boston, the triumph sent the Yanks into first place by the margin of four percentage points. The Browns dropped into a fifth-place tie with the Red Sox.

All down the line the pitchers stood out in yesterday's big league records with few exceptions. Cleveland and the Athletics didn't get much in the hurling line as the Indians hammered out an 11-7 triumph with the aid of two important homers by Hal Trosky.

A game will be played here Friday night June 15th, with a team from Brighton.

No other arrangements have been made as yet for any other games but it is thought games may be arranged soon between teams from the Trenton Airport and Campbellford.

Electrics Cop 4th Straight Victory

Sixth Line softball team, the surprise outfit in the ladies' loop, threw a scare into the C.G.E. girls last night on the Lang Grounds when they battled the Electrics through nine innings of clever ball, the city team finally winning 11 to 9, for ther fourth straight in five starts.

Evelyn Evans was the pitching choice for the C.G.E. with K. Kearney catching and this battery performed in top style for five frames, holding the Rurals to five hits and two runs. The Liners added three in the sixth on a single and several miscues. Three errors and three hits, one of these a homer, gave the home team four more runs in the seventh and with one out, Ev Thomas, manager of the C.G.E. squad, yanked four players including the battery. Marg Snowden went to the rubber and Dot Millar did the catching. The next two batters went out on infield plays and Snowden held them to one hit and no runs in the remaining two frames. Lil Bowie pitched the entire game for the losers, tossing in a slow ball that was hard to hit. She walked four and was given great support. Isabel Davis at third. Weir at short and Clarkson in centre all played a heads-up style, the latter snaring four in four tries.

The teams:

C.G.E.: M. Todd, 1b; E. Martin, cf; D. Self, rf; D. Byers, 2b; E. Gates, 3b; W. Snowden, ss; M. English, lf; D. Millar, c; K. Kearney, c; E. Evans, p; M. Snowden, p.

If a Kingston ball player fell into a garbage can he'd come up with a pearl necklace! No fooling, they're the luckiest bunch playing senior ball—always have been. Of course they have ability, too, and they take advantage of all the breaks. With Jamieson wild as a hawk and Smith pulling off three bobbles in one inning, and the Petes playing heads-up ball to grab a big lead the other day in Kingston, doggone if it didn't have to start raining poodles and pussies, and the affair was adjourned to cover. And we'll bet anybody two to one, those Ponies wont be so rambunctious when they play here tomorrow. They'll have got it all out of their systems and will be playing championship ball again, or we're badly mistaken.

• • • • • •

That being the case, it ought to be quite a ball game, boys and gals. Yeah, quite a game. The Petes are hobbling around on crutches, at least some of them are, but they'll fight their darndest against their unfriendly enemies and no quarter will be asked or given—except by fans at the gate. If Spook Scriver opposes Yammy Jamieson on the mound, you can look for fireworks. The Spook always has Kingston worried but Yammy generally seems to have the Petes' number, too. This meeting of last year's finalists—and this year's bitter rivals—is a "natural" and, if rain doesn't again interfere, should pack the rooters in tight.

The O.B.A.A. has notified the Oshawa Dukes that they must confine senior baseball activity in future to the C.O.B.L. In other words, no more messing around with Toronto leagues. This is as it should be and ought to put a definite ending to senior ball squabbles up this neck of the woods. Of course, Oshawa may still play outlaw ball, provided they got a good grouping another year, but right now they're satisfied to play organized baseball and in the C.O.B.L. We hope, and believe, they will continue in this group in other years.

C.G.E. gals got an 11-9 nod over Sixth Line last eve in a smart encounter, it being the Eectrics' fourth win in five starts. The Lang lasses fielded a good team without any of the Warsaw players present, and Lil Bowie's slow ball bothered C.G.E. plenty. H. Clarkson looked good in centre field, not only in appearance but in fielding. In fact, the defensive work of both outfits was a bit of all right, as they say across the pond.

• • • • • • •

Up at Central, C.G.E. men took a 34-11 pasting at the hands and bats, of Brintons. Abbott hurled a good game and had fine support while Heffernan and Martin were hit hard and received little help. Some of the Brinton boys who had intended dropping down later to the Rotary Carnival for the rides decided against it after the game. They felt that, after tearing around the bases two dozen times, the merry-go-round and ferris wheel were much too slow. Manager Lefty Sturgeon kept himself in the limelight by taking the neatest fall while misjudging a fly that we've seen since the rasslers left here.

• • • • • • •

If the weather's oke this e'en, C.G.E. and Cogs will tangle down at the Exhibition Grounds, and this looks like a nifty E.P.L. struggle. When you say "C.G.E. vs. Cogs", it's just like announcing to a radio audience: "Rubinoff and his violin!" Managers hate committing themselves before a game as to their pitching selections, so we generally have to guess at it. Probably Jack Barry will start for Electrics, with either Vannest or Kitchen on the Cog hilltop. Ball fans are advised to get a load of some smart baseball in this encounter.

A new heavyweight fight champ of the world was crowned in N'Yawk last night when Max Baer won on a technical kayo over Primo Carnera before fifty thousand roaring fans. The California Jew had the Ambling Alp on the floor a dozen times and undoubtedly won by a mile. As often happens after a screwy build-up and with a pair of clowns in there, an exciting brawl resulted with the big Italian game but outclassed by the guy that was supposed to be in terrible shape a week ago. At any rate, Baer will make a more colorful champ than Primo did.

GIANT HURLER HOLDS REDMEN TO FOUR HITS

New Yorkers Have No Easy Time in Defeating Cincinnati Reds 3-0.

DODGERS WIN IN 10TH.

By Canadian Press)

In the National League St. Louis and Boston shelled each other's hurling for a total of 34 blows, including three Cardinal homers, a triple and ten doubles. The Cards came out with a 12-9 decision, although they were outhit 18-16. The Cubs also took the home run route to victory in a free-swinging contest, beating the Phillies, 6-4, as circuit swats by Chuck Klein, Don Hurst and Babe Herman produced all the Chicago runs. Klein's homer was his 16th of the season.

On the other side Hal Schumacher turned in a four-hit game, beating the Reds, 3-0, to keep the Giants on top of the National; Monte Weaver of Washington granted the same number of blows in defeating the White Sox, 5-1, and Brooklyn's Van Mungo granted the Pirates only five hits in 10 innings and won out 3-2.

Schumacher's triumph was his tenth over Cincinnati, without a loss, in his major league career. He never was in trouble, although the Giants had some difficulty prying runs away from Bennie Frey. The victory kept the Giants 2½ games ahead of the Cardinals and three up on Chicago.

His Seventh Win

Weaver outlasted George Earnshaw in another mound duel to gain his seventh straight decision. Mungo got the better of both Larry French and Ralph Birkofer as Sam Teslie atoned for an error which let the pirates tie the score by doubling and scoring Brooklyn's winning run in the 10th.

We are just going to do a little boosting for the Friday night tournaments. These series were started years ago down on the old greens, and as time went on it was seen that these games were just what the boys wanted.

Something different — something new—getting away from the regular run of affairs—meeting new faces—enjoying the sociability and good fellowship of other bowlers—or in other words becoming acquainted with a lot of the boys that they would otherwise not meet.

This appeal is not meant directly for the old bowlers, because they will come out anyway; but we do want all new and younger boys to come out on Friday night and get right into the game.

It is a good healthy spot—lots of fresh air, congenial company, good sports, and besides all that you can win yourself a nice prize; and have three hours of good fun all for 25c . . . . .

We would just like you to keep in mind that the games commence sharply at 7.30 p.m.

First Inning Lead Wins For Dramatics

HASTINGS, June 15.—(Examiner Correspondence)—In the last game of softball played this season Dramatics defeated Elgin 13 to 6. The losers blew up in the first innings to let the Dramatics score six runs. The rural boys had no less than four errors, which along with a couple of wild throws by Preston accounted for the runs. Elgin also slipped over three runs in the first but from then on the showmen played sparkling ball behind good pitching by Gordon Gibson.

UNITED CHURCH WINS 10-7

LAKEFIELD, June 15 (Examiner Correspondence). — The United Church Juniors trimmed up St. Andrew's in one of the snappiest ball games of the season, with a score of 10-7. The score at the end of the sixth innings was a tie and the play was close, every player on his toes and no one getting a chance to run away. Don Hurl made the only home run of the game. This Junior league is developing a group of players who will be in the Senior leagues in a few years and will make their mark. The fielding was fair and the batting about average. Braden Blewett was at the plate and J. Chappell at the bases.

The line-up was:

United Church.—G. Turner, c; F. Loyst, p; D. Yale, 1b; D. Hunt, 2b; E. Robinson, 3b; M. Mullock, ss; C. Abrams, rf; E. Jewell, lf; B. McCracken, cf; H. Hunter, sub.

THE SPUN GLASS MYSTERY

A Tale of Scotland Yard

By A. FIELDING

READ THIS FIRST

John Tait, stepson of wealthy Lady Tait, is engaged to marry Lucy Burnham a widow. In France, where the three were sojourning, Lady Tait takes a dislike to Gillian Dundas, a beautiful girl who, it is disclosed, is blackmailing Tait for a past indiscretion. Back in London Lady Tait shows her stepson a letter from her dead son's wife, an Italian woman she despises, demanding money for her son, Lady Tait's grandson. Tait becomes alarmed when his business associate, Lord Mills, is found shot to death. Mrs. Burnham takes Miss Dundas "under her wing," much to Lady Tait's annoyance, after the girl is released from the employ of a Mrs. de Sousa. A luncheon given by Lady Tait in honor of Tait and his fiancee, and attended by John's cousins, Alysia, Etta and Claud Naylor, is a poor success, owing to Tait's apparent uneasiness. Tea is interrupted by the discovery of John Tait's body on the sidewalk in front of Lady Tait's home. He had collapsed and died in the arms of a cab driver. Chief Inspector Pointer of Scotland Yard is dispatched to investigate Tait's death, suspecting he has been poisoned. A gold fountain pen top is revealed as having been found near Tait's body, bearing teeth marks. Pointer calls for a poison specialist and interviews the butler. (NOW GO ON WITH THE STORY)

CHAPTER 24

Pointer showed the man the gold fountain pen top. He had picked it up in the dining room, he said. The butler had never seen a gold fountain pen used in the house; probably it belonged to the young lady who had come yesterday afternoon, to stay on as Mrs. Burnham's companion, he believed. Pointer passed on at once to other questions.

He learned that Miss Dundas had gone about half an hour before Mr. Tait early this morning.

The butler had just finished when the front door bell rang. Dr. Angelli was shown in; a big, burly, bearded man with bright, yet impersonal, dark eyes. After the briefest of introductions, Dr. Hardy drew him to the body and in a few words told how the man had died and when. Then he stood back, as though afraid lest even a thought-wave might affect the other's decision. He was late for a very important engagement and fidgeted from one foot to the other until the Italian stood up and flung over his shoulder the words "Amico del Amante of Naples, and a host of other names in other places."

"Ah!" Dr. Hardy gave the sigh of one who is satisfied. "That's what I rather thought. But I've never seen a case."

"I have! Especially among the Portuguese and my own countrymen. Well, anything more?" Angelli began to look around for a place where he could wash his hands.

"Lots more," Pointer said, promptly. "How was it given?"

"The autopsy will tell. I can't see any cut or puncture on him, but, of course, there may be one in the scalp. This poison is equally deadly when taken with food or when directly administered into the blood. In the one case it's a little slower than the other, that's all, but equally certain and equally without any known antidote."

"And the probable length of time it takes to kill?"

"Ah," the doctor shrugged his shoulders, "that is just what no one can say, and what makes it so popular. One of the reasons. The other is its difficulty of detection. Looks like unaided heart failure even to most medical eyes."

"But the average length of time between its being taken and death?" Pointer persisted.

"Is one of its mysteries. It varies apparently capriciously, from three minutes—the shortest time recorded, to close on five hours. It seems to depend on the state of nervous excitement of the victim. The more excitement the quicker the death, as a rule. But there have been exceptions."

"And the most usual way of giving it?"

"A poisoned cut generally, but often in food."

"What is it made of, Doctor Angelli?"

"The pounded macerated roots of mokshood aconite and ——" He named an ordinary table vegetable which, when combined with the other two, made a terrible trio.

"It's usually in the form of a putty-colored powder which is either given in the food—it has rather a horseradish taste—or is steeped like tea in boiling water and the resulting liquid used on a knife or a razor."

The two doctors now began to arrange about the post-mortem, and hurried away together. Pointer reentered the shut-off part of the dining room.

The body would be taken away any moment. He wanted to look it over again. Something about the right hand fingers lingered in his mind. That detective mind of his that ran and re-ran what he had seen and heard across a strong light of intelligence, as a man might test a strip of film for flaws. Turning down the sheet he picked up the right hand. Yes, on the thum and first two fingers were black marks such as a man gets who works with machinery or tools. Yet the left hand tips were white and smooth. And then Pointer had a surprise. These, too, felt smooth in spite of fine black criss-cross marks that usually mean roughness and machinery dirt worked into the skin. He used his magnifying glass. Still they looked like marks of work, and still they felt, when touched, as smooth as the unmarked left hand. Then the marks, whatever they were, must be under the skin. The glass did not show this, but very carefully Pointer tried with a needle as though for a splinter. And he found that he could dig out a tiny speck. And another equally tiny speck. Whatever it was that had run under the skin was apparently some brittle substance, though about the thickness of fine hairs. They were straight, and the longest was half an inch.

He had a box of small glass slides with him, but first of all, he had the photographer who had arrived with several other men from the Yard within a few minutes of his own arrival take careful pictures of the fingers of both hands. That done, he promptly fastened the two specks on a slide, and sent it off post-haste to Doctor Hardy's analyst at the Home Office with a note saying what poison mixture to test for first should the doctor not be in yet. Then he himself stepped out into the hall. On entering he had given orders that no one was to be allowed to leave the house or use the telephone, but these orders were, if possible, not to be known to the inmates. In reality, he had no right to give them at that stage, one of suspicion only. Now he had been authoritatively informed that Tait's death was not due to natural causes, and could take up the case openly.

He had stepped out of the room quietly, and happened to be half-hidden by a portiere that hung over the door, when he saw that three people were in the hall, each of whom stood so motionless that he might have been looking at waxworks figures. One, a slender figure, stood on the landing, grasping the window sill. Something in the rigidity of the position suggested frozen horror. In a doorway near the foot of the stairs stood a Junoesque handsome woman. Her eyes were fixed on the girl with a concentration so intense that Pointer felt as though he could have touched her, and yet she would not have been conscious that he was there. Exactly opposite Pointer was a tall young man with a clever imperturbable face. He, too, was watching the figure on the landing with eyes that looked to the detective officer as though very little would escape them.

But they did not see the man from the Yard for a full minute. When they did he came forward at once.

"You are from Scotland Yard, I understand, though I don't quite know why. Can I be of any use? I'm Claud Naylor, Mr. Tait's cousin. The only man in the family."

Now Naylor had seen Pointer before, had looked full at him when Doctor Merridew had hurried out with those kind soothing words of his. He had not come forward then.

Pointer had a sudden feeling that in some way the young man was coming to the help of the girl on the landing, as if this were a diversion. Or a warning. The woman at the foot of the stairs did not shift her gaze, but the girl on the landing turned her head and looked down into the hall. It was reasonable to suppose that it was the sight of the detective officer that made her shink back wide-eyed for a moment, then wheel around, and stand as before, quite still, with one hand clutching the window ledge, with her face turned to the glass.

Something in the way she did it suggested a dying person turning her face to the wall. The chief inspector's apparently casual glance strayed to the woman watching. She now looked at him, a very searching, appraising, calculating look. Then Etta Naylor turned, and went up the stairs to Miss Dundas. But Gillian started away from the window as the other came close to her, and whipped on up the stairs without a glance. They heard a door shut swiftly above, and a key turn in the lock.

THE STARS SAY . . .

By GENEVIEVE KEMBLE

For Saturday, June 16

The lunar aspects for this day may be read as of rather beneficial intervention on affairs generally, although it might be well to do all possible to preserve social, domestic and affectional harmony and felicity, as there are some menacing signs, especially warning against petty enmities and jealousy. Employment also may beset with trivial annoyances. But the energies will be high keyed to big achievements, with the promise of fulfilled ambitions and favors from those in power.

Those whose birthday it is may be prepared for a fairly active and enterprising year, with some definite advance upon the goal of high achievements. This with the active aid and encouragement of those in places of power and prestige. But be careful in employment and refrain from petty jealousies and enmities in the private relations.

A child born on this day should be active, enterprising, adventurous and ambitious and should be personally popular.

Road Workers Moved To Stop Vote—Heenan

WABHGOON, Ont., June 15 (CP)—Hon. Peter Heenan, M.P. for Kenora-Rainy River yesterday was on record as charging the Henry Government of Ontario with "manipulating" the men in relief camps of Northern Ontario to prevent them from voting in the June 19 election.

Mr. Heenan made his charges in speaking to a meeting here Wednesday night. As soon as registration was over, he charged, men were moved wholesale out of camps. Since a man could only vote in the place where he was registered, he was thus effectively deprived of the opportunity of casting a ballot, he declared. Men who were hostile to the government were quickly transferred, Mr. Heenan declared.

LAKE ERIE NETTERS ARE GIVEN REFUND

Construed by Liberals as Another Move to Win Elgin Riding.

ST. THOMAS, June 15.—The latest move of the Henry Government, allegedly to gain support for Dr. H. J. Davis, the Conservative candidate in Elgin, in Port tSanley, is to make cash refunds ranging from 30 to 50 per cent. to the gill-net fishermen at the lake side. Refund cheques were received yesterday, $100 in the case of the tugboat licenses, and $20 on gas-boat licenses.

Supporters of Mitchell F. Hepburn declared the purpose of the refunds to be obvious, and further evidence of the desperate effort that is being made to win the riding. The fishing-license refunds follow within two weeks of the action of the Department of Highways in starting the paving of one and one-half miles of Yarmouth Township road through Yarmouth Heights, without consulting or notifying either the Township Council or the Elgin County Council.

"Generosity of Department."

The remarkable feature of the license funds is the generosity displayed by the Department of Game and Fisheries. The Lake Erie Fishermen's Association, at their convention last winter, followed up their action for years past, and requested the department to reduce their license fees, placing them on more equal basis with the licenses paid by commercial fishermen along the south shore of Lake Erie. The convention recommended a reduction in both gill and pound net licenses of 25 per cent., but the department has seen fit to rebate the gill-net fishermen at Port Stanley from 30 to 50 per cent.

GERMAN ACTION TAKEN AS MOVE END REPARATION

Doubt Expressed Payments Be Resumed at End of 6-Month Moratorium.

REPRISALS LIKELY.

Berlin Press Skeptical if Finances Can be Recuperated in Time Set.

By ELMER W. PETERSON
(Copyright, 1934, by the Associated Press.)

BERLIN, June 15.—Competent observers professed to see to-day in Germany's suspension of payments on all her foreign debts a signicant move to end repaartions, and, ultimately, the Treaty of Versailles.

Doubt was expressed that payments would be resumed at the expiration of the moratorium's six-month period, reliable sources pointing out that complete abolition of reparations is an essential point in the Nazi programme.

Swift reprisals by other nations against the Reich appeared likely, dispatches said. Great Britain and France were reported to be considering plans to protect their bondholders, possibly by withholding commercial payments due Germany.

A British note in April warned Berlin any interference with the Dawes and Young loans would be taken most seriously.

Campaign Climax

Dr. Hjalmar Schacht, president of the Reichsbank, which declared the moratorium yesterday for years has been conducting a campaign to end reparations and the Dawes and Young loans, floated to refund German obligations resulting from war reparations.

That the present moratorium is a mere interlude and that Schacht will next seek to put the problem of Germany's debts on a political basis is the view held in responsible quarters.

German newspapers and financial circles speculated frankly as to whether the government would find half a year too short a time to recuperate her finances.

Chancellor Hitler's newspaper, the Voelkischer Beobachter, blamed A. Parker Gilbert, Jr. agent general for reparations, for the moratorium declaration, asserting the Young conference "never looked facts in the face."

A Reichsbank statement said reparations and the decline in foreign trade created the necessity for a moratorium.

Notices In London Urge Water Economy

LONDON, June 14 (C.P. Cable).—London Tube trains and buses are plastered with notices urging economy in the use of water, as no prospect is seen of any material rainfall.

Some anxiety exists in several small centres where, if the dry weather continues, assistance may be sought from larger municipalities.

London itself has about three months' supply in storage and nearly every other big centre has reserves nearly as substantial. The plea for economy has brought a gratifying response. London officials state.

Vulcan was a hypothetical planet once supposed to be revolving around the sun within the orbit of Mercury.

OUTSIDE BRANCHES ARE GUESTS AT SPRINGBROOK

(Examiner Correspondence.)

BONARLAW, June 15. — Springbrook Women's Institute were hosts to Marmora and Rylstone Institutes at their annual meeting in the Orange Hall, Springbrook, on Monday afternoon of this week. The guest speaker from the Department this year was Miss Ethel Robson of Benfield, Ont. There was a splendid attendance. Miss Robson spoke on "The Challenge of Age," and also gave an interesting talk on "Uses of Weeds," and "Music in Schools." She advised all Institute workers to throw all their weight towards having music in the schools. It is a tremendous asset in our lives, she said, to have a knowledge of music, and it means better citizens. It is a wonderful help, and there should be no doubt about it.

A short program was given by the members of the different branches, as follows: A duet by Mrs. B. E. Bell and Mrs. Fred Wells of Marmora, with Mrs. E. C. Prentice, as accompanist. A comic reading, "Rights of Women," by Miss Jean Stewart of Rylstone. A comic reading "Pleasure Exertions," by Mrs. Clifford Spry of Marmora.

Lunch was served by the members of the Springbrook branch at the close of the meeting.

Mrs. W. J. Barlow, president of the Springbrook Institute acted as chairman and thanked all present for their co-operation and assistance.

MOB THREATENS TO LYNCH YOUTH AT LONG BRANCH

Father Leads Neighbors in Chase Across Fields After Attack on Daughter.

OFFICER TAKES CHARGE.

Jails Prisoner as Crowd Uses Fists and Tear Suspect's Clothing.

LONG BRANCH, Ont., June 16. (CP).—An angry mob held an alleged attacker of a 15-year-old girl in their power while cries of "string him up" filled the air here Thursday night, it was revealed today.

Fred Firth, Todmorden was rescued from the crowd by Constable Robert Smythe and charged in police court yesterday with indecent assault. He was remanded to June 21.

The mob, armed with clubs, sought Firth out after the child had reached her home in hysterical condition, relating she had been struck over the head and thrown to the ground in the laneway. Led by her father the crowd chased Firth from a dance hall and cornered him in a garage. They milled threateningly around him, striking him with fists and clubs and tearing his clothes.

Constable Smythe came to his rescue and brought him to the police station the crowd following but making no attempt to take the prisoner from the officer.

Accosted By Three Boys

According to the 15-year-old girl in the case, she was walking home along the highway when three youths accosted her and tried to engage her in conversation. She told them she didn't know them and kept on walking. Two of the boys went into a drug store while the third followed a short distance behind. The girl crossed several fields on her way home and finally entered a laneway, over the railroad tracks. Then, she said, the boy who followed ran up to her and struck her over the head and threw her to the ground.

Screaming for help and fighting with all her strength she managed to elude her attacker and reach home in a dishevelled and hysterical condition. She gasped out the story to her father and he promptly organized the men and boys of the district, who armed themselves with clubs and made their way to the dance hall in Long Branch park, where it was believed the felow would be.

Seeing the approaching mob, a dancer fled the hall in a hurry, with the mob close at his heels. The chase went up several side streets toward the highway, where

JOHNSON SCORES DARROW BOARD

Charges it is Communistic in Purpose—Raps Partisan Politicians.

GOES AFTER PRESS.

CHARLESTON, W. Va., June 16. —(AP)—Hugh S. Johnson today assailed the Clarence Darrow review board as Communistic in purpose, accused part of the press of falsifying NRA news and attacked "partisan politicians" aligned against the recovery unit.

His reply to critics featured this state's holiday celebration of NRA's first birthday.

Declaring "much of the press is in the hands of political opposition anxious to regain office" and that "to get a square deal" from these papers for NRA is impossible, he said:

"I can understand the Communistic purpose of the Darrow board as an openly avowed assault on our whole system in favor of the semi-barbaric atrocities of half-civilized Russia, but the betrayal of a great public trust by a newspaper to accomplish a partisan end in utter disregard of the present and future security of the wage and salary-earning element of our population is quite another matter."

Of the Darrow board, General Johnson said:

"It has investigated not one single code. It has refused to consider any data on any code. It has suppressed testimony from any side but one. It is guilty of deliberately false and unsupported statements. Its findings and recommendations are not worth the paper on which they are written."

Most Complete Election Service is Promised Residents of Peterborough

While loud speakers will carry them to crowds which gather every election night in front of The Examiner. The results for the entire province coupled with summaries of those in Saskatchewan will be received over direct wire from Canadian Press headquarters in Toronto. Two extras will be printed, first coming off the press shortly after the results of the ..Peterborough riding are known and the second later on in the eve-..ning when a general survey of the province will be given. ... ...

Deputy returning officers have been urged to telephone their results to The Examiner 1600 as soon as possible after the ballots are counted and the result in the county should be pretty well known by 8.15.

EUROPE IN ARMS RACE CLIMAXING AT "OLYMPIC GAMES OF DEATH"

War Only Matter of Time, Kings, Dictators, Statesmen Tell Newsman.

1944 ZERO HOUR.

LONDON, June 16 (CP-Havas)—Europe has embarked upon an armament race which ends in "Olympic games of death," writes H. R. Knickerbocker, United States newspaperman, after a tour of the "danger spots" of Europe.

He interviewed dictators, kings and statesmen, none of whom gave him any permanent hope of peace. He tells his experiences in "Will War Come in Europe?" published today.

"To-day," he writes, "is a preliminary to to-morrow. It will be the semi-finals. If the (armaments) contest is not stopped there will be no more sense in the question will war coming in Europe? The question then will be 'When will war come?'

Among the 30 European statesmen he interviewed, Knickerbocker says not one failed to declare that Hitler was sincere in saying he did not want war now or in the near future.

"Almost every one of them, however, qualified that by saying that not even Hitler himself in his own heart is able to say to-day what his attitude toward war will be when Germany is sufficient rearmed to make victory probable."

Here is Mr. Knickerbock's reaction of visiting London as a final point in his tour:

"French statesmen may be alarmed. Italian statesmen may be alarmed. A dozen Chancellories may echo with anxious prophecies, but when British statesmen are alarmed it means dark days for Europe.

Britain is alarmed to-day."

Knickerbocker believes that 1944 will be zero hour for Europe. Ten years was the longest period which Europe's leaders would give him as their estimate of the duration of peace.

MRS CURTIS DALL SPEEDS TO RENO

Roosevelt's Only Daughter Follows Brother's Footsteps to Divorce Court.

MUM ON CHARGES.

(Copyright, 1934, by The Associated Press)

OMAHA, Neb., June 16 (AP) — Anna Roosevelt Dall, daughter of the President, sped to-day toward Reno and a divorce.

In an exclusive interview on her train last night, the blonde matron who has been a resident of the White House with her father and mother, confirmed reports that the primary purpose of her journey was to begin proceedings against her broker-husband, Curtis B. Dall.

"I can't say positively that I'm going to get a divorce," she said. "Many things might arise. I don't believe any woman can say such a thing definitely."

Reticent to discuss her personal affairs, Mrs. Dall had secluded herself in a compartment with her two children, "Sistie" and "Buzzie," and a negro maid.

Mrs. Dall has leased a home near Lake Tahoe, she said, through an agent and plans to establish residence in Nevada. She has not retained an attorney, she said.

In her discussion, she compared her situation to that of her brother, Elliott, who was divorced last July at Minden, Nev., and married Miss Ruth Goggins of Fort Worth, Tex., less than two weeks later at Burlington, Ia.

"There is little reason why the private life of any person should be exposed to the glare of publicity," she said. Then she added, "But I guess I'm up against the same thing Elliott was when he divorced and remarried."

The President's daughter has seen her husband only a few times in calls at the White House since their separation more than a year ago, she said.

She declined to comment on the nature of the charges which might be made in the prospective divorce actihon.

Foiled In Till Theft Robbers Slay Three

LOUISVILLE, Ky., June 16 (C. P.). — Apparently infuriated because they couldn't open the cash drawer, containing $90, two bandits last night shot and fatally wounded a gas station attendant, J. B. Schroering, 64, fled on foot firing wildly to keep a crowd back, and shot to death two bystanders

The latter two victims were Samuel Horine, 74, who was shot in the stomach as he stood in his front yard, and Cecil Carter, 40, a street railway inspector, who was at a nearby corner waiting for a bus

Calvin Tate, 20, who had been living at a transient bureau, was arrested a short time later at a cafe in another section of the city. Police said he gave them a written statement admitting that he participated in the holdup, and named three other men as his associates.

HENRY CHARGES SAID DISHONEST

Mayor McMacBride Tells Own Version of Difference in Expense Accounts.

USED CAR TO TRAVEL.

BRANTFORD, Ont., June 16. — (CP) — Mayor M. M. MacBride described charges made against him by Premier George S. Henry as "untruthful and dishonest." Mr. Henry in an address here charged Mayor MacBride had left his position with the Highways Department following "irregularities in his accounts."

Mr. MacBride gave the following as "the facts of the matter in which he alleges there was some discrepancy in my expense accounts when I worked for the Highways Department:

"On many occasions while checking up on fatalities in order to try to reduce the toll of human lives I felt obliged to use motor vehicles which I hired when necesarsy to reach certain points in a hurry. The departmental regulations only provided the three-cent per mile railway fare and I never dreamed for a moment while pursuing my work that the discrepancy between railway fares and the use of motor vehicles would be called in question. Away back in March 1931, however, the point was raised that I should not use motor vehicles but that I should use trains which travel from place to place.

"When Premier Henry said in the Brant Theatre last night that

TORY CANDIDATE PUTS BEER ISSUE UP TO LIBERAL

Lancaster Issues Challenge to Hawthorne on Restaurant Clause.

HON. COOKE SPEAKS.

Cooke Defends Government Against Liberal Charges of Extravagance.

Reiterating his opposition to the granting of beer and wine licenses to restaurants in the City of Peterborough, and remarking that his stand on the matter was endorsed by Premier Henry, T. P. Lancaster, Conservative candidate last evening threw down a challenge to his Liberal opponent to give the electorate the same assurance that he himself had given them.

"You do not know what you are voting for in the way of a beer bill if you vote Liberal. If you do not want beer and wine in restaurants in this city vote Conservative," Mr. Lancaster urged.

A Challenge

He stated, "I challenge James Hawthorne to give you the same assurance that I have given you and to get that assurance endorsed by Mitchell Hepburn".

In rising to address a meeting at the Opera House following the address of the Hon. J. R. Cooke, chairman of the Hydro Electric Power Commission, Mr. Lancaster was accorded an enthusiastic ovation, although like the Hon. Mr. Cooke he was subjected at intervals to the heckling.

"Give us more bread and no beer", one heckler piped from the rear of the hall as Mr. Lancaster started his discussion of the beer and wine issue.

Responsive to the request of Gordon S. Matthews, vice-president of Peterborough Liberal-Conservative Association as chairman of the meeting, that questions be deferred until Mr. Cooke had completed his radio broadcast, the main address of the evening was allowed to proceed practically without interruption.

Some Questions

After inviting questions when the broadcast was completed, Mr. Cooke was asked: "What do the Commissioners give to the H.E.P.C. to earn $10,000 a year?"

"In the first place", Mr. Cooke replied, "the two Commissioners associated with myself do not receive $10,000 a year, but receive less than $8,000 a year".

"Why did Meighen resign, and why was the Commission paying two men when one could have served," the same questioner persisted.

"That is a question you might ask Mr. Meighen himself", was Mr. Cooke's suggestion.

"No. Mr. Meighen is not here, but you might write to him", he added later.

Subsequently questions were put to the speaker by William Childs who was ushered to the platform by J. Knox of Lakefield. After displaying his stockingless feet to the audience and attributing his lack of hose to Conservative administration, Mr. Childs displayed a sheaf of correspondence which he said was relative to a "starving Peterborough family."

Heckler Is Reproved

Mr. Childs was given some lati-

The Provincial election opened in Peterborough to-day when 26 voters, who will be absent from the city on Tuesday, election day, used the privilage of casting their ballot in the Advance Poll at the sheriff's office before 12 o'clock today.

"The booth has been quite busy" Sheriff Hall said. "In fact the number who have voted here today is far beyond the number using the Advance Poll in any previous election in my experience. Many of them were soldiers who leave for camp to-night."

The Advance Poll is open this afternoon and evening and during the same periods on Monday.

No Crime

PHILADELPHIA, June 16. — (CP)—"That's no crime," said the magistrate. "Case dismissed."

The defendant was William Davis, gasoline station operator who had been accused by weights and measures inspectors of ignoring a condemnation seal on his fuel pump.

"Short weight?" the magistrate had asked.

"No," was the reply. "Overweight."

WHY IS COOKE OUT ON STUMP LIBERAL ASKS

J. C. McRuer Addresses Enthusiastic Liberal Rally in Committee Rooms.

MELON TO LOCKE.

Hydro Supposed to be Non-Political the Chairman Goes Stumping.

"If the Hydro is not in politics what is Cooke doing in this city to-night?" asked J. C. McRuer, K.C., of Toronto, addressing a highly enthusiastic audience which jammed the Liberal headquarters for a rally last night. "Mr. Cooke ought to be back in Toronto trying to earn the $13,000 he gets for running his 'non-political' commission."

Mr. McRuer spoke to the gathering of more than 400 persons in the absence of the scheduled speaker, Hon. I. A. MacKenzie, M.P., of Vancouver. Others who made addresses were the candidate James Hawthorne, John Lay of Barrie, nephew of Rt. Hon. W. L. McKenzie King; F. D. Kerr, K.C., and Bert Munroe. It was easily the most spirited rally the Liberals have yet staged in the riding.

Tory Organization

"The Hydro is supposed to be non-political yet its chairman goes stumping about the province using the time for which the public pays him a huge salary each year," Mr. McRuer said. "The Hydro is a Conservative organization. Vote for Hepburn and he will see that it is removed from the reach of plundering politicians. Hydro will be put in care of a board which will see that it is administered for the public, not private interests.

A member of the audience at this point informed the speaker that he had just heard Mr. Cooke state in the Grand Opera House that his salary was not $18.000 a year—that he had reduced it himself to $13,000.

"If Mr. Cooke states that, it may be true," Mr. McRuer replied.

FAILURE OF NAZI ECONOMICS MAY END IN JEWISH MASSACRE

Hitler Regime, Hard Pressed and Loosing Grip, Puts Blame on Jews.

SERIOUS SITUATION

By PIERRE VAN PAASSEN
Copyright by Central Press Canadian and Examiner

PARIS, June 16.—The general massacre of the Jews in a ghastly modern St. Bartholomew, first decreed by the Nazi leaders to coincide with their advent to power, but subsequently changed under pressure of the world's indignant protest to a silent economic boycott and a rigorous social ostracism, is openly being preached again by the propagandist of the brown-shirt regime in Germany.

The cowed, terror-stricken, helpless Jewish minority in the Reich, amounting to no more than 400,000 souls which includes the aged, the women and the children, is denounced as still constituting so great a danger to the mighty, regenerated German empire that their "total annihilation" is advocated by responsible Nazi chiefs.

Deprived of every vestige of influence in the Reich, chased from the government service, the university class-rooms, the judiciary, the theatre, the museums, forbidden to publish books or newspapers, 39,000 of their most eminent representatives abroad the Jews are now accused of wrecking the

URGE BIG CHAINS HOLD PROGRAMS FROM DOMINON

CHARLESWORTH ADAMANT.

Will Not Recognize One Body of Musicians to Exclusion of All Others.

TORONTO, June 16.— (C. P.) — A move has been made by officials of the Musicians' radio broadcasting committee of Canada, who called their members working for the Canadian Radio Commission out on strike at midnight, to force cancellation of United States union programs being broadcast by the commission.

The committee appealed today to the American Federation of Musicians with the object of forcing the big chains from the commission stations.

"We have every reason to believe that the Federation will give us every consideration," Walter Murdoch, chairman of the committee, said.

Orders went out last night to union musicians from coast to coast that they must withdraw from commission programs to support musicians in Montreal who have gone on strike for better wages. Committee members said 5,000 musicians were affected.

Charlesworth Fights

OTTAWA, June 16 (CP)—Under no circumstances can the Canadian Radio Commission, which is an agency of the Crown, recognize any one body of musicians—and an international body at that—to the exclusion of all other musicians in Canada, said Hector Charlesworth, chairman of the Radio Commission here to-day. The chairman was commenting on the demand for a "closed shop" made by the International Musicians Union in Radio Broadcasting.

Toronto had been "fixed up" satisfactorily with programmes for the coming week, said Mr. Charlesworth, while the Commission had been carrying on at Montreal for the past week. The strike began at Montreal last Sunday.

Curse On Household To Get Woman Jailed

MILWAUKEE, June 16 (A.P.).—Tales of crude sorcery used in a purported attempt to prevent child birth and to bring a "curse" on a household were told to-day in two warrants issued for Mrs. Anna Jurich.

The complainaint, Mrs. Sophie Obradovich, 37-year-old mother of four children, told Walter A. Drews, investigator for the State Board of Health, she sought out Mrs. Jurich to prevent the birth of a fifth child.

The weird ritual which Mrs. Obradovich said the woman used included administering massages and bandages, cutting off corners of the pillow on which she slept and slitting the mattress.

Mrs. Jurish poured liquid into the pillow, Mrs. Obradovich charged, which caused her to faint. After she refused to pay a $50 fee to Mrs. Jurich, Mrs. Obradovich said, the woman put a "curse" on the household and threw a "witch ball" through the window.

TORONTO, June 16 (C.P.). — One of the most heated election campaigns in Ontario had two more days of life to-day before the citizens put an end to the fiery oratory by casting their ballots, June 19. The citizens are taking their politics seriously, and the political gatherings during the week-end promise plenty of excitement.

Premier George S. Henry greeted by tomatoes and eggs at his Brantford appearance last night will address a Thorold gathering to-night, while Mitchell F. Hepburn, Ontario Liberal Leader, appears in Toronto for a rally to be attended by all Liberal candidates of Toronto and York ridings

Mr. Hepburn was described by the Hon. Leopold Macaulay, Highways Minister, as being a man without "a sense of responsibility." He charged the Liberal Leader with making allegations of hearsay evidence and declared these statements should never come from a man who hoped to become Premier of Ontario.

To-night Hon. H. H. Stevens, Dominion Minister of Trade and Commerce, enters the Ontario general election campaign in the Government's support when he addresses a Conservative rally at Lindsay.

Prefer Closing Mine To Granting Demands

FLIN FLON, Man., June 16 (CP) —Threats of closing down the Hudson Bay Mining and Smelting Company plant indefinitely brought no reaction to-day from the 1,300 strikers who maintained pickets at company property.

R. E. Phelan, general manager of the mine, announced the company would close the plant and leave it idle for ten years rather than recognize the Mine Workers' Union of Canada. Meetings were held by the strikers during the day at which speakers urged the men not to return to work until union recognition had been given.

Mayor E. Foster and the municipal council of Flin Flon announced they had withdrawn their offer to act as intermediaries in an effort to settle the dispute. They maintained they had been given evidence of the radicalism of the union. The union denied any Communistic affiliations.

SMALL CHILD IS FATALLY HURT STRUCK BY CAR

Struck Down While at Play, Betty West, Campbellford, Dies in Hospital.

DRIVER CHARGED.

Oscar Campbell, Driver of Car, Unaware He Struck the Child.

CAMPBELLFORD, June 16. (Examiner Staff Correspondent). — Struck down while at play near the home of her parents, by an automobile which had become temporarily out of control, 4-year-old Betty West, only child of Mr. and Mrs. George West, succumbed to her injuries early this morning following an emergency operation performed at Nicholls Hospital, Peterborough.

Following the accident in which his car mounted the sidewalk for a total distance of 82 feet, the driver, Oscar Campbell, of Seymour township, proceeded on his way home, unaware, according to his statement to police, that he had struck the child.

Placed Under Arrest

Pursued and arrested by Chief Constable George Hardy, the young car driver, who is an employee of Trent Valley Creameries here, subsequently appeared before Magistrate J. M. Bygott and was formally charged with criminal negligence, being remanded until June 22 with bail set at $1,000. Stuart Carr, son of Mayor Carr, was bondsman for the accused.

At the brief proceedings held shortly after the accident, the accused was legally represented by Ross Douglas.

According to a police statement, Campbell was driving an old model touring car, when according to a statement he is alleged to have made, his attention was momentarily distracted by a gardener at work nearby. The car proceeding north on Front street becoming momentarily out of control, is stated to have mounted the sidewalk on the east side of the street, travelling a distance of 21 feet before striking the child down, and afterwards proceeding a further 61-feet on the sidewalk before regaining the pavement.

Unaware according to a statement he is alleged to have made to police following his arrest, that he had struck the child, Campbell proceeded to drive out to his home situated on R.R. 3 in Seymour township.

Meanwhile, the child suffering extensive head injuries was attended by Dr. C. H. MacNeill, who ordered the child's immediate removal to Nicholls Hospital at Peterborough. Upon her admittance to hospital an emergency operation was performed by Dr. A. Moir to relieve pressure caused by a severe fracture of the skull. The child died at 1.45 a'clock this morning.

Furnished with a description of the car that figured in the accident by an eye-witness, Chief Hardy immediately stated out in pursuit and over took the car on the River road.

COUNTY JUDGE TO INVESTIGATE CURTIS CHARGES

Recommendation of Legislation Committee Turned Down by Council.

SALARIES REVISED.

Scale of Road Wages for Man 25 Cents, Man and Team 45 Cents.

COBOURG, June 16.—By a vote of 38 to 3, the council of the united counties of Northumberland and Durham decided yesterday evening to refer to Judge L. V. O'Connor the allegations made by Reeve C. H. Curtis last January regarding certain expenditures in the administration of county roads.

The Legislation and By-laws Committee with Reeve N. A. MacColl, Campbellford, chairman, recommended that a special committee be appointed to consider the Curtis charges and report to the council as to the advisability of a judicial investigation.

To the resolution that the MacColl committee report be adopted, Reeve Curtis moved an amendment, seconded by Deputy-reeve L. Campbell of Cramahe township, that Judge O'Connor be asked to investigate without any prior deliberation by a special committee.

The three members voting against the amendment were Reeves N. Green of Cartwright, Reg. O. Jones of Bowmanville, and Percy Stinson, Millbrook.

Deputy-reeve J. C. Cummiskey, Manvers, argued that the council might as well place the questions in the hands of the Judge "first as last."

F. D. Boggs, K.C., counties solicitor, said he could not estimate what the cost of a judicial enquiry would be.

Reeve Curtis—Who would clothe the special committee with power to have witnesses sworn and evidence brought out in that way. They couldn't put a man on oath.

Advocating avoidance of further delay Deputy-reeve E. C. McKeel remarked that the reputation of George Greer was being bandied about while nothing was proved against him in the form of carelessness or negligence.

"If this thing proves a bubble it lies at the door of Mr. Curtis," Mr. McKeel said.

"Every member of the council voted for an investigation," Mr. Curtis replied, "and you are a member as much as I am. I simply did my duty in acting on reports that came to me."

Salary Revised.

The council increased the salary of E. L. MacNachtan, counties clerk and treasurer, from $2,000 to $2,400 for this year.

LARGE AUDIENCE HEARS MUSICAL

Mr. Renault Gives Demonstration in Warsaw Public School.

(Examiner Correspondence.)

WARSAW, June 13. — A large number of Warsaw ladies and two gentlemen, Dr. Munro and Mr. Wilkinson, attended Mr. Renault's demonstration of teaching singing in the Warsaw school, on Thursday afternoon, June 14.

Mr. Renault is a musician and a teacher. His methods are his own. No one could attempt to copy him. He knows what he wants—and gets it by going after it. If he does not get it one way, he can, and will, another. He did not hesitate to make an error to detect the pupil's ability to see it or to impress the right. His claim is that education is nothing if it does not train to distinguish right from wrong in anything, music included.

Mr. Renault holds that more can be done with a child when young than when older. He nor no one else can take a boy or girl in their teens and bring them up to what they might have been had they begung as tiny tots.

Mr. Renault after a short address explaining a few points, had all the pupils sing O, Canada and the National Anthem. He then took the little ones and demonstrated his methods with them, and it was simply fascinating to note how the little ones responded. He drew attention to some little ones whose lips moved but there was no sound. Later, he said, these little ones would burst into song. They could, and did sound the notes in different scales as he pointed to them, and were able to tell all the signs that he used.

At the end of their time he had them sing a few of the little songs they had learned. The sang, expression was not lacking.

Then he had the older pupils, including the fifth class, but said that if here another year they would have to be divided, as the younger ones were not getting what they should by being with the older ones. Also many of the boys' voices were changing.

Mr. Renault very emphatically said that the three teachers had worked hard too. He had given the idea; they had drilled.

The hornbook was the primer for learning the elements of reading used in England before the days of printing, and common down to the time of George II.

ACCIDENTAL DEATH INQUEST VERDICT

No Blame Attached to Anyone in Death of Muriel Wray at Lindsay.

LINDSAY, June 16 (Special to The Examiner). — The jury empannelled to inquire into the death of Muriel Wray, who died as a result of a broken neck on June 8, from falling off a car in Verulam Township, met last night, under Coroner Dr. Logan, brought in the following verdict:

"We, the coroner's jury empannelled to inquire into the death of Muriel Wray, do find that the said Muriel Wray came to her death in Ross Memorial Hospital, Lindsay, about 7 p.m., on June 8th, as the result of injuries received by accidentally falling off the running-board of a motor car while riding here from school, on the road leading from Fenelon Falls to Bobcaygeon, and that no blame be attached to any one. The jury would strongly implore all people from accepting rides on motor car running boards, and also all drivers of motor cars not to allow, under any circumstances any persons to ride upon the same. We would also recommend that the Department of Public Highways make legislation prohibiting the above practice under penalty."

FAILURE OF NAZI ECONOMICS MAY END IN JEWISH MASSACRE

German economic fabric. What's more the Jews inside Germany are being held responsible for the protest actions of their co-religionaires abroad.

In the measure that the gold coverage of the Reichsmark slinks away, it is at present down to four and a half per cent, and the spectre of a second inflation, with its disastrous consequences to the lower middle-classes, Hitler's surest support, appears on horizon, the Nazi regime, rather than frankly facing the situation, seeks to unload responsibility for the coming financial debacle on the backs of the Jewish people.

"Exterminate Jews"

Had Hitler succeeded in bringing bread and well-being to the masses, had he been able but to carry into effect a tenth part of his extravagant promises to his followers, the Jews of Germany would not need to worry to-day. Nobody would bother about a handful of non-Aryans if there really was an economic upswing in Germany.

On May 27, Dr. H. Kube, governor of the province of Brandenburg writes in Rote Erde, the newspaper of Dortmund: "There will be no rest for the German people until we have exterminated the Jews. The Jewish swine must be slaughtered. What pest, cancer and syphillis are to the human race, that the Jew is to the morale of the Aryan peoples. They are a poison. Let us strike at them and exterminte them or put them all in chains before they ruin us completely and assassinate our children." This is but a mild sample of the vituperative language hurled at the Jews by Nazi chiefs in the German press."

Jews Still in Danger

The miracle is that after a full year of unchallenged excitation of this sort, whipping up the people to tantrums of fury against the Jews, there has been no massacre yet. What the Manchester Guardian wrote a year ago that the German working-class knows nothing about anti-Semitism remains true to-day. In spite of the fact that they are daily, almost hourly, urged to strike at the Jews the masses have not given heed to the blood-appeals. The only explanation is that the Marxian-schooled working-class of Germany understands the function of anti-Semitism in the social and economic transformations of society, that it is introduced as an instrument to divert their attention from their own plight, and from the revolutionary goal for which they strive.

This does not mean that the Jews are safe. The Hitler government is in serious difficulties. There are rumors that the population is to be put on rations, as in war-time. As there will be no money to pay the storm-troops after June, half of these S.A. are to be sent on furlough. The cost of living has trebled and quadrupled in the last six months. Except for the armament industry, there are no indications of an economic upswing. In spite of an unimaginably rigid surveillance by three separate bodies of secret police, criticism of the government through illegal pamphlets, handbills and newspapers is increasing. Dissatisfaction is coming to the surface in many Nazi groups. In one week's time the government had to dismiss six prominent local leaders in eBrlin and Hanover.

Foreign Trade Declines

The greatest difficulty is the constantly declining foreign trade. The Soviet Union has not placed a single new order in Germany in a year's time. Last year's business with that country amounted to sixty million marks. In the foreign field the government cannot point to a single outstanding success. Although the Hitlerits before they came to power thundered against Poland and declared their first task was to take back the Polish corridor, it is they who have made a pact with Poland, by the terms of which the territorial arrangement in the east remains unchanged for ten years. In Austria Hitler was checked by Mussolini. As a result relations with Italy have cooled off considerably. Relations with France are more strained than ever. France has consolidated her grip on the European hegemony by strengthening the little entente and by seeking closer co-operation with Moscow.

Take It Out on Jews

Although the Nazis report unemployment figures sinking, no more men are employed now in gainful occupations than when they assumed power. This is explained by the fact that hundreds of thousands of young men are in labor camps—and in other concentration camps.

As difficulties increase, the anti-Jewish campaign also increases. To come back to the Jews at this time, after crushing them once before, is a surest sign that the Nazi state is in a serious quandry. The chiefs, it becomes clear now, are not persecuting the Jews because they are anti-Semites, but they are anti-Semites because they need a victim, someone to blame. All indications point to some bloody climax, a general massacre of the Jews in the near future. Only a vigorous protest by decent men and women all over the world, only a determined stand of the Christian churches following the example of the Archbishop of Canterbury, will prevent the Nazis from carrying out their gruesome design upon the Jews. Once more civilization may stay the murderous hands which now are poised to strike—but protests must be quick and loud and determined.

Britain Shapes Plan Combat Moratorium

LONDON, June 15 (A.P.).—As a counter-measure to the German moratorium, the British Government soon will propose legislation enabling it to set up an Anglo-German clearing office, Neville Chamberlain, Chancellor of the Exchequer, told the House of Commons to-day.

Great Britain's Ambassador to Berlin has informed the German Government to this effect, Mr. Chamberlain revealed.

GOD SAVE THE KING

DR. MUNRO, Pres. — W. F. HUYCKE, Sec.

To the Electors of Peterborough

LADIES AND GENTLEMEN:

Having been unanimously nominated as Conservative candidate for the combined city and county ridings, I am appealing for your support at the approaching provincial election as a supporter of the Henry Government and on my record as the representative of Peterborough County in the Legislature during the last four and one-half years.

First, a personal word.

When the electors of Peterborough County honored me with their support in 1929 I pledged myself then to work unceasingly for the interest of my constituency, and I can unhesitatingly say at this time that I have kept the faith. Those of you who live in the county know that I have, in season and out, fought for Peterborough County, for work for its unemployed, for better roads, for the re-stocking of our lakes and rivers, for anything and everything that would help this district and its people. Relief road schemes have provided work not only for many urban unemployed but for farmers and settlers in all parts of the riding. The Burleigh Falls-Bancroft road project, for the establishment of which I most earnestly pressed, has furnished hundreds with jobs, has been a direct benefit to the merchants of Peterborough by reason of the money spent with them by the camp workers and staff, and will bring infinitely greater returns in the years to come because of the additional tourist traffic it will attract to this part of the province.

To the people of the former city riding, I pledge myself at this time that the service I have hitherto given the county and of the constituency will be extended in full measure to you. Henceforth it will be my ambition to work for the whole county, city and country alike, and to further every movement that means prosperity to our people.

In addition to the experience I have gained as a member of the Legislature, my twelve years' service as municipal clerk and treasurer has given me an intimate knowledge of municipal problems, and the additional public service that is inevitably associated with the editorship of a newspaper cannot fail to be of assistance. I feel that I have had the close contact with urban and rural questions that is essential to effective representation of a constituency made up of both city and country dwellers.

My position in regard to the wine and beer question is simply this, that I am a supporter of the Henry Government in its policy of extending the privilege of sale by the glass to standard hotels. I am, however, opposed to such sale in restaurants so far as the city of Peterborough is concerned, and I have the assurance of the Premier that my wishes in that respect will prevail.

And now as regards the general situation. We, in common with the whole world, have been passing through lean years. I know—because I have been in contact with these problems and difficulties day after day—that many of our people have been having a difficult time. I sympathize with our farmers whose expenses have mounted, while the prices of the products they sell have dropped far below normal. I appreciate the struggle for existence that the unemployed workers and their families have had to face. I readily realize that when times have been bad there is a tendency to blame the Government that happens to be in power for the conditions and to look elsewhere for a betterment.

I respectfully submit to you, however, that now when the tide has turned and a distinct improvement is making itself felt is no time to take a wild leap in the dark.

Consider the alternatives that are offered you. On the one hand you have a united Conservative party, familiar with the problems of the hour, experienced in public administration and led by a tried and true veteran in the person of Premier George S. Henry.

On the other you are offered—what? A disorganized opposition party, united only in the desire for office, with Hepburn Liberals, McQuibban Liberals, Sinclair Liberals and Nixon Liberals all working at cross purposes and with no unanimous declaration of policy, head by M. F. Hepburn, a leader whose eight-year record as a member of the Federal House shows nothing to indicate constructive statesmanship, and whose irresponsible speeches since his accession to the provincial leadership have utterly failed to inspire confidence. Is there anything that Mr. Hepburn has done at Ottawa in return for the more than thirty thousand dollars he has drawn from the public treasury, or anything that he has said as leader in Ontario to justify the belief that the administration of public affairs should be entrusted to his inexperienced hands?

The C.C.F. can be dismissed from serious consideration, first because its program is impossible, and secondly because if it elected all the candidates it has in the field—and there is no chance of that—it would not come even close to getting into power.

The choice is between Henry and Hepburn, and I earnestly submit to you that your own interests will best be served by returning to power the administration that in the face of a situation such as no other Government in the history of the province has had to meet has brought Ontario safely through the stormy years. You cannot afford to gamble with a disorganized crowd of political novices under a leader whose chief claim to fame is the wildness of his public utterances.

From time to time before election day members of the Government will discuss the issues of the campaign in this constituency. May I urge you to attend these meetings and to give the Government and myself your support on June 19th in the interests of a prosperous Ontario and the welfare of this banner county.

Your sincere servant,

T. P. LANCASTER

Written for The Examiner by the Ministers of the City.

Portion of sermon preached by Rev. A. Francis Battersby, of Hastings, to the Rural Deanery of Peterborough.

TEXT: Mark 1, verse 14-15. "Jesus came into Galilee, preaching the Gospel of the Kingdom of God, and saying the time is fulfilled and the Kingdom of God is at hand. Repent ye, and believe the Gospel.

John the Baptist, the forerunner of Christ, and Christ Himself commenced their ministry with the same declaration, "The Kingdom of God is at hand," and Christ invariably in His teaching kept this before His hearers. It must not be imagined that Christ was announcing something new and unexpected, but rather proclaiming the fulfillment of long cherished hopes, biding His Jewish hearers observe the orderly development of their national history. The time, the due season, for the manifestation of this kingdom has been fulfilled, the whole history of the people had been leading up to it.

Israel had in some imperfect and rudimentary manner been the Kingdom of God, ruled by a divine law, practicing a ritual of worship implying communion between God and man, holding fast amid all confusions the primary truths of the unity, personality, and spirituality of God; but this kingdom had failed to realize the grand ideal of a perfect Kingdom of God, for it was restricted to one nation and not cosmopolitan; it tended to harden into a formal ceremonial system, crushing out righteousness of conduct and spiritual worship, it was concerned too much with things outward and material. In its long and chequered history of conflict with foreign nations during the period of the monarchy, Israel had been disappointed and vanquished, it had fallen successively under Assyrian, Persian, Macedonian and Roman rule, but still in its worst days of oppression it cherished the expectation of a great deliverer in the person of one whom the prophets had described as "the Son of David." In another of their prophets this expectation had been raised to a yet higher conception of the appearance of a "Son of Man" who was to be put into possession of a kingdom which was both universal and everlasting. Some hope of restoration survived even in the darkest days. Israel was always expecting a coming One, who would relieve the opressed and restore the kingdom.

Now at a time of deep depression and in a generation which was destined to see the destruction of Jerusalem, the sacred capital of the nation and the centre of all its religious associations, Jesus begins in the towns of Galilee to proclaim and declare openly that the foreordained season has arrived and that the Kingdom of God has actually come nigh and is now in their midst.

Baptism of believing men were appointed as the mode of admission into it, the seal of the new birth into the spiritual world, the Eucharist was the covenant bond of fellowship between the King and His subjects and between the subjects themselves, and these religious ordinances wherever they are observed are signs of the kingdom, for they are plainly observances of what the Founder of the kingdom had commanded for perpetual use.

Why we find this weary conflict between good and evil about, and also within the borders of the kingdom of righteousness, and why it is permitted is a profound mystery no human being can fathom. That it is here in our midst no one will contradict. Meanwhile it teaches us all a lesson (hard to learn), not of despondency, but of patience. We humans want to hurry on events, but God's purpose moves slowly through the ages. Was it not the purpose of Christ to establish a kingdom of which His church was to be in the world the chief organ of manifestation? If so, it ought not be a matter of indifference to any whether they associate themselves in fellowship with that church and endeavor to promote its high and noble ends. The text tells us Christ taught a doctrine, and we believe it on His authority. He also founded a kingdom, members of which are received into it by Christ's appointed signs. Baptism—thereby becoming members of a body, soldiers of a great army, sheep of one flock, united in one body, confessing one spirit, one hope of their calling. One Lord, one faith, one baptism, one God and Father of all. The other divinely appointed ordinance—they ate one bread, drank one cup, holding fellowship with their Lord and Saviour who has given His body and blood for their salvation. They joined in one common worship, provoked one another to love and good works, nor forsaking the assembling of themselves together on the Lord's day. It is not a mis-statement to say that in our own times and country there are vast numbers of those who profess and call themselves Christians who separate themselves so far from their fellow-Christians who never or seldom join in such a high act of devotion as the "Holy Communion"; others who allow a song or a musical service to be their outward profession of Christianity; others who adopt the language of patrons and friends without the church, and others who lounge in an easy chair, listening-in on the radio, of health and sound body, who try to make themselves believe they are thus worshipping God, rather than recognizing their high calling as members of a great society whose laws ought to govern their conduct and whose mission in the world is to be shared by themselves.

I think I am safe in saying that at no time in the history of the world has this become so clear to the man who stops to think. When you look over the world and see the muddle it is in, what a picture! Bursting granaries and hungry people. Daily paper—read this company has made a profit of $2,000,000, another $1,450,000, as the case may be, or you read the president received an honorarium of $250,000 and another president likewise $150,000, while thousands know not where to turn their heads to pay their rent or pay for their food and clothing. See yonder castle, towering skywards, raised to the god of commerce, and by its side a church groaning under a heavy burden of debt. Again, another picture: God said, "Be fruitful and multiply and replenish the earth," but governments say no, we know better than God, don't grow any more wheat, plough up your cotton and buy, slaughter the young animals when they are born, and everything will be alright and prices and wages will go up. Who is right, God or man?

Is it any wonder that a preacher cried out in Hamilton, "It's all damned blasphemy." To you members of the Church of England comes an appeal to pray for relief from the grasshopper plague in the West, and quite right that you should, but what shall the church say of the parasite that devours widows, houses that suck the very life blood of children and orphans who seem never to have heard "Do unto others as ye would they should do unto you"? Oh! for an Elijah, Amos, Ezekiel, Isaiah, John the Baptist, who will give the church a lead, with courage to cry out, "Whether they will hear or whether they will forbear."

YOUR PROBLEMS

Religious and Social Questions Answered
By DR. WYLIE CLARK

Should the church take any active part in the health problems of the day—such as houses, clean streets, pure food, child welfare and kindred movements? —M. M.

Most certainly it should. In fact, while these things are now considered by the state, it was the church which first became concerned about them and advocated their usefulness to better the conditions of the community. Almost at the beginning of the church, the widows, orphans and the poor were cared for by the different congregations and assistance was given from one country to another.

Dr. Wylie Clark

The church has many opportunities to reach the hearts of the people by willingly assisting them in all these things which contribute to their health, comfort and happiness.

Can we hope (with any surety of that hope being satisfied) to find our dearly loved ones who have died when we, too, die?—"Hope."

Our loves and friendships on earth are the finest relationships we have and they are woven into the whole web of our existence — they are pretty much ourselves. To destroy them would be to destroy ourselves. So then if we are to continue they must also continue.

We must take it for granted that we will be as sensible in the hereafter as we are in the here. If our dear ones are a large share of our earthly life, surely it is reasonable to conclude that they will be the same in the future life.

The other life is the continued story of those who lived upon the earth and of very necessity recognition must be the golden thread which unites.

David said about his dead child: "I shall go to him, but he shall not return to me." What would be the use of his going if he would not recognize him?

Jesus said to the penitent chief: "To-day shalt thou be with Me in Paradise." It was not thinking about Him or remembering Him, but actually being with him.

The "how" of it all we may well leave with God and we may be quite certain that all will be well.

If Jesus fulfilled the law, are we still under obligation to keep the Sabbath as in the Ten Commandments?—E. M. K.

I am not sure if this question is about which day should be kept as the Sabbath or as to the way Jesus kept it. If the former, then it is the old question which we have answered before. Jesus kept the Sabbath of the Jews, but not as they kept it. He did many things on it forbidden by the scribes. He announced that the day was given for the use of men and He asserted that the well-being of men was more important than the rigid observance of the Sabbath law as interpreted by the scribes. He taught that the ceremonial observance of the day must give way before any higher and more spiritual motive.

The work of redemption, sealed by the resurrection of Jesus, being the creation of the new spiritual world, was regarded as superseding in importance the work of the physical creation and the apostles and the early church found the centre of their faith not in the created world, but in the risen Christ.

I am a member of a session. A fellow elder has done me an injury. I have not attended church for nine months, but have not resigned my eldership. What should I do?—S. R. D.

You should be a Christian. A man has no fitness for a church official who lets another man drive him out of the church. An elder should have sufficient grace to forgive even great injuries.

These squabbles, most of them childish, are very harmful to the cause of Christ. Grown-up members so often act like a bunch of children in a backyard — they have neither dignity nor sense.

An incident like this one in the question does more harm in a congregation and the community than can be undone in years.

Bridgenorth

Mrs. Harold Lewis of Smith entertained at her home on Saturday afternoon in a cup and saucer shower in honor of Miss Margaret Mann —a bride elect of this month.

A large cup and saucer containing the gifts was carried in by the Misses Anne Franks and Emma Rosborough.

After the gifts had been opened Miss Mann made a suitable reply thanking the girls for their gifts.

The girls were then invited to the dining room where the table was very prettily done in spring flowers, and silver candle sticks holding tall pink tapers entwined with pink and green tulle.

Mrs. Lewis served a very dainty lunch, assisted by Misses Lillian McGregor, Phyllis Moore and Eunice Hammond.

On Monday evening, June 11, Mr. and Mrs. Stanley Millage of Smith, kindly lent their home when the friends and neighbors came to shower gifts and good wishes to Miss Margaret Mann, whose wedding takes place next week.

Reginald McMullen and Margaret, were asked to take the chairs of honor, and Miss Eunice Hammond read an appropriate address. A large basket containing the gifts was carried in by Betty Nicholas and Jean Fowler.

After the opening of the gifts Miss Mann and Mr. McMullen made a suitable reply and gave everyone a cordial invitation to visit them in their new home.

The remainder of the evening was spent in games and amusements after which lunch was served.

Cathedral Musings

THE occult powers, dormant in the majority, which the trained and evolved mystic awakens, may not be used by him for his own glorification or any selfish purpose whatever.

Only for good may the mystic dare to awaken the higher forces that reign in the world of Light. Nor has the true mystic any desire to do otherwise. To be a conscious co-operator in the Divine purpose is his ambition, if ambition be the word to use concerning one who has renounced ambition.

While it is very true that the laborer is worthy of his hire, yet spiritual good cannot be measured in terms of material gain, but only in commensurate terms of spiritual value. One who works for hire gets exactly what he works for; no more, no less, viz., the material reward. He is as the money-changers in the Temple. Whereas one who works for love also gets what he works for, not perhaps the love of those who benefit, but most certainly he is repaid a thousandfold in the love of God.

Furthermore, the more the mystic uses the powers, the more he makes of himself a channel through which the Divine forces may flow for the benefit of others, the more is given unto him. This is the "law of use."

It is time we returned to first principles, the principles that the Master enunciated, and so freed our minds of the clutter of dogma and superstition that has since grown around His teachings. We need Christ and the christianity of Jesus perhaps more now than at any other period of the world's history, and the keynote of His teaching was pure unselfish love of our common Father and necessarily as a logical corollary, love of our brethren.

As far as the exoteric side is concerned that is all there is to it. When that is so ingrained into us that it is as second nature we will be fitted to be intrusted with the higher powers, that, more potent than any force yet known to man, makes man what he was originally intended to be—God's representative on earth. But until that time comes, until man in general learns the outer teaching of Jesus, the higher knowledge must necessarily be confined to the comparatively few who by test and trial have proven themselves fitted to receive it.—Frater IX., Rosicrucian Order, San Jose, Calif.

The Resurrection and Great Commission — ILLUSTRATED SUNDAY SCHOOL LESSON

By the Rev. Alvin E. Bell And Alfred J. Buescher

Scripture—Matthew 28:1-20.

On the first Easter morning at break of day, Mary Magdalene and another Mary and Salome came to the tomb where they had seen Jesus' body laid. They came with spices to complete the care of the body for which they had not had sufficient time before the Sabbath.

Finding the tomb open Mary Magdalene rushed back to notify the disciples. Returning to the tomb she became the first to see the risen Lord. At first she took him to be the gardener. When Jesus called her by name she recognized him and fell at his feet worshipping him.

The other women as they approached the open tomb saw an angel who told them Jesus was risen and directed them to go tell his disciples. As they went Jesus appeared to them saying, "All Hail". They fell down and worshipped him with great joy.

Forty days after his resurrection, after appearing to his disciples on various occasions Jesus ascended into heaven with these words, "All power is given unto me in heaven and in earth, go ye therefore and make disciples of all nations".

RELIEF REGULATIONS.

The Stratford Beacon-Herald calls attention to a situation that is developing throughout the province and that should receive some attention and thought.

The point raised is the necessity of uniformity in the matter of relief regulations.

At present different municipalities have different policies, and these policies are frequently changed.

For instance, Wallaceburg has dropped all relief for single men and Chatham is taking a similar stand, while Mayor Wenige of London declares that the number on relief there could be reduced by 25 per cent.

Kitchener has started a movement requiring a six months' residence in any municipality before eligibility for relief is established—while the present rule is six months.

The effect of such a change, if it is not generally agreed upon, is that places with a three months' limit will attract more than their share of families in need of assistance.

The whole situation in this respect should be reviewed and clarified so that the regulations in regard to residence, relief grants, etc., may be made uniform.

CO-OPERATION REQUESTED.

The chief electoral officer for the province has made it clear that deputy returning officers on duty at the election on Tuesday are to give the fullest co-operation to the newspapers and to Canadian Press in order that the election figures may be compiled with the least possible delay.

The Examiner is sure that it can count on the officials in this riding to do their part by sending in the returns from their polls as soon as possible after the results are known. Deputy returning officers in the city polls are asked to see that the figures are telephoned to The Examiner without delay, while officials in the rural sub-divisions may telephone The Examiner at our expense or communicate their information to the nearest Examiner correspondent. A list of these correspondents is published elsewhere in to-day's issue.

The Examiner will have extra telephone operators on duty and every possible facility for speedily compiling the returns will be availabe—but in the final anaysis everything depends upon the deputy returning officers.

Their co-operation is essential, and we appeal to them as a matter of great importance to assist in this heavy task by giving us the results of their respective polls without any delay once the ballots have been counted.

PERMANENTLY ON RELIEF.

Figures given at a recent meeting of the Oshawa Welfare Board, showing the number of persons at present on relief in the Motor City whom the relief authorities believe will have to be permanently cared for, should be of great interest generally, because this is a problem that has to be faced and solved.

The Oshawa board has discovered that of 36 single men who are being given relief no fewer than 35 are unemployable for ordinary types of labor. Most of these men are elderly and in their case it is believed that there is little chance of any kind of permanent work being found in the future.

In the case of 469 families on relief it has been found that the bread-winners in 179 cases are not eligible for city relief labor, 98 of them men who have been declared physically unfit for work, five are deserted women, 16 separated women and 33 are widows.

In short, there is a large proportion of the Oshawa persons on relief who are apparently destined to be a permanent problem for the municipal authorities, and it is probable that a close analysis of the conditions in Peterborough and in every other centre would reveal that this is the case everywhere.

The question of how these families and individuals are to be taken care of is one that should give municipal governments considerable over which to ponder.

A GOLDEN OPPORTUNITY.

The Examiner heartily agrees with the Vancouver Sun that the tourist business is the most profitable business of all and the most neglected.

Even last year when the total expenditures of tourists in Canada reached the lowest level, visitors to this country spent $117,000,000 here.

The peak year was 1929 when the huge sum of $309,379,000 was spent.

A business capable of adding such sums of money to the national wealth is important enough to justify a national policy of promotion, for just as the Sun points out the tourist business is Canada's biggest potential bet.

Tourist money, as a matter of fact, is every bit as much a part of our trade balance as is the sale of goods.

When our tourist friends come into this country and spend their money here in restaurants and stores and hotels and for many other services, that money goes on the favorable side of our international trade balance, just as if United States importers had bought our goods and had them shipped into the United States.

We agree with the suggestion that this industry is big enough to justify a far greater effort on the part of the whole country to develop it than has hitherto been made, and that it would be a pity indeed to neglect this golden opportunity.

Think what Ontario stands to gain through an intelligent, persistent and aggressive tourist traffic policy, earned out preferably as a national effort.

WHERE DOCTORS ARE NEEDED.

Young doctors just quitting the medical schools with their "sheepskins," facing the necessity of finding each the niche where he may utilize his lengthy training to make himself a decent living and at the same time render humanity some service, should consider the towns and the small cities.

There is a tendency, perhaps a natural one, for physicians launching their careers to flock to the cities for reasons which are obvious. They think the life is easier and professional recognition more assured, and they value the knowledge to be had from hospital work, from association with other men of their own vocation. The other side of the picture, however, is not so bright. The medical profession in the large centres already is crowded, and the young doctor, whether general practitioner or specialist, is likely to have a long and arduous road ahead of him. Furthermore the cost of establishing himself, of maintaining himself until thus established, is higher than in smaller places.

In Will Rogers' talk the other evening he discussed the celebrated quintuplets, remarked that it was fortunate they came under the care of a country doctor, for if they had been born in a city specialists would have been called into consultation—and in the meantime the babies would have died! With due allowance for Mr. Rogers' broad humor, there still is a point to this comment. The country doctor in many an emergency is dependent absolutely upon his own skill; life and death rest upon his hands. It is a tremendous responsibility—but young men who follow the path of medicine are trained to accept without faltering the necessity of making grave decisions.

The Journal is told that there are delightful towns in the Ottawa radius, and no doubt generally throughout the province, inadequately supplied with doctors, that splendid openings exist for young men willing to undertake the exacting duties of a general practice. It is told also that young doctors who went into such places in recent years have found the material rewards not unsatisfactory, find a deep satisfaction in the knowledge that they give their communities services of inestimable value.—Ottawa Journal.

SOME DON'T COME BACK.

Into our town there comes a road from the south—a fine, wide, straight road. Out of it every afternoon during the summer months pours a steady stream of pleasure cars, bound for the mountains and the seashore. You can stand there and watch them come, two and three abreast, loaded with men, women and children, eager for the holiday and the recreation ahead. They make a gay procession, and it is a pleasure to watch them pass, until you realize that they won't all come back in the homeward bound stream Sunday night. Before Sunday night at least a half dozen will be dead—needlessly dead.

There will be a horrible monotony about the Monday morning headlines from now until the coming of cold weather. They will recall the weekly toll of death, damage and disfigurement from automobile accidents. Statisticians supply stunning figures listing the thousands killed each year, the many other thousands maimed and the millions of dollars of property loss. Yet we continue to step on the gas and race the other fellow to the corner with no thought that the next casualty list in the great road slaughter may carry our own name.

There may be such a thing as an unavoidable accident, but it is rare. Occasionally, but not often, an accident results from a sudden and unforeseen mechanical failure in an automobile. With these infrequent exceptions, the driver is the cause of automobile accidents.

Slippery roads or sharp curves do not cause accidents. The most they can do is to provide a situation out of which the heedless driver will manage to concoct a smash-up fatal to himself or some one else. The wetness of a road is not a hidden thing. The good driver perceives the obvious danger and controls the speed of his car so that he will avoid it. Curves are either marked or they are visible from such a distance that the watchful driver is warned in time.

"Witnesses said the car was travelling at a high rate of speed before the crash." That is a sentence that constantly recurrs in accident reports. In the nature of things, accidents cannot be eliminated entirely, but your chances of getting through the summer alive and healthy will be tremendously improved if you steadfastly resist the temptation to push the needle on the speedometer all the way 'round. That "100" on the dial is probably nothing but propaganda anyhow.

The man is not yet born who will not admit under sufficient pressure that he is probably the best, safest and most skillful manipulator of a steering wheel who ever beat a red traffic light. We're all good—it's the other fellow who ought to be pulled off the road and locked up.

Granted, for the sake of peace and friendship, that you are the best driver in your town, county and state, will you listen to one little suggestion: when you roll out on the public highway these pleasant summer week-ends leave the old competitive spirit back in the garage with the lawn mower and the children's bicycles. That competitive spirit, within decent limits, is a great thing to have in business or in sports, but when you're sitting behind a steering wheel it's just an application for admission to an accident ward or a morgue.

Let the boy with the surly horn and the sour look go by. If he crowds you a little, don't fight him back, hub to hub; give him two-thirds of the road. Tomorrow, they'll be changing his bandages while you're changing into your bathing suit.

If it looks as though you're going to run a dead heat with an opposing driver at an intersection, quit cold on your own side of the crossing and let him rush on to glory and the grave. He'll meet his match at the next crossing—some he-man who'd rather die than take dust and who'll get his wish and a panoramic picture of his remains in the local paper.

When you have mastered the art of refusing challenges to wreck your car and kill yourself, with no prize offered for the winner of the wreck or his dependents, you can say that you have graduated from the ranks of the amateur driver and moved into a professional rating. You will have achieved the professional attitude which does not permit the taking of risks or the public exhibition of skill without proportionate reward. If you like to do dangerous tricks with a car, the circus awaits you. But don't give a free show on the open road. Merely beating an unknown lunatic around a blind curve is not an honor that a professional would crave.

A word, in parting, on the subject of traffic cops. If you are whistled over to the side of the road, the chances are that, unbelievable as it may seem, you actually were out of order. And if the officer talks a little louder than is strictly necessary, keep your collar cool. You may not appreciate it at the moment, but it's just possibe that he's saving your life. And it's ever so much better to be uncomfortable than unconscious.—From "Columbia."

EDITORIAL NOTES AND COMMENT.

Vote as you like on Tuesday—but vote.

One of the brightest thoughts about the present election campaign is that it will soon be over.

Interest in the election seems to be spotty. In some sections there appears to be wild excitement; in others the electors refuse to shake out of their apathy.

NEWS OF OUR OWN VILLAGE

The enlightened citizenry of these parts is going out to the poles, we hope, next Tuesday and decide whether Geo. Henry or Mitch Hepburn is going to run things in this banner province for the next 5 years.

What with political speeches over the air every few minutes, day and nite, many folks sez a radio license aint worth no 2 bucks and thinks the Radio Commission oughta do something about it.

Ike McNabb and other Kiwanians of this berg was in attendance at the Kiwanis get-together in Toronto, west of here, this week, and report a good time was had by all.

The senior baseball team from here motored down to Kingston, well to the east of us, Wed., but a rain storm come along in time to save the country and brake up the ball game in the 2nd spasm. The boys had a nice trip anyway, and that's something.

The village Rotarians is all suffering from sore throats and such through doing so much yelling at the Market Square Wed. and Thurs. nite. The Rotes can't take it like the politicians has to do, we note, in passing.

The berg has appointed a new medical health officer. Doc Murray Fraser, but a little too late for him to do much about election cigars we regret to report.

Any citizen that wants to help any of the candidates in this election by walking to the polls can get his name put on a brass plate by reporting to any of the political headquarters. Most of the folks seems to want to ride.

A Thought

Failures are with heroic minds the stepping-stones to success.

Foreign Affairs

(By H. W. L. MAHOQD)

THE UNITED STATES

A small cloud of complaints against the N.R.A. codes has at last burst like a thunderstorm. Something must be done and without delay to save the situation. The whole effect of the N.R.A. cannot be hidden nor poo-pooed away. It has helped the strong corporations and big business. It has not helped the small industries, nor the side street business man, nor the farmer. Higher prices paid by the consumer have not been accompanied by higher incomes. The average workman, and the poor, find adequate nourishment and comfortable clothing and suitable shelter more difficult to provide for their homes. Fifty per cent of the home are not homes. They are shacks.

Five thausand industrialist were summoned to Washington. Administrators of the N.R.A. were also summoned. Throughout the whole nation the small man trying to make a living from his farm, or from his business cried out again the destruction of the little that he had. Senators Borah and Nye are now lined up with the opposition. During the administration of Theodore Roosevelt, anti-trust laws were enacted against monopolies. Now they are suspended. To suspend, authority comes from its source. Suspension of any law is a serious breach of justice, even though it be by a President. Legislative action must precede such a step. Authority must be given before it can be exercised.

The worst feature is not the unusual procedure of the President. It is the crushing of the small industries by the suspension of the anti-trust laws. The blow struck at the N.R.A. by three Senators was telling. General Johnson was stopped in his tracks. He could not proceed as if nothing had been said by Borah and Nye. He was wise enough to create a National Recovery Board, to study the effects of the National Recovery Administration. Clarence Darrow was placed at its head. Darrow is nationally known. He is seventy-seven years old. Better if we had written seven-seven years young. For he is a marvel of vigor both physically and intellectually. As a lawyer Darrow stands among the few greater ones. Religiouly he is not a booster of Christianity. As a defence counsel he is unrivalled in the United States.

Five other Senators, all of them mature in years and in experience were placed on the board. For convenience and to give general satisfaction, the nation was divided into nine sections. The purpose was to get as nearly as possible the actual condition of the farmer, and the small business man.

To Darrow it became evident that for freedom of action the National Recovery Review Board should be free and independent of the National Recovery Administration. He presented the case to the President with the result that the plan was changed. The Review Board became a Presidential commission. In due time the report came in. The report condemned the N.R.A. codes and its policies as monopolistic and harmful to individuals, to small business, and to the consumers, to such an extent that the Administration did not know how to proceed.

The President and the National Recovery Administration dare not give the report to the press. To publish the report in full would mean a major blow of major consequences against the policies of Roosevelt and his brain trust. It was not published until a reply from those high in the National Recovery Administration could be given out at the same time.

For seventeen days the various branches of the administration tossed the report from one to another like a "hot potato, too warm to hold and yet to important to let the contents drop where the contents could be seen. Finally after two months the answer of General Johnson, the head of the National Recovery Administration, was released. He had been intimating that he would "crack on the chin," industrialists who did not conform to his plans, and to do direful things to others who did not conform. General Johnson raged like a mad man at the Review Board's report.

What's in The NAME

of Canadian Cities and Towns?

By FRANK H. WILLIAMS

LACOMBE, ALBERTA

To anyone acquainted with western history there is no mystery attached to the manner in which this town got its name. The name of Father Lacombe, the Roman Catholic missionary, is well known from the head of the lakes to the Pacific coast, as one of the best loved of the pioneer missionaries.

The builders of the Calgary and Edmonton railway, who turned the first sod in 1892, decided that this town, situated just north of Red Deer, should be honored with the name of the famous western missionary.

Father Lacombe was sent into what was then known as the District of Alberta in 1867, and for half a century he ministered to the whites and Indians alike. His name is revered as one of the best-loved of the builders of the west.

THE MARKETS

ONTARIO GRAIN.

Approximate prices, track shipping point: Wheat, 99c to $1.02; oats, 40c to 45c; barley, 48c to 50c; corn, 65c to 70c; rye, 48c to 50c; buckwheat, 58c to 60c.

MONTREAL PRODUCE.

Butter was easier and egg prices were stronger on the Montreal produce and dairy market yesterday.

Butter was off ¾ of a cent at 21¼ cents a pound for fresh No. 1, in carlots or less. Small lots to retailers sold for 22 to 23 cents a pound for solids and 23 to 24 cents for prints. Receipts were five boxes.

The egg market was generally ½ cent stronger, Quebec and Ontario graded shipments in less than carlots being 20 cents a dozen for "A" large, 19 cents for "A" medium, 18½ cents for "B" and 17½ to 18 cents for "C." Arrivals totalled 1,644 cases.

Cheese held steady, Ontario colored bringing 11 to 11¼ cents a pound, while Quebec cheese sold for 10¾ to 10⅛ cents a pound. Receipts totalled 2,633 boxes.

The potato market was practically unchanged, N.B. Mountains being quoted at 70 to 75 cents per 80-lb. bag, compared with 70 to 80 cents Thursday, while Quebec whites sold for 65 to 70 cents per 80-lb. bag and Prince Edward Island Mountains brought 95 cents to $1 per 90-lb. bag.

CHICAGO GRAIN.

Renewal of speculative buying lifted wheat values at the last yesterday after temporary losses had reeplaced early gains.

The buying, which hand-in-hand with the late rally of the wheat market was attributed to trade belief that liquidation on the part of weak holders had been completed, and that fresh upturns of prices were to be expected. Particular significance was attached to announcement that Germany had prohibited exports of breadstuffs, and it was contended that this action emphasized likelihood of increased European demand for wheat because of adverse crop conditions throughout the Danube region, as well as in Italy and France.

Wheat closed firm, ¾c to ⅞c above Thursday's finish; corn, ¾c to ⅞c down; oats, unchanged to ⅝c higher, and provisions, unchanged to 7 cents off.

WINNIPEG GRAIN.

WINNIPEG, June 16. — The prospect of warm weather in Western Canada, late strength at Chicago, and fair sales of Canadian wheat for export account boosted the wheat prices ⅜ to 1⅛ cents on the Winnipeg Grain Exchange yesterday.

High points for the day were made in the closing minutes and the absence of aggressive selling was also a factor in the upturn. July what finished at 77c, October at 79¼c, and December at 80 cents.

There was no figure placed on foreign sales. Locals and houses with seaboard and Continental connections were the best buyers while liquidation occurred only on early advances. Renewed buying near the close as Chicago prices stiffened found the pit bare of offerings.

Top grades of cash grains were improved fractionally, and coarse grains followed wheat upward.

ON THIS DATE

A DAY IN CANADIAN HISTORY

By Fred Williams

THE COMING OF THE LOYALISTS

On this date, one hundred and fifty years ago the first of the Loyalists from New York arrived at the Bay of Quinte, having made their way up the St. Lawrence in batteaux and other craft. It would be well if we of today were able to visualize the picture of that June day, but as we cannot let us avail ourselves of the pen of W. K. Mikel, K.C., of Belleville, who has written:

"A man and his wife who had been well educated and brought up amid the comforts of a long settled part of New York State, where the husband owned a farm which now forms part of a prosperous city of that state. After the close of the war, deciding to go where they can be under the protection of the British flag and enjoy British institutions, they start for the new part of Canada. After weeks of weary travel, harassed along the way by hostile citizens of the new republic at last they land on the south shore of Lake Ontario (Mr. Mikel is dealing with those who came up the Mohawk trail and not those who had left Sorel on May 24, and whose trials and privations were much more severe). They embark in a frail craft with little else than the family Bible and a small quantity of food. After a long pull across the lake and a sojourn of Frontenac they pass up the passive waters of the picturesque Bay of Quinte. All fear is now gone. That horrible eight year nightmare of war has disappeared. Only the husky mosquito, the tantalising fly, the howling wolves and the prowling bears are with them.

"The surveyor's work is done. They have picked out their lot in what is now the southern part of the first concession of the Township of Amelisaburg, Prince Edward county. The battle for a home starts against the mighty virgin forest. At last the settler triumphs and the forset reluctantly and stubbornly yields a roof and walls of logs. There is no lumber to be had to there are no doors or window, only openings covered with quilts or bark. The fireplace furnishes the only light." Food was scarce. A hard winter had to be faced, and it was. From the stock who faced such conditions have come a long list of men and women who have made Canada what it is. John A. Macdonald was one; Mackenzie Bowell was another. To them could be added names of provincial premiers, governors, business and religious leaders all from the Bay of Quinte, a roll of honor indeed!

Character From Handwriting

By BLANCHE A. DRAPER

A Feature Conducted by Peterboroughs Leading Handwriting Analyist for the Readers of The Examiner

Full name and address (complete) must be given in all samples sent in.

Lucy Marrocco,
483 Elm St., Peterborough.

Your handwriting as given for analysis represents a decided character. You are energetic, pleasing and kind. You carry yourself with poise and refinement. You have especially ingenious thoughts and ideas. Social life should appeal to one of your nature, but you would have to be the advisor. Your type as a rule does not work well under supervision. You are exceptionally fond of fine linen and delicate china, but do not crave it above all else. You are sensible, hardworking and quite generous. You do not make very many friends, but those whom fortune has favored with your friendship enjoy your confidence and entertainment. You should enjoy gardening for the out-of-doors to you, is recreation. Your will-power is very good, yet I see a tendency in the manner in which your end letters are written which depicts a capacity to punish yourself by working too long and too hard. You will never give up once you begin an undertaking, even if it takes the last ounce of your strength. Your number is 6. Your sign Gemini the Twins. You are ruled by Mercury. April and August your best months. Friday your lucky day.

Mrs. Mary Maher,
359 Roger St., Peterborough.

Your handwriting indicates that you are a very shrewd person. You have a strong mind and do not like to have your wishes crossed. Determination is depicted definitely in the manner in which you press on your downstrokes. The writing describes you as a person who is really not yet fully mature in some ways, yet in others you show great understanding. There is a slight nervous tendency shown in the forward slant and the crowding of some of your letters. You do not belong to the business type at all, but would do well in domestic affairs, either as housewife or special domestic dietician. The outlines shows that you rush headlong into propositions and make many mistakes whereas, had you taken more time in which to ponder, you would have been more successful. Your number is 6. Your sign Aries the Ram. You are ruled by Mars. June and July are your best months, and Tuesday your lucky day.

IL DUCE, HITLER IN AGREEMENT

No Protest by Italy to Nazi Chancellor in Austria if Country Kept Independent.

FRANCE NOT DISCUSSED.

(By Andrue Berding, A.P. Foreign Staff.)

VENICE, June 16 (A.P.). — Adolf Hitler, manifestly satisfied with results of his two-day conference, with Europe's other leading dictator, Benito Mussolini, left by plane early to-day for Berlin.

Ending what may prove to be one of the momentous meetings in history, Hitler and Mussolini said a cordial farewell at the airport here at 8 a.m., as massed thousands of Fascist troops cheered.

Observers listed results of their conversations, on which the world's hope of disarmament were pinned, as follows:

1—Austria, despite Nazi leanings, must remain an independent nation, one of Italy's primary aims. In return Musolini agreed to "lay off" if a Nazi were elected Chancellor of Austria.

2—Official sources said no definite agreement was reached as to disarmament, although the primary object of the meeting was presumably for Mussolini to induce Germany to return to the League of Nations and the Disarmament Conference.

3—Germany will be invited to join the Italo-Austro-Hungarian economic accord, a move expected to promote peace in Central Europe.

4—Conversation, an Italian spokesman said, opposed regional blocs in favor of general co-operation.

France, observers claimed, did not figure in the discussions, although previous reports said Italy and Germany would seek an alliance protecting them against France's numerous affiliations in Europe.

A brief and simple exchange of farewells marked the parting. There was little formality, although troops were drawn up at attention. The farewell was more cordial than the greeting when the two met for the first time.

Mrs. Gillespie Publishes Astor Apology As Latest Shot In 'Broken Romance' Tangle

NEW YORK, June 16 (AP) — Young John Jacob Astor's apology to his former fiance, Eileen Gillespie—the apology in exchange for which he received back the $100,000 diamond engagement ring he had given Miss Gillespie—was made public to-day by the young woman's mother, Mrs. Lawrence Lewis Gillespie.

Said Mrs Gillespie in the latest statement in the sharp verbal exchange over the broken romance: "In reported interviews to the press Mr. John Jacob Astor seems to cause some doubt as to the quality of his apology".

The following, Mrs. Gillespie said, is the text of the letter which the Astor scion gave to Miss Gillespie last Monday and in return, the ring.

"Dear Miss Gillespie: I willingly withdraw anything I may have said to you in the corridor of the Savoy-Plaza Hotel on Sunday, Jan. 23, 1934, which may have hurt you, and I apologize.

"I assure that if I have occasion to speak or write of you or your family it will be only with respect, for as you know, I have always held you in the highest esteem.

"Sincerely, J. J. Astor."

While the latest verbal exchange was occurring, invitations went out for the wedding of young Astor and Ellen Tuck French, debutante, at Newport, June 30.

FRANCE, BRITAIN SIGN NEW PACT

Trade Agreement Lifts Measure for Quotas Upon Imports.

DETAILS UNSETTLED.

LONDON, June 16.—(C. P. Cable) — Trade difficulties between the United Kingdom and France were removed by a new trade agreement initialled today at the Foreign Office.

Both countries will withdraw measures for quotas on imports and countervailing duties applied against each other some months ago, and most-favored-nation treatment will be mutually conceded.

The pact embodies decisions to improve the conditions governing trade in certain agricultural products, but no particulars of the agreement will be made public until the pact is actually signed, probably during next week.

Previous trade agreements between the two countries were nullified early in the year, after France imposed drastic quota restrictions on important imports from Britain on Jan. 1. Britain retaliated by boosting the duties on French products, and eventually the existing trade agreement along with an old convention giving privileged port treatment were killed.

A French trade mission came to London in March and left within a few days with some confusion as to whether basis had been found for a new agreement. Evidently however the negotiations carried on between London and Paris have since removed existing difficulties.

Wearing Ruling Goes To Supreme Court

LONDON, Ont., June 16 (C.P.).—Because of its province-wide importance and the number of local cases it will affect, the judgment of County Judge Joseph Wearing in the school tax division case will be sent to the Supreme Court of Ontario for review, Thomas J. Holmes, school attendance officer, representing the London Board of Education, is appealing the decision, referring the matter as a stated case to the High Court.

Frank H. Curran, counsel for Mr. Holmes, who brought the action because only a ratepayer may do so, made the announcement that Judge Wearing would be asked to refer the matter to the Supreme Court. Under this procedure, the local Judge submits all the facts and argument in the case to the Appellate Division and that tribunal will review his judgment.

Judge Wearing held that in cases of mixed marriages, husbands and wives may jointly lease their property so half their school taxes may go to the Roman Catholic separate schools and half to the public schools. The London Board of Education contends that the public schools are entitled to the full amount and this test will decide countless other cases throughout Ontario.

IMPROVEMENTS FOR CAMP INGLESTANE

New Wharves Will Be Built—Y.W.C.A. Board Holds June Meeting.

The June meeting of the Y.W.C.A. Board of Directors was held this week, Mrs. E. E. Harvey taking the devotional opening and presiding for the regular business.

The financial reports for the month, read by Miss E. Morrow, showed a slight balance. The president expressed the feeling of loss felt by the Association in the death of Miss Charlotte Dickson, one of the oldest members and a generous and intertsed contributor ever since the Y.W.C.A. was organized. The memory of the Dickson family will always be closely associated with the Young Women's Christian Association.

A welcome was extended to Mrs. C. V. McLean, a former member re-elected to the Board at the annual meeting last month.

The Swimming Pool Committee reported consideration of plans for a garden party and recommended, in view of the larger number of garden socials already planned for this month that the "Y" Annual Garden Party for this year be postponed until fall, when some special effort might be made in connection with the planned Thirtieth Anniversary of the present Y.W.C.A. building. Committees were appointed to make plans for this anniversary.

Mrs. V. Eastwood reported for the Camp Committee, giving an illustration of a business man's appreciation of Camp Ingelstane. Considerable new equipment is being sent up to camp this year and new wharves will be an improvement to be much enjoyed by campers.

The General Secretary and Physical Director gave a full report of the month's activities and the Residence Superintended reported on the recent Refresher Course held in Toronto.

Mrs. R. Turner presided for the election of officers which is held each June meeting following the annual meeting of May. The executive officers for 1934-35, are:

Honorary President, Mrs. T. Cruickshank; President, Mrs. H. R. H. Kenner; Vice-Presidents, Mrs. B. Shortley, Mrs. H. C. Sootheran, Mrs. A. A. Moir; Treasurer, Miss E. Morrow; Secretary, Miss A. Wood; Associate Secretary, Mrs. G. E. Porter; Representatives to the Executive, Mrs. E. E. Harvey, Mrs. V. Eastwood.

Appreciation of the five years of loyal service of the past president, Mrs. E. E. Harvey, was expressed by Mrs. V. Eastwood, who spoke of Mrs. Harvey's faithfulness and the real success attained by the Association under Mrs. Harvey's leadership.

The president for the coming year was heartily welcomed and assured the co-operation in the service of the association.

The meeting closed with prayer followed by a social half hour.

Airplanes which originally cost $20,000 and are still in serviceable condition are being sold in London for $250.

JOHN SMITH LEAVES CITY MONDAY MORN

Young Man Adventurer All Set to Star on First Leg of Long Journey.

ACROSS OCEAN WASTES.

Hopes to Arrive at St. John's, New Brunswick, by First of July.

"I'm all set to go," John Smith, 24-year-old sailor who intends to paddle the Atlantic in a canoe, said to-day. Barring some misfortune, he will set out from George street wharf on the first leg of his trip to Peterborough, England, shortly after seven o'clock Monday morning, he states.

Mr. Smith is spending this evening and to-morrow on the waters of Stoney Lake getting the feel of the paddle in preparation for his long grind. Choosing an "Old Prospector" model as most suited to his needs, he arranged the purchase of a canoe from the Peterborough Canoe Company yesterday. The canoe is 16 feet long, canvas covered and of light but very study construction. Along the sides of the craft in large letters he has printed in large letters, "Pride of Peterborough."

For a time yesterday, the sailor was in fear that financial difficulties would force a postponement of his departure. He had made a very careful estimate of all the expenses he expects to meet between now and his final leave-taking of St. John's Newfoundland, and found himself fifteen dollars short of his budget. A last minute readjustment, however, served to make the budget balance. Among the heavier expenses which still remain after the purchase of the canoe is the cost of a sextant for use in charting his position when at sea. He hopes to secure one of these instruments at St. John's for about fifty dollars. He had planned also to buy a sleeping bag, but was donated one this week by friends in the city.

Arrive at Coast on 1st July

When he starts on Monday he will carry enough provisions in this canoe to carry him well along his course from here down Lake Ontario and down the St. Lawrence River, he reports. He hopes to arrive at St. John's by the 1st of July. Scorning the use of hotels while on the first leg of his trip, he intends to sleep in the open. "This isn't going to be a tourist jaunt," he declared.

Asked if he was carrying any letter of greeting from Mayor Denne to the Mayor of Peterborough, England, he said that he had not been asked to do so, but would be glad to carry one if requested.

MOB THREATENS

the attacker took refuge in a garage. The mob dragged him into the street. Fists and sticks flew at the cringing suspect as inguriated members of the posse tore at his clothes. It was at this point that Constable Smythe, summoned to the scene prevented more serious action by the mob.

Constable Smythe found that the alleged offence occurred in Etobicoke and called in Constable Byron Burbridge to handle the case.

Several citizens of the village commented on the fine work of Constable Smythe in his handling of the angry mob.

For Father's Day Jinxed

WASHINGTON, June 16.—(A.P.)—If there is a father's day movement for dollar contributions in behalf of the fathers of quintuplets, present and future, blame it onto a father who wrote a letter to Mrs. Franklin D. Roosevelt.

His unsigend letter was postmarked Ithaca, N.Y., enclosing a dollar bill, he said:

"I am father of twins, with interest and principal on a mortgage due in July.

"For this reason the situation of Ernest Dionne of Corbell, Ont., has haunted me.

"Those quintuplets are a pretty heavy responsibility for any one man.

MUSICIANS QUIT ON RADIO BOARD OVER FEE RATES

Strike Involving 5,000 Members of Protective Association Spreads Over Canada.

TROUBLE IN MONTREAL.

Commission Rushes Changes in Programs to Avoid Broadcast Tie-up.

TORONTO, June 16. (CP).—Alterations in Canadian Radio Commission programmes were being rushed to-day as approximately 5,000 musicians members of the Musicians' Protective Association, withdrew their services from Commission broadcasts.

Announcement of the "strike", affecting players from coast to coast, was made here last night by Walter Murdoch, president of the Toronto Musicians' Protective Association and chairman of the Musicians' Radio Broadcasting Committee of Canada. He claimed the "strike" was general.

Disputes between union musicians in Montreal with the Commissions authorities there were responsible for the general withdrawal of services, Mr. Murdoch stated. The Commission there reportedly declined to pay fees scheduled by the Association. They would not agree to pay anything for remote control broadcasts, he claimed.

Refused 30 p.c. Increase

The "withdrawal of services" in Montreal became effective last Sunday. The musicians there, it was claimed, were refused a 30 percent increase and union recognition. According to the organization's president the Montreal local appealed to other union divisions and the Commission was forthwith placed upon the "unfair list."

According to Mr. Murdoch the Association had made every effort to avoid the 'withdrawal of services," but the Commission had chosen to make an issue of the demands of his organization.

Stations which broadcast "feeds" to the Commission programmes are also affected by the organization's action. In Toronto alone, Mr. Murdoch asserted, close to 1,000 musicians are affected by the withdrawal.

PENSION SYSTEM IS BEING ABUSED COUNCIL IS TOLD

Inmates of House of Refuge Granted Full Pension of $20.

54 PENSIONS GRANTED.

County Road Commission Authorized to Buy Car of Snow Fence.

COBOURG, June 16—Criticism of the practise of granting full pensions of twenty dollars a month to inmates of the House of Refuge, while other applicants received only ten dollars, twelve or fifteen a month, was expressed by Reeve N. A. MacColl of Campbellford at Friday morning's session of the counties council.

Other members intimated that some feeling of dissatisfaction and complaint had recently arisen from the fact that most of the first pensions issued three years ago were for $20 a month, whereas persons in comparative circumstances were granted smaller pensions during the last year or more.

The discussion followed the reading of the report of the Old Age Pensions Committee by its secretary, Reeve P. Stinson, Millbrook.

Reeve MacColl pointed out that the average pension recommended by the committee this year was $13.50, but pensioners who are inmates of the House of Refuge were granted $20 a month of which 90 per cent was assigned to the counties treasury.

"I don't thing it is just," Mr. MacColl said, "that there should be this difference."

Reeve Stinson—If any inmate of the House of Refuge goes back to a son or daughter steps are taken to have their pensions reduced.

Reeve MacColl — The committee says to one man—"All you can get is $10 or $12 a month because you have a son who should be helping you", when the son may not be in a position to help. But, if a man goes into the House of Refuge, his pension is automatically granted at $20. It is not only dishonorable, but it is an abuse of the government's pension scheme, and it will come back on us as soon as the government realizes what is going on.

Reeve Stinson — Mr. MacColl should not use the word dishonorable and there is no intention to abuse the pension policy. Until the government takes some action there is no reason for us to complain. It is a matter of good business for the counties. We should be the last to raise any objection.

Reeve MacColl—When the government takes action it will be too late. We'll get the axe.

Reeve Stinson said that the united counties were holding their pension "as close as any Old Age Pensions Committee in Ontario."

"Some have been increased, depending on the circumstances as investigated by the provincial inspector, but everybody can't get all they ask for in pensions", Reeve Stinson said.

Reeve Curtis—The Government is upholding our Committee. What you do is to recommend that applications be granted, and the inspector looks over them.

Reeve Stinson—The inspector is given the name of an applicant. That is all. He does not know the amount of the pension recommended. He makes an investigation, as to whether any pension should be granted. Every inmate of Houses of Refuge throughout the province is getting the same amount.

Reeve MacColl—I am not criticizing the functioning of the committee or its capability, but I think the policy as it applies to the House of Refuge is a poor policy.

Reeve Stinson—One difficulty is that pensions granted in the beginning were $20, and today they are more generally around $12 or $15. The inspector is gradually cutting some of the pensions down. Our average is still over $17 a month.

Reeve H. Morrow, Murray township—I have heard some complaints that pensions today are on a lower scale than those granted three or four years ago.

Reeve Duncan said that the Parents' Maintenance Act had to be taken into consideration, and that it required children to provide for their aged parents.

"I don't know any inmate of the House of Refuge who has children, and that is a reason why they are granted $20. Others outside the Houseof Refuge who have children are not getting the full amount. I stand behind everything we have done," Reeve Duncan said.

Reeve MacColl—I approve of cuts being made, because living costs are lower, but put everybody in the same class. Don't put those in the House of Refuge in a preferred class, and deliberately "gyp" the government to help our finances.

Reeve Lovekin, Clarke township—If anybody is "gypping" the government, it is themselves. Their inspector looks into all these cases. I have noticed that when parents are getting $15 or $18 a month their children want them."

Reeve Morrow said that the committee might make some readjustments to meet complaints he had heard about and those who were getting the original $20.

Reeve Curtis—why should pensioners in these counties be cut to $12, while in the next county they get $20. We are paying our share of the cost, and you tell us we are one of the lowest counties in the province.

Reeve Stinson—We seem to be getting nearer together. Mr. Curtis didn't want to take the extra $18,000 from the government for road work because the word relief was mentioned, but Percy township is getting $7000 of that money, and Mr. MacColl is objecting to pension monies while Campbellford has a good many persons getting pensions.

Reeve Stinson's remark closed the discussion on a note of laughter and good humor.

54 Pensions Granted

He reported that 54 new applications for pensions have been granted this year up to June 1.

Sixty-six applications were received by the board and twelve were refused.

Three pensions were for $7.50; ten were for $10 each; three were for $12.50 and thirty-eight for $15.

Theaverage pension recommended was $13.50.

Average ageof applicants, 75.

There are twenty-three pensions in the House of Refuge, each of whom receives $20 a month of which $18 is assigned to the United Counties and $2 to the pensioner.

Numberof pensioners on the April list, 960.

Average pension, $17.29.

Total pensions in April $1,682.75.

Number of meetingsof the board, five.

Number of applications under investigation, 25.

Of the sixty-six applications one was from South Monaghan, one from Percy, one from Cavan. Also Millbrook one, Manvers one; Campbellford four, Cramahe, eight, Colborne, four, Haldimand, five, Murray, seven, Port Hope, seven.

Starling Menace

Lincoln county's proposal that the provincial Department of Agriculture be urged to take some action against the menace of the increasing number of starlings was approved by the agricultural committee of which Deputy-reeve S. J. Gray of Hope township is chairman.

Grant of $100 for promotion of junior farm work in each county under the direction of E. A. Summers, agricultural representative in Durham and Walter Smith in Northumberland were recommended by the committee, and endorsed by the council.

Another grant of $100 was appropriated the Quinte Seed Fair if it is held in 1935.

Purchase Snow Fence

The county road commission was authorized to buy a car of snow fence for distribution next winter, and George Greer, road superintendent, was asked to check up on the quantity of snow fence already purchased to make sure none had been lost.

Warkworth's request for a bridge railing was also referred to the commissioner.

The roads and bridges committee proposed that seven miles of road in Brighton township and one mile in Murray be added to the county road system.

House of Refuge

Reeve F. S. Gray, Manvers, chairman of the Board of Management of the House of Refuge reported sixty inmates on June 1. Twelve were admitted since January, five died, eight were discharged and two absconded.

COUNTY JUDGE TO INVESTIGATE

nance Committee for reconsideration was effective in restoring $400 of the decrease.

Reeve Curtis moved an amendment, seconded by his Deputy-reeve, A. R. Mallory, that the clerk's salary remain the same as last year, but they were supported only by Reeve A. R. MacKenzie of Haldimand.

The salary of Miss L. McMahon, secretary to Mr. Greer, which had been cut from $900 to $800 last year was increased to $850, but the other salaries including Mr. Greer, who volunteered to accept the same as last year and the staff of the House of Refuge, were left at the slashed figures of 1933.

The Insurance Question

An effort to transfer the county's liability insurance from the Consolidate Insurance Company to the Globe Indemnity Company was defeated in Council on a division of 24 to 15.

The Finance Committee recommended renewal of the policy with the Consolidated at a premium of $686. Reeve Hooton moved an amendment to the committee's report, seconded by Reeve MacColl, that the Globe policy be purchased at a cost of $1,092 for the year beginning June 17.

The debate leaders were Mr. MacColl and Mr. Curtis who spoke in favor of the Consolidated.

Mr. MacColl stressed the strength and security of the Globe, a tariff company, and deprecated the action of the Consolidate last year in its manner of contesting claims against the county.

Mr. Curtis emphasized the saving of $400 in premium, read the list of officers of the Consolidated, and remarked that this company was regarded as satisfactory by the council a year ago when its contract was first accepted.

Cost of Witnesses

The Department of the Attorney-General was asked to refund any sum already paid for hotel expenses of several Finnish witnesses in the trial of Yrgo Laurila for the murder of Fred McLaren, Cavan. It was stated that the counties did not liability for such court costs, and if the Crown required the Finns they could have been housed in the jail.

On the other hand the council passed a hotel bill for nine dollars incurred in keeping here the young transient, H. McGinn, chief witness against John Pridmore of Belleville, who was acquitted of having run down and killed a man on the highway west of Port Hope last winter.

County Road Wages

The scale of county road wages for this season was adopted as follows: laborers, 25 cents an hour, last year, 20 cents; patrol men, 30c, last year, 23 cents; man and team, 45 cents; last year, 35 cents; foreman and team, 48 cents; last year, 38 cents.

WHY IS COOKE OUT ON STUMP

"But why did he not tell the Legislature that in the last session? He was repeatedly given chances to reveal his salary on the floor of the House but refused to give it before the peoples' chosen body of representatives. He now uses the information for election propaganda, stumping for the Conservatives."

Locke Melon

Turning his broadside in another direction, Mr. McRuer ridiculed an advertisement in a Toronto paper Thursday announcing an address by Mrs. Clark Locke on the subject "Why I am going to vote for Premier Henry." "The fist reason," he declared, "is that she is Premier Henry's daughter. For the second reason, let us look to the accounts of the province and see how much business Henry's government has given the firm of Mr. Clark Locke, his daughter's husband, during the past several years. In 1933 the son-in-law's company got $20,183.13 worth of business from the Government; in 1932, $19,386.75; in 1931, $24,821.30; and in 1930, $30,842.96. That is why Mrs. Clark Locke is voting for her daddy."

The Locke firm, he said, is an advertising business completely owned and controlled by Mr. Locke. The Government business it received was principally in connection with the advertising of the Provincial Savings Bank.

Family Compact

Mr. McRuer asserted: "This is a contest of the people against a family compact which has laid greedy hands on Ontario. What we want in Toronto are men who have a heart for the common people."

Dealing with Tory promises to do something for the returned soldiers during recent years, he claimed the Tories have had eleven years to help them but have done nothing. "Henry won't even give a returned soldier a job if there is a Tory partyman after that same job." In Cobourg he said, efforts of prominent men to get a worthy Victoria Cross holder the job of sheriff have failed. The man may have risked his life for his country but he is not a good Tory, he pointed out.

John Lay

John Lay characterized the withdrawal of John Corkery from the Conservative organization in Peterborough with its associated implications as a deplorable last minute attempt of Henry to draw a red herring across the trail. The Government is fighting with its back to the wal or it would not resort to such a cheap device, he said.

"There is only one issue on this election and that is the record of the Henry administration. It is your duty to look into that record and decide whether those responsible should continue. Look at the figures which reveal that our provincial debt now stands around $610,000,000 and is mounting fast."

He spoke of the plight in which British Columbia is in. If it were not for Federal assistance, the province of British Columbia would be bankrupt, he said, predicting that the day is approaching when Ontario will be in the same situation. "Are we to go crawling on our hands and knees to the Federal government for rescue? We shall have to if Henry gets in again."

No Empty Promise

Asserting that Hepburn is making no empty promise in offering to cut administration costs 50 percent the speaker declared that the Liberal leader will be able to effect the saving without sacrifice of hospitals, pensions or other humanitarian works. The saving will be made by a ruthless slashing of the wages of government ministers, by the removal of all governmental frills, and by similar fearless measures, he said.

F. D. Kerr

"If Hepburn is mustering the forces of disruption and disorder, who created the forces of disruption and disorder?" F. D. Kerr asked as he dealt with an assertion of Premier Henry recently. He suggested that the Torry leader was pursuing the same course as a man trying to keep himself financially solvent by playing bridge for high stakes.

Straws show which way the wind blows, Mr. Kerr continued. There are several straws in the Peterborough district which indicate that Conservatives themselves know they are due for a crushing defeat, he said. He cited in this connection the withdrawal of Mr. Staples in Victoria, the Hon. J. R. Cook in Hastings and Mr. Strickland in Peterborough from the election arena. "Strickland said: "After you my dear Percy" And Percy has been wondering ever since whether he was presented with a plum or a lemon."

Bert Munroe

"The Government should pay a fair wage on Government work," Bert Munroe said as he attacked the rate of 25 cents an hour being paid the road workers. "If the Government insists on bribing the public with ditch-filling and other road work let it set the proper example. Private interests can not be expected to lead the way to higher wages with the Government paying 25 cents an hour."

The boy orator warned that a vote for Henry was a vote for extravagant government. To vote for Rev. Sutherland and the C.C.F. is to throw away one's vote, for, even if the C.C.F. should triumph in Peterborough, it can not gain power in the legislature, he said.

"The Conservatives admitted themselves that they expect no help from the country and you can see by the enthusiasm of this meeting that they can expect no help from the cities." This was the assurance of Mr. Hawthorne as he rose to speak a few words. He reported that he has found an excelent response throughout the riding and called on the support of every voter who wishes good, honest government in the interests of the many.

QUICK DECISION BY TRIAL JURY IN SORDID CASE

Thomas Hele is Found Guilty of Assaulting His Wife.

JUDGE PRAISES POLICE.

States Conditions at Hele Home Should Not Be Permitted to Continue.

After less than 15 minutes' deliberation a jury returned yesterday afternoon with a verdict of guilty against Thomas Hele, 34, motor mechanic, on a charge of assaulting his wife.

The case was tried before Judge R. N. Ruddy, of Whitby, acting judge of Peterborough County, in General Sessions of the Peace, and the evidence unfolded one of the most sordid stories of marital troubles presented in a local court in years.

Crown Attorney V. J. McElderry, K.C., conducted the prosecution and W. J. Arthur Fair the defence. In his address to the jury, Judge Ruddy stated that if the evidence of Crown witnesses was to be believed, conditions were such at the Hele home that "they certainly should not be permitted to continue." He praised the local police department for the "very necessary investigations made that brought the case to light." Sentence was withheld until to-day, when the court ends its session.

In his argument to the jury, Mr. Fair urged that the alleged assault made by Hele upon his wife was but an ordinary family squabble and that William Merideth, a neighbor boy, who told of wrestling a razor from Hele's hand during the heat of the fighting, had no business interfering or even being present in the house. On the other hand Crown Attorney McElderry informed the jury that Mrs. Hele had repeatedly found it necessary to charge her husband with non-support and seek police protection from him.

Angry Over Supper.

Mrs. Hele, who said she was 32, but who looked much older, stated that she and her husband and children were residing on Sherbrooke street. On the evening of March 16, her husband came home about 7 o'clock and became angry because there was not more food for his supper. She explained that they were on relief, although her husband secured some part time work, and they had eaten up all their relief order, and there were only some biscuits and butter in the house. She and the children had previously made their supper of the same fare.

"I told him that was all there was and the children and I had had just the same," she said. Her husband gave one of the children money to go to the store and buy bread and meat, but the store was closed.

This further angered him, she testified, and he laid hands on her and choked her. Later he slapped her, and becoming hysterical she called for help to the neighbors living in the other part of the house. The neighbor, Mrs. Alice Taylor, came to the door but her husband ordered her out. The children were crying and then William Merideth came into the house, she said. "I told him my husband had choked and slapped me."

Raised Chair.

Still later Hele pi cked up a chair and raising it above his head said, "I could kill you,' she swore. At Merideth's request he dropped the chair. Later, in a great rage, he went to a drawer where he kept his razor, but Merideth took the razor form his grasp.

William Merideth substantiated Mrs. Here's evidence concerning the incidents with the chair and razor. Lawrence Hele, aged 8, their son, told of finding his mother crying in the house and said that her face was bruised. Stanley Cann, milk vendor, said that he delivered milk at the Hele home on March 17 ; he noticed that Mrs. Hele's face was bruised as though she had received a blow.

Mrs. Alice Taylor, Florence Taylor and Stanley Taylor, all neighbors in the other side of the house to the Hele family, told of hearing sounds of the argument and fighting between the Heles on the evening of March 16.

Testifying in his own defense, Thomas Hele said he had served overseas for 3½ years, enlisting at the age of 16. He stated that he and his wife had never got along together, that "she always wanted to wear the pants." He insisted that he had not struck his wife on the evening of March 16, but that he pushed her back on a couch where she had been lying. He denied slapping her, and stated that he had lifted the chair only five inches from the floor and was "only bluffing being mad." He had gone to get the razor from the drawer because he wanted to shave, he said.

BOWLING STARTS IN CAMPBELLFORD

Many New Members Join Campbellford Club This Season—Refreshments Served.

CAMPBELLFORD, June 16 (By Examiner Staff Correspondent). — The Campbellford Lawn Bowling Club opened their summer activities on Thursday afternoon and evening, when the bowling season was officially opened in town, the club sponsoring a local tourney, and serving a delightful tea to its members, in the club-house. The president, E. H. Greig, officially started the games, when he briefly addressed the members, welcoming many new faces to the club-house, among whom were many members of the younger set of town, a healthy sign for the game in Campbellford. About fifty were present, the arrangements for the lunch being convened by Mrs. Elie Brunelle and Mrs. W. S. Wiggins. These club socials will be held each Thursday, the convenors next week being Mrs. E. H. Greig and Mrs. N. H. Morrison.

The greens this season are in excellent shape, and with a set of new "ends" installed, the extensive floral decorations, the general outlook for the club this year is encouraging.

TWO HOMERS NET MILL 10-7 WIN

Tie Clerks in the Seventh, Get Away With Four Runs in Extra Frame.

CAMPBELLFORD, June 16 (By Examiner Staff Correspondent). — Counting two homers in the seventh innings to tie the game, the Mill battled home to a tight win over the Clerks last evening, when four runs in the eighth put them ahead by a 10-7 count, in the snappiest softball game this season, staged in the Campbellford Town League.

The game was one that thrilled the large side line, as last year's champs battled for supremacy in a game which only counted by single runs, and which was featured by tight fielding and extremely good pitching. For the first four periods the Mill sloggers had the edge on the Clerks, leading by a 4-3 count. This was reversed in the sixth, however, when the champs came forward with two runs, giving them a one-run lead.

Going to bat in the seventh, Owens and Peaks on the Mill squad were both cought out at first base, and it looked like a win for the Clerks, until Montgomery knocked a four-bagger, rounding the bases for a homer. This put pep into the play, and Fred Ingram came to bat to knock the second homer of the game and tie the count.

An extra innings was called to decide the game, the Mill going to bat and getting away to a good start by chalking up four runs before they were called out. This was too much for the Clerks, who were only able to register one run.

The teams:—

Mill.—Owens, c; Peake, lf; Montgomery, rf; Ingram, 2b; Palliquin, 1b; Dr. Stuart, cf; Holmes, ss; Johnston, 3b; McComb, p.

Clerks—Hendy ,ss; Gillessie, 1b; Reynolds, rf; Bush, 2b; Morton, lf; Bennett, cf; Holmes, p; MacArthur, c; Upton, 3b; Atkinson, cf, sub.

Umpires.—Plate, G. Richardson; bases, Vince Farrell and H. Tinney.

Score by innings:—

Mill	130 000 24—10
Clerks	003 021 01— 7

tude by the meeting until he was finally gently reproved by Mr. Cooke, who stated, "I have a great deal of pity for a man that is poor and whose children are unhappy, please do not abuse your privileges."

Mr. Cooke was of the opinion, "there is no state in the world has sought to deal more fairly and sympathetically with the unfortunate unemployed than the Province of Ontario." Mr. Henry did not deal with individual cases, Mr. Cooke explained, but he had seen to it that relief was provided for Peterborough unemployed as well as the unemployed elsewhere in the province.

"What is your salary?"

The question was fired point blank at Mr. Cooke from another section of the audience.

$13,000 A Year

"I have been chairman of the Commission for eleven years and for the first seven months of that period I was being paid at the rate of $18,000 per annum. After the first seven months I voluntarily accepted a reduction to $13,000 per annum. If you had $18,000 a year would you of your own free will relinquish $5,000", Mr. Cooke asked.

"I wish I had the chance," the heckler retored.

"If you would make the struggle for yourself and not let someone else do it for you the chance might present itself", Mr. Cooke suggested.

Introduced by J. F. Strickland, K.C., former member in the old city riding, Mr. Cooke in his radio broadcast reviewed the past four years of tepression and contrasted conditions in the United States with efforts that had been made by the British Commonwealth of Nations through Imperial Conferences. He felt that the trade agreements arising out of the conferences would eventually reflect untold benefit to the people of Canada.

Some Problems

Touching upon some of the problems of the provincial government, Mr. Cooke spoke of them as being chiefly the adequate maintenance and upkeep of hospitals and charitable institutions on the one hand, and municipal, industrial and commercial problems on the other hand, with education and transportation among the chief problems.

Speaking of the undreamed-of expansion and progress that had been realised since Confederation, Mr. Cooke touched upon the various phases of social reform instituted under Conservative regime in this province. He referred particularly to Mothers' Allowances, the Old Age Pensions, Workmen's Compensation; besides legislation of direct benefit to agriculture, and he expansibe program of highway construction that had been consistently followed all over the province.

Enlarging upon the social services carried on by the government with special mention of the good results obtained through the various hospitals and reformatories, he stated, "In Ontario we have gone further towards providing for the welfare of mankind than in any other country in the world. After all I have always believed one of the primary duties of any government is to seek to create the most ideal conditions under which the people shall lead their daily lives. After all the problems of the legislature are merely those that affect the every day life of the people as a whole" he said.

Counters Charges

Countering charges of extravagence against the Henry administration levelled by the Liberal opposition, Mr. Cooke spoke of the various sources from which revenue was derived for the services the government had to offer the people.

"Scarcely a dollar is raised by direct taxation,' he stated.

Speaking briefly of Hydro which he remarked represented an investment of $400,000,000 Mr. Cooke compared the average cost of domestic power in Ontario with that obtaining in the United States. The cost in Ontario, he said, was 1.7 cents as compared with 5.7 cents in the neighbouring states of the republic.

No one, the speaker believed, would attempt to deny that Hydro was amply justified by the test of results. In the past four years while other financial institutions everywhere had been tottering the Commission made a net increase in their reserves of $39,000,000.

Other assets referred to by the speaker in addition to Hydro were the T. and N.O. Railway, and the Provincial highway system.

The Candidate

Introduced by Mayor Roland Denne, the candidate, Mr. Lancaster, spoke of Mr. Cooke "as my neighbour from Hastings County."

At the very outset of his political career, Mr. Lancaster stated, he had decided to emulate his friend Mr. Cooke," and if I have made any success at all as a member of the legislature, it is because I have succeeded in emulating him."

Mr. Lancaster spoke of the old riding of Peterborough city and assured the electorate that all he possessed in enthusiasm and energy would be devoted to the service of the city as well as the county if he was returned as representative."

The Burleigh Falls-Bancroft trunk road was visualised by Mr. Lancaster as to what it would ultimately mean to Peterborough and district in increased returns through tourist revenue.

The part he had played in securing extension of highway work in his riding was referred to by the candidate "as the biggest thing I have ever secured for Peterborough County." It was not an election dodge as the Liberal opposition had charged, he said, but was work he had diligently striven to secure for Peterborough district for the past two years.

Mrs. Howard Fallis, past president of Peterborough Liberal-Conservative Women's Association also addressed the meeting on Mr. Lancaster's behalf despite the fact that she has lately been in an impaired state of health.

MANVERS HOLDS 39TH ANNUAL RELIGIOUS EDUCATION RALLY

Sunday School Reports Show Real Encouragement on Year's Work.

OFFICERS INSTALLED.

JANETVILLE, June 16.—(Examiner Correspondence).—The thirty-ninth annual convention of Manvers Township Religious Education Council was held at the United Church, Janetville, afternoon and evening, Wednesday, with large crowds attending from various sections of the township.

The afternoon session commenced at 2 o'clock, with Rev. W. C. Smith, pastor of the local church, extending a hearty welcome to all guests and leading in an impressive devotional period.

The president, Mr. J. J. Clarke, of Bethany, then submitted a most encouraging report of the year"s progress.

A roll call of the schools showed that only two Sunday schools in the township had failed to send representatives to the convention. The secretary-treasurer, Mrs. (Rev.) Scott, of Bethany, gave her annual report, which met with the approval of all. The superintendents of the various departments of Sunday school work each submitted creditable reports.

Rev. John Hoyle, secretary of the Toronto Religious Education Council, then led in a most interesting round table conference, in which all teachers and prospective teachers received helpful hints regarding the teaching of a Sunday school class.

Special music was contributed by the large choir of the local church. The appointment of the nomination committee then took place, followed by a fine address by Rev. John Hoyle.

Ladies Serve Supper.

Supper was served by the Janetville ladies in the basement of the United Church to those coming from a distance. About fifty guests sat down at the daintily laid and bountifully filled tables.

The evening session commenced at 7.30 o'clock with a song service, led by Rev. G. A. Adamson, of Pontypool. The devotional period was conducted by Rev. V. Walker, of the Janetville Presbyterian Church.

Officers Installed.

Rev. John Hoyle called the newly appointed following officers to the front of the church for an impressive installation service:

President, Mr. Melville Lathangue, Lotus; vice-president, Mr. John Magee, Janetville; secretary-treasurer, Mrs. Harold Payne, Bethany; supt. of child's work, Mrs. James Howe, Janetville; supt. of girls' work, Miss Edna Robinson, Janetville; supt. of boys' work, Vance Wilson, Yelverton; supt. of young people's work, Mrs. J. Magee, Janetville; supt. of adults' work, Mrs. J. Fiske; supt. of missionary work, Mrs. M. Lathangue; supt. of temperance, work, Mr, Jakeman, Bethany; supt. of teachers' training work, Rev. H. Wolfraim; supt. of home department, Miss M. Johnston.

Rev. Hoyle admonished the new officers to take as the their key word for the coming year, "Study to show thyself approved unto God."

Mrs. (Rev.) Scott, who has held the position of secretary-treasurer for a number of years and who leaves this month with Rev. Scott to take up a new field at Roseneath, was warmly thanked by the retiring president, Mr. J. J. Clarke, Rev. Adamson and Rev. Smith for her very efficient services in this department. Mrs. Scott commented on the facilities forwarded by the department, and felt that she was leaving the work in very capable hands.

President Urges Help.

Mr. Melville Lathangue, the new president, addressed the gathering beseeching their help in the work. The Presbyterian Church choir, which had charge of the evening music, rendered a delightful anthem, with Mr. Marshal Malcolm taking a solo part.

Rev. Hoyle addressed the assemblage, asking them to take as a slogan for the convention, "Let us build up the walls which have been broken down,' stating that every church has walls, probably S.S. walls, which are in need of repairing. As Nehemiah of old needed courage and determination to carry on his work, so do the teachers of Sunday school classes to-day. Mr. Hoyle, having been thirty years in the work, was able to relate some interesting helpful personal experiences, among them being that of a choir, chiefly composed of S.S. teachers, who used their church service period to study Sunday school lessons which followed immediately. The encouraging statement was made that 1,100,000 people are going to S.S. in Canada to-day.

Urges Training Class.

A training class during the fall and winter for teachers of each S.S. was advised by Mr. Hoyle. In concluding this excellent talk, the speaker asked all who heard the call to teach in Sunday school though young and inexperienced, to respond willingly in this work of the Master.

Deep regret was voiced at the near-departure of two energetic workers, Rev Scott, of Bethany, and Rev. Smith, of Janetville, whose services, with that of their wives, have been invaluable in the work of the Sunday school in Manvers Township.

liquor would be sold at $1.25 a case less than at present.

Use of Ontario stone is building the East Block of the Ontario Parliament Building was not decided in a "mysterious way" according to Major Bert S. Wemp, former Toronto Mayor. A deputation of City Council in 1924 and 1925 interviewed the then Premier, Hon. George Howard Ferguson, Major Wemp said, and requested the use of Ontario stone, and the Government acceded to the request.

Arm To Wreck Hydro.

Mr. Hepburn charged Frank L. Mason, chairman of the Oshawa Public Utility Commission, was forced to "fire" Engineer F. C. Gaby of the Hydro Commission, because he had to do the bidding of interests supporting him. These interests, Mr. Mason claimed, were opposed to public ownership and their aim was to wreck Hydro.

"Mud slinging" was the Liberal policy, claimed Attorney-General W. H. Price in his St. Catharines address. He said Mr. Hepburn voted three times to give private interests power rights while he was a House of Commons member. The Liberals would wreck Hydro, he said.

Liberals were appealing to the people on the lowest level of intelligence, was the charge of E. J. Garland, U.F.A. member in the House of Commons for Bow River, Alta. He declared only a change in the economic system could benefit the people and not merely a change of party.

"Mud slinging" of the old parties, he added, was merely the pot calling the kettle black. He described Mr. Hepburn as "the little pot that soon boils over." The C.C.F., he said, was the only movement which could assure private ownership. He said that of 4,828,000 dwellings in the United States, 4,115,000 were rented.

"Is that private ownership?" he asked.

Soldiers Neglected.

J. C. McRuer, K.C., of Toronto, criticized the Government before a Cobourg audience with failing to look after the returned soldier. He said the veterans had "taken second place to the politicians every time." He attacked Premier Henry for accusing the Liberals of seeking support of the Radicals, and said a returned soldier friend of his had tried for years to obtain contracts from the Government, but had failed, although political supporters got the contracts which cost "thousands more" than the returned man's tender.

Any Cabinet that Mr. Hepburn would form, Hon. Dr. J. M Robb, Minister of Health, declared at Little Current, would be one of no policy, composed of "nondescripts." He asked what man would refuse to mortgage his home or farm to provide his family with life's necessities, and declared this was what the Government had done to help the jobless instead of obtaining the necessary money by adding to the burden of the taxpayer. It was either borrow money or add to the taxes, and the Government took the former course, he said.

Attacks on the salary of Hon J. R. Cooke, Hydro chairman, were replied to at Peterborough last night when Mr. Cooke told a heckler he had received a salary of $18,000 a year for the first seven months and then volunteered a reduction of $5,000 annually.

PRINCE LENDS AID.

LONDON, June 15 (C.P. Cable).—The Prince of Wales has donated $5,000 to the Child Emigration Society's scheme for establishment of farm schools in the Dominion for children from Great Britain, including a farm school in British Columbia.

With the support of the Prince the society yesterday launched a campaign for $500,000 to develop the scheme which has proved very successful in Western Australia. Children remain at the farm schools five or six years.

PUBLIC SCHOOL SUPPORTERS OF PETERBOROUGH

Here is the Situation You Are Up Against

On May 29th, M. J. Quinn of Toronto, General Chairman of the Central Organization of the Catholic Taxpayers' Association of Ontario, sent the following letter to the Chairman of every Catholic Parish in Ontario. It speaks for itself:—

CATHOLIC TAXPAYERS' ASSOCIATION of Ontario

67 BOND STREET - - - - - - - - - - - - TORONTO

TO PARISH CHAIRMAN. Telephone ELgin 3617. May 29, 1934.

Dear Sir:

No doubt a great many of our Chairmen are wondering at what they may consider unnecessary delay on the part of the Executive in announcing our final policy in respect to the coming election, though a large majority of them have quite properly concluded what, of sheer necessity, it must be, if Catholics are to maintain their self respect.

As our people are aware, no statement, oral or printed, has ever been made by us that the whole world might not know about, but having observed the willingness of some of the not too scrupulous opposition to quote part of our statements in an effort to create an impression entirely foreign to that which would be conveyed in its complete form, we hesitate at this time to go as far as we would like in stating our case as it now stands, but for your information, we would say that the proposal of the Government to submit stated questions to the Court is regarded as merely a final attempt to side-step their very definite responsibility.

It may be quite unnecessary to remind you that our campaign from the beginning was based upon recognition of the fact that the Government is the only source from which relief can come, and thus responsibility for fair treatment of 25% of Ontario's population rests entirely upon it. We, however, also had a duty which was, by the publication of the facts in every possible way, to remove, so far as possible, the obstacle of opposition, based upon lack of information, from the Government's path—a duty which it is conceded on all sides has been well performed.

We draw attention now to our oft-repeated statement, both in our printed propaganda and at our public meetings all over the province, that if, under these circumstances, the Government failed to grant us the relief so freely provided under exactly the same Legislation for the Protestant minority of Quebec, we would avail ourselves of every proper means in an effort to elect another party to power at the first opportunity. Not only have the Government not taken any action whatever in respect to our request, but in their failure to do so have treated us with a degree of discourtesy amounting to absolute contempt.

The natural indignation that will have been aroused by the flagrantly insulting attitude of the Government toward Catholics will, in the interests of their own self respect, prevent them from voting for a Government candidate, and it is the special business of your Committee to see that every Catholic man and woman in your district casts their ballots in the coming election, thus making it clear, not only to politicians, but also to that great body of moderate fair-minded Protestant citizens who desire that justice be done, that the Catholic people are showing a reasonable degree of dignified interest in their own affairs.

A VOTE FOR AN INDEPENDENT CANDIDATE IS A VOTE LOST—WE CANNOT AFFORD TO LOSE ANY VOTES.

Faithfully yours,

M. J. QUINN,
General Chairman.

M. J. Quinn/ML

And if that were not enough, the Catholic Register has issued a call to every Catholic voter to vote against the Henry Government. The Register's article is published under the following headings: "Ontario Elections"—"The School Question Surveyed"—"Catholics Place the Religious Education of their Children above all political issues."

Here are some striking extracts:

"Next Tuesday will be a fateful day in the Catholic history of Ontario. It gives the Catholics of this province a chance they have not had since Confederation of defeating the forces of bigotry that have so long been successful in obstructing the realisation of those rights to which Catholic schools are entitled on grounds of natural justice, as well as by the spirit and intentions of the Separate School Act of 1863 and the Pact of Confederation."

"Catholics in this province have long been barking, they have never before bitten, at least not within living memory. Politicians have had reason for coming to believe that in Ontario the Catholic campaign had no teeth in it. These politicians are destined to experience a shock."

"Our purpose in this election is to demonstrate our strength and determination. The larger the vote, even though it be a minority vote, against our enemies, the greater consideration our claims will receive."

"Ontario Catholics are determined to have Catholic schools for their children at all costs."

In the face of this systematic and province wide attempt of a Catholic bloc to defeat the Henry Government for the purpose of securing more concessions in regard to Separate School Taxation, there is only one course for Public School supporters to follow, and that is to forget politics on this occasion and defeat this brazen attempt. The School Question has now become the only important issue of the campaign. Public School Supporters—TAKE NO CHANCES:—

NEW MORPHINE IS DEVELOPED

Given to Human Beings as First Step in Hunt for Non-Habit Forming Drug.

UNDER CLINIC TRIAL.

By HOWARD W. BLAKESLEE
(Associated Press Science Editor)

CLEVELAND, June 15. (AP).—Dihydrodesoxymorphine—D, a new product of science, is being given to human beings as a first step in a search for a non-habit forming type of morphine.

The human experiment was mentioned, without details, in a report made to the American Medical Association to-day by Dr. C. W. Edmunds and Dr. Nathan B. Eddy of the University of Michigan. It is under direction, the report said, of the Federal Public Health Service.

The report told of the chemical changes which produced this new substance and of its effect on animals. The modified morphine is one of 190 of these compounds made at the University of Virginia over a period of several years and sent to the University of Michigan for investigation of medicinal effects.

The work has been carried on under direction of the National Research Council. To-day's report pointed out that while such ordinary morphine efects as pain killing, depressant qualities, respiration changes, digestive results and emetic action may be found on animals, only human beings can be used to show whether the new drugs are habit-forming.

Dihydrodesoxymorphine—D, became so interesting that the report said "This compound is being subjected to clinical trial at this time."

STAMP CORNER

By M. A. BESSEY

Continuing last week's remarks regarding the value of postage stamps, we illustrate ABOVE, three stamps of Canada of very recent issues. The first is the three-cent of the 1927 Confederation issue. It should be common enough, just an ordinary three-cent stamp, less than seven years old. But perhaps you may recall that in 1927 our regular rate for letters was two cents, not three cents, as it is at present. Thus, the three-cent came in for very little use, compared to what it would now. Although only a very few years old, this same little three-cent stamp is now selling, and has been for quite some time, at more than one cent each, wholesale. This is considered a high price for such a low denomination stamp, and there is little doubt, but that just as soon as the supplies of mint copies, now in stock at the Philatelic Branch of the Post Office at Ottawa, are finished this stamp is bound to jump considerably higher in price. Compare this with the price of the old three-cent mentioned last week, $1 per thousand.

We also show the 20-cent special delivery stamp of this same issue. It is now worth practically as much used as unused; quite a record for a 20-cent special delivery stamp. We might add that the first special delivery stamp of Canada, issued in 1898, was a ten-cent denomination, and to-day it is worth just about ten cents for a good used copy, or about one-half as much as the previous one mentioned, which was issued 29 years later. Once again it is a case of the quantity of the stamps issued and used, and not a matter of age.

Will Be Valuable

The one-dollar value of the 1928 issue, is the same in design as the three-cent of the 1927 Confederation issue, as may be seen from the illustrations. Although the similarity in design have nothing to do with it, this latter stamp is also bound to turn out to be a good one within the next few years.

By now you are probably saying: "Well, what are good stamps, and how can I tell them if I have them?" A question that is impossible to answer in detail through our column. You can only tell the good stamps from the "junk" by making a study of stamps. You must collect them intelligently, and a catalogue is practically a necessity. But first let us glance at an old collection you may have.

Age Doesn't Count

Casually looking through it, we see anywhere from 200 to 5,000 stamps, the more stamps, you say, the more it should be worth; but do not forget what we have previously said, it is not age that counts, neither is it quantity; it is scarcity and quality. If you notice that about every third stamp in that old collection is pretty badly torn, corners gone, and so on, you should decide right there and then, that your collection is worth no more than the value of the undamaged stamps, and if they are all common, you must hunt around some more.

In a general way, it may be said that the early 19th century issues of Canada are usually of some value; but it depends upon their condition, and it is principally the issues previous to 1870. If you can find an old boxful or trunkful of these, especially if they are on the complete envelopes, you may pretty well rest assured you have a "find."

The old issues of the provinces of Canada are also especially good if on complete envelopes.

So now get busy, and hunt around in that old attic or cellar, perhaps, grandad may have some old letters tucked away he has forgotten, but if you remind him of them, he will doubtless be glad to let you have them. But remember, do not remove the stamps from the envelopes; they are worth well over twice as much on.

Make Money From Stamps

Perhaps you work in an office or a business where there is a large amount of incoming mail, such as parcels and registered letters. If so, and the stamps are now being thrown away, there's a real chance to make some extra money during your lunch hour. Gather up all of the high and odd values you can; do not peel them from the paper, tear it off well away from the stamps and when you get home, put them in water for about ten minutes. They will separate freely, and then lay them out on newspaper to dry.

I've heard of quite a few chaps, who have made from $5 to $25 a week and more, by selling these used stamps to dealers. Strange to say, our own stamps of Canada are usually more in demand than foreign stamps; of the latter the high values and air mails are the best.

Now, just a few words to the beginner. You will doubtless ruin plenty of stamps during the early days of your stamp collecting; so my suggestion is that you get a large packet of 1,000 or 2,000 different stamps of all countries. This will give you plenty to start out with, and neither packet is very expensive, so if you do spoil a few stamps here and there, the loss is small.

Buy a catalogue as soon as you can afford it, study the notes and information in the catalogue, until you feel confident that you know something about the hobby. After that, you should be able to buy your stamps much more intelligently, and not keep on putting dollar after dollar in the junk class of material.

Not an Investment

You might far better have a collection of but 200 good stamps, than one of 2,000 of the junk type. Your 200 stamps, in addition to affording you much pleasure, will eventually prove to be an investment, and although I do not advocate stamp collecting as a source of investment in a general way, still it is nice to know that one has not entirely wasted their money. Combine good sound common sense, with your hobby; you will not tire of it to the same extent, nor will you stand to lose in the same way that you eventually will, if you continue to buy the cheapest of stamps, expecting later on to sell your collection and make a profit on it.

There are hundreds of stamps today worth no more than they were 20 years ago, just the same as there are hundreds which increase in value every year.

After you have done your experimenting on a couple of thousands of the "no value" type, try to avoid them and buy more intelligently; and you can only do this by applying yourself to the hobby, and making some study of stamps.

If any readers have any quantity of stamps that they think might be of value, I'll be glad to try and help you out. It is very hard to do this through descriptions of stamps, there are so many which appear on the surface to be the same; further, condition, as previously mentioned is an important factor, and must be taken into consideration before any valuation, other than approximate can be determined. Anyone wishing to do so, may send stamps to me by registered post, in care of this paper, and please include return postage with your letter and stamps.

QUALITY PRINTING With Quick Service

Electors of Peterboro! Are You Satisfied with the Record of the Henry Government?

ARE YOU AWARE OF THESE FACTS?

At the first session of the Legislature after Mr. Lancaster was elected as representative, he voted to increase the salaries of eleven Cabinet Ministers by $2,000.00 each.

THIS INCREASE ALONE COST YOU OVER $110,000.00.

Each Cabinet Minister was provided with a luxurious limousine with a chauffeur.

THIS COST YOU LAST YEAR ALONE, $36,773.00.

These highly-paid Cabinet Ministers decided to float a bond issue. They paid three gentlemen in Toronto $40,000.00 to advise them how to do it.

Salaries paid in the Hydro Department run as high as $30,000.00 per annum for one man.

The Tory Government has paid in legal fees to one Toronto lawyer over $360,000.00.

In 1923, the gross provincial debt was $291,000,000.00
In 1934, the gross provincial debt was $610,000,000.00

Under Ferguson's Government debt increased $50,000.00 a day; under Henry's Government it increased $80,000.00 per day.

THE WRECK OF THE HYDRO

The head of this non-political body, Robert Cooke, at $13,000.00 per annum is stumping for the Government ON THE PEOPLE'S TIME AND MONEY, and to save his own job.

Why was $50,000.00 of Hydro money paid to John Aird, Jr.?

Why was $18,000,000.00 in Ontario Bonds given for Abitibi default bonds? Mr. Henry held $25,000.00 of them himself.

Why has the Government spent millions of dollars to buy power from private interests which they cannot now use?

Why is the Hydro like an Octopus--over-staffed with party healers.

Why did Mr. Henry resist any attempt to make known the huge salaries of the Hydro officials?

THE RESULT

PRICES HAVE ALREADY BEEN INCREASED TO PETERBORO' POWER CONSUMERS.

ADVANTAGES OF CHEAP POWER HAVE BEEN THROWN AWAY AND STAGGERING LOSSES FACE HYDRO; THE HYDRO HAS MEANT MILLIONS TO THE POWER BARONS.

IS IT ANY WONDER THIS GOVERNMENT HAS INCREASED OUR DEBT BY OVER $300,000,000?

Are You Satisfied with This Tory Record?

LIBERAL POLICIES PRESAGE NEW DEAL FOR ONTARIO

MAYOR HAROLD N. CARR
Northumberland's Next Member

1.—The public debt shall not be further increased for annual current expenditures.

2.—Reasonable wage scales and hours of labor will be assured to the workers, by necessary legislation and by vigorous prosecution of any abuses.

3.—No member of the Government shall occupy a directorship in any corporation.

4.—Change in GOVERNMENT will result in NEW MANAGEMENT for Hydro.

5.—Administration costs will be cut in two without impairment of efficiency. (This does not refer to MOTHERS' ALLOWANCES, OLD AGE PENSIONS, or other Social Services).

6.—The scope of the MOTHERS' ALLOWANCES will be extended to include mothers with one child, and Old Age Pensions will be continued and administered sympathetically.

7.—The Government will assume the whole cost of the Provincial Highways and remove this burden from the municipalities (over half of the County of Peterborough's funded debt represent money borrowed to pay the Province's Provincial Highway costs).

8.—Steps will be taken by legislation if necessary to protect the producer of hogs, beef, milk and garden products and to preserve to them a fair price for their products.

9.—ALL MONIES collected in gasoline taxes and motor license fees will be spent for road purposes. (In the past Mr. Henry has spent less than one-half of the monies collected for road purposes on roads).

MR. HENRY RAN TO THE RESCUE OF THE ABITIBI BONDHOLDERS (of which he was one) and INCREASED his own salary and that of his Cabinet Ministers, but had no time to consider a Minimum Wage Act for men or a Marketing Act to protect the producer of hogs or beef.

What is wanted in Queen's Park is A NEW BROOM.

The Present Administration is a weed that has run to seed. With long years in office they have become power drunk, autocratic, inactive, and top-heavy with the Parliamentary service filled to overbrim with party healers.

ONTARIO NEEDS A HOUSE-CLEANING AND A NEW DEAL UNDER LIBERAL POLICIES, MODERN VISION AND ENERGETIC LEADERSHIP.

Rather Than Assault Your Wife You Should Protect Her Prisoner Told.

VIOLENT TEMPER.

Found guilty yesterday by a jury before Judge Ruddy in General Sessions, Thomas Hele, local car mechanic, was sentenced to-day to three months in the County Gaol.

Addressing the prisoner, Judge Ruddy told him that he was fortunate that he was not in court on a much more serious charge. "It is plain to me on the evidence produced that you have a most violent temper," stated His Honor. "The man Merideth who came into the house that night and took the razor from your hand has proved to be your best friend."

"Rather than assault your wife you should protect her at all times. It is clear to me that this has been going on for some time. You have been convicted previously on a similar charge and given suspended sentence. Uiderstand that you could have been sentenced to a year on this charge. I am sentencing you to three months in the County Gaol."

FUR FARM OPENS LINDSAY OFFICE

Ranch Covers 1,000 Acres of Marsh at Emily Creek, Near Dunsford.

KINMOUNT HOME ROBBED.

LINDSAY, June 16 (Examiner Correspondence). — The Supreme Court of Canada has ordered a new trial in the action brought by A. T. Claxton, merchant, town, against Robert Grandy, of Brooklin, for $26,000 damages following an accident on the highway. This case was dismissed here last fall in the Supreme Court of Ontario, Justice Fisher presiding. This claim followed a collision between cars driven by plaintiff and defendant on No. 7 highway, when Mr. Claxton, his wife and another occupant of the car were badly injured.

The Fur Ranches, Limited, a company operating the Emily Creek Fur Farm, four miles south of Dunsford, has located its head office in Lindsay. The ranch covers one thousand acres of marsh and six acres of farm land.

An automobile accident occurred Thursday on the Monck Road, near Kirkfield, when cars driven by Arthur McKinnon and Edward McDonald collided. Both cars were badly wrecked, and W. Bailey, who was in the McKinnon car, sustained a broken shoulder and other serious injuries.

The home of the Boudah brothers, situated a short distance from the village of Kinmount, was entered by vandals a few days ago and considerably damaged. The interior was ransacked from top to bottom, the furniture destroyed, etc. A valuable watch was among the articles stolen. The police are working on the case.

Rev. Father Walsh, who was recently ordained in St. Peter's Cathedral, Peterborough, has been appointed curate of the parishes of Kinmount, Fenelon Falls and Bobcaygeon, which are in charge of Rev. Father Butler.

A new highway traffic officer has been placed in this district in the person of Constable Alex. Ferguson. He will patrol Highway No. 12 from Whitby to Brechin.

James Keith Wilson, a well-known resident of Valentia, Mariposa Township, died suddenly on Thursday in his sixty-eighth year. The deceased was born in Dunsford, Ontario.

HENRY TARGET FOR TOMATOES AT BRANTFORD

Reveals Mayor MacBride Dismissed From Highways Post For Irregularities.

IN HIS ACCOUNTS.

Premier Forced to Leave Theatre by Back Door—Aide Treated Roughly.

(By Ernest Burritt—C.P. Staff Writer).

BRANTFORD, June 16 (C.P.). — His sand-colored car still bearing evidence of the most hectic meeting of his campaign tour, Premier George S. Henry left Brantford today for his office in Toronto and to fulfill a speaking engagement at Thorold. Tomatoes were tossed at the Premier when he arrived here last night, and his coat was spattered.

The Premier was persuaded to remain here overnight after he had been taken from the rear door of the Brant Theatre, where he told a capacity audience Mayor M. M. MacBride was forced to resign his position as safety lecturer with the Ontario Highways Department because of "irregularities in his accounts."

The meeting in its early stages was marred by several fist fights in the balcony as several men ejected a youth and his party who tossed a tomato on the stage, spattering dresses of women seated in the front row. An indignant crowd rushed him and dragged him to the door, where intervention by police saved the group from a menacing crowd in the theatre lobby.

Outside the theatre, however, crowds of hecklers lined the road and sidewalks awaiting the arrival of the Premier. His car followed the band to the entrance and a shower of tomatoes greeted Mr. Henry as he alighted. The Premier, a police officer and two newspapermen bore the brunt of the attack and loud booing followed the party into the entrance. Police said members of the crowd were annoyed at being denied admittance to the meeting.

Tells of MacBride

Hecklers were well scattered throughout the audience and fired a barrage of questions and interruptions before the Premier discussed the MacBride matter. Finally he replied to taunts of "What about MacBride" and tell us about MacBride, running in Brant riding as an independent, with what Mr. Henry described as the "endorsation of Mitchell F. Hepburn, Liberal leader. He explained the mayor's connection with the Highways Department and declared he had been forced to resign because of "admitted irregularities in his petty cash accounts."

The explanation was received in silence and as Premier Henry declared: "I was betrayed by Morrison MacBride". (Loud applause broke out).

Mr. Henry after biding goodbye on the platform started to the front entrance. Outside however, the crowd stood between the door and his car and campaign officials urged him to use the rear entrance.

Barrage of Eggs

Word the Premier was leaving by car in the back lane soon spread to the front of the building and another hail of tomatoes and egs showered the car and police officers standing beside it. Other members of the swelling crowd raced around the rear of the building from which could be heard "Three cheers" for the Premier. He took his time in getting into the car despite spattering missiles that were being tossed from close range. Ross Philpott, of Toronto, Conservative organizer, turned on a group and after striking one of the leaders was bombarded with eggs and vegetables. A crowd followed him and a companion to his hotel where they encamped in the park oposite to continue their hoots and booes.

The Premier's car meanwhile was returned under police escort to headquarters garade where it had been parked during the speech brought to a climax by the speaker's charges against Mayor MacBride.

Forced Into Revelation

Expressing his reluctance to discuss the matter, Premier Henry said he would not have mentioned the name of Mr. MacBride had the Mayor not used correspondence from the Premier in his campaign.

"This is distasteful for me to say,' Mr. Henry explained, "but the fact is Morrison MacBride was discharged from his office because of irregularities in his accounts.' The Attorney-Generals Department had investigated after reports had been made to him, the Premier said, "and I was advised MacBride was pleading for leniency and asked to overlook the irregularities which had been found and which he admitted.

"He came to me, still pleading for leniency, and said, 'Mr. Henry, I'll pay it all back.' He told me the difficulties he was in, and pleaded for me to keep him on. I said to him, 'Mac, you don't know how much it is," and neither did anyone else.

"I'm loath to say anything about this matter, but if Mr. MacBride is going to use these friendly letters I had given him so he would know he had a personal friend at least in me, I must make known the other side.

"Betrayed!"

"I was betrayed by Morrison MacBride."

Loud applause broke the silence that momentarily followed the speaker's declaration. He read letters he claimed the Mayor had been using in his campaign, one expressiig the Premier's regret at MacBride's resignation from office.

The first letter, from the Premier to Mr. MacBride, dated March 20 1931, said Mr. Henry had "no alternative but to ask for your resignation." Another dated March 27 expressed the Premier's regret at having to accept the resignation, and advised MacBride his contribution to superannuation allowances would be returned. The Premier also expressed a hope the resigning lecturer would "find other employment at which to apply your ability and talent." The last, dated April 1, gave MacBride permission to refer a prospective employer to the Premier for reference.

Before his Brantford appearance the Prime Minister spoke at Guelph, and charged Liberal leaders with reviving old issues. He declared they were indulging in a "series of "roorbachs." He referred to Mitchell F. Hepburn's promise to "reveal a name each day in his liquor tollgate charges," and said Liberals as well as Conservatives "have been pressing him to keep away from small things and keep to some of the major problems."

Newest Addition to LaFayette Line

The "Standard" two-door, five-passenger LaFayette sedan announced by The Nash Motors Company this week as an addition to the line of LaFayettes introduced at the beginning of the present season. The exceptionally moderate price, in the face of general price advances in the automobile industry, definitely makes the LaFayette a contender in the lowest price automobile market. It is one of two models which will be available at present in the "Standard" line, the other being a four-door, four-window sedan. Production on both cars is already under way, according to the factory announcement, and will be available on the market immediately.

The "Special" LaFayette line previously announced will be continued without price change, including optional individual front wheel suspension at no extra charge. This "Special" line will include a two and four passenger coupe, a two-door, five-passenger touring sedan, and a four-door, six-window sedan, with special equipment.

Both lines will be mounted on the same wheelbase chassis with the seven bearing crankshaft LaFayette motor and other "jeweled movement" features.

BEHIND the Scenes in HOLLYWOOD

HOLLYWOOD, Cal., June 16 —The unexpected reaction to the news of Joan Crawford's ultra-exclusive little theatre in the rear of her Brentwood home has upset the star, who values her reputation of being one of the "regulars" very highly.

"I have been charged with being highbrow and 'exclusive,'" she exploded on the Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer lot yesterday, "merely because I asked only a few personal friends to join me in my little theater work. Again and again I have tried to explain that I had no thought of being 'exclusive,' but that I simply wanted privacy in which to work."

It is strange, when you come to think of it that the stars should find it difficult to do a little serious "home work" in seclusion. But it isn't only privacy Joan seeks. She feels stage work is an unknown field for her. She obeys the natural instinct of any artist in wanting to be sure of herself before being put on public view.

"I feel I am not ready yet to exhibit myself on the stage. It is a new medium and I need a great deal of training. When I am ready, the doors will be flung open and the public invited, but not until then. The friends I have chosen I know I can depend upon for loyalty and honest criticism." Chief among the select circle are Franchot Tone and Lynn Riggs, the playwright.

Robert Montgomery reports this piquant bit of eavesdropping in a night spot the other evening.

One of the high-pressure writers was trying to sell a trite plot to his producer. The scribe authored and acted all over the booth, becoming more enthusiastic as the story mounted to its hackneyed climax. Exhausted at the end by his enthusiasm, he asked excitedly, "What do you think I ought to give it for a title?"

The producer yawned "Call it 'If You've Heard This One Stop Me—.'"

Did it ever occur to you that Myrna Loy is "not emphasizing the splendor of her personality"? Or that Stuart Erwin "can't be kidded, but likes to tease others"?

If it did, you could be a psychologist. Dr. Kenneth Williams, pyschiatrist and psychoanalist was sight-seeing the studios the other day and ended up by touring the unconscious of the stars.

In addition to his discoveries on Myrna Loy and Comedian Erwin, he found that George Brent "is given to moods of depression" and that the rough, homely heart of Wallace Beery is often troubled by "tremendous emotionalism."

The night spot connoisseurs are kept busy these days. Last week, the Ship Cafe, the Grand Hotel and Lido Isle opened. This week it is Gus Arnheim at the Cocoanut Grove, Kay Kayser at the Miramar and a new spot, Chateau Trianon, for the lovers of French cuisine and dancing.

HOW TO CAST YOUR BALLOT

Editor Examiner:

Sir:

Having a feeling that all voters should have the knowledge of knowing how to act on receiving their ballot paper at the polling stations, I would consider it a favor if you would print the following:

The voter on receiving his ballot paper shall forthwith proceed into one of the compartments of the polling place and there mark his ballot paper, making a cross with a black lead pencil within the white space containing the name of the candidate for whom he intends to vote, and shall then fold the ballot paper so that the initials on the back of it and the number on the counterfoil can be seen without opening it, and hand it to the deputy returning officer, who shall, without unfolding it ascertain by examining his initials and the number on the counterfoil that it is the same ballot paper that he furnished the voter and shall then in full view of all present including the tear up or otherwise destroy it and place the ballot paper in the ballot box.

PARLIAMENT HILL HEARS

By WILFRID EGGLESTON

An interesting glimpse of MacKenzie King when he was a reporter on a Toronto paper, but already "aiming at higher flights,' is provided by Hector Charlesworth, now the chairman of the Canadian Radio Commission, in his first book of reminiscences.

"Mr. King and I," says Hector, "covered many assignments together in the old days when he was a most enthusiastic journalist, but already aiming at higher flights. In his youth, 'Billy' King, as we called him, was not only a brilliant speaker but keenly interested in the theatre.

"I remember Tom Gregg once saying to me...."Do you know a young man named King on the Globe?" I said I knew him well, and asked the reason for Gregg's inquiry. 'Well', he said, 'I was walking along the street yesterday with Lewis Morrison, the actor, and he stopped and shook hands with him. Morrison says he is a most idealistic lad. Goes in for social reform and things like that. Morrison says he is sure he will be a great man some day. A reporter who goes in for social reform must be an oddity."

Did you know...that the "newly-wed" of the House of Commons, Dr. Lewis Wilkieson Johnstone of Cape Breton, enjoys the distinction of having had two supreme court judges of Nova Scotia as paternal and maternal grandfathers, and the paternal grandfather was, in addition, premier of the province and attorney-general .... Henri Bourassa was once elected for two seats on the same day....there are six Canadians still with hereditary titles ranking as baron, and seven more who are baronets, but four of the six barons live in England.

The late Senator "Larry" Wilson used to tell with great glee a story on Senator Casgrain, who entertained the Upper Chamber recently with a colorful and encyclopaedic address on the League of Nations.

As Senator Wilson used to tell it, he was invited to address the same meeting as Senator Casgrain, but, upon arriving a few minutes late at the door of the meeting hall, he found a burly policeman blocking the door and refusing to permit anyone to enter.

"What's the matter. Is the hall full?" Senator Wilson asked the "cop."

"Good heavens, no," responded the policeman. He added, confidentially, "There's only about 75 people in there, but Senator Casgrain's on the platform speaking, and I'm fearful that if I open the door they'll all rush out again!"

The witty quipps of Samuel W. Jacobs, Liberal member for Jacques Cartier, stick in the mind of members for a long time. Among the parliamentary anecdotes which amused Hon. W. D. Euler at the time, and which he quoted to me recently, were these:

Shortly after the Grand Trunk Railway, the Canadian Northern and the Grand Trunk Pacific had been amalgamated with the Intercolonial to form the Canadian National, Hon. W. S. Fielding was addressing the House:

"Now that you have these railway lines, how are you going to feed the white elephant?" he asked.

Quick as a flash, Sam Jacobs inserted: "Through its Grand Trunk, of course!"

And in view of the 1911 election slogan of "No truck nor trade with the Yankees," Sam Jacobs' recommendation, when the estimates of the trade and commerce department were up, that the United States commissioners might well be known as the "truck and trade" commissioners, also struck a responsive chord in the House.

Strictly speaking, there is no "Hansard" in the Canadian parliament. Instead, the correct title is "The Official Report of Debates of the House of Commons." But "Hansard" it is to everybody throughout the country, and the title is not likely to be changed.

Did you know....that for eight years the Canadian parliament had no official report? That from 1867 to 1875 the only record of parliament consists of newspaper clippings? In 1875 a contract system was experimented with, but it was not until 1880 that the present system of shorthand notes extended the same night and printed within 24 hours, was begun.

George Simpson, editor of "Hansard," spoke of one rather fascinating change which has occurred in the House since he came to it 50 years ago—a change which has added to the difficulties of the Hansard reporter.

"In the eighties and nineties the frock coat, the top hat, and the high collar,' he says, "distinguished the legislator from the man in the street, and in the assembly itself individuality was accentuated by a variety of styles of dressing the hair and trimming the beard.

"But to-day the safety razor and sackcoat standardize parliament that in the subdued light of a chamber of magnificent distances, identification from the galleries is not easy."

The most perplexing period for the Hansard man is the opening of a new parliament, when as many as 150 of the 245 may be new members, and when cross-fire develops in the chamber, the reporter is often at his wits end to get down verbatim the exact words of the unfamiliar speakers.

Monster Studebaker Model Will Be a Feature Of World's Fair

An Elephant Can Walk Through the Doors Into This Car Without Crouching.

Huge.....colossal.....gigantic.... stupendous....these words describe the gargantuan Studebaker automobile now being prepared for Chicago's 1934 world's fair. The world has never seen a motor car as large.

The steering wheel of this huge model will measure seven and one half feet from rim to rim. The tires will be twelve and one half feet high. The doors will be fourteen feet wide and tall enough for an elephant to walk into without crouching. The running-boards will be twenty-one feet long, five feet wide. The wind-screen wiper will be more than a yard long.

This car, which would make a comfortable vehicle for the giants encountered by Gulliver on his famous wanderings, is to be exhibited in the Great Hall of the Travel and Transport Building at A Century of Progress. It will be the piece de resistance of the Studebaker exhibit, although it will be only part of the exhibit.

Eight Feet In Length

The mammoth automobile will be a model of the 1934 "speedway, skyway" Studebaker Land Cruiser, attractive new streamlined model recently announced. It will measure 80 feet from bumper to bumper, 28 feet high and 30 feet wide (all Studebaker being built wider than they are high. It will be the world's largest model of an automobile, so big that even that affable giant, Primo Carnera, would be unable to "change a tire" without the help of a small derrick.

House Full Size Band

In fact there is only one other car that approaches this world's fair exhibit in size. That is a Studebaker "President Roadster" now on exhibit at the Proving Ground, near South Bend. This model is big enough to house a twenty-one piece orchestra. But a full size Marine band will be able to get into the world's fair model without difficulty.

The car was designed by Studebaker's engineers after considerable study of the Travel and Transport Building exhibition space. As related above, there will be other features of the Studebaker exhibit

In the body of the monster automobile will be an auditorium capable of seating four score people. Sound films will be shown in this theater and lectures of topical motoring interest will be arrange.

New 1934 models of Studebaker cars will be exhibited beside the big car, among them a model of the new Land Cruiser, from which the big car was copied. Thus, motorists will be able to compare the two and note the fidelity of the large model.

In contrast to the big car, skilled miniature makers will produce—"while you wait"—small models of the huge Land Cruiser, models so small that a baby can easily hold them in his hand.

Work on the monster model has begun and it will be completed and installed several days before the 1934 fair opens.

The local dealer for Studebaker is Charles H. Elliott, 253 Hunter Street West.

JUST AMONG US GIRLS

TO THE ELECTORS of the City and County of Peterborough

Ladies and Gentlemen:

As the Liberal Candidate for the Electoral District of the City and County of Peterborough, I respectfully submit there is only one issue and that is the wrongful and extravagant record of the Henry Government.

1. PUBLIC DEBT

...In the last ten years the public debt of the Province has increased from $291,000,000 to over $610,000,000. The debt of the Province of Ontario now exceeds by over $90,000,000 the combined debt of the Provinces of Prince Edward Island, Nova Scotia, New Brunswick, Quebec, Manitoba and Saskatchewan although these Provinces referred to, have over 2,000,000 more population.

2. TAXATION

The crushing burden of taxation is causing the farmer to lose his farm and the householder to lose his home.

3. GOVERNMENT BONDS

The flotation of Bonds by the Henry Administration at such high and extravagant rates of interest as 5% or 6%, the benefit has gone almost entirely to the big corporations and has dried up the market for mortgage loans, destroyed the building industry and brought stagnation generally to many types of business and various trades, such as bricklayers, masons, carpenters, painters and many others.

4. GOVERNMENT BORROWINGS

At the present time the bonded indebtedness of our Municipalities and of the Provinces is equal to the actual assessed value of the real estate of the Province. This explains why the farmer and worker have been unable to raise money by mortgage on his property. Taxes come first and the Government has already mortgaged the land of this Province almost to its full value. The borrowings of the Government at excessive rates of interest also mean that private individuals, Loan and Trust Companies buy Provincial Bonds and thus have no money left to loan on Mortgages.

5. HYDRO ELECTRIC POWER SYSTEM

That great enterprise conceived by the late Sir Adam Beck, the Hydro Electric Power System has been abused by the Government to such an extent that purchases of over 1,000,000 horse power in excess of its requirements have been made at an annual cost of $15.00 per horse power thus meaning that the System must pay $15,000,000 per year for power it does not use or require when it is all delivered in 1937. This in turn means increased rates to power and light users.

6. SALARIES

The various Departments of the Government are over-staffed with officials drawing huge salaries, some as high as $30,000 per year and the Cabinet Ministers themselves saw fit to increase their own salaries $2000 a year each during a time of unprecedented depression.

The Policy of the Liberal Party may be briefly summarized.

1. To peg the Provincial debt—Provincial borrowings must cease if we are to avoid bankruptcy.

2. Administration costs must be cut drastically—this will be done by cutting salaries to reasonable limits for the services rendered—the elimination of the absurd expense of luxurious motor cars for Cabinet Ministers—the amalgamation of Government Departments on the basis of economy and efficiency.

3. The Liberal Party stands for the maintenace and extension of Mothers' Allowance and Old Age Pensions and other social services.

4. All moneys derived from the tax on gasoline and motor vehicle licenses shall be devoted entirely to Highway purposes.

5. The Liberal Party stands for the encouragement of agriculture—loans will be arranged to farmers on mortgages at a rate of interest they can pay namely 4½%—extension of marketing facilities—reduction of taxation.

6. A thorough and complete investigation of the Liquor Control Toll Gate—Departmental purchases and expenditures.

7. The Liberal Party has pledged itself that it will use its utmost endeavors to provide work for the unemployed the enforcement of the Minimum Wage Act—that no needy citizen shall suffer want or privation.

8. The conservation of our natural resources.

You already know my stand on the beer and wine policy and I will use my influence to keep this question out of politics.

I appeal to you ladies and gentlemen to refuse to be drawn aside by religious controversy and all other issues brought in to obscure the issue at stake and regardless of political affiliations, declare in no uncertain manner that the unparalleled extravagance and incompetence of the Henry Administration which has brought the Province to the verge of Bankruptcy, must go for all times.

Your vote and influence is accordingly respectfully solicited.

Yours Faithfully,

James Hawthorne

The following wedding account from the Toronto Star is of interest, as the bride's father resided formerly in Ashburnham, and she is a niece of Miss Annie Wood of Belmont Avenue: "Many-toned peonies decorated St. Paul's Church, Bloor Street, Toronto, on Friday afternoon, for the marriage of Frances, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Frank P. Wood, Bayview Avenue, to Dr. Melville Watson of Toronto. Bishop Renison officiated with Mr. Maitland Farmer at the organ.

"The bride, given in marriage by her father, wore a wedding robe of white, chiffon fashioned with high neck and flounced skirt, which extended into a train. An orange blossom girdle distinguished the gown, with which she wore a shimmering veil of bridal tulle caught to the head with orange blossoms. Her bridal bouquet was of lillies of the valley.

"The bride was attended by her two sisters, Mrs. Robert Nesbitt and Miss Joyce Wood, and by Miss Daphne Boone, attired respectively in wine, blue and pink sweet pea shades of chiffon. The frocks were fashioned like that of the bride with frilled skirts and slight trains. The attendants wore large hats to match their gowns and carried mixed sweet peas.

"Dr. Robert Cleghorn was best man and the ushers were Dr. Robert Sarjeant, Dr. John Ross, Dr. Clifford Watson and Dr. Hagar Hetherington.

"A reception followed at the Bayview home of the bride's parents, where summer flowers were used in profusion throughout the rooms. Mrs. Wood welcomed the guests in a gown of white flowered chiffon with harmonizing hat and corsage of roses. During the reception hour the guests wandered out through the lovely gardens.

"Later the bridal pair left for Banff and Lake Louise, where the honeymoon will be spent, the bride travelling in a becoming navy and white ensemble. They will reside in Toronto on their return."

Just Between Us Women

A daily chat with Examiner neighbors conducted by Anne Wilcox

Just as there is a great contrast between winter and summer in the realm of nature, and just as these contrasts lend zest to life, so there should be something of contrast in decoration of homes in summer and winter. These changes are refreshings. It may be that they are radical as for instance the crude decoration and inadequate accomodations of a summer shack as compared with the beauty of interior decoration of rooms in winter residences with their efficiency equipments. Or it may be merely in accessories that the difference is made, or in the treatment of rooms in a home where the family remains all the time, having relaxation in outings rather than in vacations at shore or mountains.

* * * * * *

Here are some of the ways of instilling summer variations in decoration. Slip covers for all overstuffed furniture. Have the color and texture of the material cool and totally different from winter time schemes. Take up the rugs, and have floors bare and cool, or use summertime floor coverings, or simple rugs.

* * * * * *

Take down window draperies. Many persons prefer to have very sheer net curtains left at windows while other homemakers prefer windows absolutely free from hangings which would keep out any lightest breezes. The preference is for the homemaker, but anything like heavy draperies should be taken down. This is a good thing for the draperies themselves as they gain a new life by the rest they get when laid away for the summer months.

* * * * * *

Put away most ornaments. Keep the decoration very simple. When Fall comes the ornaments will be welcomed back with renewed interest, and in the meantime the work of dusting and caring for them will be eliminated.

* * * * * *

Have awnings for all sunny windows. These can be bought so reasonably now that the comfort they provide by keeping out the glare and heat of the sun makes them a genuine necessity. An electric fan will keep the air in circulation and cool the atmosphere.

WHAT YOU SHOULD KNOW ABOUT HOUSES

A Weekly Home Feature Service Supplied to The Examiner by Home Builders' Service Bureau, 177 Jarvis Street, Toronto 2

Editor's Note—There is probably no product on the world's markets in a comparative price class that is sold and bought with as little attention to details as a house. It is important that those interested in buying or building homes should become familiar with at least the chief points of good design, construction and workmanship. For this reason a series of authoritative articles, edited by B. Evan Parry, F.R.A.I.C., will be published each week in this paper.

When our "first families" realized a lack of home comfort in caves they collected materials for more commodious dwellings — the latest conveniences in mud, logs, stones, or what have you; this "better home movement" engendered a pride and pleasure which, doubtless, was the beginning of architecture.

It's a far cry from the menace of the wandering dinsosaur to problems in the age of aviation, but home survives as the undisputed centre of interest and the new one is an event eclipsing trivial concerns of government elections, disarmament, war debts or national treaties.

The Room for Thought Comes First

Most of us look on the building of our new home as not only an important but a somewhat hazardous undertaking. There are many things to consider—the location, the style, the right choice of building materials, painting, tiling, plumbing and other fittings, glazing, heating, etc., etc.; details that assume a vastness and obscurity alarming to the uninitiated.

One can't scrap a house that has turned out unsatisfactorily and begin again, at least the average man doesn't do his practicing on so lavish a scale. A new home is the crystalization of our past years' observation and ideas, and certainly not something to be made the best of after an unfortunate experiment. There should be no cause for disapointment, and proper precaution will ensure the house of our dreams becoming existing evidence of what the union of good design and expert workmanship will accomplish.

Look for These in the New Home

So when it is finally decided to leave the old-fashioned, out-grown home—perhaps comfortable to father and mother as an old shoe, but to the new generation equally as unattractive—make sure its successor fulfills expectations.

The complete home is achieved through a blend of beauty and utility; sound construction—strength, durability, shelter, light, warmth and sanitation—the perfect adjustment of the family's requirements, combined with that indispensable quality which naturally results from pleasant line and admirable proportion. The intention of this article is to outline the various steps to be considered by the prospective home owner.

To-day we have the benefit of experienced architects and expert builders, and, if we take advantage of this knowledge the mistakes and mischances common to the experimenter will not mar the pleasure and comfort we anticipate in our new home.

The Architect

What is good architecture in house design? If a building answers the purpose for which it is built, if its masses are grouped in an interesting and pleasing manner, if all its parts are well proportioned, are "in scale," not only with regard to themselves, but with regard to the surroundings of the building, and if the motifs are selected with good taste, then the complete structure will be a true expression of architecture.

If you have some special idea in mind for your new home, it is well to consult a reliable architect—one who is recognized as a competent designer of homes. Such an architect is qualified by training and experience to prepare plans and specifications, award the contract, and to supervise the construction. By complete detail drawings and adequate supervision of construction, errors which might otherwise occur may be eobviated.

The Builder

By nature man is a builder. To anticipate the building of a home is always a comfortable thought. Due to this natural inclination, many people proceed to build a home without proper advice, thinking that they know enough about the subject already from general observation. Enthusiasm and interest will produce action, but they will not always yield the best results—it takes some one specially trained and experienced to produce satisfactory, economical results.

A reliable building contractor, one who has specialized in residential construction and who has earned a high reputation for fair dealing and good workmanship, should be your choice as the builder.

Keep This in Mind

Of course, the most efficient builder may not be the lowest bidder on the construction of your home, but in sturdy workmanship and satisfactory dealing you will be more than repaid any difference in price. A very low bid from a contractor who cannot refer you to satisfied home owners should be avoided.

BELLEGHEM FIRM COMPLETES ALTERATIONS TO PREMISES

One of the Most Up-to-Date Undertaking and Furniture Establishments.

ESTABLISHED OVER 75 YRS.

Established in its present location on Hunter street at about the time when Peterborough was just emerging from a mere settlement into a thriving town over seventy-five years ago, the funeral undertaking establishment and furniture store of D. Belleghem and Sons, has never failed to keep step with the march of business progress.

As evidence of the progressive nature of the present management, the whole of the interior of the house furnishing department has recently undergone extensive remodelling and redecoration, making it one of the brightest and most attractive stores of its nature in the city.

Artistically papered wals and gleaming new paint provides the fresh clean-looking background for the display of some of the very newest lines in furniture and house furnishings, while the newly installed system of lighting shows the whole up to extreme advantage.

Newest improvements in the furniture departments, were carried into effect by the management in bringing to completion an extensive plan of alteration and extension of the business to meet present day requirements which was started twelve years ago.

At that time it will be recalled, important structural alterations were made to the premises. Not only was a beautiful new front added to the building but the Funeral Home was entirely modernized, being completed with a spacious chapel; as well as including a well-stocked casket room; an office where bereaved persons might discuss their arrangements, assured of complete privacy, with a staff of fully qualified funeral directors; and a preparation room equipped with facilities that are modern in every respect.

Other improvements have been carried into effect since that time outside of the important changes that have been recently completed. They include the addition to the equipment of a new high-powered ambulance that is handily garaged on the premises ready for instant day or night service; also the recent purchase of two new automobiles which along with the comparatively new motor hearse are retained for funeral services.

The very latest improvements at the premises have included installation of an ingenious system of inter-department communication, through which it is possible to summon employees from any part of the building and even from their homes in the event of emergency calls day or night for ambulance or funeral service.

Besides Walter T. Belleghem and Arthur W. Belleghem, sons of the late Daniel Belleghem who originally acquired the business from the Bidding on the hands shown below had gone: North, 2 no trumps; South, 3 spades; North, 3 no trumps; South, 5 spades, showing great length and a distaste for no trumps. The question asked is "What is the proper final bid and why?" On account of a hand full often aces which should be led to and not through, I believe that the final bid should be 6 no trumps, to make certain that the opening lead does not wreck small slam chances. Having sent in that reply, my inquirer sent me the East and and West hands, and asked how play should go.

	♠ A J 9 ♥ A Q 9 ♦ A Q 10 ♣ A Q J 10
♠ None ♥ J 10 5 3 ♦ J 9 5 4 3 ♣ 7 6 4 2	W. E. N. S.	♠ Q 10 8 ♥ K 8 7 4 2 ♦ 8 6 ♣ K 9 8
	♠ K 7 6 5 4 3 2 ♥ 6 ♦ K 7 2 ♣ 5 3

The opening lead should be the 4 of hearts. West's 10 will force the declarer's Q.

Of course the declarer will at once start to clear the long spade suit. The odds are 88 to 12 that all opposing cards of the suit will drop in 2 leads, but the lead of North's ace of spades will show that he must lose a single trick of that suit, play the cards as he will. When the J is led East must cover with the Q, to insure winning a trick in the suit. Dummy will win with the K, and lead a clearing spade, so that when he enters with the K of diamonds the 4 remaining spades can be run, allowing North to discard 4 cards.

To insure a small slam the declarer will discard 3 clubs and his lowest heart. There will be won 12 tricks as follows: 6 in spades, 2 in hearts, 3 in diamonds and the ace of clubs.

There will be no play to the hand after East has won his single spade trick.

An opening lead of either hearts or clubs will be up to a teance, giving the declarer 2 tricks in the suit led, 6 spade tricks, 3 diamond tricks and the ace of the suit not led by East, or 12 tricks total. If East leads a spade the same 12 tricks will be made, as then no spade trick will be lost. An opening lead of a diamond will insure a small slam, by having North win 2 tricks in that suit before leading pades. When East wins his spade trick he will have to give North 2 tricks in either hearts or clubs, by leading up to a tenace.

No opening lead can prevent North making a small slam at no trumps, but South can be held to 5-odd at spades.

BE BEAUTIFUL

By GLADYS GLAD

The titian-haired Ginger Rogers, who possesses a pair of the shapeliest legs in all of Hollywood, claims that she always keeps her legs smooth and white through the use of pumice stone. When taking her daily bath, Ginger always rubs her shapely limbs with a smooth piece of pumice stone. And she firmly believes that any lass who wishes to go stockingless, or to wear those lacy mesh hose during the summer, must make sure that her legs are always as smooth and soft as they are shapely.

There are a good many girls who, like Ginger, prefer to go about stockingless during the hot weather. Indeed, the fad is becoming so popular that one enterprising manufacturer recently concocted a preparation to take the place of stockings. You smooth it on your legs and it looks just as though you had stockings on. Yet at the same time your limbs really are bare.

Any girl who wishes to go about without stockings, or to wear mesh hose, however, must make sure first that her legs are in flawless condition. Superfluous hair is one important thing that must be eliminated. Hairy legs are bad enough when seen through thin, chiffon hose. But when the hairs poke out between the meshes of that lacy type of hosiery, the total effect is very ugly.

There are so many ways of removing superfluous hair safely from the legs, that no woman ever should neglect this. Ordinary pumice stone may be used for the purpose of removal, and need just be rubbed briskly over the legs. A razor may also be used. And there are any number of good depilatories that are effective for clearing the legs of superfluous hair.

Rough, gooseflesh skin is also taboo when the legs are bare or clad in mesh hose. The skin of the legs must be smooth and clear. It is not difficult to keep the leg cuticle in this condition. When taking your nightly bath, simply scrub your legs well with a bland soap, using a small flesh brush. After the bath, dry your legs, and then massage a generous amount of cold cream or pure olive oil into them. This procedure will alleviate any roughness, and will keep the skin of your legs appropriately soft and smooth.

Hand Lotion

Ruby: The hand lotion to which you refer is composed of three parts of rosewater and one part of glycerine. An half and half mixture of rosewater and glycerine also forms a good hand lotion.

Nail Biting

Susan: You will have to train yourself not to bite your nails. Use your will power! A bit of tincture of aloes applied to the fingertips will help to break you of this habit.

Chapped Lips

Ethel: Apply a coating of cold cream, lanolin or camphor ice to your lips before retiring at night. Use a greasy lipstick during the daytime. Keep your lips well lubricated. This will remedy the dry, chapped condition.

"To The Electors Of Peterboro' County"

It is quite unnecessary for any C.C.F. candidate to point out the mal-administration of the present government in Ontario. The debt accumulated during the last 20 years is simply appalling. And the Liberals and ourselves do well in pointing out the facts and the exact figures. The Hydro—taking only one instance—is simply a disgrace through manipulation of stock, and enormous salaries. The Hydro, if justly managed, would long ago have paid its own way, as well as greatly reduced the principal and interest charges.

To all this, I hold the Liberals have nothing to offer. They say they can reduce the debt by 50 per cent. But they do not tell us how it is to be done. Is it to be done at the expense of old age pensions. Mother's allowances and other beneficent social services? If so, we C.C.F.'s vehemently protest.

The C.C.F.'s have a 16-point program. The Conservatives and Liberals haveno program, and all they offer is beer and wine to catch votes. We are out for even handed justice to all, both in the religious and economic sphere.

Liberalism—as a philosophy may stand for liberty, but in practice as a political movement, it is the most reactionary force in Canadian political life today. We have only to cite Pattulo, the Liberal premier in British Columbia, who is nothing short of a dictator and flouts the great principle of democracy. The same can be said of Taschereau, the Liberal premier of Quebec. He tramples on every tenet of British justice by denying freedom of speech. He is simply the tool of James Street vested interests and is therefore the great supporter of the capitalistic class.

The C.C.F. are strenuously opposed to every form of Fascism. They believe in the government of the people, for the people and by the people. They believe in, not only, a true democratic government, but also democracy in industry and all forms of social service. They are up against the vested interests, and declare war on capitalism and exploitation.

Therefore vote in your own interests, C.C.F., which means Work, Security and Welfare.

"GOSSIP AND SUCH"

NOW THAT the Baer-Carnera fight is over, what?

Unless some surprising youngster comes along or Max Schmeling stages a terrific comeback, the Baer-Carnera looks like the last "big" heavyweight title fight for some time.

Though the heavyweight ranks were thin of talent during the brief reigns of Schmeling and Jack Sharkey there was no such dearth of potential challengers as exists today. There just isn't any.

Steve Hamas apparently has not increased his stature any since the Schmeling bout. Kingfish Levinsky is an exploded theory. Tommy Loughran's had his chance. Who else?

It's too bad Jack Dempsey hasn't a big brother.

BASEBALL WRITERS are fond of blaming injuries and illnesses of ball players on a "jinx"—a mythical goblin who destroys the hopes of men and managers who earn their living in flannel monkey suits.

Well, if what the Brooklyn Dodger "jinx" has done for Jimmy Jordan is all the bad luck James will encounter, youthful Mr. Jordan wouldn't even be afraid to meet the Big Bad Wolf in a Harlem alley.

Jimmy was one of Casey Stengel's bench warmers when Joe Stripp broke an ankle. That made Jimmy the regular Dodger third baseman. Then young Jim Bucher busted his leg and James took over the second base patrol. Shortly after, Linus Frey proceeded to get spiked and Jordan went in there at shortstop.

Jimmy had played all posts as though he were born to each job which just about makes him an almost indispensable employee of the Dodgers. He's said goodby to the bench, probably forever.

WHILE THE orchids are being tossed various employees of the Detroit baseball club for their sterling efforts to give Tiger Town its first American league pennant since 1909, one man is apparently being overlooked.

We refer you respectfully to Shortstop Will Rogell.

The managerial efforts of Mickey Cochrane, the superb batting of Charley Gehringer and Goose Goslin and the smooth pitching of Schoolboy Rowe and several of his mates have all been the subject of cheers.

Rogell's speed and aggressiveness makes him a perfect second base mate of the great Gehringer and today they are the American league's best second sack combination. Perhaps the best in the majors.

A pennant winner needs nearly perfect work at second. The Tigers are getting it—from Rogell and Gehringer. So, keep your eye on them.

Omemee Girls Beat Leafs For 2nd Time

Omemee girls tumbled the Maple Leafs for the second time this season last night, when the two outfits hooked up on the Omemee diamond and the homesters pushed seven runs across in the first two frames, to take a good lead and won the game by the count of 12 to 5.

The winners turned in their best fielding performance of the year, and behind steady pitching had the edge on the locals from start to finish. They bunched their hits and capitalized on several costly errors by the Leafs, who worked hard but failed to click. Genevieve Mann pitched for the winners, and had the Rurals popping to the infield fairly regularly. She fanned one and walked two.

The teams:

Maple Leafs: P. Rome, 2b; A. Sturgeon, 3b; M. Ballantyne, ss; G. Mann, p; E. Burnham, cf; L. Cockerill, cf; I. Sturgeon, 1b; H. Mann, lf; B. Thirnbeck, c; L. Trollopp, rf.

RUSS KITCHEN HOLDS C. G. E. TO SIX CLOUTS

Roy Armour, Making E. P. L. Debut Hurls Great Game for Six Innings.

SPOTTY SUPPORT.

A seventh-inning rally in which they pushed five runs across the plate gave Cogs an 8-3 victory over C.G.E. in a smart E.P.L. game at the Exhibition Grounds last night. Up to this point, it had been a swell battle with the teams deadlocked at 3-all and Russ Kitchen and Roy Armour—the latter a youngster making his E.P.L. debut—having something of a twirling duel.

Armour restricted the Cogs to six hits the first six frames while he struck out seven and walked five. Though a bit wild, he was pitching effective ball. After a walk, two wild pitches, a hit and an error let three runs in in the seventh, he was replaced by Jack Barry who gave one hit and a walk while fanning another the last frame. Kitchen held C.G.E. to six hits and he struck out seven, giving two walks, in a good exhibition of flinging. Both teams' support was spotty.

Cogs got a run in the first, Wilson walking, stealing second, moving up on an out and tallying on Rooke's single. C.G.E. got it back in their half, Young reaching first on an error, stealing second and racing in on Weir's double. They got another in the second when McGillen singled, was sacrificed and scored on Armour's hit. Neither side scored then till the fifth when Cogs got two on hits by Vannest, Mein and Rooke with three stolen bases and an error. C.G.E. got one back to tie it up in their half, Nicholls doubling, taking third on Mowry's hit and scoring on a wild pitch.

Break Loose in Seventh.

Cogs broke loose to win out in the seventh to tally five times on two walks, three errors, two wild pitches and hits by Padgett and Kitchen. Weir got to third on an error and an out for C.G.E. in the seventh but succumbed on the hot corner.

Rooke and Vannest led the winners at bat with two each in three times up, while Nicholls topped the losers with a double and single in three. Weir hit a two-bagger for them. The fielding of Rooke, Kitchen and Busby was good, the former in particular covering a great deal of ground.

REDMEN CHECK GIANTS' STREAK AT 5 STRAIGHT

Tony Freitsas Hurls His Second Victory for Tail enders, Winning 2-1.

CUBS-PIRATES LOSE.

(By Hugh S. Fullerton, Jr.—A.P. Sports Writer).

The "luck" of the Giants, which gained fame last season when Bill Terry's peppery club kept winning games, its rivals and their followers thought it should lose, seems to be working again.

It's not that New York hasn't been playing a lot of good ball, but since they finally settled down this year into something like last season's stride it seems that the Giants can't make a mistake without having their rivals equal it.

They provided an example yesterday. They dropped a game to Cincinnati by a 2-1 count, despite a five-hit hurling job by big Fred Fitzsimmons, and for the third time this year ended a winning streak at five games. The Giants outhit the Reds 9-5 in the encounter, but only once could they bunch their blows off Tony Freitas for a run. Meanwhile the last-place club made extra base swats count and scored the winning run in the seventh on Manager Bob O'Farrell's triple.

But while New York lost, so did all the other first division clubs of the National League, and the Giants' 2½-game lead remained intact. The second-place Cardinals succumbed to Boston's 19-hit assault on four pitchers by a 10-4 count when the Braves reached Tree Jims, Mooney, Winford and Lindsey, for a pair of four-run innings.

The Phillies conquered Chicago's Cubs 4-3. In 10 innings after young Adolph Camilli, traded by Chicago Monday, clouted a ninth inning homer with one on to tie the score. Completing the rout, Brooklyn Dodgers turned back the fourth-place Pittsburgh Pirates 6-4.

Reverse in American.

In the American League, where the New York-Detroit race is even closer, the procedure was exactly reversed. The four first-division clubs defeated lower ranking rivals.

Manager Joe McCarthy of the league-leading Yankees reached into his pitching grab-bag and pulled forth Danny MacFayden, who had not won a game since April. Danny hurled a five-hit game to beat the Browns 6-3 and enable the Yanks to hold their margin of four percentage points over the Tigers.

Too Much for Red Sox.

With Schoolboy Rowe on the hill, Detroit slammed out an 11-4 decision over Boston Red Sox. Led by Goose Goslin, with three hits, the Tigers pounded Fritz Ostermueller and two successors for a dozen hits and bunched them with a flock of passes. Cleveland's third-place Indians piled up 17 blows, including homers by Earl Averill and Sam Rice, to beat the Athletics 12-6 as Connie Mack tried out two of his Collegiate hurlers, Ed Lagger and was driven out.

ORIOLES TRIP MONTREAL FOR SECOND TIME

Heaviest Shelling Session of League Season Wins for Baltimore 18-13.

CHIEFS LOSE 8 TO 3.

(By Associated Press.)

For the third time this season the hapless Baltimore Orioles had put together an International League winning "streak" of two games.

After tripping up Montreal 11-5 on Thursday, the Orioles beat the Royals again yesterday, 18-13, and now will see if they can win their third game in succession for the first time this campaign.

Heavy Shelling.

It was only by virtue of some of the heaviest shelling the league has seen that Joe Judge's cellar outfit finally won yesterday's slugfest. Three times they came from behind and after tying the score at 13-13 in the last half of the seventh, Baltimore won out with another five-run splurge in the eighth. The Orioles collected 24 hits, including nine doubles and one triple, off Johnny Salveson, Orilin Collier, John Pomorsk, Dutch Hnry, Chad Kimsey, and Curly Ogden, with Kimsey the losing pitcher. Doug. Taitt drove in one run and scored four as a result of a string of five hits, two of them doubles. Marvin Olson, Bob Asby, and Keith Molesworth each hammered out four hits, Olson's collection including three doubles and Molesworth's two.

Montreal made 13 hits off four Baltimore pitchers, but had valuable assistance in the shape of four Baltimore fielding errors and nine bases on balls. The defeat dropped the fourth place Royals below the .500 mark.

Cut Newark's Lead.

Rochester shaved one game off Newark's lead by beating Syracuse, 8-3, while the Bears were dropping a 10-inning 4-3 decision to Buffalo. Newark now leads the Redwigs by 3½ games, Rochester sewed up the game with six hits in the eighth, which were good for four runs. John Berly pitched steady ball all the way. Bill Sweeney, Syracuse first baseman, accepted his 510th consecutive chance without an error.

Bill Regan's single off Floydr Newkirk in the first extra inning drove in Jack Smith with the run that gave Buffalo its victory over Newark. Charley Perkins limited the leaders to eight hits, while the Bisons picked up nine off Charley Devens and Newkirk.

Nose Out Senators 7-6.

Toronto nosed out Albany 7-6 in the 10th on Joe Morrissey's double and George McQuinn's but on which Glen Chapman failed to hold Bill Brubaker's throw to first base. Morrissey' hit was his fourth of the game.

Inside Sportin' Dope—By A. Wise Cracker

Mister Sporting Editor:

Our senior ball team, Mac, has been suffering from a epidemic of rains and sprains. During the past week a double-header here with Oshawa was washed out, and Wed. when the lads travelled all the way down to Kingston and got theirselfs a mess of six runs in the 1st frame, along comes old Jupe Pluvius again and the game was rained out. As for sprains, Mister Hollingsworth of the outfield has a sprained foot; Mister Deyell, the Eiffel tower of our pitching staff, sprained his ankle; Mister Willie Calladine has got a sprained arm or something, and our Mister Batten is limping from a low throw that made a direct hit on his shin. Otherwise the weather and the health of our ball team has been perfect, Mac, thanks for asking.

The big event of the sport world, old-timer, was the smacking over of Mister Primo Carnera by Mister Max Baer in the heavyweight title clash the other nite. No official word has been received from Mussolini as yet, but it is understood that he ain't going to stand for nobody cuffing "Preem" around the way this Baer personage did. There is an old saying in the world of sport, Mac, that the bigger they are the quicker they fall, and Mister Carnera, the biggest bird that every held the title, sure fell often and hard. I listened to Mister G. MacNamee broadcasting the bout and Graham made a better job than usual, the difference in size making it impossible for the radio bird to mistake Carnera for Baer, or either of them for Joe Humphreys, our Mister Scates' only rival. Uncle Sam has got the heavyweight title back again, and a lotta folks over there has been thumbing their nose at pictures of Hitler and Mussolini ever since Thurs. nite.

Sad news about "Chuck" Gardiner, Mac. There was a goalkeeper and a great guy as well as many a local fan which has took the trip to Toronto to see the Black Hawks perform is willing to testify. The hockey bugs everywhere loved to see Gardiner work in the nets and to watch him clowning out there even in the tensest moments. It is a tough brake to see a athalete like him cut off in his prime.

Well, Mac, that seems to be all for now, so so-long.

Sportfully yours,
A. WISE CRACKER.

BOTH PITCHERS ARE HIT HARD

Overthrows and Dropped Flies Figure Largely in Loose Fielding Exhibition.

11 STRIKEOUTS.

In a loosely played game last night at Central, Johnston Tires clicked out a 13-9 win over Fashion-Craft. Both pitchers were pounded freely, Elliott for Johnston's and Butcher for Fashion-Craft. The former allowed 9 runs and 13 hits, struck out one, but did not issue a single pass. Butcher pitched fair ball with the exception of the fifth and sixth when the opposition scored 11 runs. He struck out 10 and walked 4.

The fielding was rather loose, overthrows and dropped flies figuring in the scoring.

Joe Dorrington led the winners' attack with three safeties out of five trips to the plate. Freddie Elliott helped win his own game collecting two hits for three times at bat. For the losers Butcher had a homer and a triple; Dobson smashed out four hits out of five trips to the plate.

Next Wednesday will be the big day in bowling as far as our club is concerned....It is the occasion of our annual men's doubles tournament.

Last year we had 50 entries, and judging by the enthusiasm shown by the local bowlers, and the response from outside clubs, it looks like a record entry.... Of course we may be a little optimistic, but our guess is that we will have our limit of rinks—namely 64.

And then again we are very anxious that we should have a large entry because it makes better competition, everybody enjoys themselves better and then besides your truly has a bet on with one of the big shots that we will have over 56 entries.

Local bowlers are asked to make their entries as soon as possible to J. Mayneord or H. Freeman.

The games start at 1 p.m. and the entrance fee is $250 per pair.

Last Night's Winners.
1st—J. Harrison's rink.
2nd—G. Gimblett's rink.
3rd—J. Sedgewick's rink
4th—J. T. Braund's rink

SPORTS DAY BY DAY

Baseball, Lacrosse, Soccer Softball, Bowling, etc.

By C.J.P.

And now C.G.E. baseballers know how Da Preem Carnera must have felt in the eleventh round the other p.m., since the Electrics took a bad pasting in the late stages of their E.P.L. brawl yesterday at the hands of Cogs. But unlike the Man Mountain, C.G.E. weren't groggy and punch drunk all through the opera—no, they easily held their own till that whirlwind attack in the seventh put 'em on the ropes. It ended up with an 8-3 chuckle for Cogs who have capitalized on seventh-inning rallies three games out of four so far this year. Up until the seventh last night, it was 3-3 and anybody's tussle. After that, it most decidedly was not C.G.E.'s tussle.

• • • • • •

Manager Doug Hatton dug up a new kid flinger named Armour, and he proceeded to treat the Cogs just as if they were another bantam ball team. That is, he did till that bad frame that follows the sixth. He was hoisted then and Jack Barry staggered through to the finish. Russ Kitchen meantime was tossing up a pretty fair brand of spalding for the Clubmen and that lead saved him from going overtime. The fielding on both sides was hardly worth dropping a postal home about, though 'twas neat in spots. And Rooke covered himself with glory and half the infield to rob C.G.E. repeatedly. Cogs hardly need a second sacker with Rooke in form, although the extra man comes in handy at bat.

• • • • • •

Down at King Edward School, the home kids were squeezing out a 9-8 verdict over St. Peter's in a nifty bantam baseball battle. The lads look promising and with a fourth team—we don't know its name for sure yet—now entered, this section of the City Loop should dish up plenty of hotcha contests. King Edward plays Maple Leafs Monday at 5.45 sharp in Armour Field, and the new team plays Maple Leafs at 5.45 (also sharp) over there Friday. Dire things are threatened the teams if they don't start their games on time. Schedule should be out soon.

• • • • • •

Johnston's Tires made the grade against Fashion-Crafts, 13 to 9, last eve at Central, some fancy fielding helping Elliott muchly. Butcher fanned ten of the Tiremen but was reached for enough hits to tuck the tilt in the bat-bag—provided it was a large bag. Bert Deck's battlers are taking themselves quite seriously this year, and pretty soon the other squads in the loop will snap out of the coma and begin to take 'em seriously, too. Then, it'll be unanimous.

• • • • • •

C.G.E. guys are figuring on dropping out of the City Softball League for the second half, claiming no support and not enough good players. Too bad if they do, but we understand the loop is ready to step in with another squad if it becomes necessary. Of course, several of the better Electrics' players would be needed and a few performers might be drafted off other teams. Then, there are several good softballers kicking the gong around and doing nothing else these days. Yeah, a pretty fair crew might be lined up. Well, we'll see in another week or so.

• • • • • •

Maple Leaf gals took a 12-5 rap in Omemee last gloaming, the hard-luck lasses managed by Jim Mann falling down early defensively and being unable to overcome an early lead. It was a sweet scrap after the first couple of spasms and gave the fans more kick than a jug of White Mule. Looks like the Leafs' gals and C.G.E. men could use a good rabbit's foot or a hoss-shoe.

• • • • • •

Surely the diamond over at the Ashburnham Bowl ought to be okay to play a few games on next week. The earth is packed down well now and the grass has a good catch. About two, or maybe three, gals' softball games on it shouldn't hurt the grass any. The lasses are anxious to play over there and hundreds of this league's followers won't go anywhere else to see the fair ones perform. The City has done a swell job at the Bowl this year and it is now undoubtedly one of the finest girls' softball diamonds in the Province.

• • • • • •

The C.O.B.L. schedule submitted to the different clubs will likely need a bit of revising. It will hardly suit the Petes as it calls for several twilight games here while the Petes will have five or six open Saturdays at home. This is a Saturday baseball town. Another thing the local officers should get busy on at once is the Oshawa game here next Wednesday. Since next Saturday is an open one for both teams, why not try to get the Dukes to come here Saturday instead of Wednesday? We won't publish the new schedule until it has been accepted by the four clubs in the circuit.

While Carnera, recuperating with friends in N'Yawk, is claiming, "I no queet, I still champion when fight ees stop", the dapper Max Baer—new world's champ—is reaping the harvest of fame and fortune that comes to the new titleholder. He will stay in N'Yawk six weeks to finish a radio contract and do some vaudeville acting and then has numerous fine financial offers to consider in the movies and elsewhere. Dressed like a million bucks, his face almost unmarked after the wicked fight Thursday night, he sat on the roof of his hotel yesterday surrounded by friends, admirers and newspapermen. "No more fooling around," Maxie said, "I am a business man now, and I'm going to make a million." Then, in a low voice aside to a reporter: "Say, buddy, who's that smart blonde over there in the doorway?"

King Edward School Takes 9-8 Victory

King Edward School opened their bantam baseball season in City Baseball League on their own grounds last night with a 9-8 win over St. Peter's in a classy struggle before a fair crowd. Some good hurling was dished up by both sides, the fielding was nifty in spots and the hits were bunched in the right places. Condon went the route for the Saints while Mortimer gave way to Todd to finish on the mound for King Edward.

The Southenders ran in two counters in the first and did the same again in the second. Their last big frame was the fourth when five runs scored, a couple of hits, three walks and an error doing the trick. St. Peter's got three runs each in the second and fourth and two more in the fifth. Despite a walk in the sixth and another in the seventh, they could not tie it up. HAVELOCK EASILY DEFEATS LAKEFIELD

LAKEFIELD, June 16 (Examiner Correspondence). — Havelock won from Lakefield in a snappy fixture which attracted a large crowd to the ball field on Friday evening. The visitors piled up a formidable lead in the third innings which they held, and the locals could not break away. Lakefield was good, but Havelock was better. The Kemp brothers who are on the Havelock team were formerly with the locals during their residence here, and their smart play helped in Havelock's victory.

Hunter made a home run, the only one of the game, in the third. The out-fielding of the visitors was superior and the long shots found a welcome from a Havelock fielder who turned a safe hit into a caught ball every time.

The umpires were M. Bullied at the plate, and C. Chittick on bases.

The line-up was:

Havelock. — Hagerman, c; G. Kempt, p; Matheson, 1b; Miller, 2b; Hill, 3b; R. Kemp, ss; Hunter, rf; Brooks, lf; Childs, cf.

Lakefield.—Blewett, c; Fitzgerald, p; Chittick, 1b; Walker, 2b; Morrison, 3b; Loyst, ss; Jewell, rf; McConkey, lf; White, cf; Porter, sub.

All Saints' Juniors Cinch 9-8 Victory

All Saints Juniors got a 9-8 nod over St. James in a smart Church Softball League game last evening, the losers failing to properly support Crofts who fanned eleven and walked two in a neat hurling display. All Saints gave G. Seabrooke good support and he pitched steady ball. They had to shove across two runs in the eighth inning to nose out the verdict. Rusaw, Fisher and G. Seabrooke led the winners with the willow, the latter hitting a homer. Simmons, Leggett and Grose were best for S. James. It is the first loss of the year for this team, champs last year, and keps All Saints well up in the running. The teams:

PARK STREET BANTAMS ARE ELIMINATED 12-7

Jack Kirkwood's hard-hitting St. Paul's Bantams took the second semi-final Church Loop game last night, 12 to 7 to eliminate Newt Hamilton's Park Street crew, and the Saints now play the Mark Street-George Street winner in the bantam finals. Two big frames gave them last night's tilt, while the other innings saw Sanderson keep St. Paul's worried. Williamson pitched steadily for the victors and had good support. McDermid, L. Campbell, Sedgewick and McMillian went best at bat. The teams:

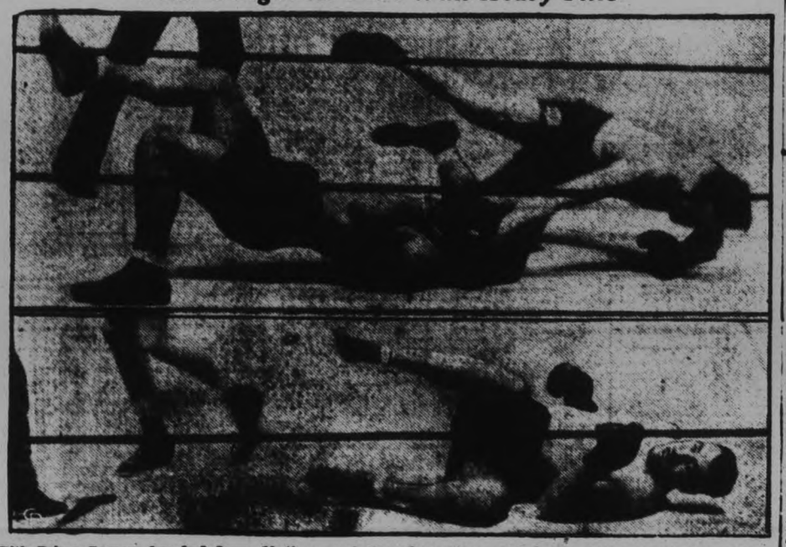
What a Fight As Baer Wins Heavy Title



With Primo Carnera knocked down 10 times and Max Baer also making several trips to the canvas in stumbling over the fallen champion, the two heavyweights stage a bruising brawl as Baer wins the world title by a technical knockout in the 11th round in Long Island City, N. Y. Photos show, top, the two fighters asprawl in the second round and, bottom, Primo down for a short count just before bout was halted. These are typical exciting events of the battle.

THE SPUN GLASS MYSTERY

A Tale of Scotland Yard

By A. FIELDING

READ THIS FIRST:

John Tait, stepson of wealthy Lady Tait, is engaged to marry Lucy Burnham, a widow. In France, where the three were sojourning, Lady Tait takes a dislike to Gillian Dundas, a beautiful girl who, it is disclosed, is blackmailing Tait for a past indiscretion. Back in London Lady Tait shows her stepson a letter from her dead son's wife, an Italian woman she despises, demanding money for her son, Lady Tait's grandson. Tait becomes alarmed when his business associate, Lord Mills is found shot to death. Mrs. Burnham takes Miss Dundas "under her wing," much to Lady Tait's annoyance, after the girl is released from the employ of a Mrs. de Sousa. A luncheon given by Lady Tait in honor of Tait and his fiancee, and attended by John's cousins, Alysia, Etta and Claud Naylor, is a poor success, owing to Tait's apparent uneasiness. Tea is interrupted by the discovery of John Tait's body on the sidewalk in front of Lady Tait's home. He had collapsed and died in the arms of a cab driver. Chief Inspector Pointer of Scotland Yard is dispatched to investigate Tait's death, suspecting he has been poisoned. A gold fountain pen top is revealed as having been found near Tait's body, bearing teeth marks. Pointer calls for a poison specialist and interviews the butler. Pointer finds two tiny specks just under the skin of the thumb and forefinger of one of the dead man's hands and sends them to be analyzed. He sees young Naylor, Etta Naylor and Gillian Dundas standing motionless in the hallway.

(NOW GO ON WITH THE STORY)

CHAPTER 25

Naylor, after a pause, went on into the dining room. A word from Pointer and he was allowed to pass through the double doors. He halted for a second at the sight of the covered body on the table, then he stepped up to it, and folding back the sheet, stood looking down at the death face of the cousin from whom he had parted only an hour before. His face was absolutely impassive, but it was that always. Naylor's features formed a shelter behind which he could live all his life and remain totally unknown to his fellowmen should he so choose. Primitive man wasted years trying for the right magic to capture this privilege of invisibility which the man of the world has as his birthright—as regards his real self.

"May I ask the cause of death?" Naylor said, turning to Pointer. "Old Merridew said heart failure. Rather a safe guess."

"The two doctors who have just left, specialists in their own line, are sure that Mr. Tait was poisoned," Pointer replied.

"Poisoned," Naylor repeated in a low tone of horror, "you mean ptomaine that sort of thing?"

There had been a couple of food poisoning cases lately, and the papers were full of snippy, comforting articles on The Truth About Our Water Supply, What Really Happens to the Milk, and so on.

"No," Pointer said to that, "from the kind used, it looks as though intentional poisoning was the cause of death. The autopsy will tell more, of course."

"You mean that my cousin was murdered?" Naylor said under his breath, and to the keen eyes looking at him so apparently casually, it seemed as though an extra layer of lack of expression covered his face—an extra defense. Then he turned away from the table and followed the other into the room opposite, where he stood, resting his elbow on the mantel shelf, his hand to his forehead, as though plunged in grief—or thought. Then, looking up, he began to ask a few questions, and to answer others put by the detective officer. After the first few words, Pointer was certain of one thing. This man would only tell things that did not matter. Whether in the crime or not, he would not help wholeheartedly. Yet barristers yield the fewest criminals of any profession. A proof of their brains, the chief inspector always thought. This man should be on the side of the law. It was his cousin who had been killed. And yet Pointer had no feeling that here was someone longing to help. He did not think Naylor was ever impulsive. He would always let his head govern his heart. But why should that be necessary here? Possibly some family matter was going to be dragged out by the sudden death of the one cousin. If so, that might account for the impression. If no family matter seemed involved in the sudden death of Tait then the young man before Pointer had some knowledge as yet peculiar to himself.

"If you're right, it's a most terrible and most mysterious affair," Naylor said finally in a very moved voice. "A man less likely to come to a sudden end than my cousin could hardly be imagined. Generous, kind, fair in all his dealings."

"With women as well as men?" Pointer asked, thinking of the gold pen.

Naylor looked him full in the face, and imperturbable though the gaze was, Pointer had a certainty that he had scored a bull's eye in some way—that Naylor was startled, or at least surprised, and wondered how much lay behind the query.

"He was more than fair to women," Naylor said finally; "my cousin was ridiculously chivalrous where they were concerned."

"When did you see him last?"

Naylor explained that after lunch Tait was hurrying out when he stopped him for a last word on a subject they had discussed after lunch.

"So that unless some one spoke to him in the street, I was the last person to talk to him," he finished.

The rather chilly, clever eyes of the young man rested on the chief inspector for a second, then dropped to the fire. It was early May and cold.

"Can I ask what the talk was about?"

"The death of Lord Mills. My cousin was in possession of information which would have proved definitely that Lord Mills took his own life because he was afraid of cancer of the throat. He had a brother who died from it you know, after every sort of operation. Mills, it seems, couldn't face the prospect of going that road."

"Do you happen to know the name of his doctor?"

Naylor did not, but imagined that could be easily learned from Lady Mills. Naylor went on to speak of the dread of cancer which destroys quite as many people as does the disease itself. He spoke well, but Pointer wondered just what it was that Naylor had not told him.

"I wonder Mr. Tait didn't let Scotland Yard know of this dread of Lord Mills," Pointer said finally.

"He intended to, of course. That is why he was so certain of the valet's innocence."

"I wonder why he didn't telephone the information as soon as he knew of Brown's arrest," Pointer repeated thoughtfully. Naylor's thin, flexible lips set in a line that meant temper but he answered easily.

"Perhaps he preferred to do it through Lady Mills. Of one thing you may be certain, he intended to see that the valet was set free at the earliest possible moment."

"But he didn't phone or write to the Yard," Pointer persisted, "by doing which Brown would have at once been released — supposing, of course, that this idea of Mr. Tait's can be substantiated."

"He was probably on his way when he dropped dead," Naylor replied. "At any rate, I shall at once get into touch with Lady Mills."

"The two deaths — following so quickly on each other of two men associated on several large companies — you don't think they are connected then?" Pointer asked.

When he asked questions of that kind the chief inspector was solely concerned with the reaction of the person to whom the question was put, not in the least with his opinions. Opinions, other than his own, played no part in Pointer's investigations.

"The two deaths linked?" Naylor raised a well-shaped, level eyebrow. "Quite impossible. One is a suicide. Oh, I see what you mean ——" And Pointer wondered why the other had not seen it at once. "I see what you mean . . ." Naylor repeated slowly, thoughtfully, "some business gone wrong . . . If so, you'll find that out . . but I don't think so. My cousin seemed in no financial trouble . . . still, it's an idea of course that I confess hadn't occurred to me. I know Tait was certain that Mills shot himself for the reason I've just given. But of course he might have been wrong, intentionally or unintentionally misled by Mills . . ." Naylor dropped off into silence. Pointer left him. He was in a hurry to see the place where Tait had died, but he had the valet again sent into the dining room for a moment.

"Didn't your master lose a glove lately? A very thick driving glove?"

"Yes, sir. Kind that can't wear out, they claim. He was trying a pair. And lost one within the first week. Lost it outside somewhere."

"That was yesterday?"

"Yes, sir."

"Have you the one remaining glove?"

The man did. Tait had got them from his usual shop, but he had told the valet that this was the only pair of this new kind in the place. "Peccary skin, he called it. Sort of extra thick pigskin it looked like. I'll show you the glove."

THE STARS SAY . . .

By GENEVIEVE KEMBLE

For Sunday, June 17

Sunday's horoscope shows important and eventful occurrences, probably of a quite unexpected nature. There may be sudden change, with travel, new associates, interests and surroundings. These may involve writings, publishings or public employment. Nevertheless there may be tenacious obstacles and delays to cope with.

Those whose birthday it is may look for an important and promising year despite some obstinate and frustrating circumstances to be disposed of. It is possible that travel, change, new surroundings and interests, in connection with employment of a public or unusual nature, may materialise, but be careful with funds and not too hasty in decisions. Safeguard the real possessions.

A child born on this day may be talented, ingenious, bold and adventurous and may attain good position in unusual or public work.

For Monday, June 18

Monday's astrological forecast is for a day of intriguing and baffling situations, with much of a subtle and confusing complexion occurring. There are signs of treachery, secret enmities and peculiar conspiracies, threatening to undo the finest efforts of a well-stimulated mental grasp of an ugly situation. However, poise, calmness and shrewdness should win out rather than an indulgence in rash and tempestuous conduct, predisposed for sarcastic and bitter frame of mind.

Those whose birthday it is may find themselves confronted by a year of peculiar, intriguing or treacherous circumstances, calling for wisdom, self-control and cool decisions to wisey deal with, lest subtlety and secret enmities confuse the best laid plans. The mind will be found alert, resourceful and sharp, but the conduct should be temperate and the speech free from sarcasm and bitterness.

A child born on this day should have fine mental equipment, alert, keen and ready to grasp subtle situations, but may be inclined to violence, radicalism and aggressions to an intemperate degree, unless trained in infancy.

Household Drudgery

The Bane of a Woman's Life

MILBURN'S HEALTH AND NERVE PILLS

Nature intended women to be strong and healthy instead of weak and sickly, but how can a woman have good health when she has to go through the household drudgery without any relaxation. Is it any wonder she becomes nervous and irritable, has hot flushes, faint and dizzy spells, shortness of breath, sinking and smothering sensations, and can't sleep at night.

Women who are weak and run down will find in Milburn's H. & N. Pills a remedy to strengthen the system and bring back the much desired health.

Turkey has 60 per cent more automobiles than a year ago.

Ninety-four of every 100 women in India are mothers.

FALSE MODESTY ABOUT PILES

Unfortunately there is a delicacy about mentioning this disease, even to the family physician. The dread of an operation keeps many from consulting their doctor. Seldom if ever is an operation necessary if Dr. Chase's Ointment is used. Relief from the burning, stinging sensations is obtained almost as soon as this Ointment is applied. Persistent use will usually overcome even the most serious case of long standing.

POWER OF DEATH.

LONDON, June 15 (C.P. Cable).—Sir Buckston Browne, eminent 84-year-old physician, told a medical gathering to-day he looked forward to the time when the profession would have the power of "sentencing those who through disease or crime are not fit to live" to death. They should also be able to grant permits to the old and worn out who wished to go to a lethal chamber, he added.

THREE CLAIMS TOTAL $470.00

Utilities Commission Authorizes Settlement of Two Claims.

DOCTOR IS INJURED.

Three claims for damages totalling $470 were received at a meeting of the Utilities Commission yesterday afternoon. Maintaining that the admission of a stone from the city water mains to the house water system resulted in a flooding of the second storey, W. J. Clancy, owner, and Mrs. Robert Hart, tenant, of a home at 285 Townsend street, are asking for damages of $270. Dr. J. M. O'Brien has requested $200 for injuries he claims to have received when he recently fell into an open ditch, for which he claims the Utilities was responsible.

The three claims all arose from some work being done on the main in front of the Townsend street house. Mr. Clancy asserts that workmen allowed a stone to enter the main as it was being repaired last Friday and that the stone was forced up into the tank of an upstairs water closet. The stone, it was said, prevented the operation of a shut-off valve and caused the tank to overflow. Mr. Clancy sets the damage to the house itself at $150 and Mrs. Hart assesses $120 damages on the contents of the house.

Members of the Commission agreed that the Commission was responsible in the matter and authorised General Manager Ross Dobbin to arrange a settlement.

Dr. O'Brien claims that the ditch dug during the repairs on Townsend street was left improperly barricaded and that he fel into it on the night of June 2. He sustained injuries to a leg and shock, he reported. The Commission decided to communicate with its insurance company before dealing of the claim.

Manager Harry Beal of the Gas Department reported that the revenue of his department, amounting to $6,076.84 for May, was down $205 as compared with May last year. The total revenue for the year to the end of May was $27,008.43 compared with $29,835.53 for the same period last year.

Operating expenses for May were up $147 over May last year, Mr. Beal reported. Extensive repairs to mains damaged by contraction during the cold spells of last winter are responsible for the increase, he said.

Mr. Beal was authorized to extend a gas main 300 feet along Manning avenue at a cost of $201 if he can get an assurance from the consumer involved with regard to the amount of gas which will be used.

I think I've issued this warning before, but it's important enough to repeat.

Smokers dropping their cigars or cigarettes on the grass while they play a shot and then picking them up again to put them into their mouths little realise the danger of infection to be had from the various acids and fertilisers used on the grass.

This practice is generally resorted to on the putting greens where the grass is almost always covered with some sort of foreign matter.

Place your smoke in the tee box or let your caddy hold it for you while you shoot, but don't expose yourself to infections so easily picked up.

AUSSIES HELD TO DRAW.

NORTHAMPTON, June 15 (C.P. Cable).—The touring Australian cricketers were held to a draw by the lowly Northamptonshire County side in their three-day watch ending to-day. Northants did something England could not accomplish in the Test—defy the best Aussie bowling to keep a wicket standing at the time limit and avoid a substantial defeat.

BAND PICNIC AT HASTINGS

Trinity United Society Holds Outing at Preston's "Seldom Inn."

GOOD RACE PROGRAM.

HASTINGS, June 16.—(Examiner Correspondence.)—Mrs. Bert Preston generously extended the hospitality of her beautiful summer home, "Seldom Inn," for the annual Mission Band picnic of Trinity United church, held on Saturday afternoon, June 9th.

Although the early part of the afternoon did not promise fair weather all were pleased to see the rain, and a good program was given, the sun room serving as a most accomodating place.

Little Ruth Bell recited 'Sunshine,' Little Miss Richardson sang most sweetly 'I will meet my mother there'; Fern Preston, on the harp, played 'There's a lamp lighting time in the valley,' and Aleitha Buck gave a delightful recitation.

Immediately after the program the members of the Mission Band took occasion to present their leader, Mrs. H. J. Bell, her daughter Ruth, and son Milton, with small tokens of affection, accompanied by a suitable address, read by Miss Fern Preston. Rev. and Mrs. Bell and family will leave shortly for their new home in Blackstock.

Miss Ona Hoard presented Mrs. Bell with a beautiful china rawfruit dish. Little Muriel Oliver presented little Ruth with a set of amber colored dishes, and Glen McMasters presented Milton with an ebony set, consisting of two military brushes and comb in a beautiful lined case.

Mrs. Bell thanked the children kindly for their gifts which will serve as a reminder of their happy times spent together.

When the rain was over, the afternoon proved all that could be desired. Races and games and a delightful picnic lunch added an attraction to the program. Winners of the races were as follows:

Girls, 10 years and under—Aleitha Buck.

Girls, 10 years and over—Ruby Preston.

Boys 10 years and under— Glen McMasters.

Little girls 5 years and under—Ruth Bell.

Open three-legged race— Frances Hoard, Fern Preston.

Open walking race—Ona Hoard, Pauline Scriver.

Wheelbarrow race—Ruby Preston and Rhea Preston.

Prize for the first one offering to sing or recite was awarded—1st Aleitha Buck, 2nd Ruth Bell.

ANNIVERSARY IS HELD AT BENSFORT

Mrs. White of Myrtle is Main Speaker for Successful Event.

BENSFORT, June 14 (Examiner Correspondence). — The Bensfot United Church Sunday School held the anniversary services on Sunday June 10th. Mrs. White of Myrtle was the main speaker for the day. In the morning she spoke very interestingly to the children telling them three delightful stories. Her first story showed the children that without God's help, all things could not be perfected. She left the all familiar verse with them:

"Back of the loaf the snowy flour
Back of the flour the mill," etc.

Her second story pointed out that all the children have a place in heaven no matter to what race they may belong. And her third story showed that all things great and small reach towards or grow toward heaven. The music was in charge of Mr. Jack Staples, a male choir. A duet was given by Mr. Willan and Joe Wood and a quartet by Messrs. Jim Wood, Lawrence Finnie, Frank Buckham and Cliff Emberson.

Mrs. White took the services in the evening again giving a real inspirational address. The music was taken by Plainville choir and was splendidly given; Mr. Glen Cole and Mrs. Fred Bowman taking the solo parts.

Rev. Mr. E. M. Cook assisted Mrs. White in the morning while Mr. Edmund Dawson the superintendent assisted her in the evening. Mr. Dawson announced that he would like a good attendance next Sunday morning to select a teacher for the Bible class and make plans for a strawberry social.

On Monday evening Mr. and Mrs. Chester Fisher and family and Miss Jean Stinson motored to Peterborough where Miss Maurice Fisher was to play at a musical recital at the Conservatory of Music.

Find "Fakir" Guilty Of $39,000 Robbery

CHICAGO, June 16 —(AP)— A jury decided the perplexing question whether Allen R. Hammel was himself or two other fellows by convicting him today of the theft of $39,000 from a Brink's Express Company money truck from which he and the money vanished on a downtown street last Dec. 15.

The defendant baffling psychiatrists, irrating prosecutors, snubbing two wives and the children they asserted were his, refusing or failing to recognise his own mother when she came here from Cincinnati and identified him, stuck through it all to his story that he was Burt Armstrong of New York, a real estate man who never heard of Hammel, never married, never lived in Chicago.

The state called him a "colossal fakir," put two of his children on the stand to say "There's my daddy," and turned the case over to the jury.

Fifty minutes later it returned the guilty verdict, branding him as Allen R. Hammel, absconding guard of the armored truck.

Remains of horses, often of extinct species, have been found in the cave beds, river gravels, bone licks and loose deposits of the Quaternary period or Age of Man in almost all parts of the world.

3,000 Toronto Trolleymen to Strike

REFUSE SALARY REDUCTIONS SET BY T. T. C. HEADS

Early Morning Vote in Massey Hall Goes 1,174-4 for Walkout.

LOSE 3 CENTS HOUR.

Hour Depends on Word Awaited From International Union Executive.

TORONTO, June 18.—(CP)—Employees of the Toronto transportation commission decided today by a vote of 1174—4 to call a strike in protest against decision of the commission, supported by finding a board of conciliation, to effect a wage reduction of three cents an hour for platform men.

Officials of the Toronto Union of Street Railway Men said they would walk out as soon as they receive sanction from the executive board of the International Union of Street Railway Men. The strike vote was taken early today at a mass meeting in Massey Hall.

At the end of the meeting this morning President Lawpence O'Connell of the Union issued a statemen saying the men had decided to strike and added sanction of the International Union was expected in a few hours.

Mr. O'Connell said the meeting had taken a vote rejecting the finding of the Board of Conciliation which authorized a cut of three cents and hour in the wage of 60 cents an hour for platform men and 63 cents an hour for operators of one-man cars.

Almost 3,000 men are affected by the decision.

17 MEN CAUGHT IN POLICE RAID

Operator of Alleged Blind-pig Escaped Through Second Storey Window.

SEVEN PLEAD GUILTY.

When police raided an alleged blindpig at 175 Dublin Street early Saturday evening, the operator of the house, George Raines, leaped from a second storey window and escaped. However, police succeeded in arresting 17 men who were consuming liquor in the place.

Seven young men, chiefly residents of Otonabee and Douro Townships, were charged to-day before Police Magistrate Langley with consuming liquor illegally at Raines'. Each pleaded guilty and was fined $10 and $4.50 costs.

The ten others taken in the police net will face a similar charge later, and may be required as witnesses when Raines is apprehended. A warrant for his arrest was sworn out to-day .

Sergeant William Wigg and Constables G. Puffer and J. Wheeler participated in the raid. With one constable at the rear and the other with him at the front, Sergeant Wigg, armed with a search warrant, knocked at the Raines' front door at 9.10 Saturday evening.

Immediately that the presence of the police became known, those in the house made a concerted rush on the front door, but the officers were successful in preventing their escape. They were conveyed in several loads to the police station.

Raines, however, at the first warning, ran upstairs and jumped out a rear window onto the roof of a shed. He fled away over fences and through back alleys. Police expect to make his arrest soon.

Found in the house was a large quantity of liquor, including 85 quarts of home-brew beer, 31 quarts of lager beer, a quantity of wine, an empty 5-gallon beer keg and a host of empty beer bottles.

Trevor Turner, Otonabee, pleaded guilty to operating a car while intoxicated, and was sentenced to seven days in the county jail.

6 Britishers Kidnapped By Chinese Pirates Send Warships Of Two Nations Into Action

SHANGHAI, June 18.—(AP)—Two United States navy vessels tonight were ordered out in search of pirates who kidnapped six British subjects, including two British naval officers, from the S. S. Shuntien, a British commercial steamer.

Not only did the United States Asiatic fleet go into action, but the British as well moved to the relief of the citizens.

The two American craft dispatched to the scene of the outrage, off the mouth of the Yellow river, were the U.S.S. Pope and the mine-layer Bittern.

They were ordered to find the Chinese junks into which the six Britons and 20 Chinese had been taken off the ship which flew a British flag.

The capture was effected without opposition.

The pirates forced the captives into a fleet of five junks which stood by. Besides the captives, the pirates removed all the most valuable merchandise.

Then the steamer proceeded to Chefoo.

The Britons captured, beside the two naval officers, were one commercial traveller and three members of the steamer's crew.

GREAT DROUGHT PLAYING HAVOC OVER ENGLAND

Judge Discards Wig in Court—Police Direct Traffic in Shirt Sleeves.

HEAT SOARS TO 81.

Guards Are Placed on All Water Supplies—Springs Drying Up.

LONDON, June 18.—(C.P. - A.P.)—It is almost unusual—even irregular.

Lord Merrivale, the famous jurist, actually discarded his wig in court today. The most dignified police in the world, as represented by the bobbies at Rochester, discarded their tunics and directed traffic in their shirt sleeves.

As England steamed through another humid day with no rain in sight to relieve the country-wide drought, 500 police armed with birch brooms guarded the Ascot Heath and race course from danger of fire.

At one p.m. the termperature in London was 81 degrees in the shade, one degree higher than yesterday.

A guard was kept everywhere against wastage of water.

FAKE MURDERS GET 11 JAILED

Gang Reported to Have Made $100,000 by Wide Variety of Plots.

IN PAST YEAR.

NEW YORK, June 18.—(A.P.) — Eleven persons were under arrest to-day in a police round-up of an alleged extortion gang which specializes in staging fake murders — using tomato ketchup to represent blood.

Nine men and two women were being held as ivestigation was made of the gang's activities in New York, Philadelphia and New Jersey. The police said the group had collected more than $100,000 in the last year by a wide variety of plots.

The arrests followed a complaint by Dominick Zerbonio, a junk dealer, who said he had paid $2,000 to the gang after the had been made the victim in a fake murder plot. He told police he had been approached several months ago by two men who demanded monthly sums for the "protection" of his business. When he refused, the pair took him to an East Side tenement to talk to the "boss."

As he talked to the "boss," Zerbonio said, an argument started and somebody fired a "shot." The "boss" fell to the ground and when others turned him over his face was covered with what seemed to be blood and there was a crimson spot on the ground. Soon afterward two men displaying badges came up to the scene and Zerbonio was pointed to as the "murderer."

Zerbonio said the men with badges told him they would let him free if he paid $3,000. He managed to pay $2,000 but when the "detectives" demanded more, Zerbonio went to the police.

Love, First Sight

NEW YORK, June 18 (CP)—Brown-eyed Nadine A. Beling has never seen her young husband, Jerry Cloud, and probably never will, but that did not stop their marriage.

In fact Miss Beling, who became Mrs. Cloud yesterday in a civil ceremony at the Municipal Building, insisted it was a case of love at first sight—her pet joke almost from the time she met her husband at a dance for the blind two months ago. She is 23 and he is 24.

"She danced divinely," Cloud said. "I danced with her all evening and we fell in love. I kept pestering her until she promised to marry me."

SMITH STARTS HIS LONG TRIP IN STURDY CANOE

200 Citizens Down to See Sailor Start His Long Paddle.

16 FOOT CANOE.

Confident Wave of the Hand and Young Sailor Put Off.

With a confident wave of his hand and a cheery, "So long!" John Smith, 24 year old able seaman, paddled his frail 16-foot canoe out into Little Lake on his way to St. John's, Newfoundland, and ultimately Peterborough, England, shortly after eight o'clock this morning. A gathering of more than two hundred persons crowded to the edge of George street wharf to wish him bon voyage.

A good many of those on hand had come to verify their convictions that the entire affair was a gross hoax and realized for the first time that the husky young sailor was actually serious in his intentions as he disappeared around the cemetery point. It was just a publicity stunt, they said, and they were satisfied that he would not even start. Now that he is on his way they know that he really proposes to shove his canoe out into the great Atlantic wastes in an effort to cross to Ireland.

Light Rain Comes As Boon To Crops

(By the Canadian Press.)

Light rain fell over most of Southern Ontario to-day, giving farmers hope of a general downpour that would aid crops stricken by drought for a month or more. It was the first precipitation since last weekend.

The probabilities were for more thunder showers, but there was no promise from the weather bureau of a soaking rain. Tuesday it probably will be partly cloudy and somewhat cooler with light scattered showers in Eastern Ontario.

To-day light rain seemed likely in many places to continue for most of the day and it is expected to aid crops greatly. Skies were overcast promising much needed moisture for fruits and late grain crops.

VON PAPEN AIMS FIRST CRITICISM AT NAZI REGIME

Vice Chancellor, Kicking Over Traces, Opposes One-Party Rule.

PLEADS FOR MONARCHY.

Sensational Character of Address Brings Order Barring It From All Papers.

By LOUIS LOCHNER
(Associated Press Foreign Staff)

BERLIN, June 18. (AP). — The boldest public criticism of the Nazi regime which has come from anyone in authority since Chancellor Hitler's assumption of power in January, 1933, was made yesterday by Vice-Chancellor Franz Von Papen.

The sensational character of his remarks, delivered before students of Marburg University, is best illustrated by the fact that no Berlin newspapers printed even an excerpt.

Von Papen in guarded language pleaded for the re-establishment of the monarchy.

Notice was served by the government-controlled German news bureau upon its subscribers that the speech must not be published in Germany

Von Papen, a Hitler "right-hand man," challenged the Nazi regime's claims that it must impose its will in the realm of religion and severely criticized muzzling of the press.

He took issue with the nation-wide campaign of Dr. Joseph Goebbels, Minister of Propaganda, another of Hitler's leading advisers, against "grousers and croakers." Von Papen warned against radical socialist experiments, asserting they held the possibility of a new class war.

Excessive use of slogans and the belief that the people might be united by terrorism were also denounced by the Vice Chancellor.

He criticized the attempt to have one political party rule Germany, instead of making the new Germany "the real peoples' state."

Von Papen frankly admitted that "the Reich's government is not deceiving itself about the fact that the rich treasure of confidence which the German people bestowed upon it is in danger.

"The government is well informed, he continued, "about all in the nature of selfishness, lack of character, untruth, ungentlemanliness, and arrogance that is trying to spread out under the cover of the German revolution."

Positive Stand.

As one of those responsible for the events when the Nazis went into power, Von Papen said, he was being more and more pressed "by voices which demand that I take a positive stand concerning events transpiring in Germany and the conditions obtaining here.

"It would be a mortal sin, both

The Weather

TORONTO, June 16 (C.P.). — Synopsis: Depressions are centred this morning over Northern Alberta, North-Western Ontario and Kentucky, while pressure is high from Newfoundland across the Maritime Provinces to the middle Atlantic coast, also over the south-west states and to the north of Hudson Bay. Scattered showers have occurred over the week-end in some sections of the western provinces and rain is occurring this morning in the region of the Great Lakes, while from the Ottawa valley eastward the weather has been fair. It has been moderately warm in Ontario and Quebec, but comparatively cool in other parts of the Dominion.

Georgian Bay.—Mostly cloudy with occasional showers or thunderstorms; moderate to fresh variable winds. Tuesday—Moderate to fresh north-west winds; partly cloudy and rather cool.

Ottawa and Upper St. Lawrence Valley.—Occasional rain to-night and part of Tuesday, followed by north-west winds and cool.

Madras reports that cochineal bugs, imported to fight the prickly pear plague, have won the war, and large tracts which were useless a few years ago are again producing crops.

Shot

CHICAGO, June 18 (C.P.)—"You're Dillinger," said Leo Barauskos, 11, raising the revolver everyone thought was unloaded.

There was a loud report. Leo dropped the weapon. The victim, Leonard Phillips, 10, howled, "I'm shot."

A doctor examined Leonard from head to foot, and found him intact. The revolver had contained a blank.

BLOODY SUNDAY IN HAVANA CITY SEES 12 SLAIN

Nearly 60 Others Wounded as Machine Guns Blast ABC Parade.

WOMEN AMONG VICTIMS.

Heavy Guards Stationed on Hospital Where Wounded Suspects Held.

HAVANA, June 18.—(A.P.)—Five unidentified men raided the Calixto Garcia Hospital to-day and kidnapped Evelio Torres, who was wounded in yesterday's shooting. It was understood Torres was an opponent of the A.B.C. political society.

HAVANA, June 18. —(AP)— Retaliation by infuriated members of the ABC Society was feared today after Cuba's "bloody Sunday," in which 12 persons were killed and nearly 60 wounded.

A heavy guard was placed around the emergency hospital upon reports that the ABC planned to storm it and wreak vengeance on four wounded men.

Deep political significance was attached to the two days of rioting, leaving a total of 15 dead and culminating yesterday in a parade that was turned suddenly into a slaughter. A postponement of the government's plan to hold general elections in December appeared likely.

Guerilla warfare, carried on intermittently for months, reached a climax when 50,000 members of the ABC society, a powerful political organization, marched through the

MISSING WEEKS, POETESS FOUND

With Man Described as Fake Noble—Disappeared After Greenwich Party.

FEARED "SLAVE" VICTIM.

NEW YORK, June 18 (C.P.). — The fortnight-old mystery of the disappearance of Louise Krist, 18-year-old poet-pianist, which baffled police and Department of Justice agents, was solved to-day when a citizen pointed her out to a policeman.

Miss Krist, a striking girl of more than average height, was strolling along Third Avenue, with Childe de Rohan D'Harcourt, when a man, whose name police did not obtain, identified them from newspaper photographs. When questioned the girl replied they were "Mr and Mrs Robert White."

The policeman declined to accept this story, and the three went to a police station, where the questioning was continued.

D'Harcourt, described as a fake noble, with a 20-year record as well known to police as he is to Greenwich Village, lost none of his self-assurance when he faced police. Miss Krist was wearing the same powder blue ensemble in which she disappeared from a meeting of the Raven Poetry Club in Greenwich Village the first of this month. D'Harcourt's gold-headed cane was missing.

Father Spoils Romance

For several minutes both denied their identity. Shortly afterward the girl's father, Otto E. Krist, a 'cellist and boyhood playmate of Fritz Kreisler, arrived at the station and identified his daughter.

Police said that at first D'Har-

PRODUCERS HAPPY.

Imperial Company Signs Providing Other Manufacturers Line Up.

COOKVILLE, Ont., June 18 (C.P.). — Hon. T. L. Kennedy, Minister of Agriculture for Ontario, said to-day agreement had been reached between tobacco companies and the Ontario Flue-cured Association setting 27 cents as the average price for tobacco to growers for the next three years.

The top price, said Mr. Kennedy, was expected to be about 35 cents, depending upon the quality each year of the tobacco.

Negotiations with the companies were conducted in Montreal by Prof. A. Leitch, sales manager of the Flue-cured Association.

Imperial Signs

MONTREAL, June 18. (CP)—The Imperial Tobacco Company to-day issued an official statement saying they are willing to pay an average of 27 cents per pound for Ontario flue cured leaf provided an agreement is reached between other manufacturers on the same price.

Gray Miller, president of the company in the course of the statement, said: "Although we are still without any assurance that other manufacturers will follow our lead, we have now agreed to meet the request of the growers for a 27-cent average price and we have given them our definite undertaking in writing to adhere to that basis for the 1934 crop, provided they can secure an agreement from the other manufacturers to pay the same price."

Growers Cheerful.

ST. THOMAS, Ont., June 18.—(C.P.)—Growers in the tobacco belt are smiling. Last night it rained on the drought ridden tobacco fields, saving the young plants from destruction. To-day, Hon. T. L. Kennedy, Minister of Agriculture, announced an agreement between growers and companies with a 27-cent average for this year's crop.

"I believe this will be satisfactory to the growers," said W. F. Kingston of St. Thomas, president of Lake Erie Tobacco Company, with larger holdings in Norfolk county.

The growers, he said, originally asked for a 30 cent average against the companies' suggestion of 22½ cents. The 27 cent rate is a compromise.

LOST LAWYER'S CLOTHES FOUND

Located in Vienna Apartment of Capt. Poderjay, Man Who Married Her in December.

WOMAN IS ARRESTED.

VIENNA, June 18. (AP).—Police to-day found a green wardrobe trunk containing clothes of Miss Agnes Tufverson, missing New York and Detroit lawyer, and a brief case marked with her name in the apartment of Capt. Ivan Poderjay, the man who married her last December in New York.

Susanne Ferrand, who has been living here with Poderjay as his wife, was immediately arrested.

The brief case contained two books. One of them was on the art of love and the other was on birth control.

The garments in the trunk included a black fur coat and a black velvet jacket.

The police also found several pieces of jewelry including an amber bead necklace

When Miss Ferrand admitted that she knew these articles belonged to Miss Tufverson, she was taken to jail.

Authorities here holding Poderjay at the request of New York police, said he firmly maintains they quarreled because of her insistence that she accompany him to England, although he told her he had a wife there.

Clues in the mystery are being sought in London, New York and in India.

Lake, river and highway accidents claimed the lives of nine persons in Ontario during the week-end. Two four-year-old children were crushed to death on concrete roadways in different parts of the province, four teen-age youths lost their lives by drowning and carbon monoxide and fire were responsible for the others.

An upturned dinghy, tossed about on the grey waters of Lake Ontario, told the fate of Paul Bussiere and an unidentified companion. Their bodies were not found but effects of clothing found in the craft led authorities to the conclusion that one was young Bussiere who left Montreal recently to hitch-hike through Ontario. The other youth was unidentified.

Betty West, four, of Peterborough, was fatally injured when struck by an automobile in Campbellford. Four-year-old Harold Nuttley of Guelph lost his life in a similar mishap.

Playfully dangling a rope to friends in a row boat from a girder over Erie barge canal, Daymond Bonder, 13, lost his balance and fell into the water below. When his body was located respiration had stoped Efforts to revive him were usuccessful.

WOMAN'S TORSO FOUND IN TRUNK

Probe of Gruesome Find at English Station Shows Head, Limbs Severed.

SCOTLAND YARD CALLED.

BRIGHTON, Eng., June 18. (AP) The torso of a woman's body from which the head, arms and legs were severed, was found to-day in a trunk in the luggage office of the Brighton railway station.

The woman was thought by police to have been about 40 years old. Her height possibly was five feet, two or three inches. The body appeared well nourished.

It was wrapped in two kinds of brown paper and bound with a window cord.

The body, which was unclothed, bore no wounds other than those incurred in the severance of the head, arms and legs.

The paper bore the letters 'Ford,' which police thought might be part of the name of a town.

Investigators discovered that the trunk, of "cabin" type, in which the body was found was left at the station after noon on June 6.

The trunk itself is constructed of plywood covered with light brown canvas. It measures 27 by 17 by 11 inches. It had wood and brass fittings.

Physicians, although unable to determine definitely the date of the women's death, thought it must have been about three weeks ago. There were no baggage labels on the trunk, indicating to police it had not previously been used.

Provincial Police Called to Northern Rally Attended By McCrea.

TORONTO RED BATTERED.

Price Predicts Beer, Wine Referendum if Liberals Win Election.

TORONTO, June 18 (C.P.). — Ontario's general election campaigners to-day reached the last day they may speak before the voters go to the polls. Leaders of the two parties indicated they intended to make use of it to deliver final pleas for election of their groups.

Premier George S. Henry will make his final appearance at Simcoe to-night and Mitchell F. Hepburn, Liberal Leader, will speak at St. Thomas, near his farm.

In some sections feeling reached considerable height. Fist fights among the audience disturbed a joint political debate at Hanmer Village, near Sudbury, where Hon. Charles McCrea, Minister of Mines, and E. A. Lapierre, his Liberal opponent, spoke. Provincial Police were sent to the scene, but only one fight occurred after their arrival, and the combatants in that case were handled by local officers.

In Toronto a young Communist election worker was sent to hospital after a fight in which his nose was smashed. Doctors feared he might have suffered an injury to his skull. Police said the fight had little significance as the Communist had been beaten by hoodlums.

Beer Referendum?

Hon. W. H Price told a Windsor audience Mr. Hepburn and the Prohibition Union were "in the same bed and under the same blanket." He declared that if the Liberals were elected to-morrow there would be a referendum on the beer and wine question, whereas if the Conservatives were elected the Province would have beer by the glass by Dominion Day.

T. L. Kennedy, Minister of Agriculture, told a Brampton rally he foresaw the greatest era of prosperity Ontario farmers had ever known. He also took occasion to say the campaign had produced the "worst exhibition of mud-slinging I have ever experienced in my political career."

Expert observers generally were inclined to expect a heavy vote to-morrow, although they admitted the weather would play a considerable part in the size of the poll. They said the campaign had been conducted with unusual energy and had aroused more than usual excitement among the population.

"Why don't you read books?" asked a friend.

"Wasn't it very sad," Mrs. Dulham remarked, brightly, "about poor Mary Queen of Scots?"

HASTINGS, June 18 (Examiner Correspondence).—Before a crowd that filled Lynch's Hall to capacity and as many on the outside unable to gain admittance, the final gun was fired in Hastings on Saturday night in the interests of Mayor H. N. Carr of Campbellford, Liberal standard-bearer for Northumberland.

Reeve C. H. Curtiss of Percy Township, the first speaker, was obliged to speak much longer than he intended, waiting for the other farmers were on the job. The Henry Government had increased wages in the north from 20c a day to 20c an hour two months before the election.

In the coming election it is either up to the farmers to part with their farms or the Henry Government. The plow which Henry used to plow the straight furrow was equipped with Ontario Power Co. shares. Henry and his followers have learned one farm chore good and that was to milk the Provincial treasury dry.

Touching on the investigation he has started into the affairs at counties Council, Reeve Curtiss charged that Fred McArthur had suppressed the investigation until one week from election, to protect one of his Tory cohorts.

At the conclusion of his address, Mr. Curtiss received a tremendous applause.

Death Claims Fourth Duke Of Wellington

BASINGSTOKE, Eng., June 18.—(CP Cable)—The fourth Duke of Wellington died early today, one day after the 119th anniversary of the Battle of Waterloo in which his famous forebear crushed Napoleon's ambitions. The dune was 85 years old.

Arthur Charles Wellseley, fourth Duke of Wellington, was the son of Major-general Lord Charles Wellesley, member of parliament and second son of the first Duke. From 1891 till 1896 he commanded the 1st Battalion of the Grenadier Guards. His heir is his son, the Marquis Douro.

Illness of the Duke prevented observance of the traditional paying of the "annual rent," a ceremony preserved since the first Duke was presented with estates in Stratfield Sayre, Hampshire, by the British government in 1814.

The rent takes the form of a small silken flag which the title holder gives the King. Recently the ceremony has taken place in Windsor Castle. The flag is hung on the bust of the first Duke which stands in the guard room.

Musical instruments of percussion may be divided into two principal classes: (a) those which have definite pitch, (b) those which have not.

Stirs Up Meeting

LINDSAY, Ont., June 18 (Special to The Examiner). — There was considerable commotion at the monster meeting held by the Tories in the Armouries on Saturday night when Hon. H. H. Stevens, Minister of Trade and Commerce, was speaking. A transient entered the north gallery and proceeded to stick up a sign which read: 'There were no soup kitchens under the Liberal Government."

Sergt. Pullin and others standing nearby, saw the act, and read the sign. In three minutes the sign was down, and the intruder chased down the stairs and out into the park.

Following the meeting large posters bearing the signature of the Liberal Publicity Committee, and headed, "Pic'ure Story of Election Dodge" and "Henry Isn't Fooling the People But Is Fooling Himself," were posted prominently about town. During the night thef were torn down.

Telephone Pioneers To Meet In Toronto

The Charles Fleetford Sise Chapter of the Telephone Pioneers of America is holding its annual convention at Toronto on Friday and Saturday, June 22nd and 23rd.

The Telephone Pioneers of America was organized in November 1911, on a continent-wide basis, as the name implies. The requirement for membership is 21 years' service in the telephone industry, not necessarily confined to the Bell Company. The membership, of course, was small at the beginning, embracing only those who had seen service prior to 1890, but has since grown to an enrollment of thirteen hundred members in Canada.

Outside of the personal association which membership accords, the organization serves the useful purpose of instilling into the younger members of the telephone family the traditional pioneer spirit that has made the telephone service of this continent the best in the world.

The President of the Charles Fleetford Sise Chapter is Mr. R. C. Douglas of London and the Vice-president Mr. D. M. D-Albenas of Montreal.

India is to have Diesel locomotives.

HEPBURN PLANS EXTRA SESSION ARRANGE RELIEF

Promises Quick Action if Victorious—Direct Aid Ends July 15.

CASTIGATE HENRY.

Should Hang Head in Shame for Bringing Religious Question Up.

ST. THOMAS, Ont., June 18. —(C.P.).—Over the broad acres of his Elgin County farm, Mitchell F. Hepburn, Ontario Liberal leader, strolled to-day with his huge dog "Rowdy," and wondered what the morrow would bring.

The end of the election campaign is near for Mr. Hepburn. This afternoon he paid hurried visits to two centres of his riding, and tonight he will make his final campaign speech from St. Thomas. A large parade has been arranged by his supporters for the event.

"I'm tired," said the Liberal leader to-day, "but I'm happy. Whether we win or lose to-morrow, I have the satisfaction of knowing I have done my best. My throat is very sore, but otherwise I'm in perfect condition, and we are going under the wire to-morrow. I'm sure of victory."

One month ago to-day Mr. Hepburn started his campaign from the Welland district. Since then he has covered slightly less than 6,000 miles, mostly by automobile, and has addressed more than 70 meetings, sometimes four and five a day.

Promises Special Session.

He arrived here to-day from Toronto, where he addressed a large meeting in Massey Hall. He pledged his government, if formed, would hold a special session of the Legislature "to formulate a constructive u..employment policy." He declared Premier R. B. Bennett had announced direct relief grants would be cut off on July 15 and he said this would place "additional responsibility on the shoulders of the province."

Mr. Hepburn promised he would proclaim Ontario's beer-by-the-glass measure without delay, and stated the beverage would be available by July 1 if he assumes office.

He attacked the Government for "attempting to inject the separate school question, a religious issue, into the campaign," and said Premier George S. Henry "should hang his head in shame for the attempt."

To-morrow the Liberal leader, with Arthur G. Slaght, Toronto, will cast his vote and then return to his farm to await the result of the election.

BUSH IS BURNED AT BALLYDUFF

Rain Comes in Nick of Time, Preventing Spread Into Pigeon River Limits.

MANY VOLUNTEERS.

LIFFORD LINE, June 16 (Examiner Correspondence). — Recent heavy rainfall has been a big factor in extinguishing a dangerous blaze which threatened to destroy Pigeon swamp which extends over many miles of valuable timber limits. The cause of the fire is unknown, it being first detected in the Bruce timber limits west of Ballyduff and appeared to have had its origin near the old sawmill which is not in use at the present time.

Volunteer fire fighters rallied from miles around when the news was flashed by telephone, but in spite of all the energetic workmen could do, the fire continued and beyond their control, crossed the road into the property of William McCabe. The welcome rain assisted invaluably and the blaze was prevented from breaking into the dense stretch of bushland extending for many miles in a northerly direction. The bare, smouldering tree-trunks left by the blazing inferno present a grim sight, and this particular forest area is being carefully guarded.

POWER BARONS AIDING HEPBURN IS HENRY'S HINT

Charges Liberal Chief Sold Himself to Opponents of St. Lawrence Seaway.

WARNS ELECTORS.

Assures Needy They Will Be Given Work or Direct Relief.

By ERNEST BURRITT
(Canadian Press Staff Writer)

TORONTO, June 18 (CP).—Three weeks of campaigning behind him, Premier George S. Henry came home to his own constituency of East York to-day and prepared to make his final campaign appeal for support of his Conservative Government in the Ontario general elections to-morrow.

The Premier came here from Thorold where he "warned" electors against "supporting Mitchell F. Hepburn, Liberal leader, and those following him at the present time". He charged his opponent had "sold himself out to those opposing development of the St Lawrence as a public enterprise" Promise that "definite information regarding this some day," would be revealed was made by the Premier who asked the Liberal leader to say what assistance he is getting from the power barons in Montreal to carry on his election campaign.

"He probably will say he is not getting any," the Premier said. "but I would like to point out to you Mr. Hepburn has been playing the game of the private interests for years and I charge the people of the province to beware of this man who has sold himself out to those opposed to us developing the St. Lawrence enterprise.

The Premier at times his voice almost drowned by mixed boos and cheers from the crowd assembled in Memorial Park, declared Mr. Hepburn was "still swinging well to the left—whatever that means—as he announced in a recent by-election campaign, but he doesn't use the same language." Support of all radicals and malcontents was being sought by the Liberal leader, charged Mr. Henry, who recalled Mr. Hepburn's promise to "cut government expenditures" by 50 percent.

$50,000,000 Demand.

"Yet," he added, "the demands from these Radicals whose support he is seeking would cost the Province $50,000,000 annually for one item alone." The Premier also repeated his reference to what he described as the Liberal "roorbachs" with which he said they hoped to gain support in some sections of the Province.

"All this information," he claimed, "had been in the Liberal possession during the last four years, and he quoted Mr. Hepburn as saying to Dr. George McQuibban, the House Leader, during the session: 'Here's this information — now go forward with it.' But Dr. McQuibban refused to take a mandate from his Leader, and would have nothing to do with it. They all had proven 'duds,'" he said, "one right after another."

Assurance wa given by the Premier the Province's needy would be cared for, and if they could not be given sufficient work, direct relief would be continued.

Positively PRETTY Now

A "blood test" was the means of this pale, run-down, underweight girl finding new strength, vigor and beauty. She was one of several below-par patients who recently went to a reputable physician in search of a treatment that would build up their impoverished blood streams.

The physician's test showed that this particular young woman's blood was deficient in haemoglobin and red corpuscles. This meant that there was not sufficient vitalizing oxygen being carried through her blood stream to build up body cells and clear the system of poisons. As a result she felt tired out, run-down, and distressingly weak.

Knowing the value and safety of Dr. Williams' Pink Pills as a treatment for increasing haemoglobin, the physician instructed the patient to take this remedy and to return in a month's time for another blood test.

She did so — and the physician found that her haemoglobin was now practically normal and her blood count actually above normal. Her weight was up and her color improved. As the doctor expressed it: "Her face had rounded out and she was positively pretty."

In other cases blood tests have proved the efficiency of Dr. Williams' Pink Pills in building up haemoglobin and thereby restoring pep, vigor and strength to adults, young girls and weak children. Take no chances — try this "blood-tested" preparation. At drug stores—50 cents a package.

BRIDGES CAUSE COUNCIL RIFT

Northumberland's Offer of $5,000 to Settle Costs is Rejected.

WANT BILL REPEALED.

COBOURG, June 18.—The Durham group of the counties council rejected Friday night Northumberland's offer of $5,000 in settlement of the disputed arrears under the special Bill of 1905 for the equilisation of the cost of county bridges.

Approximately $18,000 was mentioned as being due and presumably owing to Durham, but this amount was questioned, it was reported, with some grounds of support from the Department of Highways. A special committee was appointed to consider this question, after the two groups had separately discussed the terms they were willing to agree upon.

Durham's demand was originally pressed by Reeve Hooton of Cavan two years ago. Expert legal opinion was of dubious help to the council, especially on the point in Northumberland's case that the adoption of the provincial good roads plan automatically superseded existing arguments respecting roads and bridges in the system.

Durham argues that equalization of bridge costs was secured by a special Bill passed in the Legislature in 1905, and that it is not affected by the Highways Act.

This last effort to effect a settlement leaves the dispute apparently on the way to judicial reference, although no initiative has yet been taken in that direction.

A motion by Reeve F. K. Denyes of Brighton Township, seconded by Deputy-Reeve E. C. MacKeel, Campbellford, instructed the counties' solicitor to undertake preliminary action to have the 1905 Bill repealed at the next session of the Legislature.

LAKEFIELD WOMEN'S INSTITUTE HEARS R. F. DOWNEY ON "MUSIC"

Its Value in the Schools is Very Ably Pointed Out by Guest Speaker.

CONVENTION REPORTED.

LAKEFIELD, June 16 (Examiner Correspondence).—Mr. R. F. Downey of Peterborough was the guest speaker at the regular meeting of the Woman's Institute on Wednesday afternoon, and gave a remarkably fine address on "Music in the Schools." The subject was particularly interesting just now, when the arrangements have been made to have music taught in the Lakefield High and Public Schools.

Mr. Downey said music in the schools is the forerunner of community singing; singing is a soul-refreshing exercise, for one can't sing and be grouchy. Music has been taught for a quarter of a century in the Central School in Peterborough. When things become rather at loose ends and the pupils are getting restless, it does a lot of good to "Pack all the troubles in the old kit bag."

Art, literature and music if given a chance would do more for the race than anything else. Art, literature and music if given a chance would do more for the race than anything else. Are, developed, branches out with many fields, window dressing, home decorating, sign writing and many others, and there are many people making a good living by the development of their talent for art. An appreciation of the beauty in art has an ennobling effect on the character. There are cases of men and women, girls and boys who have been inspired to better lives for the contemplation of beautiful pictures, particularly those of sacred subjects.

Higher Ideals

Literature has its place in the development of higher ideals; the description of the cricket game in the Fourth Reader with its slogan, "Play up and play the game," has inspired many lads to a higher appreciation and practice of the meaning of sportsmanship. The description of the funeral of the great Duke of Wellington, "who gained a hundred fights and never lost an English gun" has given an impetus to the patriotic pride of many boys and girls

Music taught in the schools, sets the joy bells ringing and we have enough of gloom and sadness, and music helps us to the sunny side of life. Music and art puts us on a higher plane, leads to happier living and greater enjoyment.

In these days, many parents have had to curtail the music lessons for their children, but for a mere pittance it is taught in the schools; the cost is not so large and the government aids by grants, which reduce the actual cost to the municipality considerably. Music in the schools is a joy subject and its inauguration is a joy subject.

PARTY HEELERS

to the eve of election, the Henryites are fighting with their backs to the wall. They can't afford to be defeated. These people know that they have to be elected or some of them will take a trip, and it won't be to Collins Bay summer resort.

Turning his attack on the highway question, the speaker said that out of every dollar spent the farmers were paying twenty cents of it, and yet McArthur, the farmers' champion, states that they will spend more money. To add to the already heavy load of the overburdened taxpayer. In his opinion, every $99.00 out of $100.00 spent on the highways went into the pockets of party healers. Men from all parts of this section applied for work on the Brighton highway, only to be turned back morning after morning, while sons of wealthy ing from the large crowds that are attending political rallies.

Hydro belongs to the people of the province yet the Henry government have put it into politics. They have bought power from outside interests which is against what Hydro was founded for. Briefly touching on the highway debt and of the paved highways which are not paid for, the speaker referred to road signs on No. 2 highway which read: "Men wanted who vote Tory."

Will the young people of the province ever be able to pay off the debt put on by the Henry government. On no occasion when a Tory government was in power were taxes reduced. In 1923 the Tories put up the cry that the province would soon be bankrupt but if elected they could save it. They have condemned themselves by their own mouths.

In conclusion, went on Mr. Parliament, I ask you to elect men who know they are servants of the people and not masters. If you think you can stand increased taxes and debt vote for Henry—if not, vote for Hepburn on Tuesday.

W. A. Fraser, M.P. for Northumberland in the Federal House, was greeted with rounds of applause when he appeared. Opening one of the most lightning fire attacks on the Henry regime ever delivered in Hastings, Mr. Fraser referred to the attack made against him at the Conservative rally in Hastings a short time ago. If anything goes wrong with the Tory machine they quickly blame Fraser. If he had anything to do with Harold Carr entering the political fight he was proud of it, as Carr was the best man the county could have. Reference that Carr had attended Conservative meetings had been made by the Opposition. Harold Carr is a Liberal, and has always been one. While McArthur when he came to Cobourg was a Liberal and his father was a noted Liberal not long ago.

Election on Tuesday is against the Henry Government, who have done everything as masters of the people, not servants as they were elected.

Ferguson and Henry have developed twenty-three commissions and each one has a chairman. The majority of these could be done away with and more work put on the deputies.

In his address on Hydro Fraser took J. R. Cooke to task for going around the Province stumping for the Tory Party in a Government car when he is a civil servant drawing a salary of $18,000 a year.

In the last four years there hasn't been a Conservative government in any province that went to the people with an increased debt that was returned to power. In the province of Quebec the Liberals had been returned because they reduced the debt, while Henry has increased it 125 percent.

The coming election is for the free democratic people to oust the autocratic Henry family compact. Have you ever seen a more bitter attempt to bribe the people in any election. Last week 6000 cheques went out to men on highways one week before election, while last winter they sent them north. Toryism is ownership and nothing more. Every time you have a Tory reign who spends money like water, you have new parties springing up. Bennett was elected with a great mandate, but has done nothing.

"PERSONS NOT FAT LIVE LONGEST"

Eminent Physician Declares

In a recent lecture before the American Academy of Medicine a prominent physician stated that persons who aren't fat live the longest.

Common sense confirms this. Insurance companies often reject overweight folks, or charge higher premiums on account of the risk. Fat crowds and weakens body organs—it slows you down and puts unnecessary strain on the heart. A host of ailments (even rheumatism acidity, shortness of breath, and lassitude) are often associated with fat.

So get rid of this dangerous unhealthy fat. There's no reason why you shouldn't, when science has given you this safe, effective treatment—a half-teaspoonful of Kruschen Salts in a glass of hot water first thing every morning.

This healthful "little daily dose" of Kruschen keeps the system free from harmful toxins, it helps to re-establish normal and proper body functioning— it keeps you feeling fine and fit all the time. Energetic activity takes the place of sluggish indolence all while you lose excess fat gradually and without discomfort.

Recent guests at "Maple Inn" Cook cottage were Mr. and Mrs. G. F. Pierce, Mr. and Mrs. Spaens, Mr. and Mrs. Norm Pierce, Toronto.

Mrs. James Cook recently received news of a serious accident in which Mr. and Mrs. Dawe of Toronto were involved. Mr. and Mrs. Dawe are annual guests at "Maple Inn" Cook cottage. On motoring from New York city their car collided with an oil truck near Jamestown, both occupants were seriously injured and removed to Jamestown Hospital. Mrs. Dawe's injury necessitates her to be in a plaster caste for some weeks, while Mr. Dawe's ear was severed, and he suffered other minor injuries. They were removed to their home in Toronto this week.

The condition of Mr. S. Fletcher, road superintendent at this point who was injured while motoring to Toronto and is now confined in Belleville Hospital, remains serious and he will be confined in the hospital indefinitely.

Connolly's School played softball with Trent River School at the latter place Thursday afternoon resulting in a tie, 11-11.

DELORO TAKES 1 TO 0 VICTORY FROM TRENTON

Brooks Scores Only Goal of Exhibition Game on Saturday.

CLOSE TUSSLE.

MARMORA, June 18 (Examiner Correspondence).—A goal scored by Brooks four minutes from the start was all the scoring in an exhibition football game at Deloro on Saturday evening, when the homesters played a return fixture with Air Force Rangers of Trenton.

Deloro played the whole of the first half with ten men, being minus their captain, Cousins. Deloro lost the toss and consequently faced a stiff wind for the initial half. Play was first taken into the visitors' territory where Bradshaw made a timely clearance. Deloro were not to be denied for long and Simmons in possession passed to Brooks, who when challenged, steadied and shot with commendable force into the net. From the restart, Trenton forced the issue, and Sneddon drove a fast ball at O'Neill, who cleared with confidence. The ball was returned and Gorman, with a powerful shot, hit the upright. The rebound being well covered by both backs, was quickly cleared. Play became ragged and midfield play ensued until Coleman, gaining possession on the right wing, centered brilliantly for Watson to shoot wide.

Half time arrived, with Deloro hard pressed but still holding the meagre lead: Deloro 1, Rangers, 0.

Resuming play the Deloro team were at full strength and initiated a series of attacks which proved threatening to the Rangers. Brooks was unlucky in hitting the upright with a splendid shot. Play for the remainder of the game was chiefly in Deloro's favor and that the Smelters did not further score may be attributed to faulty shooting. The final came with the score: Deloro 1, Rangers 0.

In the second half, Deloro donned their new green jerseys, and Trenton being clad in navy blue, the mingling of these colors made a pretty picture for the spectators to behold. The game throughout was fast and clean and both teams are hoping for the arrangement of two more fixtures before the season closes. Trenton also made it known to the Deloro executive that they would favor exhibition games with Peterborough teams in the Peterborough and District League on such dates as these teams have open.

Teams:—

Trenton.—Wall, goal; Smith and Bradshaw, backs; Daly, Watson and Halligan, half backs; Coleman, Mathers, Sneddon, Gorman and Ogden, forwards. Kidd and Brown, subs.

Deloro.—O'Neill, goal; Cousins and J. Hart, backs; Gray, Bradley and Sproul, half backs; W. Hart, Simmons, Brooks, Stewart and S. Smith, forwards.

PACKING HOUSES MADE MILLIONS

the amount of the gold reserve may be issued in notes. Therefore, this country could issue notes to the amount of 280 millions, and we have at present an issue of only 165 millions....

The Rev. James Sutherland, C.C.F. candidate in the Provincial election, spoke as quoted above in an address delivered on Saturday night on the Market Square to an audience of several hundred people, composed of men and women, gathered about the truck which served as a platform for the speakers.

Dr. Luke Tesky of Toronto, scheduled speaker of the evening, was prevented from speaking on account of losing his voice, according to at telegram received at C.C.F. headquarters. But a fiery speech by Thomas McMurray and an eloquent address by the candidate held the attention of the audience. Alex Murray acted as chairman.

Mr. McMurray was at his best in a down-to-the-ground address which covered many of the problems of the present day and outlined the position of the workers of the country.

"This new movement is bound to succeed and those who oppose it are only holding back the prosperity of the people," he declared.

"The Tories are taking the credit for several pieces of social legislation. But the Drury Government brought in and passed the Mothers' Allowance Act, the Workmen's Compensation Act and the Minimum Wage Act. And still I say that if the country were run properly, there would be no need of such legislation.

"They boast to you about the foreign markets they are opening up — but what good are foreign markets when the people of those countries have no money with which to buy goods. If we didn't have our own home markets to rely on, we would die, because we have to compete with the world in foreign markets.

Wrong System

"The thing that is wrong with the world to-day and with Canada is the capitalist system and that is what we are trying to change. Both of the old parties are in support of that system, so a vote for either of them cannot help you in the least.

"The city of Peterborough estimates a relief bill of $62,400 for the coming year. And that, computed as one-third of the amount with the Government supplying the rest, represents a total of about $190,000. And why would they make that estimate if they thought times were going to change and an election of either of the old parties put everything right?

"Why won't they let us go and talk to those men who are working on the roads. For fear we would tell them the truth—that's why. And they can tell the very next day whether they voted for Lancaster or someone else." (Cry from a man in the crowd: 'No, they can't!')

Mr. McMurray: "Yes, they can, and very easily too."

"We have in Ontario a debt of 610 millions. At five per cent the interest due on that amounts to 30 millions in a year. The Honorable Howard Ferguson stood in our Opera House and told the people, during the campaign in which the Drury Government went out of power, that the people were crucified with paying taxes. And he said, if the Conservatives were elected, they would cut down the bill. Have they done it?

"If you got a direct tax bill from the Dominion Government, just the same as your city tax bill, you would go up in the air and stay there until it was rectified. They are taxing you for everything they possibly can tax. They even tried to put a tax on fishing rods this year, and yet tourists can come in and carry away the fish. And what do you pay road taxes for? For some wealthy man with a big limousine to go touring over.

"The C.C.F. is trying to stop this system and if you give them enough power to exercise control over the other parties, they will be able to give you results."

LUCAS—FALCONER

JANETVILLE, June 18. (Examiner Correspondence). — Lorna Edith, youngest daughter of Mrs. J. S. Falconer and the late Mr. Falconer, and sister of Mrs. Fergus Porter and Mrs Oswald McGill of Janetville, was united in marriage to Joseph Edward Lucas of Detroit, son of the late Mr. and Mrs. J. Lucas in the College Avenue United Church, Woodstock, on Wednesday afternoon.

The ceremony was performed by Rev. W. A. Conway. During the signing of the register and at the commencement of the ceremony Bridal music was rendered by Mr. Douglas Elliott.

The bride, unattended, was beautifully attired in sea sand triple sheer crepe with a large rose hat and matching accessories and carried a handsome bouquet of Killarney roses.

Immediately after the ceremony a reception was held and a wedding dinner served at the home of the bride's sister, Mrs J. Blackburn, Victoria street south. Lily of the valley and pink and white daisies were daintily arranged in the spacious rooms of the home.

The happy young couple left amid showers of confetti and good wishes on a honeymoon trip by motor to Ottawa and other eastern centres. The bride travelled in a brown and white crepe ensemble with beige coat and trimmings of brown moire and matching brown accessories.

10,000 Black Bass Put In Trent River

Make Sure Of Lancaster's Election

It is essential that Peterborough should be represented at Queen's Park by a man who will get action for us when we want it.

T. P. Lancaster, the Conservative candidate, has proved, by deeds rather than by words that he is that kind of a representative.

His term in the Legislature has shown him to be a tireless fighter for his constituency and its people; he has not taken the easy way out by doing nothing, but on the contrary has revealed himself as a man who will not quit until he has got what his constituents want him to get.

We cannot afford to lose the sevices of such a representative; this City and County need Lancaster to fight their battles and work for their interests and a general realization of that fact makes his election certain, provided his friends and supporters do their part by polling their vote.

Don't leave it to the other fellow: Get out tomorrow and Vote for Lancaster, the MAN WHO HAS SHOWN THAT HE KNOWS HOW TO GET THINGS DONE.

The facilities of the Lancaster headquarters are at your service tomorrow. If you want information in regard to voting, or if transportation is required—Telephone 621-622.

THE NEW FRANCHISE ACT.

The new Franchise Act under consideration at Ottawa will be welcome if it eliminates some of the trouble and confusion customarily associated with the preparation of voters' lists.

Briefly the measure provides for the establishment of a permanent voters' list which will be revised once a year, under the direction of a franchise commissioner acting for the whole of Canada.

Revising officers will be appointed for every constituency in the Dominion to build up a basic voters' list, and once every twelve months this list will be checked and brought up to date so that at all times a reasonably modern and correct census of voters will be available—a condition that will materially shorten the time required to prepare for an election.

The measure has been favorably received in the House, although Mr. King has made the suggestion that instead of one enumerator for each riding there should be two, each representative one of the two old political parties, and the Government has indicated its approval of the Liberal leader's suggestion.

It would seem, however, that if it is considered necessary to have a check on the Government enumerator by appointing a Liberal colleague to work with him that the C.C.F., which expects to be a factor of some importance in the next federal election, would have every right to insist that in every riding there should be a third enumerator to allow the new party to make sure that their supporters are fairly listed.

CANADIAN APPLES IN DEMAND.

One of the features of recent trade development that probably has escaped local attention because this particular district is not a great apple-producing area is the huge increase in the export of Canadian apples noted last year.

Sometimes this impression is given that Canada's trade channels are completely blocked, but that certainly is not the case with apples, according to figures recently given out.

These statistics show that during the last fiscal year, ending with March 31, 1934, Canada's export of apples (fresh, dried, canned and cider) amounted to $13,274,086, an increase over the preceding year of about five and a half million dollars.

Due to the Empire trade pact, the United Kingdom was the chief purchaser of our apples, taking $11,665,-889 worth, or 89 per cent., and nearly four and a half million dollars more than in the previous year.

The details for 1934 with the United Kingdom's share of each in brackets are: Fresh apples, 3,476,114 barrels (3,067,697), valued at $12,823,785 ($11,368,385); dried apples, 3,252,333 pounds (988,125), valued at $228,692 ($70,926); canned apples, 4,917,008 pounds (4,909,287), valued at $218,532 ($218,158), and cider, 17,480 gallons (17,167), valued at $8,707 ($8,120).

Canadian apples go other places, however, and last year Argentina bought $32,050; Belgium, $499,438; Denmark, $50,644; Egypt, $110,605; Germany, $187,106; the Netherlands, $338,357; Sweden, $43,437; British South Africa, $37,456, and Newfoundland, $50,257.

THEY PAY IT PROMPTLY.

No form of taxation can be truthfully described as popular with those who have to pay it, and the income tax is perhaps least of all relished.

It is to the credit of the Canadian people therefore that the vast majority of those who are liable to income tax settle their obligations to the country promptly—if not cheerfully.

This point was stressed in a recent radio address by C. Fraser Elliott, K.C., Commissioner of Income Tax, who pointed out that from 1917 when the income tax was first imposed there has been collected well over one billion dollars out of the profits of the people residing and carrying on business in Canada, and that the average cost of collection over those years was 2.9 per cent. of the amount collected.

In other words, it cost the Government less than three cents to collect a dollar, which must be regarded as a remarkably low rate.

The point to think about is that if there had been anything in the nature of a general resistance movement to the tax measure the cost of enforcing compliance with the requirements of the act would have been enormous.

That is why Mr. Elliott calls attention to the fact that the low cost of collection "is made possible by the loyal co-operative and patriotic support of the taxpayers of Canada."

Another notable feature is that only 2 per cent. of the people of Canada pay Dominion income tax, and that, as Mr. Elliott puts it, "it is proptr that those who do not bear this direct burden should know this fact and of the acceptable manner in which those who do pay it are bearing it."

REVEALING NEW WEALTH.

A large part of Ontario lies north of Lake Superior and of this great region a considerable portion is only sketched rather than mapped. Back from the main waterways exploration is difficult and in wooded country ordinary surveying operations are necessarily slow. During recent years, however, the science of mapping from air photographs has been developed, and the Topographical and Air Survey Bureau, Department of the Interior, has issued several map sheets covering portions of northern Ontario. The latest map is the Nakina sheet, which includes country northeast of Lake Nipigon and crossed by the Canadian National Railways. This map derives its name from the township and village of Nakina. An intermediate aerodrome of the trans-Canada air route is under construction at this point as well as two others, also shown on the map, at Grant and Kowkrash. This work is being done under the federal relief program supervised by the Department of National Defence.

Many serious forest fires have occurred in this area during the past half century, causing great destruction of the original stand of mature timber, but these brules are now largely covered by valuable oncoming young stands. However, there still remains in the aggregate a large quantity of mature timber of good size, which consists of jack pine, white spruce, poplar and white birch on the ridges, and black spruce with a little tamarack and balsam in the more poorly drained parts. The westerly boundary of the Ontario clay belt crosses this area and the portion included within it will no doubt be utilized for agriculture. The remaining portion has isolated tracts of clay, but the soil is mostly a very light sandy to gravelly loam, more suited for forest growth than for agricultural development. Most of the rivers have falls and rapids which are potential sites for the development of hydro-electric power, particularly useful for local industries engaged in the manufacture of pulp and lumber, and for the mining industry if this latter develops sufficiently.

A considerable number of gold mining claims have been staked and development work has been done in several places. Copper ores are known to occur and the iron ores of the Onaman range have also been investigated.

LET'S TRY TO BE FAIR.

Apropos of certain revelations before the Stevens Committee on price spreads and mass buying the Toronto Mail and Empire remarks most sensibly:

"But the people should keep their heads. They should remember that a couple of swallows do not make a summer. They should not forget the tens of thousands of business houses against which no charges have been brought. Most businesses, we believe, are conducted on fairly ethical lines. The ideal of honest service generally rules—if in some cases only because it is known to be the best policy—and to pay. It is probable that most Canadian firms and companies have tried to 'play the game' by their employees and the public. For this reason we feel that it will be well for the public to suspend judgment upon the enterprises whose affairs are now being investigated. It will be found that there are notable offenders and equally notable instances of ethical conduct on the part of highly successful organizations. Let us wait until the evidence is all in before registering a verdict."

This is not merely good sense; it is simple decency. The people of this country, whatever their shortcomings, are a pretty honest people, and to assume that all or nearly all of our business men have become suddenly "irregular," this on the basis of incomplete evidence about the practices of a few, is to assume not only what is stupid, but what is wrong.

No one should want to defend capitalism if capitalism refuses to behave. But let us not go off on a tangent against capitalism which, after all, is the system under which our country and our British civilization has been built up, merely because a few capitalists are being charged with wrong practices. That isn't the British way. And it isn't the fair or just way. "Thou Shalt Not Steal," we should try to remember, isn't the only Commandment.—Ottawa Journal.

CANADA'S METHOD BEST.

These are unsettled days with regard to opinion on public control. The difficulties of the past few years have raised many doubts regarding various systems of government, and in many quarters there is a strong belief that changes in the economic system will have to come, if we are to avoid another depression such as the one we have just passed through.

The United States under President Roosevelt launched out, more or less suddenly, upon a radical departure in this regard, through the adoption of the National Recovery Act. Their experience is being watched with interest in this country, and all countries, and it is still being observed studiously, to determine whether it holds anything of merit which might be adopted with profit in any other country.

In this connection the Efficiency Magazine, which enjoys a tremendous circulation in many languages throughout the world, has a few interesting things to say, as quoted recently by the Brantford Expositor, as follows:

"A year ago the conditions in Canada and the United States were very much the same. In both countries there was a severe depression. The two countries adopted different policies. Canada held fast to private enterprise and the United States adopted dictatorship and state control of funds and industry. The result is very striking. Practically every comparison of last year's figures shows that Canada is now far more prosperous than the United States. Industrial production rose 29 per cent. in Canada and less than 9 per cent. in the United States. Electrical power production rose 27 per cent. in Canada and only 8 per cent. in the United States Canada's exports rose to 60 per cent. of the 1929 volume, while United States exports rose to only 44 per cent. As to the banking situation there is no comparison. Not one Canadian bank has failed for years, while in the United States thousand have crashed. These figures prove that private enterprise is better than state control. Canada has shot to the front and her prosperity is not based on debt. It is likely that 1,000,000 Americans will move to Canada in the next few years."

The Efficiency Magazine thus sums up clearly and forcibly the thoughts which are in the majority of Canadian minds as they view conditions in their own country in comparison with those in various parts of the world. The facts are, that trade is reviving in this country, banks are strong and solvent, and it is all being done without the adoption of radical moves, such as have been inaugurated in many other countries, and which are now displaying their weakness in failing to bring the desired results.—Chatham Daily News.

EDITORIAL NOTES AND COMMENT.

Vote as you like to-morrow—but vote.

At all events the air should be more wholesome and the radio programs more enjoyable after the last round of speech-making and mud-slinging to-night.

If you get the kind of government you don't like for the next five years you should remember, if you fail to vote to-morrow, that you have no real right to complain.

Saskatchewan electors are also discharging their responsibility as citizens to-morrow, and reports from the western province vary as to the outcome. You are entitled to make your own guess.

At least nobody has been able to throw any stones at the C.C.F. leader in Ontario during this campaign, inasmuch as the new organization is still leaderless.

In a day or two you'll hear the howls from the people who were left off the voters' lists. And our only gesture of sympathy will be to murmur, "We told you so."

Political broadcasts will soon be over and the regular air comedians will get back on their usual spots in the program.

SEPARATE SCHOOL ISSUE

To the Editor of The Examiner.

Dear sir:

Whether non-Catholics like it or not the bargain was made with Catholics as with Anglicans at Confederation that they should have Separate Schools and the highest court in the realm has declared that to be so. With that right long since surrendered by Anglicans for other privileges, there goes the right to use their school taxes for Separate School purposes. Some of these taxes are in properties supported by Catholics as well as Protestants and the present agitation is to get for Catholics the share of these property school taxes due them but now going to Public Schools.

Catholics are willing to refer their part of the Separate School difficulty to the highest court (the Crown) as before and Mr. Henry agreed to refer it and to set the questions.

He has not carried out his promise and none desirous of protecting the right of access of British subjects to the Crown can help feeling that he is doing them a great wrong. It is necessary for governments to consent to any such reference to the courts and that is why Catholics cannot go to the Crown without Government consent.

J. H. BURNHAM.

PRINCIPLE BEFORE PARTY

Dear sir:

As an independent in politics and have for some twenty-five years chosen the candidiate who to my mind would put the interests of the people before party, and in this I am taking the advice of a former respected Premier, viz., Sir James Whitney.

"If you will send down men to represent your views," said Sir James to a delegation of temperance workers, "you can have anything you want." Since then I have worked very hard to gain that end.

Sir James was very sympathetic to the temperance cause, having had experience himself, of the ravages of drink, but he had too many men in his party who believed they should cater to the liquor vote to grant us prohibition as far as Ontario could go by legislation, and so he compromised on the local option law which, though harder to enforce than the O.T.A., did a wonderful amount of good in prevention of drinking habits by the young and causing able bodied men to take an interest in their families, paying their debts and becoming good citizens instead of a tax on the community, and their children depending on charity.

The writer was appointed secretary of the temperance association of Paisley in Centre Bruce constituency and, therefore, had to do the official correspondence with the government in the course of which I obtained from Sir James a direct promise to rectify abuses of the law there (in Paisley) but his advisers in his cabinet and our own member caused him to pass up his written promise.

The same thing occurred with the provincial secretary, Honorable W. J. Hanna, with the exception that Mr. Hanna gave me a direct promise verbally as well as written when I found that we could depend neither on their written or verbal promise, I assisted in getting out the only temperance candidate available, Wm. McDonald of Chesley, a thorough temperance man, and though Mack and I were laughed at by both Liberals and Conservatives, we won out handsomely and proved when you have the genuine article there are enough men and women in any constituency, if properly approached, to put principle before party and vote for their principles rather than party, and that was how we won in Bruce and McDonald proved his worth in Parliament and there found out the tricks of Hon. Mr. Ferguson whom present Government are copying in their attempt at deceiving the people, It is, therefore, our very definite duty to turn out the Henry group and elect a more democratic group which had in the last session a very solid group of men who do not believe in the wasteful and autocratic method of the last government including the great waste mentally and physically of many of our best and cleverest citizens as I can demonstrate to any fair-minded citizen. Now here in our Peterborough county election there are two candidates apparently striving to represent the people with the above object in view, which is to my mind very regrettable and is a great blunder, by the third party in this case.

G. A. McQuibban, the leader of the temperance group in the last session, sent us a personal call for a temperance member to help counteract the stand of his leader and force him to see that a referendum is the only fair thing to let the people govern. We Britishers believe in majority rule. Liberals are strong for that principle and it is up to us to demand. Why then, enter a third candidate who is only a short time in the field and cannot hope to succeed here against the strong temperance Liberal candidate who has a sterling reputation behind him, respected by all who know him and who promises to join up with the McQuibban group for justice. We have very great hopes of electing Mr. Hawthorne in spite of the two opponents, but why should the C.C.F. make it—in spite of—instead of, at this stage, piling up a huge majority for reform in all departments.

Hepburn has promised to take the liquor question out of politics. The only way that can be done is to give us what we have asked for so many times with a majority everytime.

The Globe and Star and Conservatives also agree that the C.C.F. will help them in this contest.

Yours sincerely,
A. H. ALLEN.

A Thought

A WATCH

I have a watch to keep
And if I fail,
If I let work or sleep
Or care prevail,
And do not pause to pray to God at dawn,
When at the close of day I sit and yawn,
Not only body then, but soul is tired
Because my day has not been God-inspired.

What's in The NAME

of Canadian Cities and Towns?

By FRANK H. WILLIAMS

PROVINCE OF BRITISH

The Pacific province was known as "New Caledonia" for many years, following the Oregon treaty of 1846. It was applied to that loosely connected territory by Simon Fraser, an official of the North-West company.

As the settlement grew in numbers a rooted objection to the name manifested itself. The chief argument against it lay in the fact that a colony in possession of the French was so named. Advocates of the change desired the word "Columbia" used somehow. But it was pointed out to them that there was a Columbia in South America and the people of the United States referred to their county as Columbia.

A bill was introduced in the English parliament in 1858 to incorporate the province as "New Caledonia" but Queen Victoria took note of the objections to that name and while the bill was on its way through parliament she suggested that the colony be called "British Columbia." The royal suggestion proved acceptable.

ON THIS DATE

A DAY IN CANADIAN HISTORY

By Fred Williams

THE CONFEDERATION COALITION

On this date, in 1864 The St. Louis Hotel at Quebec was the scene of a conference which made history and enabled the dreams of confederation of the British provinces in North America to become a reality.

The political situation had reached a deadlock. The Macdonald ministry was just able to carry on; that was all; the relations between the two races were dangerous; men realized that something must be done? But what?

Then the happy thought struck A. T. Galt that perhaps George Brown the Reform leader, might consider a coalition with his much disliked political enemy, John A. Macdonald, to solve the problem.

Parliament was in session at Quebec. On the way down from Toronto Mr. Brown was interviewed by some one—one story has it by John Carling of London—and asked if he would consent to an interview with John A. The editor of The Globe thought for a while, then gave his consent. And so on the evening of June 18, 1864, John A. put his pride in his pocket and went with Galt to Mr. Brown's room in the St. Louis hotel and proposed a coalition to bring about confederation.

George Brown showed his statesmanship, he agreed to sink his political differences for the while and join the Macdonald ministry, much in the same way as Rowell and Sifton and other Liberals joined the Borden ministry in 1917 in another critical situation.

George Brown became president of the Council, with Oliver Mowat as Postmaster General and William McDougall as the third Reformer. Then followed in rapid succession the two confederation conferences, the adoption of the plan and then, confederation having been assured, George Brown withdrew and the coalition was ended.

A remarkable scene took place in the Assembly when Mr. Brown announced his acceptance of Macdonald's offer and his decision to suspend controversy for the sake of national union. "An excitable elderly little French member rushed across the floor, climbed upon Mr. Brown (who was of a stature gigantic) flung his arms about his neck and hung several seconds there suspended to the delight of the onlookers." From that time on the French fear of the Upper Canada Reformers died and the new Liberal party was born. George Brown by his coalition not only aided in creating a new Canada but also a new political alignment, paving the way years later for Laurier.

Character From Handwriting

By BLANCHE A. DRAPER

A Feature Conducted by Peterboroughs Leading Handwriting Analyist for the Readers of The Examiner

Full name and address (complete) must be given in all samples sent in.

Dear R.I.M.:

The Editor let me have your sample although you did not give me your full name. So here goes:

Your handwriting illustrates that you are a changeable person. You are agreeable and adaptable, sympathetic and humorous. These attributes should endear you to many, and people should appreciate your friendship. No matter how discouraged you may become over anything, you will always consider deeply the why and the wherefore, and then try again. Your capitals show artistic tendencies which could be developed in home surroundings. The rounded formations reflect a love for good music and flowers. The crossing of your 't' bars which are illustrated, indicate normal will-power, which is subject to change as the occasion demands. You are well poised and intelligent. You have a keen appreciation of all things refined. Your imagination is of a practical type. It does not lead you to build visionary castles in the air. You are sensible, logical and try to be methodical, though you do not always manage to be so. The reason for this is, that you will give up whatever you are doing, in order to bring happiness to others. Your number is 7. Your birthsign is Capricorn the Goat. March and November are your best months, Tuesday and Saturday your lucky days.

Alfred W. Whitaker,
617 George St., City.

The writing as expressed on your sample delineates you as a person who acts first and thinks afterwards, but, what a longing you have for self-expression. Just now, you seem stifled as if your whole soul were crying out to be let free. This attitude will injure your health. Do try to calm down and tell yourself that there is a better time coming. Things are not always as bad as they appear to be. You have will-power and determination sometimes but at other times you seem to let go of yourself and becom ementally apathetic. Perhaps a change in residence would do much to restore your mental equilibrium. However, you could enjoy life much better than you are doing now, if you make friends and assert yourself. You have, planted in your mind, some really brilliant ideas. Tell them to someone. Practice telling yourself that you can do anything you wish, if you want to truly and honestly. See what an improvement you will find in your health in a surprisingly short time. April and August are your best months, Friday your lucky day. Your birthsign is Gemini the twins. You are ruled by Murcury. In answer to your question as requested in your letter I would say "yes decidedly" but you will find it necessary to exert your will-power a little more and not depend quite so much on others. I know you are nervous and your health under par, but you can build it up, can't you?

GRAIN AND PRODUCE REVIEWS

ONTARIO GRAIN

Approximate prices track shipping point—Wheat, 99c to $1.02; oats, 40c to 45c; barley, 48c to 50c; corn, 65c to 70c; rye, 48c to 50c; buckwheat, 58c to 60c.

CHICAGO GRAIN

Largely because of absence of any aggressive speculative demand, grain prices worked lower Saturday after upturns at the start.

A good deal of selling in the wheat market was associated with a statement from the United States Department of Agriculture Bureau of Economics that wheat prices might be high enough to invite imports of small quantities of wheat at intervals during the ensuing crop year. The imports considered likely would be hard spring wheat from Canada to make up for short supplies of spring wheat in the United States, the Bureau said.

Another bearish influence was assertions in various quarters that although chinch bugs would cause much damage the corn crop generally was in good condition at this time.

Wheat closed weak, ⅛c to 1⅛c under Friday's finish, corn unchanged to 1⅛c lower, oats ¼c to ⅜c off, and provisions down to 17c.

MONTREAL PRODUCE

Cheese advanced while butter and potatoes were slightly easier on the Montreal produce and dairy market last week.

Ontario colored cheese was up ¾c a pound over the previous week, at 11c to 11¼c per pound. Receipts for the week totalled 23,046 boxes, against 16,669 boxes the week before.

The butter market eased ½c from last week, fresh No. 1 being quoted at 21½c a pound in carlots or less. Small lots to retailers brought 22c to 23c a pound for solids and 23c to 24c for prints. Arrivals for the week were 23,078 boxes, in comparison with 24,540 boxes the previous week. Exports during the week totalled 66 boxes, against 186 boxes during the corresponding week last year.

Eggs in carlots from the West held firm, being quoted at 21c a dozen for "A" large, 20c for "A" medium, 19c to 19½c for "B", and 18c for "C". Graded shipments in less than carlots for Quebec and Ontario were a little easier, being sold for 20c a dozen for "A" largt, 19c for "A" medium, 18½c for "B" and 17½c to 18c for "C".

Potatoes were off 5c to 10c. New Brunswick Mountains brought 70c to 75c per 80-lb. bag; Quebec whites, 65c to 70c per 80-lb. bag; and Prince Edward Island Mountains, 95c to $1 per 90-lb. bag.

WINNIPEG GRAIN.

WINNIPEG, June 18. — Lack of demand and an equally slim interest on the selling side of the market gave trading a lifeless appearance on the Winnipeg Grain Exchange on Saturday. At the finish of the short session, which was the dullest in many weeks, prices were close to dead centre, ¼c lower to ¼c higher.

July wheat finished at 77c, October at 79⅝c and December at 80¼c. With the exception of a little export interest and light selling in the first half-hour, pit operations were devoid of feature.

No figure was placed on export sales, but they were of small proportions. The market made slight gains at the start, following the trend at Liverpool, but as reports of rain in Western Canada were posted prices slipped off for a small fractional decline.

Cash grains spreads on top grades were slightly improved; the coarse grains, with the exception of rye, were steady.

Farmers Now Fighting Hoppers

Besides their battle with the drought, farmers of Western Canada and Middle Western States are now engaged in fighting another enemy which threatens to destroy their crops—the grasshopper. This photo shows farmers using an endgate seeder to spread a poison mixture on the ground to kill grasshoppers. The poison is dropped on the ground during the early morning hours, because grasshoppers feed at that time.

DULL SESSION IN INDUSTRIALS

Wating Attitude of New York Board Deterrent to Toronto Trading.

LIGHT GAINS ERASED.

TORONTO, June 18.—(CP)—The industrial share market of the Toronto Stock Exchange opened the week with a thoroughly dull session, prices sagging narrowly on small volume. The waiting attitude of the New York market was a deterrant to trading here. A fair representation of gains in the interlisted group were erased in the slow afternoon session.

Oils perked up just before the close, Imperial and International Pete showing gains of ⅛ to ⅜. British American, McColl and Thayers Pfd. closed lower. International Nickel showed some action and swung within a narrow range, closing 5 cents up at 26.50. Brazilian also was up a small fraction.

Interest lagged in the distillery and brewery shares.

GREAT DROUGHT

fountains were quieted by a public announcement that the water there is used over and over again, being pumped into the air from the reservoir to which it returns.

Sir William Prescott, one of London's five water "dictators," said the biggest "water sinners" are golf course greens keepers and cricket pitch attendants.

"If another 10 days passes without rain, the water situation in London will be serious," Sir William said.

King Economizes

King George set an example to users of water by ordering gardiners at Windsor Castle to cease watering the lawns. Impressed by the discomfort of men in uniforms His Majesty also gave orders that Grenadier Guards on sentry duty at the Castle may stand on the shady side of their sentry boxes to escape the heat of the sun.

In Bedfordshire some districts were experiencing an acute shortageof water which was becoming more serious daily. Springs which never had been known to fail have been drying up.

In London a considerable quantity of water was wasted by the bursting of a main at Knight's bridge. The water poured over the district for three hours before it could be shut off entirely. Numerous cellars were flooded.

Officials estimated 750,000 gallons of water were wasted at Liverpool when a watermain burst and smashed a pavement. The leak was stopped in half an hour.

VON PAPEN AIMS FIRST CRITICISM

from the human and the statesman's point of view, not to say what must be said at this decisive juncture of the German revolution."

One of Von Papen's first darts was at the muzzling of the press. "The press is no longer a 'safety valve,'" he said. "The real purpose of the press would seem to be to inform the government of defects that have crept in and point out where corruption has secured a berth, where serious mistakes have been made, where unfit men have been put in wrong places and where sins are being committed against the spirit of the German revolution.

"An anonymous or secret intelligence service, be it ever so excellently organized, can never be a substitute for this task of the press."

Von Papen next took up the Nazi claim to domination of all phases of human life, including religion.

"The statesmen and the politicians," declared the vice chancellor, "can reform the state but not life itself. Chancellor Hitler himself declared his movement is not that of religious reformation but of political re-organization of our people.

"Not all life can be organized because then it will be mechanized. The state is organization; life is growth.

"In my opinion, the German state will at some future date find its crowning glory in a chief of state who once for all is removed from the political fight of demagogy and from clashes among economic and vocational interests"

That Von Papen does not approve of Goebbels' daily speeches in various parts of Germany against critics is indicated by the following passage from his speech:

"Not by inciting the people, especially the youth; not by uttering threats against helpless sections of the population; but only by the truthful exchange of views with the people can confidence be increased.

"The people know that heavy sacrifices are demanded of them. They will bear them and follow her Fuehre (Hitler) in unshakeable confidence if they are bound to participate in advising and devising, if every word of criticism is not immediately stamped as ill-will and if despairing patriots are not branded as public enemies."

On The Way Out

BERLIN, June 18. (AP).—Those sections of the public able to obtain the news of the address made by Vice Chancellor Franz Von Papen were stunned to-day by his unexpected blast against many precepts dear to the Nazis.

The Vice Chancellor, a former lieutenant-colonel in the army and one of the few non-Nazis high in the German government, told Marburg University students that the Nazi party should not attempt unbridled control of the Reich.

Three possibilities presented themselves to anxiously questioning observers who sought the background for the speech delivered by the usualy sauve and quiet gentleman who apparently has worked hand-in-glove in the regime of Adolf Hitler and who indeed has been credited as being "the middleman" who helped Der Fuehrer into power.

"Does this fiery address mean that Von Papen, a holdover from the hard pressed pre-Nazi administration is on the way out like others of his non-Nazi colleagues and wants to depart with his hands clean—presaging troubles ahead" some asked.

Others offered an explanatory opinion that Von Papen spoke with the connivance of Hitler after the Chancellor's epochal conference of last week in Venice with Premier Mussolini of Italy.

These persons pointed out that "Von Papen perhaps touched upon the Nazi details that the Italian dictator pointed out to Hitler as questionable" and thus "the Von Papen structures might have presaged an about-face of the Nazi administration."

NEW YORK, Jule 18. — Superficially the market may not look so good, but if froth and foam is blown away the strength of the underlying substance stands out clearly. The halting, hesitant advance is characteristic of early stages of an important move. This market needs only a little in the way of encouragement to enable it to stage a really worthwhile advance.

The indications are that an early revival of the inflation fever will be witnessed and that before many weeks have gone by monetary developments will again be the chief topic of interest. We lok for further strength in the leading gold shares and consider them attractive.

Among outstaiding issues in copper and silver groups, particular attention should be paid to Kennecott, American Smelting, U.S. Smelting, Howe Sound, Anaconda, Cerro de Pasco, and Noranda.

While liquor stocks showed fine earnings for the first quarter of this year, belief is quite general that operating results for the second kuarter will be disappointing. Moreover, both Schenley and National Distillers have had to retain all of their earnings in order to build up working capital. In fact, indications are both these companies may do some financing. If financing plans are brought to completion in near future it is to be expected that the market quotations for "SHN" and "NAD" will be firm or show improvement.

BROKERS' OPINIONS.

Cassel & Co.: Subject to normal adjustments we look for stock market to continue to trend higher over the immediate future.

May Be Missing Lawyer

NEW YORK, June 18. (AP)—Police have been searching for Miss Agnes C. Tufverson, woman lawyer, who was reported missing since last Dec. 20 by her sister, Miss Olive Tufverson of Detroit.

In reporting the disappearance of her sister, Olive Tufverson said the missing woman had been married Dec. 4 to Ian Poderjay, now held in jail in Vienna.

Police showed particular interest in a number of trunks which Poderjay was reported to have taken with him when he sailed for England on Dec. 22

D'Harcourt had 50 cents in his possession to-day; the girl had $1.50.

DENTIST SLAIN ROBBERY PLOT

Wealthy Illinoian Found on Farm He Was Showing Prospecive Buyer.

CLIENT MISSING.

ELDORADO, Ill., June 18.—(AP) —Dr. H. L. Myers, 56, wealthy Eldorado dentist, was found shot to death on a farm near here today, apparently the victim of a kidnapping and robbery plot.

The body of the dentist shot through the back was found by Deputy Ila Choisser, and A. M. Mitchell, a photographer, at 15 a.m., C.S.T., culminating an all night search after the dentist had failed to return home.

The body was found in a clump of weeds on the farm, authorities said.

Mrs. Meyers said the doctor left Eldorado yesterday to look over some real estate.

Mrs. Meyers said she sought to accompany him and Lee Armstrong but that on the insistence of the latter she remained at home. Dr. Meyers' office was ransacked between Saturday night and early today.

Officers immediately launched a widespread search for Armstrong, who ware reported to have accompanied the dentist to the farm as a prospective buyer for the land owned by Meyers.

principal streets, the big moment of a two-day fiesta enemies had sworn to break up.

When the marchers reached the intersection of Neptuno street along the fashionable Prado Boulevard the music of brass bands was interrupted by the double clatter of machine guns.

Complete Surprise

The attack by enemies of the society came as a complete surprise. A shrill whistle sounded and then shots whizzed into the boule-d from side streets. A number of marchers, including several wor fell, dead or dying.

Thousands of bystanders watchin the parade were thrown into a panic and trampled one another as they rushed for shelter. Women screamed, some fainted.

ABC members who were armed dropped to their knees and returned the fire. The attack came from behind stone pillars and after six or seven minutes the assailants fled, leaving at least 12 dead and scores injured.

The line of march was reorganised and the parade continued.

Havana's population was left dazed by the outbreak. A number of the wounded were in a grave condition and physicians said they expected the death toll to grow.

Cooler heads in the ABC prevailed last night and prevented threatened counter attacks on known enemies of the Society. No serious disorders occurred, although a bomb exploded downtown.

Reports that four men who led the attack were captured by ABC's and burned to death in their automobile were denied by police.

The People Cannot Be Duped By Election Dodges

PREMIER HENRY KNEW HE HAD TO GO - HENCE THE SMOKE SCREENS

BEER IN THE RESTAURANTS

The first dodge, only served to disgust everyone, Liberals and Conservatives alike. It did not camouflage the HYDRO scandals or the Government's record of extravagance.

THE BRIBE

The BRIGHT IDEA of ditch filling and spending a dash of money on the back roads on eve of election came next. The workers and taxpayers (victims of honest George) only became suspicious.

RELIGIOUS CRY

Never before has a Premier of this Province met the hostile receptions that Mr. Henry has. All classes are up in arms. To stem the overwhelming tide that spells defeat, he endeavors to put citizen against citizen.

HONEST GEORGE IS CAUGHT RED-HANDED!

Mr. Henry had $25,000 and Mr. Meighen $3,000 in Abitibi bonds. The company later became bankrupt. Bonds bought at $100 sold at as low as $21. Mr. Henry rushed to the bondholders' rescue, turning over a $90 Ontario guaranteed bond for each default Abitibi bond, in all $18,000,000. When it was discovered Mr. Henry received $25,000 in Government bonds for these deafult ones, he declared: A MERE $25,000 IN BONDS WOULD NOT AFFECT MY JUDGMENT. MR. MEIGHEN RESIGNED. WHY NOT HENRY-

YET MR. HENRY HAD HIS PICTURE TAKEN WRAPPED IN THE BRITISH FLAG. If any Prime Minister of Great Britain was caught trifling with people's securities he would be compelled to resign and live in obscure political shame. The people of Ontario will show they demand the same high British principles in Ontario politics.

IN 1923 GROSS DEBT OF PROVINCE, $291,000,000.
IN 1934 GROSS DEBT OF PROVINCE, $610,000,000.
UNDER FERGUSON DEBT INCREASED $50,000 A DAY.

UNDER HENRY DEBT INCREASE BEEN $80,000 DAILY.

Great reductions in government costs can be made by simply eliminating the frills and cutting off the leeches.

LET US HAVE GOVERNMENT FOR THE PEOPLE –INSTEAD OF GOVERNMENT FOR THE POWER BARONS AND BOND HOUSES.

The firm of Clarke Locke, son-in-law of Mr. Henry, received over $95,000 in Government business.

Is it any wonder this Government has increased our debt by over $300,000,000?

LET US RID HYDRO OF PRIVATE INTERESTS AND OPERATE THIS GREAT ENTERPRISE FOR PEOPLE. POWER BARONS HAVE MADE MILLIONS OUT OF HYDRO CONTRACTS.

Mitchell Hepburn Promises–

TO CUT ADMINISTRATION COSTS IN HALF. IT WILL BE EASY.

Did you know that increase in Ministers' salaries cost YOU $110,000? Limousines for Cabinet Ministers cost YOU $36,733 in 1933? One Toronto lawyer in legal fees alone was paid over $360,000? $40,000 paid Toronto gentlemen for advice on borrowing money? Hydro made John Aird, Jr., a present of $50,000? Queen's Park and Hydro overstaffed with party healers? Salaries of Hydro Commissioners and officials are outrageous–one gets as high as $30,000 a year? $18,000,000 of Ontario guaranteed bonds exchanged for Abitibi default bonds?

IT IS SUCH ITEMS AS ABOVE AND NOT NEEDED EXPENSES OF PEOPLE THAT RUN UP OUR DEBT AND ARE CRUSHING THE TAXPAYERS.

LIBERAL POLICIES PRESAGE NEW DEAL

1. Public debt shall not be further increased.
2. Reasonable wage scales and hours of labor for workers.
3. No Member of Government shall operate as director in any corporation.
4. Mothers' Allowance will be extended to include mothers with one child.
5. Old Age Pensions will be continued and administered sympathetically.
6. Change in Government will result in new management of Hydro.
7. Government will assume whole cost of provincial highways, removing burden from municipalities.
8. Steps will be taken by legislation if necessary to preserve fair prices to producer of hogs, beef, milk and garden products.
9. Roads will not be neglected. Monies collected in gasoline taxes and auto licenses will be spent on roads. (Mr. Henry spent less than half of these monies for road purposes.)

NO SECRET PLEDGE WITH CATHOLICS IS HEPBURN'S ANSWER

WINDSOR, June 15.—(Special Despatch to The Globe).—"Premier Henry should hang his head in shame," declared Mitchell F. Hepburn, Leader of the Provincial Liberals, when his attention was drawn to-day to a six-column advertisement in the Toronto Conservative organ over the signature of "Geo. S. Henry," in which the Ontario Premier accuses Mr. Hepburn and his supporters of a "shameless attempt" to "capitalize" the organization of the Catholic Ratepayers' Association of Ontario, and suggests that Mr. Hepburn has given "secret pledges" on the question of school taxation.

"I have never been approached by the Catholic Ratepayers' Association of Ontario," continued Mr. Hepburn. "I have never been asked to make, nor have I ever made, any pledge to them. Surely this last-minute attempt to stir religious strife and interject religious feeling into the political campaign is unworthy of the present Premier. It is an indication of the desperate straits of a man who seems ready to say or do anything to escape pending defeat at the polls.

"Mr. Henry," he repeated, "should hang his head in shame. I wonder if the people of Ontario do not really recognize such action as that of one who is desperately desirous and ready to use any and all means—discreditable and shameful though they be—to turn attention away from his record—a record of deal and tollgates, of increasing debts, of growing interest charges, of mounting taxation and reckless expenditure.

"Upon these matters of record must Mr. Henry be judged, and his shameless attempt to arouse religious strife as a smoke screen to hide them from the public gaze will not avail him anything. The taxpayers of Ontario are concerned with realities."

MITCHELL F. HEPBURN (STILL UNDER FORTY) WILL BE ONTARIO'S NEXT PREMIER

Has been Member of Canadian Parliament for 8 years, is a sound economist, a Protestant in religion, and has achieved succss in business and politics in a short, brilliant career. Some of the outstanding supporters of the Liberal leader in this campaign and probable Cabinet material are: Hon. Duncan Marshall, former Minister in Alberta Government and former Agricultural Commissioner for Canada; Hon. W. E. N. Sinclair, Hon. Harry Nixon, Dr. D. B. Faulkner, Arthur Slaght, K.C., and Arthur W. Roebuck, K.C., two of Canada's greatest lawyers; Col. Fraser Hunter, prominent educationalist.

ONTARIO NEEDS THE YOUTHFUL AND ENERGETIC LEADERSHIP OF HEPBURN. HENRY ADMINISTRATION IS A WEED THAT HAS RUN TO SEED. ONTARIO NEEDS A HOUSE-CLEANING AND A NEW DEAL UNDER LIBERAL POLICIES.

CANADIAN SAILORS TAKE OVER ATLANTIC FISHING INDUSTRY

Bluenose Fishmen Now Man Ships From U. S. Ports.

SAIL SURPASSES STEAM

By ROBERT ANGUS.
Central Press Canadian Writer.

The cod may be the official emblem of the state of Massachusetts and the Gloucester fishermen may live in song and story, but it is the men of the Maritimes and Newfoundland who are to-day manning the American-owned schooners and leaving the New England mariner just a tradition of the past.

Captain Jimmy Abbott of the Gertrude L. Thebaud, twice the American entry in the biennial international fishing schooner race, is authority for the statement that there is not an American-born fisherman on his crew. The Gertrude L. Thebaud, pride of Gloucester, centre of the deep-sea fishing industry of the New England states, is manned by doughty sons of Nova Scotia and Newfoundland.

And this situation goes for most of the fishing fleets hailing from New England, he admits. Industrialization of the region and the decline in the demand for fish in the United States are blamed by Captain Abbott.

The Canadian-owned Bluenose, present holder of the trophy for which the Gertrude L. Thebaud contended, is now cruising Lake Ontario and giving inland curiosity-seekers the thrill of their lives, but soon the crack schooner of the North Atlantic will be returning to the Grand Banks once again and the smell of new paint will be obliterated by the much more virile tang of cod and flounder, hake and haddock, says Captain Angus Walters.

Sail Surpasses Steam.

Surprisingly enough, steam and gasoline power has yet to prove superior to sail in North Atlantic fishing. The old-time schooners still come into port with a catch above their all-power rivals. Canvas still remains more practical in the twisting, rolling, pitchin seas. In these conditions, the fuel bill of the power boats mounts alarmingly and there is always the risk of fire. Despite these hazards, the average market price of fish is four cents a pound. And twenty cents of every dollar received for the catch goes to washing, repairing and tarring nets.

With the exception of the cook, all hands aboard work on shares. The wage each trip depends upon the size of the catch, the price it brings and the operating expense of the schooner.

The whole story is told in "Men, Fish and Boats," (McClelland and Stewart, Toronto). The book is written by Alfred Stanford, owner of the schooner Tomcod. More than a hundred illustrations have been selected and captioned by the author.

Stanford says: "In a world far removed from hand to hand combat with nature, deep-sea fishing is still one of the few primitive ways of getting a living. A midwinter trip to the Grand Banks is still a midwinter trip. The icing up of the rigging is no less dangerous, the fog no less thick, and a lost dorie no easier to find. Fishing is still a struggle. Fishing on the North Atlantic has changed little fundamentally.

Thrilling Life.

"Each year, the list of dorymen lost on the Banks grows. And each year, youngsters in Lunenburg and Halifax decide that they don't want to work in a store, that they'd rather not go on with school, or they want to be on their own. For such as these, there is usually a schooner leaving for the grounds short a hand or two."

This book of pictures and yarns reveals in detail the deep-sea fisherman's various activities.

The story of Blackburn and Welch is told. The pair put out in a dory to haul their trawls. When they started, the wind was light. They rowed three miles. A northwest wind came up and back of it thick, swirling snow. They rowed toward the schooner's lights, far to windward. The dory shipped water and grew heavy with ice. They heaved the fish and gear overboard. Night fell. When daylight dawned, there was no schooner to be seen. Welch was growing numb with cold and exhaustion. Blackburn decided to row for Newfoundland, a hundred miles away.

He knocked the ice off the dory's gunwales. His hands grew white and he knew they were freezing. The day went by and Welch no longer answered his partner's calls. The man was dead—frozen stiff.

Blackburn kept on, his hands frozen to the oars. Eventually he reached shore, headed for a light and spent the rest of the winter in a trapper's cabin. With no medical care and no more surgical equipment than a pair of scissors, he fought his way back to life, but lost all his fingers and toes and half of his right foot. He was back on the schooners in spring.

To-day, the grinding of the augur, the blows of the adze and axe, are heard in fishing settlements throughout the Maritimes. The air is fresh with the smell of pine. The American deep-sea fishermen may be surrendering the North Atlantic, but the Canadians are quick to take over. Other vessels are drawn up on the ways at regular intervals for scrubbing and scraping. Grass whiskers and barnacles come off the bottoms, for these retard speed and the feared teredo worm makes short work of the toughest planking if this is not covered with poisonous copper paint.

And along the Nova Scotia coast, the mothers and wives watch for their loved ones. As some women know the coming of their menfolk by the sound of a familiar footfall, they recognize the fishing schooners still far out at sea, but homeward bound. They know that some day the ship may come in with flag at half mast because a man has been washed overboard or a dory has been overturned and found empty many miles at sea.

WOMEN'S INSTITUTE WEEKLY COLUMN

A goodly thing it is to meet
In Friendship's circle bright,
Where nothing stains the pleasure sweet,
Or dims the radiant light
No unkind word our lips shall pass,
No envy sour the mind;
But each shall seek the common weal—
The good of all mankind.

MILLBROOK BRANCH

A novel method of providing a program for an Institute meeting was adopted for the June gathering of a western Ontario branch, not far from London, when "The Scrap Book" was the theme chosen, and each member was asked to bring a hint of some sort from her scrap book and read it at the session. It proved a decided success and a refreshing change.

Among 'health hints' which were advanced was this suggestion: "Middle age is often below par because of overeating—and by this we refer more to quantity than the kind of diet. Of course certain organs require a reasonable amount of padding with fat for protective purposes, but excessive fat is really a parasite on the body. It has been estimated that if all the blood vessels in a pound of fat were straightened out they would reach five-sixths of a mile—so you see thirty pounds of excess fat adds twenty-five miles to the circulation. Naturally this means an enormous increase of burden on the heart, and means also more waste matter to be eliminated by the kidneys. Just ask any life insurance agent and he will tell you that the overweight individual has far less expectation of long life than the normal, or even the underweight, man or woman. Verily the belt line is the life line, and we obtain moderation in weight by temperance in eating, more than by any other way, though exercise helps."

"I think, following that sobering scrap book item, I had better give you this," the president said: "Our characters are formed, not by doing the easy things of life, but like Daniel of old by 'Daring to have a purpose true, daring to make it known,' and by standing alone if need be to adhere to our resolution.' "I am sure after hearing that our waist lines may be the measure of our life lines, some of us have been deciding to 'have a purpose true' regarding limiting our appetites in future."

An epidemic of measles having broken out in the community where the branch was organized, one member brought this contribution from the Health Almanac: "Measles, like whooping cough, prove fatal to the very young; in fact the highest percentage of deaths from measles is in the first two years of life. Owing to the nature of the disease the respiratory tract is prepared for its dreaded companion, broncho - pnuemonia, which causes the fatal ending. Parents are well advised to prevent the attack in the very young, and to postpone it by all means in those under two years of age. Your family doctor should be consulted promptly in all cases where measles is present in the home; do not attempt to treat the disease yourself, for broncho-pneumonia is not a respector of life."

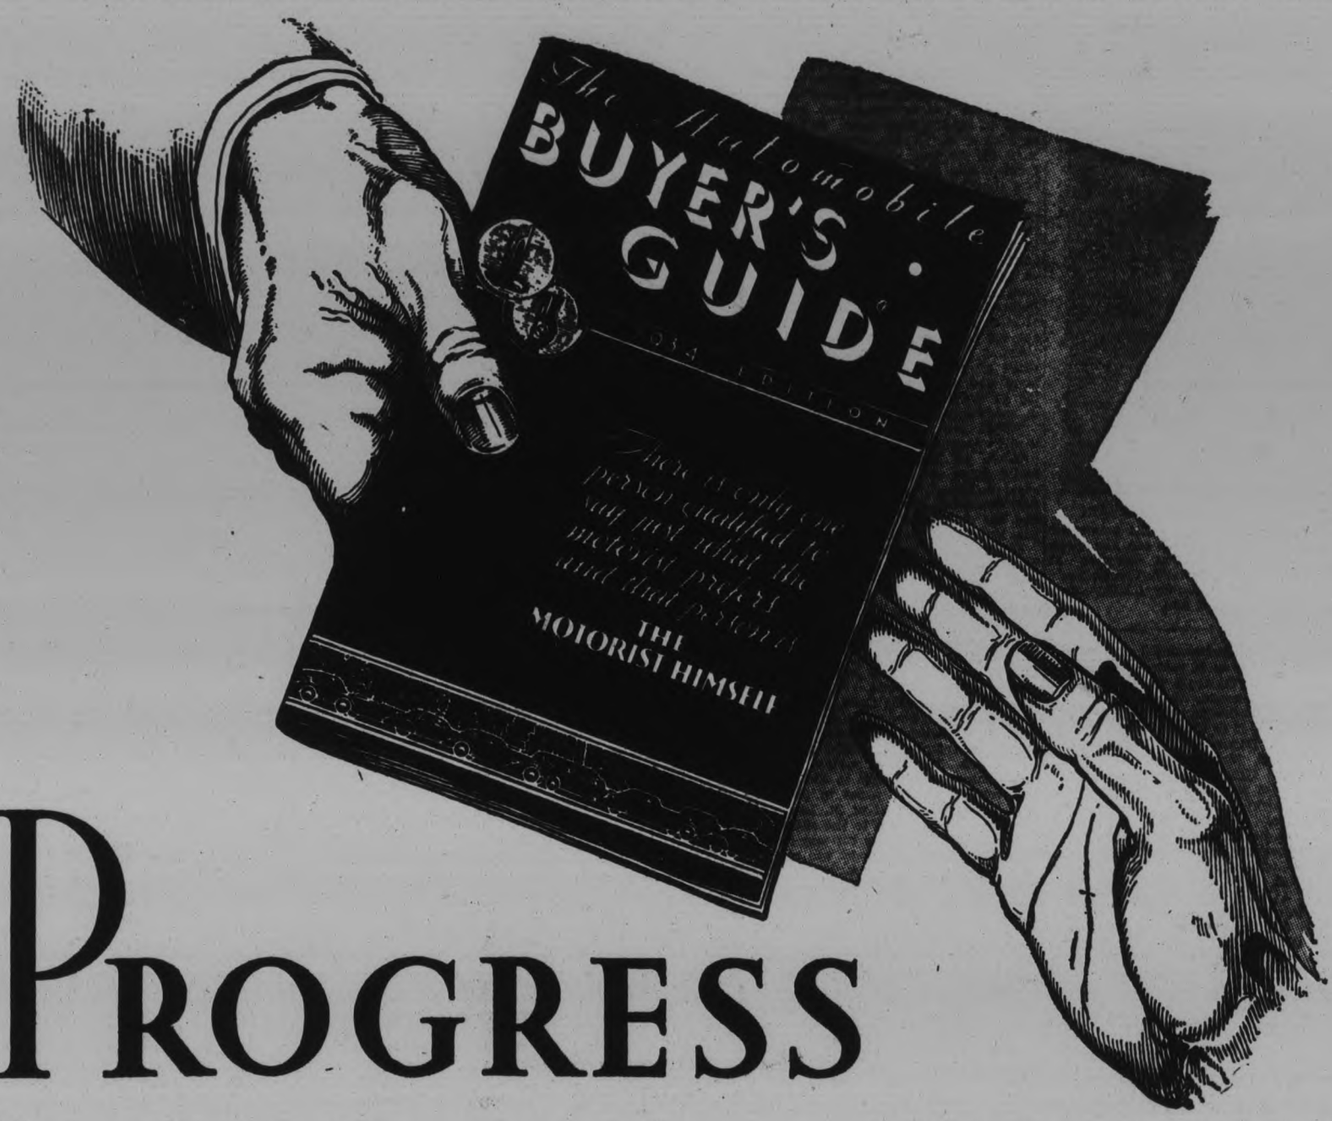
Emphasis upon the responsibility of mothers in protecting other mothers' children from contact with hers if they are suffering from any malady, was the theme of another clipping pasted in the "W.I. scrap book, which is what I call the old account book of my husband's which I have used for some years for pasting clippings."

"As mothers we grow indignant if our children contract disease from other children, and yet we are careless in taking care that our own little ones should be kept away when suffering from any communicable malady, from those of other families. We should be well enough informed to show this consideration, and if we fail to do so we certainly should not be so righteously indignant if our children take these diseases that are going round from contact with other sufferers."

"As for instance whooping cough is spread chiefly from droplets diffused by coughing and sneezing; you do not need to be particularly well informed to know that one child so affected may easily give it to another. Really it ranks with measles in its high degree of attack. It too is disease of the young, particularly undernourished children, and it has occurred during the first month of life. Most children however are susceptible after five or six months of age; statistics show that during the past seven years, in the below 0-4 age group, whooping cough has caused the most deaths, not even being superseded by diphtheria."

"AN EYE TO THE FUTURE - AN EAR TO THE GROUND"

—this describes General Motors' policy, a policy by which the public is given what it wants in better cars year after year, and yet is safely protected against ill-timed or dubious experiments



PROGRESS

out of the Common sense of Canadian Motorists

IT is no secret that the new cars of General Motors this season are riding the flood tide of popular approval.

We think they deserve to, being the best automobiles and the finest values that we have so far been able to offer.

They are being acclaimed no less for their graceful streamlined beauty than for their healthful ventilation and Floating Ride.

They represent progress, in every direction that contributes to the pleasure and usefulness of an automobile.

That the marked departures this year in our cars are sound and successful is only in part our achievement.

To a very substantial degree their source and perfection is the common sense of Canadian motorists.

Months before production, we checked our designs against what the public wanted. Through the answers of more than 60,000 Canadians to our Customer Questionnaires, we received priceless guidance in shaping into beautiful and progressive form our engineers' ideas and developments.

The results—as evidenced in the new Chevrolet, Oldsmobile, Pontiac, McLaughlin-Buick, LaSalle and Cadillac—confirm once more that he travels farthest in the right direction who is willing to listen as well as to lead.

CAMPBELLFORD CHAPTER HONORS TWO MEMBERS

CAMPBELLFORD, June 18 (Examiner Staff Correspondence). — Two presentations featured the regular meeting of the Bemersyde Chapter of the I.O.D.E., Campbellford, on Thursday last, which was held at the summer home of Dr. and Mrs. H. O. Richardson, at Crow Bay, when a recent bride and a bride-to-be were both honored by their fellow-members, being recipients of beautiful silver flower bowls.

The members so honored were Mrs. J. Free (nee Miss Helen Bygott) and Miss Helen MacDonald, whose marriage to J. B. Cowell takes place in July. The presentations were made by the Regent, Mrs. Hawthorne, who wished, for the Chapter, every happiness for the two honored guests of the day. Eight tables of bridge were enjoyed, the winner for cards being Mrs. E. C. Roberts. Delightful refreshments were served by the hostess.

THIRTEEN HUNDRED PICNICKERS ENJOY 8TH ANNUAL C. G. E. OUTING

Employees and Their Families Gather at Nicholls Oval on Saturday.

GOOD SPORTS PROGRAM.

Sunny skies greeted the thirteen hundred picnickers who flocked to the Nicholls Oval on Saturday afternoon for the eighth annual picnic of the C.G.E. Social and Athletic Club, and the splendid weather continued throughout the afternoon when an extensive program of track and field sports, two men's softball games, one ladies' softball game and a football match were run off.

This outing is arranged and staged each year as a gala day for the employees' children, and at the same time provides plenty of enjightenment for the parents. The employees are given a strip of seven tickets for each child under fourteen years of age, and these tickets are redeemable at the refreshment booths at five cents each. They may also be used for riding on the merry-go round or ferris wheel, and for bus fare. Thus each is given 35 cents. Two booths, manned by sixteen employees, catered to the demands of the merry crowd, while another man kept a large kettle of hot water boiling for the convenience of those who had brought baskets of lunch. The ferris wheel and merry-go round, capably managed did a brisk business, while a well-equipped hospital tent under the auspices of the St John's Ambulance Corps, was ready to care for anyone who should be injured. A large showcase displaying the valuable prizes to be drawn for at the C.G.E. Flower Show attracted favorable comment from the crowd.

Exhibition Girls' Game

While the track and field events were being run off, the C.G.E. girls met the Maple Leafs in an exhibition softball game and coasted through seven innings to a decisive 11 to 4 victory. Lil Cockerill started on the mound for the Leafs but retired in favor of G Mann before completing an innings. Mann pitched good ball but her team-mates continued to boot the ball and the Electrics placed their hits to advantage and soon took the lead Ev. Evans was the first pitcher for the winners, but retired in the third in favor of DeCarlo, who hurled for two frames and allowed just one hit. Helen Newson started in the fifth and finished the game, giving two bingles. Elsie Gates led the C.G.E. with the willow, pasting out three doubles in three trips

The teams:

Maple Leafs—P. Rome, 2b; A. Sturgeon, 3b; G. Mann, p; L. Trollop, rf; L. Cockerill, p, cf; H. Foster, cf; H Mann, lf; M. Ballantyne, ss; I Sturgeon, 1b; B. Thirnbeck, c.

Three softball teams from the plant entered the tournament for men—the Office, Machine and Refrigerator. The latter team drew a bye, and the Office and Machinists hooked up in the first battle. Dee Sproule, manager for the Office, trotted out a team of city league calibre, which had little difficulty in subduing the Mechanics, and won 13 to 4. Ernie Reynolds twirled for the losers, but his team-mates who were mostly from the National entry in the South-end Loop failed to display a first-class fielding style, and the Office players were quick to capitalize on the opposition's miscues. The winners pounded out twelve safeties with Miller leading, hitting a homer and two singles while Newson connected for three clean singles. The teams:

Machine Shop.—Clark, lf; J. Reynolds, 1b; F. Parsons, ss; R. Pearson, 3b; C. Cowling, c; E. Reynolds, p; T. Tice, 2b; A. Higgins, rf; Conlin, cf.

Office Again Wins

The Office then took on the Refrigerator team for the prizes and continued to hit a winning stride, downing the latter crew 12 to 5. Fred Martin who pitched winning ball in the first tussle, took the mound again in the final and although he was hit freely, nevertheless his team-mates backed him up nicely and the Refrigs were only able to count four times on fifteen hits. Ace Powell pitched for the losers, dishing up steady ball, but he was no mystery to the Office batters who connected seventeen times.

Buck Fleming gave the winners four runs in the sixth, when he conked a homer over the right fielder, with the bases loaded. Grant Newson, Miller and Mowry all secured two hits apiece, while Fred Jones supplied the fielding feature, when he made two great running catches in foul territory.

Refrigerator line-up.—E. Vitarelli, ss; E. Howe, 3b; A. Weir, 2b; B. Ashmore, c; E. Gardner, lf; L. Masterson, rf; W. Prest, cf; A. Griffin, 1b; A. Powell, p.

SMITH STARTS HIS LONG TRIP

Smith seemed to be the least excited of all the group of friends and curious who bid him good-bye. Garbed in a light 'gym' shirt, a sturdy pair of trousers and rubber-soled shoes, he smiled nonchalantly as he stepped into the craft. He had already deposited about fifty pounds of food in three cartons between the thwarts. The specially-designed cover which is to keep the water of the Atlantic from swamping him was not in evidence for he is sure he will have no need of it for the first thousand-mile leg.

On the departure from George Street Wharf, Earle Smith, a brother of the sailor, manned the forward paddle, accompanying John as far as the lock above Rye's. With John Smith signing the lock register in the capacity of "Master of the Vessel", the bright red canoe with its name, "Pride of Peterborough" emblazoned on its bow, was locked through as any other craft would have been. A number of spectators had hurried to the lock and had a second opportunity to wave their final greetings.

He offered a final shake of the hand to his brother, several friends and a reporter and shouted with assurance, "I'll see you in six months!" Then he dug his paddle into the water and was away, moving swiftly with the current.

In Fine Shape

By way of hardening up his muscles for the trip, Smith, accompanied by his brother, paddled more than forty miles on Saturday and Sunday. Saturday afternoon and evening they covered the twenty-mile distance between here and Stoney Lake in little over nine hours despite the delays encountered at the numerous locks along the way up. A return yesterday was made in equally good time. "It was no trick at all," Smith said in comment on the long workout. "I'm in great shape and I'm pretty sure now that I can make it."

A small hole about an inch in length was ripped in the canvas on the bottom of the canoe when they struck a rock accidently in Stoney Lake and Smith last night debated the necessity of postponing his start until a patch could be put on. Determined to adhere to his original plan, however, he decided to set out at the scheduled time this morning and have the hole mended when he reaches Newfoundland. A large wad of chewing gum is serving to prevent water from seeping in for the present.

"What does your mother think of it all?" Smith was asked.

"She's got used to the idea now and I guess she knows I can take care of myself," Smith said. "At first she didn't like it but when she saw the story about me in the paper, she was as proud as Punch."

While his moth has not been "making any fuss" about his trip, many others have been bothering him, Smith reported. "What do you do when your friends start crying on your shoulder?" he asked The Examiner in despair. Dozen have been imploring him to give up his project in fear that he is headed for certain death, he said. "I don't know what's worrying them. I know I can do it or I wouldn't start out."

As he announced two weeks ago, the sailor intends to paddle down the Trent Waterway system to Lake Ontario and thence to the St. Lawrence River. He plans to proceed through the Gulf of St. Lawrence, keeping as close to the shore while he can, and make his way to St. John's. At St. John's he will secure his condensed food rations, his bags of fresh water, a sextant and the other necessities and push off as quickly as possible for Ireland, he stated.

He expects no difficulty in making the trip to Newfoundland in three weeks and complete the 1,700-mile paddle from St. John's to Ireland in three months. He plans to eat as little food as possible and drink his fresh water sparingly. The cover he has designed for the canoe will catch additional fresh water during rainfalls and, in a pinch, he hopes to be able to replenish his supply by melting pieces of ice bergs.

Declaring that he was not setting out on the venture to make news Smith declined to wait this morning when informed that camera and sound men of Associated Screen News in Toronto were on their way to the city to photograph his departure. The news reel men received orders from New York last night to record the event but failed to reach the city in time.

DANCER PLUNGES TO DEATH.

LOS ANGELES, June 15 (A.P.).—Lucille Young, 26-year-old attractive blonde dancer, plunged to her death from the fourth floor of an apartment house here shortly before midnight, police reported.

Police immediately began a search for two men and another woman who appeared at the apartment house with Miss Young early yesterday and rented the apartment. They said although the window through which Miss Young plunged had been raised, the screen was closed tightly. The victim's nude body ripped a jagged hole through the wire netting.

The apartment was a scene of wild disorder.

JUST AMONG US GIRLS

New "Smut-Proof" Wheat Proves Success

Experimental work with various kinds of wheat over a 20-year period have resulted in success for Scientist E. A. Gains of Pullman, Wash., who has finally achieved a wheat that will resist smut, a disease dreaded among wheat-growers in many sections of the continent. By combining two varieties, Florence, a red, bearded, hard spring variety, with Turkey Red, a bearded, hard winter wheat, he managed to procure seeds of the new variety which he calls Ridit. This new type of wheat has been used more and more widely in sections of the United States afflicted with smut, and farmers this year report great success. The illustration shows Dr. Gains in his "wheat nursery." Since the success of Ridit he has produced another variety of smut-resisting wheat called Albit, said to be even better than Ridit.

N. HASTINGS WOMEN'S INSTTUTE HOLDS 26TH ANNUAL CONVENTION

Mrs. James Bailey, Eldorado, Re-elected President—Splendid Reports Given.

BALANCE IS SHOWN.

(Examiner Correspondence)

MADOC, June 16.—The twenty-sixth Women's Institute annual convention for the district of North Hastings was opened in Trinity United Church, Madoc on Thursday Morning and afternoon sessions were held with a good attendance from all parts of the district with Mrs. James Bailey, president, in the chair.

Mrs. Wm. Miller, Madoc, extended a welcome, warm and hearty from the Madoc friends to all visitors. Fanny Hurst, she said predicted that the next fifty years would bring a great liberation of women. If so we should seek to get new slants on old problems and new light to meet new ones. We should not forget that making a life is greater than making a living. Then concluding by hoping that all would be more interested because of this gathering and feel that the more we get together the happier we are.

Mrs. Sills of Ivanhoe replied for the guests, thanking Madoc for the kindly welcome.

Correspondence included the resignation of Mrs. C. N. Whytock and letters of regret at not being able to attend the convention from Mrs. Munro, Mrs. Haggerty and Mrs. Garbutt. The secretary's report following showed 313 members (60 less than last year); 2676 in attendance at meetings; 192 papers and addresses given and 110 meetings held and a balance on hand in each branch and in the district.

Mrs. Nickle complimented the secretarys on the excellent financial reports and that the federation fees were paid up in every branch.

Branches Visited

The president's address spoke of several branches visited during the year and regret for Mrs. Whytock's resignation.

Reports of all the standing committees were then received, and the financial reports of the secretaries. Mrs. F. Barnum of Rylston gave that on Health and Child Welfare work reporting papers and discussions on "early treatment of cancer" "Illness of Children", "The Sunny Side of Life", and addresses by doctors and nurses. Roll calls on hints for the sick room and on forming good habits.

Home economics reported by Mrs. Wm. Miller of Madoc was a splendid record of the many activities, such as demonstrations with the Daisy Knitter ,rug making, dipping chocolates fancy aprons and setting the Christmas table. Many excellent papers were given on various phases of the subject.

Mrs. W. J. Barlow of Springbrook reported for education that most of the branches had sent in excellent reports. Addresses consisted of travelogues, travel talks, review of "Cry Havoc" and "Roughing It In the Bush" and a talk on "Art In Pictures".

Mrs. Todd of Wellman's prefaced her report on agriculture with the quotation "If we had eternal sunshine, we would have no flowers". She spoke of good work among the branches, exchanges of seeds and slips. A paper on Country Life and How to Enjoy It, a debate on Country Girl vs City Girl and an illustrated lecture on "Planting trees, shrubs and flowers for the beautifying of the home."

For legislation, Cooper and Remington branch reported an address on "What women should know about banking" and a discussion on "How should a wife's' future be provided for".

A bountiful dinner was pleasingly served by the Ladies' Aid of the church and all enjoyed the interval of relaxation and social enjoyment.

Afternoon Session

The afternoon program was opened by singing "O Canada" and Miss C. R. Duff of Toronto, Miss Gertrude Gray of Toronto, Mrs. C. Clancy, vice president and Mrs. W. R. Grass of Gunter were asked to take their places on the platform.

Drowning Victims

MONTREAL, June 18 (CP)—It was believed here to-day that the two victims of drowning near Toronto Saturday were Gerard Bernier, 21, and a friend of his, Paul Bussiere, who left Montreal on May 21 to seek work at Toronto or other points in Ontario.

Bernier, who lives at 428 Rachel street, wrote home recently from Niagara Falls after hitch-hiking his way to that town. His postcard, dated June 11, stated all was well and that in a short time he would forward an address for mail. No further word was received by his family. The family did not know where Bussiere hailed from, but believed he was not a Montrealer

"I am surprised at my brother meeting his death by drowning, if he is one of the victims of that accident," Emile Bernier said last night, "because my brother was a good swimmer and I understand that Bussiere was a good swimmer too".

The Supreme Issue

Public School supporters do not allow yourselves to be sidetracked from the one vital, burning issue–the school question–

All the strength of an organized minority will be thrown in against the Henry Government to-morrow in the hope of securing further Separate school taxation. If this audacious attempt is successful, demands for more privileges will follow just as certainly as day follows night.

There is only one answer that Public school supporters can make to the menace of this challenge; that answer must be a solid vote of protest.

Something more vital is at stake than the fate of political parties; in the circumstances the duty of every Public school supporter–be he Conservative, Liberal, or C.C.F. in his party allegiance–is crystal clear.

Forget politics for the moment–

CUNNINGHAM SETS WORLD'S TRACK RECORD

Ben Eastman Also Registers New Mark for the Half-mile.

AT PRINCETON MEET.

(By Alan Gould—A.P. Sports Editor).

NEW YORK, June 18 (A.P.). — Glenn Cunningham, westward bound to-day on the second lap of a 6,000-mile competitive whirl, left just one mile for the track world in general and Bill Bonthron in particular to remember him by.

It was a world record performance of 4 minute 6.7 seconds, made late Saturday, in Tiger Bill's own back yard at Princeton, and it lifts the thick-chested, hard-running University of Kansas star to the foot-racing throne that a half-dozen speed kings have been battling for.

Cunningham shared the record-cracking laurels with Benjamin Eastman, the big, blond ex-Stamford University star, who celebrated his return to the east by whipping Indiana's famous Charley Hornbostel in the unprecedented time of 1:49.8 for the half-mile, with Hornbostel also inside of all previous existing records as he was clocked in five yards back.

30,000 See Meet.

Not in the history of American foot-racing have such marvellous achievements been linked together in a single afternoon. An alumni day crowd of 30,000 at Princeton got the thrill of a lifetime, even though it was a shock to the Tiger rooters to see Cunningham literally run away from Bonthron in a mile that was expected to find these two famous rivals battling it out, neck and neck, down the stretch.

MAIN STREET TOPICS

Jabs and Jottings as Picked Up by an Examiner Reporter.

BANK STAFF CHANGES.

William Childs, of the George street branch of the Bank of Montreal for the past eighteen months, was to-day transferred to Westport, Ontario. The vacancy here has been filled by J. D. McCarney, who arrived in the city to-day from Perth.

ABOUT 60 VOTES CAST.

About sixty votes were cast in the advance poll on Saturday, Sheriff Hall, deputy-returning officer, told The Examiner to-day: "I am not in a position to know how many have been cast up to noon to-day, but I would say there were about sixty.

POSTERS TORN DOWN.

Posters have been put out by the Liberal Publicity Committee about the city, entitled "Picture Story of Election Dodge," and showing a cartoon of men working on the roads and Cabinet Ministers patting them on the back, and upon which also appears in large type, "Henry Is Not Fooling the People, But Is Fooling Himself." These were posted in prominent places about the city, but have been torn down during the night by some unknown party or parties, and can be found strewn around the streets.

POLLS OPEN UNTIL 7 O'CLOCK.

Owing to the fact that the polls do not close until 7 o'clock to-morrow (election day), and also that some factories close as early as four o'clock due to observance of daylight saving, there is ample time for every working man to get his vote in without factory disturbance, and it should ensure a large vote turning out.

BEHAVIOURISM IS CONDEMNED BY DR. A. T. BARR

Speaker Says Philosophy is Intellectually Contemptible and Morally Indefensible.

CARNIVAL ECHOES.

Thanks is Extended to Everybody Who Helped Make Annual Event Huge Success.

Speaking on the subject of "Some Kinks in Behaviourism," before the Rotary Club at its weekly luncheon to-day, Rev. Dr. A. T. Barr delivered a slashing onslaught on the philosophy of Dr. John Broadus Watson, which he found lacking in many counts.

In beginning Rev. Dr. Barr said that a generalization frequently heard was that modern society was becoming paganized; a statement that needed to be examined. It was true only if proven that the people of to-day were living like the pagans in the early days of Rome and Greece.

The ancient paganism, he said, took two forms: the first, philosophical; the second, grossly sensual.

History was repeating itself to-day, for our paganism was being demonstrated in two directions: the first philosophical, which took the form of saying the ethics of Christ were unsuitable to the modern world and must be replaced by a new humanism; and alongside this, a gross sensuality, without any relation to religion whatever; in other words the animal let loose in the name of freedom.

This development had happened because of a spirit of revolt against all authority; and as all revolt sought to justify itself behaviourism was advanced as an attempt to justify our modern paganism.

The leader in this school of thought was Dr. John Watson whose work was issued in 1914.

The main thesis of this philosophy was that behaviour was the sole key to Mary's life. Dr. Watson maintained that men were not born, they were built. This, Dr. Barr submitted, was a wrong premise, and no matter how many facts were afterwards added, the structure was sure to fall. That, he said, was the main kink.

Another was the argument, that there was no such thing as human personality.

A third was the claim that our mental life was fictitious; that there could be no thinking without words; that mind has no separate existence.

"And, of course," pointed out the speaker, "memory must go, for according to Watson, memory is an illusion more or less competely retained practice in habit."

The worst kink of all was the behaviourist's idea of morality; that it was simply the pooled experience of the herd, that man was only a pawn in the game, and God a "mere projection of infantile fancy."

"The whole markes a pretty clean sweep of our old ideas and beliefs," said Dr. Barr.

The speaker had arrived at three conclusions in regard to behaviourism. Intellectually it was contemptible; morally it was indefensible; and humanly speaking, it was rotten.

"Marriage, as we know it," said Dr. Barr, "does not exist in the behaviourist's code. asy divorce, trial marriage, the spirit of Hollywood, the speak easy, the nudist colony—all these things are justified by this damned philosophy.

The speaker was introduced by Rotarian Dr. J. A. Bannister, and a vote of thanks was moved by Rotarian R. F. Downey.

Reports of the success of last week's Carnival featured the luncheon. President Dr. Moir and Rotarian J. H. Seels, Carnival manager, thanked everybody who had assisted in the big event, and special reference was made to the co-operation of C. A. Salmonsen and the C.G.E. Company for supplying trucks and men. Rotarian Roy Goring read the report of the committee in regard to advertising in the Rotary supplement, showing a profit of nearly $1,300, and Rotarian George A. Gillespie reported the ticket money practically all in.

IN MEMORIAM

FROST. — In loving memory of Arnold Frost, who was drowned June 18, 1932.

Time rolls on; we are reminded
Of a day our hearts were crushed
When God took you, oh so quickly
And we all in gloom were thrust.
In the bloom of life, death claimed you
In the pride of early days,
But we hope to meet you, Arnold.
And be with you always.
—Always remembered by Frost Family.

IN MEMORIAM.

SALISBURY.—In loving memory of Mrs. Annie Salisbury, who departed this life June 18, 1933.

"There is some one who misses you sadly,
And finds the time long since you went,
There is some one who thinks of you always,
And tries to be brave and content.
Gone is the face we loved so dear,
Silent the voice we loved to hear;
'Tis sad, but true, we wonder why,
The best are always the first to die."
—Ever remembered by her loving Husband and daughter Ena.

Married Saturday

MISS GWENDOLYN A. RUTHERFord, whose wedding took place on Saturday in Knox church, Havelock, to Ernest Walter Sutton of Campbellford.

Weddings

McGUIRE—O'KEEFE.

A pretty wedding took place quietly at six o'clock this morning at St. Peter's Cathedral, when Marguerite Alma O'Keefe, youngest daughter of the late Mr. and Mrs. P. J. O'Keefe, of Peterborough, became the bride of Mr. Joseph McGuire, son of Mrs. Mary McGuire, of Westcott street, and the late James McGuire. The Rev James McGuire of Bowmanville, brother of the bridegroom, performed the ceremony.

The bride wore a lovely frock of pink organdie de soie, with large hat of pink mohair, white slippers and hose and white lace mittens. She carried a bouquet of pink roses.

The bridesmaid, Miss Mary McGuire, sister of the bridegroom, was in yellow organdie, with matching picture hat, white slippers and hose and bouquet of yellow roses.

Mr. Harold Crowley acted as best man.

Immediately after the ceremony, the bridal party enjoyed a dainty breakfast at Hooper's, leaving later by motor for a trip to Ogdensburg, New York. The bride travelled in a white swagger outfit with white hat and accessories.

On their return Mr. and Mrs. McGuire will live in Peterborough.

SUTTON—RUTHERFORD.

The marriage of Gwendolyn Agnes, eldest daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Garnet Rutherford of Havelock, to Mr. Ernest Walter Sutton of Campbellford, took place on Saturday in Knox Presbyterian church, Havelock. Rev. L. Beaton officiated and the wedding music was played by Mrs. Fred Rutherford of Bonar-law, aunt of the bride.

The bride, given in marriage by her father, wore a dress of blue brocade lace with tulle trimmings and picture hat to match. Miss Roxie Rutherford, sister of the bride, was maid of honor and Mr. Fred Rutherford, brother of the bride, was groomsman. The church was attractively decorated with spring flowers by the members of the Young Women's Auxiliary. The ushers were Mr. Fred Rutherford, Sr., and Mr. Grenville Rutherford, uncle and brother of the bride, respectively.

A reception was held at the home of the bride's parents, Concession St., Havelock.

The honeymoon will be spent in western Canada, the bride travelling in a black and white ensemble, with accessories to match. On their return the couple will reside in Campbellford.

TORY TORONTO GIVES HEPBURN GREAT WELCOME

Rafters of Massey Hall Ring With Sounds of Acclaim to Liberal.

ECONOMY PLEDGED.

Hepburn Predicts Political Landslide in Ontario on Tuesday.

TORONTO, June 18.—Thirty-five hundred people in the heart of Tory Toronto were swept from their seats at Massey Hall Saturday night by the great wave of enthusiasm which has rolled irresistibly across every corner of the Province where Mitchell Heyburn has carried his fight for reform.

Rising the moment the young Liberal Leader took the platform, the throng loosed five minutes of tumultuous, spontaneous cheering, renewed over and over again, a hub-bub that crystallized repeatedly into the one name: "Mitch!" The tune of "He's a Jolly Good Fellow" on one side of the hall competed with cheers and tiger and double tiger which roared out from another; the enthusiasm refused to subside, broke out repeatedly during his speech, and thundered forth again at his conclusion. And throughout the whole of the 90-minute address no heckler raised his voice, no word was said to break the unanimity of the acclaim.

His features worn, his voice weakened by the strain of the hardest battle fought by any man in the Province's political history—he had faced ninety audiences in four weeks—the Leader gained new strength from the great gathering, and gave them his message with conviction and power. Behind him on the platform were those speakers who were lending him their warm and complete support: Hon. Vincent Massey, Canadian Liberal President; T. Stewart Lyon, director and former managing editor of The Globe; Arthur G. Slaght, K.C., and W. H. Moore, M.P. for Ontario. In a circle of chairs at the front of the platform were the men who are contesting the Torontos and Yorks for the Liberal Party.

To the most responsive audience he has found anywhere, Mr. Hepburn detailed his policies of honest government, expressed his personal assurance of a Liberal landslide in to-morrow's election, and protested hotly against what he sees as the last minute election trickery of the Henry Government.

Mr. Lyon impressed the gathering with the gravity of the problem laid on present and future shoulders by an enormous Provincial debt which threatened to grow ever greater. "There is no safety for the people unless they peg the debt," he warned, "and it will increase unless Mr. Heyburn is returned as Premier." In similar vein, Mr. Moore demonstrated that the present per capita debt of $700 was the major threat to the people of the Province.

New material was introduced by Mr. Hepburn, when he charged that in the Ontario Department of Education, over which Premier Henry presides, girls are working for less than the legal minimum wage. But when the election approached, he said, the salaries were raised to the regulation level.

There was a significant outburst from the throng when the Leader dwelt on the religious issue which his opponents had thrown into the dying stages of their campaign. The attack, he said, had been "concocted in the office of the pink Tely—though I should say the yellow Telegram. There they raised the religious issue."

"Rotten! Rotten!" came from the crowd. A second mention of the Telegram brought boos from the audience.

"I don't mind telling you," continued Mr. Hepburn, "that at the age of 15 I took my father's horse and buggy and drove voters to the polls in support of Sir Wilfrid Laurier. I didn't care what were his religion and race; I only knew that he was one of the greatest Canadians we had ever had. He was fair to those who made up the Protestant majority. Will any one challenge that?"

"No, no!" his audience called.

"I want," he said, "to emulate him in my small and humble way; to be just as fair to the Catholic minority. Our Catholic friends have never approached me on the separate school question, but if they do they will get every consideration that one of liberal mind can give to a minority. George Henry should hand his head in shame for raising the religious issue on the eve of voting."

AUSTRALIANS HOLD ADVANTAGE TO WIN

Day's Play Ends Leaving Aussies With Nine Wickets and 224 Runs for Victory.

LONDON, June 18 (CP Cable).—The bowlers continued to enjoy the upper hand as the second day's play in the three-day cricket fixture between the touring Australians and the Gentlemen of England concluded to-day at Lord's. Scores were:

The Gentlemen, 177 and 287; Australians, 230 and 11 for no wickets, leaving the Aussies with nine wickets and needing 224 runs for a win. Holmes and Brown on the Gentlemen's attack proved exceedingly troublesome for the Australian batsmen. The former took three wickets for 31, and Brown had three for 45. Clarry Grimmett, most effective of Australian trundlers in the first innings, had four for 76.

Lyon, with 67 and Robins with 64, for the Gentlemen, were the only batsmen able to make anything of a stand on the difficult wicket.

Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Cunningham of Weller Street have returned from Toronto. The following account of the wedding there on Saturday of the former's niece will be of interest as the bride has often visited Peterborough:

"Walmer Road Baptist Church was the picturesque setting for an interesting wedding on Saturday afternoon at 2.30 o'clock when Isa Lorene, daughter of the late Joseph F. Cunningham and Mrs. Cunningham, became the bride of Alderman George Noble Duthie, son of the late Joseph Duthie and Mrs. Duthie. Dr. H. H Bingham officiated and Mr. H. A daily chat with Examiner neighbors conducted by Anne Wilcox

Most people will instinctively do their best to get rid of flies even if only because they are a nuisance but the only way to be really safe against the deadly diseases they disseminate is to prevent their breeding.

* * * * * * *

Household garbage should be covered, manure and rotting leaves, etc kept away from the house and all surroundings kept scrupulously clean. Screen on doors and windows will help to keep flies out of the house and food should be kept covered. But no matter how conscientious you are, some flies will always be around and that's where fly pads can come to your aid.

* * * * * * *

A few pads, used regularly, two or three hours a day during the warm weather, will kill absolutely all the flies in store or home. It is a clean, simple, 100 per cent. effective method. The fly is a deadly menace to little children, the cause of that dread ailment "summer complaint." By using sanitary care outside and inside the home and with fly pads as an ally you can wage successful war against the common house-fly and keep your children and your grown-ups reasonably safe from their deadly ravages.

* * * * * * *

Doctors and scientists of one of the leading hospitals of Canada proved by the most exacting experimentation that the common house-fly is almost invariably the agent that spreads the deadly germs of infant diarrhoea, the dreaded summer complaint that takes the lives of so many little children. Is it not then the duty of all good citizens to co-operate wholeheartedly in elliminating the fly menace by using every available means of destroying them?

"THE BRUSH BRIGADE"

We are the boys of the brush brigade,
Witnesses cruel of what the depression made;
Honest toil "Ours," though compulsory it be;
We must earn the bread we get free.

Instead of a pen, it's brushes now,
That bends our back, furrows our brow;
Along the streets we plod our way,
Brushing humanity's filth away.

It's easy for some to sneer as we pass,
Poor us, victims of things en masse;
We've tested of sweet things, just as you,
That's why we're brushing — we wonder, would you?

We are the boys of the brush brigade,
Real proof of the stuff this city has made;
So give us a smile, as we pass your way—
Smiles will help drive "old Man Depression" away.

By DR LOGAN CLENDENING

Hanging from the base of the brain by a slender stalk is a small gland, no bigger than the end of an ordinary man's forefinger. It's size, however, is no indication of its importance in the body economy. In fact, in many ways it governs factors which make us what we are as human beings.

It hangs down from the brain, as has been said, and actually is located in the bony structures just above the nasal cavity. As a matter of fact, the most important part of the gland is formed during development by growing upward from the throat, and it was supposed in early days that its only function was to secret mucus in the nose. It was from this supposed function that it derived its name, "pituitary", which means "mucus."

The gland really consists of three parts, which have three separate functions and secretions. In one way or other it controls three general bodily functions: (1) Growth, (2) weight control, and (3) regulation of the reproductive organs.

The most interesting part of the gland is the anterior lobe, which has recently been studied in hundreds of laboratories. This small anterior lobe, no bigger than a lima bean, secretes many different hormones which are poured into the blood stream. We do not know how all of these work, but we have fairly definite knowledge of a few.

Among its most interesting effects is its action upon growth, and this can well be illustrated by a case history. There is on record the case of a girl 9½ years old whose growth was retarded after the first year, although her mentality was good and she was physically active. At 9½ years she was slightly over 35 inches in height and her weight was 27½ pounds. She was placed under treatment with an extract of the growth principle of the pituitary gland, and in eight months grew three inches in height and gained 7½ pounds in weight. It seems clear that the arrested development was due to lack of pituitary secretion, and that the administration of the pituitary extract did something to increase growth.

A contrary condition—that of gigantism—ensues when the pituitary gland enlarges and increases its function. An illustrative case is that of a boy who began to grow at an abnormal rate immediately after birth. At six months he weighed 30 pounds. When he was six years old he entered school in a suit which was the largest his father could buy for a boy and was labeled size 17. An X-ray picture of the skull showed that the bony structure at the site of the pituitary gland was greatly enlarged, a frequent finding in such cases.

Sometimes the disease in these cases runs its course and growth stops. Sometimes removal of the pituitary by surgical operation will stop the progress of the condition.

Practically all the giants that have been known are examples of this disease. We do not know the proportions of Goliath, but Og, King of Bashan in biblical days, had a bed and nine cubits was the length threeof, which implies that he was 11 feet in height, by no means an impossibility as a result of pituitary overactivity.

BE BEAUTIFUL

By GLADYS GLAD

Minna Gombel

That well-known stage star, Minna Gombell, who has now definitely made her mark in the cinema world, recently reduced two inches around her waist in the short space of one week. Minna, after sufficient research, composed her own dieting and exercising routine. And it certainly proved a most potent and effective one.

Of course, I usually don't approve of fad diets. Hollywood has originated a great number of them, and some of them have been actually harmful to individuals who have tried them. What's one man's meat, you know, often proves to be another man's poison. And as a consequence I don't often recommend any of the diets originated by the Hollywood lassies.

However, Minna Gombell's routine certainly is an excellent on einsofar as the reduction of a pudgy waistline is concerned. That was Minna's trouble for a while, until she devised her own method of disposing of it. A pudgy, overplump waistline certainly isn't an asset, what with the close-fitted frocks of the present season. And any gal who possesses such a waistline should do her best to eliminate it.

If you are troubled with a tubby middle, it might be a good idea to follow Minna Gombell's routine. A slender waistline certainly is worth working for. And according to Minna's system, the work isn't too strenuous.

While reducing her waistline. Minna didn't go on any starvation diet. However, she eliminated all fats, starches, sweets and fried foods from her diet. For breakfast, she had fresh raw and cooked vegetables. She consumed copious amounts of water daily in order to flush her entire system. And she did just one exercise to assist in the reduction of her waistline.

The exercise that Minna practised isn't a new one. It's an old standby, but it's good nevertheless. To execute this exercise for waistline reduction, you lie on the floor, hands extended overhead, knees stiff. Then you raise the upper part of your torso and try to touch your toes with your finger tips. Try this exercise if you've a pudgy waistline. Practice is assiduously each day, and you'll find that it will give your waist a slenderness that would put to shame even that of a Lillian Russell.

ANSWERS TO QUERIES

Height

Patricia: The growth of the body is regulated by the thyroid and pituitary glands. To my knowledge there is no superficial means of decreasing a person's stature.

Reducing

Cleo: The reducing course in my "New Figure" booklet is indeed guaranteed to take off eight to ten pounds in two weeks. It is, I believe, one of the most healthful reducing routines in existence.

Corns

Eleanor: Yes, the best course is to have those corns removed by a good chiropodist. This procedure eliminates any danger of the toes being marred in the process of removal.

Flower Service

"Here, Lord, we offer Thee all that is fairest, bloom from the garden and flowers from the field...."

The annual flower service was held at St. John's Church yesterday morning when the Sunday School scholars attended church in a body to present their gifts of flowers. The flowers in all their early summer variety and fresh beauty were later in the day distributed to patients at Nicholls Hospital and other institutions in the city.

The service was conducted by Venerable Archdeacon R. C. Blagrave, D.D., who spoke of the floral gifts as symbolizing pity and beauty. He was assisted by the Rev. E. R. James. Reg Howden read the scripture lesson, while a special anthem "Thine Forever God of Love" was sung by the choir under direction of Frederic G. Mann, L.Mus. Solos were sung by Wallace Crouter and Gordon Pink, and a duet was pleasingly rendered by Fred Hooper and Gdirection of Frederic G. Mann, Leslie Sage, boychoristers.

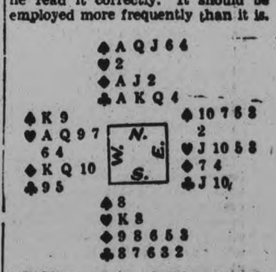
A GOOD STRATAGEM

North employed an excellent stratagm to discover just what his partner held. His partner was unfamiliar with the bidding used, but he read it correctly. It should be employed more frequently than it is.

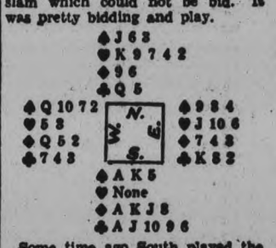


Bidding went: South, passed; West, 1 heart; North, doubled to hear from his partner; South, 2 diamonds; West, 2 hearts; North, 2 spades; South, 3 clubs; West, passed, expecting North to shift back to diamonds; North, 5 clubs taking the risk, as his side was not vulnerable. This ended bidding.

North's bidding had said, as plainly as if he had spoken: "Partner, I have strength in the 3 unbid suits. I am none too strong in diamonds; I don't know whether you can support spades with at least three small ones. Unless you can support spades with three small ones, rebid diamonds or show as good a club suit as you have diamonds, pass." Reading his partner's hand perfectly. South bid 3 clubs, which North carried to game.

The opening lead was the K of diamonds. Dummy's ace won. Hoping to establish spades, the ace was led. South ruffed a low spade. The K fell. Two rounds of clubs dropped all opposing trumps. The declarer discarded both his hearts on dummy's Q-J of spades. Then South ruffed dummy's heart. He led a diamond. West's Q won the only trick his side took. Dummy ruffed the ace of hearts with the ace of clubs, then led the winning J of diamonds, picking up the 10.

South had discarded a diamond when dummy ruffed the ace of hearts. The balance of his hand was good, giving his side a small slam which could not be bid. It was pretty bidding and play.



Some time ago South played the above hand at 5 diamonds, winning 5-odd. He ruffed the opening heart lead. Mr. Edward E. Glasgow, Winnipeg, Manitoba, presents the hands as they were after the opening lead. South is in the lead. Diamonds are trumps. South is to win 11 of the 12 tricks, against the best defence of East and West. The solution of this 12-card problem will appear tomorrow.

Mother And Daughter Hurt At Same Corner Accidents Occur Week Apart—In Hospital

Ellen West, four-year-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. G. West, 132 Perry Street, suffered head injuries Sunday afternoon that necessitated her removal to Nicholls Hospital, when she was struck by a car at the corner of Perry and George Streets. A week ago the child's mother was struck by a car at the same corner, and she is still confined to hospital by her injuries.

The car which struck the child was driven by James Godfrey, aged 24, of King Street, Millbrook. Mr. Godfrey told police that he was driving south on George Street, and just as he entered the Perry Street intersection he saw the child directly in front of him. A moment later came the impact. He stated that he noticed the children playing at the corner, while still a short distance away, but he did not blow his horn.

LEADING YANKS DIVIDE DOUBLE WITH DETROIT

Crowd of 60,000 Sees Two Fine Hurling Duels at New York.

SENATORS LOSE 8-5.

(By Canadian Press)

Detroit and New York failed to reach any decision in their duel for the American League lead, splitting a double-header and leaving the Yankees with one-game margin they gained Saturday. Lefty Gomez held the Tigers to give hits in the opener, to win 3 to 2, for his 11th mound triumph.

Vic Sorrell turned the tables with a three-hit hurling job and won 5-3 when Hank Greenberg's homer climaxed a three-run eighth inning rally.

Washington, which captured third from Cleveland by winning Saturday's twin bill, held the place by a few points despite an 8 to 4 shellecking from the Indians. An early attack on Earl Whitehill did the trick and ended the Senators' six-game winning streak.

The Athletics took the day's best pitching duel from Chicago, 3-2, as Johnny Marcum allowed three hits and Milt Gaston four. Al Simmons' 10th homer and Bob Johnson's 17th produced all the runs by the winner, which Eric McNair drove in.

Boston, in fifth place and St. Louis, in sixth, split a twin bill. The Browns slammed out a 10-7 decision in the first clash on Al Bejma's homer, and Red Sox won the six-inning afterpiece 6 to 3, although Lefty Grove was knocked out in the final frame.

North Douro Wins From Indian River

In an exciting but ragged East Peterborough League softball game last night at Indian River, North Douro beat the homesters, 21 to 10. Backed by fair support, Thompson pitched grand ball. Walsh for the River was not as effective as usual and he gave way to Spencer. The latter proved no mystery and Walsh was recalled. Trailing by twelve runs, the River fans started in to razz the twirler but it was no use as they only garnered two. The feature of the game was a neat catch by Delaney. Holmes and Condon, first-sackers, both played steady ball.

The Teams

PEPPY PETES STAGE SLUGFEST TO DEFEAT LIMESTONERS 13-4 TIMELY CLOUTING IS FEATURE

Spook Scriver Allows Eleven Hits But is Given Airtight Support by His Team-mates—St. Louis and Jamieson Hit Hard on Kingston Mound.

Clubbing two twirlers hard before a thousand fans at Riverside Park Saturday, the Petes pounded out a 13-4 victory over Kingston to hand the Ponies their first loss of the season. Hard and timely hitting, along with steady pitching and good defensive work, earned the one-sided nod for Knotty Lee's crew. The Ponies looked very ordinary before the onslaught of the peppy Petes.

Spook Scriver—lanky and lazy righthander who appears to be just thrown together—went the route on the local mound. He pitched good ball, not working too hard, but bearing down in the pinches. He kept eleven hits scattered, but for the seventh, struck out four and walked three. The Spook let his teammates work, too, and his judgment proved good. He also aided his cause offensively with two hits in three times to bat.

Speedy St. Louis started for Kingston but ran into trouble at once. He lacked some of his former speed and Petes laid down a barrage of base-hits that finally blasted him off the hilltop in the fifth. He was nicked for a total of twelve hits, including three doubles, and ten runs while fanning three and issuing one walk. Yammy Jamieson replaced him and got by better, though he ran into grief in the seventh. Neither Limestone flinger received the best of support, whereas the Petes, in spite of four miscues, turned in some fine fielding.

The defensive work of Sig Konopka was a standout, the locals' shortstop trying for everything within a block of him and handling thirteen chances with but one slip—a high throw to first. He figured in a double-play with Murray and Ash.

Leads Petes at Bat

Ike Batten led the victors with the wagon tongue, the Petes' third-sacker driving out four hits in four times, besides having a sacrifice. One of his clouts was good for three bases, but Ike had missed second was touched out. Konopka hit safely three times in five, getting a double and two singles. Bud Murray rapped out two lovely two-baggers, while Les Burton and Spook Scriver each hit safely twice, also. Jerry Arneil was the only visiting hitter to connect safely more than once, and he got three out of three.

The Petes got two runs in the first. Konopka beat out a hit and went to second on a bad throw. He moved up on Batten's sacrifice and scored when Foley hit into a double-play. Murray doubled and tallied on Whatley's single.

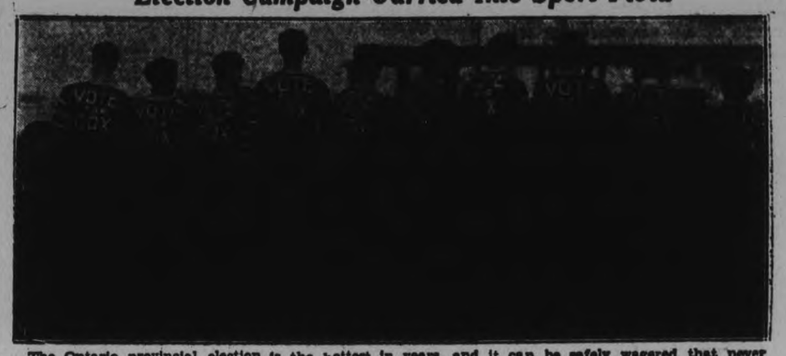
In the third, they got three counters. Konopka led of with a single and stole second. He took third on Batten's perfect bunt which went for a hit. Both of them raced home on Murray's screaming double to deep left, Bud going to third on tht throw-in. He crossed the plate later on a fumbled ball. Calladine chalked up another in the fourth when he hit through third, was sacrificed, moved up on an out and home on Batten's hit. Foley's single in this frame was wasted.

Five More in 5th

They broke loose to ring up five more in the fifth and send St. Louis to the showers. The first two were out when fireworks started. Ash was safe on an error. He took second on Burton's bingle and both took another sack on Calladine's walk. Scriver's hit over short scored two. He and Calladine moved up a base on a wild pitch and both countered on Konopka's double to centre. Jamieson then went in to hurl, but Batten's single scored Sig before the side could be retired. The final two local runs came in the seventh. Burton scratched a hit but was forced at second by Calladine. The latter reached the keystone cushion on Scrivers single, and third when Konopka forced Spook out at second. Both Bill and Sig reached the plate on Batten's bingle to left.

G. Arneil hit safely for Kingston in the first and both Stone and J. Arneil singled in the second, but nothing came of them. Hits by G. Arneil and St. Louis in the fifth and safeties by Smith and Joyce in the sixth were wasted also, the Petes playing snappy ball to cut off Pony threats. They finally got three in the seventh. St. Louis singled and took second on G. Arneil's hit, both moving up on an out. St. Louis scored on Murray's error, Arneil taking third, and getting in on Scrutton's scratch hit. Scrutton took second on the throw and scored on Murray's second miscue. G. Arneil scored the last in the ninth, drawing four balls, taking second on Boyd's single; third on an out and home on another out.

Election Campaign Carried Into Sport Field



The Ontario provincial election is the hottest in years ,and it can be safely wagered that never before have candidates carried their campaigns so far into the field of sport. Here, for instance, is the Meteors' Softball team of Port Arthur, one of seven or eight teams similarly garbed aggregations playing in that city. What their political persuasion is not revealed.

BOONEMEN COP SECOND PLACE OVER WINGMEN

Late Rallies Win Double-header for Boonemen from Struggling Birds.

BISONS SPLIT TWIN.

(By the Associated Press)

The Rochester Red Wings, who led the International League almost without interruption for the first seven weeks of the campaign, had fallen back into third place today and the Toronto Maple Leafs took up the major burden of pursuing Newark's pace-setting Bears.

While Rochester was splitting a double program from the last-place Baltimore Orioles, 7-6 and 3-2, and moved into second place. The Leafs now trail Newark by 3½ games and lead Rochester by one.

George McQuinn's home run with two on in the seventh paved the way for Toronto's victory in the opening game, a slugging duel in which team made 11 hits. The Toronto first baseman also knicked in with a double and a single and drove in four runs all told. The second game was a pitching duel between Beryl Richmond and Fred Blake, each allowing five hits. The decision went to Blake, however, on Baltimore errors.

Split With Bears

Norbert Kleinge's three-hit pitching enabled Rochester to Beat Newark, 7-3, in the nightcap after the Bears had captured the opener, 13-4. Kleinke pitched one-hit ball until seventh and last frame when Newark rallied for two more hits and as many runs. The opener was a rout as the bears w[illegible]loped Dykee potter and Ad Liska for 16 hits, Jesse Hills getting four.

Gains Even Break

Fourth place Montreal gained an even break with Albany, taking the second game, 2-1 after the Senators had walked off with the first, 8-5. Heavy hitting by Bill Brubaker and Fred Sington paved the way for Albany's triumph while Johnny Salvesen's effective pitching accounted for the Royals' victory in the nightcap.

Hank Kowalik's six-hit pitching gave Buffalo a 5-1 decision overr Syracuse in the first game but John Merena returned the compliment in the nightcap, allowing only four hits, and the Chiefs won, 8-2, to gain an even split.

If Cogs beat Nationals Monday, they will be tied for second place and it will necessitate Orioles and Cogs playing off for the second-place berth. Friday night sees the teams start out on the second half.

Omemee Softballers Win From Lindsay

OMEMEE, June 18 (Examiner Correspondence) — The Omemee boys softball team took a well played game from Tip-Tops of Lindsay by the score of 8-7 at the Athletic Grounds Thursday evening. Both teams played heads up softball but with more games under their belt the Omemee batters should get more hits as they were noticeably weak in this department. Lindsay got away to a 2 run lead in the first stanza, but Omemee got 2 of these back in the second. From then on both teams played airtight ball until the sixth when Lindsay added 3 more to make it look sure but nothing daunted the Omemee lads who stepped up in the last of the sixth and chased 5 runs across to lead 7-6 In the last inning each team scored a run to make the final score 8-7 in favor of the Omemee boys. For Omemee B. Reddick at short and W. Weir made sparkling catches while Parsons pitched a good game. For Lindsay the catching of Eherts stood out.

The line-ups:

Slipping Pirates Humbled Again by National League Leaders.

DODGERS GAIN DOUBLE.

(By Hugh S. Fullerton, Jr., A.P. Sports Writer.)

One of the most surprising and important developments the National League race has produced so far this season lies in the snowing of the so-called weak clubs of the Eastern sector of the circuit in the Western tour, which began early last week.

Instead of taking it on the chin all around, Boston, Brooklyn and Philadelphia have dealt out blows right and left to the West's pennant contenders, while the league-leading Giants took the occasion to improve their position by winning five out of six.

The Phillies' double setback at the hands of the second-place Cardinals weakened the Eastern drive a bit yesterday as the hurling of the Dean brothers, plus their rivals' lack of effectiveness gave the Cards the decisions by 6 to 0 and 7 to 5. Paul Dean pitched five-hit ball to win his eighth straight decision in the opener, and brother Dizzy appeared in time to get the victory in the eight-inning nightcap.

Humbles Pirates, 9-3.

The double victory left the Cards three games behind the Giants, who humbled the Pirates 9 to 3 with the aid of Lefty O'Doul's pinch homer with the bases full. The losers almost dropped into the second division but saved fourth place by one percentage point when the Braves and Cubs divided a bargain bill.

Boston won the opener, 4-3, as a four-run burst against Bud Tinning in the second clash went 11 innings before Chuck Klein socked his 17th homer of the year and produced a 3-2 Cub triumph.

Brooklyn took two games from Cincinnati's lowly Reds, 4-3 and 9-7, winning each on a three-run rally in the ninth, and made it five out of seven in the West. Van Mungo's 10th victory came from five-hit hurling in the opener.

LOCAL KIWANIS OPEN LACROSSE SEASON WITH 8 TO 7 VICTORY

Ira Dundas Scores Winning Goal With Two Minutes to Go in Final Quarter.

AN UPHILL FIGHT.

Peterborough Kiwanis opened their lacrosse season with an 8-7 victory over Cobourg in a regular O.A.L.A. game in the Lakeshore town Saturday evening. It was a great battle and the Kiwanis crew had to stage an uphill fight all through, with Ira Dundas scoring the winning goal with two minutes to go in the fourth quarter. A fair sized crowd watched the exciting contest.

Cobourg trotted out a scrappy youthful team, the players being in better shape and faster than the visitors. The game, while close and of the see-saw variety, was remarkably clean, only a few penalties being drawn by each team. The score was 1-1 at the end of the first period, 3-all going into the third, and 5-4 for Cobourg at the start of the fourth session. The Peterborough outfit then scored three times in a row, but Cobourg came back twice to tie it up, with Dundas finally netting the ball in the dying minutes to win out.

The work of the Kiwanians' second line was outstanding, Jones and E. Creighton proving a big offensive threat while Magee and Routley shone with fast running and beautiful stickhandling. The regulars got going right the last half the game, and all turned in good performances. Red Creighton again starred in goal, while Brown in the opposite net proved hard to beat repeatedly. Lucas and Cooper were the Cobourg stars, scoring six goals between them.

Game Opens Fast.

Play opened fast, moving back and forth in quick thrusts at either net. Cobourg scored first, Cooper blazing one by Creighton at close range. Routley evened it up before the frame ended on a net solo effort. Cooper started the second with a goal and E. Creighton again balanced the score with a quick return counter. Lucas raced through for another Cobourg tally but Jones fooled Brown to tie it at 3-all to wind up the period.

Becky Jack put Kiwanis in front early in the third period on a pass from King. However, first Smith and then Cooper whistled close-in shots by Creighton to put the homesters in front before the whistle ended the quarter. The Peterborough players tore in hard at the start of the fourth session and scored three times in a row, Dundas, E. Creighton and Jones all netting the ball on nice tries from close range. Then Lucas came back with beautiful rushes to sink the ball in the hemp twice and once more sew up the game. With two minutes left to go, Dundas broke away for a classy counter, picking a corner of the net on an angle shot at short range, and giving the visitors the victory.

The Teams.

Kiwanis—Goal, Creighton; defence, Hatton and Hutchinson; rover, LeBarr; wings, King and Jack; centre, Dundas; alternates, Gerow, Jones, E. Creighton, Magee and Routley.

Cobourg—Goal, Brown; defence, Hagerman and Spooner; rover, K. Cooper; wings, Lucas and Henderson; centre, Johnson; alternates, P. Morford, H. Morford, Smith and Cancilla.

Referees—V. Reynolds of Peterborough, J. Smith of Cobourg.

AUSTRALIA CINCHES WIN

PARIS, June 18.—(AP)—Australia today defeated France in the semi-final round of European zone Davis Cup play as Jack Crawford won from Christian Boussus 2-6, 6-2, 5-6, 6-4, 6-0 in the fourth match to give Australia the clinching third victory.

Fosters And C.G.E. Clash Again Tuesday

Fosters play C.G.E. in to-morrow's East Peterborough League baseball game at six o'clock sharp at the Exhibition Grounds. Since the Foster gang strengthened up—tying the unbeaten Cogs 3-3 their last game—they have served notice that any team beating them in future will earn the decision. Both these squads now appear very evenly matched and this should result in a good ball game. Some fine pitching and excellent ball games have been dished up the past two weeks, but only small crowds of fans attend. Many of these contests are worth ten times the crowd they get.

Lefty (Dude) Dunkerley is liable to be sent back by Fosters for pitching duties against the Electrics, though McCarthy or one of the others may get the assignment, also. For C.G.E., the choice appears to lie between Hetherington and Barry, with McGillen also ready to take a turn if called upon. While nothing is definite, Dunkerley and Barry appear the logical selections. However, the rest of the players will be heard from, too, in this game, regardless of the twirlers, and it shapes up as one of the best of the season so far.

Everything is now ready for the big open tournament, for men's doubles, to be held on Wednesday, commencing at 1 o'clock, Standard time.

If the local bowlers do not take advantage of playing in our tournament, it will be their own loss. Get a look at a poster—and there are lots of them—and come on out on Wednesday and enjoy a good afternoon and evening's sport.

You owe it to yourself—you owe it to the club—and you owe it to the boys who have been working day and night to put this tournament over.

PACKERS BEAT LINDSAY 3 TO 0 LEAGUE MATCH

Petes Gain Decision Through Better Combiantion—Latham Injured.

PLAY AT SCUGOGVILLE.

In a well-contested game in Lindsay, on Saturday afternoon, Canada Packers defeated the homesters by three goals to nothing, in a soccer league game, before a fair attendance of spectators. The popular Lindsay player, Harry Latham, tore a ligament in his ankle. At first, it was thought that he had broken his leg, but the doctor pronounced otherwise.

From the kick-off, Lindsay forced the visitors to be on the defensive to hold their goal intact. Doble repeatedly missing by inches after he had broke through the full backs. Midfield tactics prevailed for a while until McCracken opened up a short passing touch that enabled Foster to test Bacon at short range. With only five minutes to go in the half time period, the Canada Packers forced the issue when Buchan dribbled his way towards goal. O'Halloran and Taylor blocked his progress but not sufficiently to prevent Todd from accepting a timely pass up the centre for a goal. Half Time—Peterborough, 1; Lindsay, 0.

Perfect Combination

Both elevens indulged in the combination plays, on resuming, that were repulsed by the full backs of the respective teams. Individual efforts didn't bring any reward, although the team-play was well nigh perfect until within the shooting zone. Thirty minutes play had gone when McCracken broke away on his own to climax his performance with a smart goal. Near the end of the session, George Downer scored the final counter for the visitors. Peterborough, 3; Lindsay, 0.

SPORTS DAY BY DAY

Baseball, Lacrosse, Soccer
Softball, Bowling, etc.

By C. J. P.

Everything is okay again. The Petes smeared Kingston for a 13-4 loss Saturday, and what could be sweeter? There is a great deal of personal satisfaction, not only to Knotty Lee and his players, but to every local fan when Kingston takes a licking here. And when it's a nasty drubbing like that one Saturday, well it looks like the depression is over. The Ponies resembled broken-down farm horses all through this tilt and the locals looked like a ball team. If they just continue to hit in the right spots, not an outfit in the loop will hold 'em. They're playing in Belleville this evening and looking for another win. Calladine will likely pitch and Houston may be in right field.

• • • • • • •

Spook Scriver did himself nobly on Saturday.. The lanky, lazy and likeable Stepin Fetchit of the Petes' pitching staff didn't overwork himself on the mound, but tossed steady, effective ball. He slipped in the odd whistler or injected the occasional bender, but didn't try to strike 'em all out. He hurled a heady game. And, believe it or don't Scriver is well up in the list of hitters after that match! He clouted two nice singles in three times to bat Saturday . . . . .

• • • • • • •

"Speedy" St. Louis must be a fast guy with the gals, else how did he get his nickname? He didn't show any blinding speed on the mound at Riverside at all. Of course, he may have been off form, but the locals certainly combed his hair for him with a dozen clean bingles. And even the great Yammy Jamieson didn't look too hot as a relief flinger. The boys were just laying on the gad regularly and there was no stopping them. Batten, Konopka, Scriver, Murray and Burton all did some grand socking, and only four runners were left stranded all day.

• • • • • • •

While the Ponies didn't shape up any too well defensively, either, still perfect fielding wouldn't have stopped the Petes this game. On the other hand, the homesters looked smart in the field. Batten didn't have a thing to do, which left him free to hit four out of four, but Ash, Murray and Konopka were kept busy. They all clicked fine, despite a few errors. We've seldom seen better shortstopping than that turned in by Konopka. He handled twelve out of thirteen chances—some of them plenty tough—besides diving all over the infield to block off hits. A good shortstop tries for everything, regardless of possible errors, and Sig is a good shortstop. He also took time out to hit a double and two singles in five trips.

• • • • • • •

Baseball briefs: The old Kingston-Petes' rivalry nearly flared up in the third when Boyd and Ash were on the point of tangling at first, and several Pony players came running out....And Smith later deliberately to spike the Petes' captain....Cy Whatley will be tossed tried deliberately to spike the Petes captain....Cy Whatley will be tossed out of the game any day now for crabbing too hard at an umpire...Carrigan wasn't perfect by any means, but he was impartial... he took more abuse than most umps take from players....The two leadoff men Saturday, G. Arnell and Koponka, got on base five and four times respectively....Too bad Batten missed second base and was out on a hit good for three sacks....Twice the Petes had runners trapped but let 'em escape....A few changes are expected on the local lineup soon, and Al Heckman is getting in shape to make a comeback.

• • • • • • •

Belleville Nationals tripped lightly to Oshawa for a game of ball on Saturday but once at the Motor City Stadium, the Vats were tripped heavily, falling to the tune of a 4-3 licking. This evens play so far on the season between the Dukes and Nats, and would indicate that the strengthened Oshawa entry is nobody's doormat. In fact, a Mister Dozy Ogden forgot all about dozing on the mound and held Peeney Mills' and Co to five widely-scattered hits, while ye knocked-about Dukes grabbed off eleven safe clouts. Vinny (Holy Dinamite!) Utronki was the Belleville hurler who got the well-known works. Looks like a good four-team loop.

• • • • • • •

Local lacrossers, called Kiwanis this year, opened their intermediate O.A.L.A. schedule on Saturday evening in Cobourg with an 8-7 chuckle—though they didn't dare do any chuckling till after the final whistle sounded. It was a swell scrap with Cobourg tossing out a surprisingly good squad to have Kiwanis trailing practically all night. Dundas' winning marker came with only two minutes to go in the fourth quarter, and that's much too close for comfort. The feature of the Petes' playing was the work of the second line, these youngsters proving more effective than the experienced vets on the line-up. Well, a good game and a close win is a fair enough way to open the schedule.

• • • • • • •

The dark horse of this lacrosse loop, Belleville, took on the strong Campbellford outfit on Saturday and handed it a 15-7 shellacking. Belleville, going under the name of "Asjmas Club"—watch that one, Mr. Printer, it's not "Pyjamas"—opens the local season with a game at Riverside here this Thursday evening at six bells. No doubt, fans will flock out in goodly numbers to see these two classy crew tangle in a revival of the box lacrosse sport. Meantime, local players hold a practice at Riverside to-night at six, and all should be on deck.

Motor City Wins From Nationals 4-2

OSHAWA, June 18. — Oshawa Dukes celebrated their return to the C.O.B.L. by pounding out a 4-2 win at the expense of the Belleville Nationals at Motor City Stadium on Saturday afternoon.

Dozy Ogden, ace of the Dukes' hurling staff, turned in his best effort of the season when he let the visitors down with five widely scattered hits, while his control was perfect. Not walking a man, the Dukes backed up the lanky right-hander's smart hurling display by playing errorless ball behind him. The Red Caps nicked Utronki for 11 hits but he managed to go the full route.

Lefty Wallace and Clause led the Oshawa sluggers with two hits apiece, while Smith was the only player for the Nationals to gather a pair of hits. The largest crowd of the season witnessed the game Score:

	R.	H.	E.
Belleville	020 000 000—2	5	2
Oshawa	300 100 00x—4	11	0

Batteries—Utronki and Mills; Ogden and Elliott.

Umpires—Meagher, Belleville, and McDougall, Oshawa.

NO TAKERS

SPARTANBURG, S.C., June 18 (C.P.)—Relieving the unemployed here grew into a research problem.

Applying to relief headquarters for 75 willing workers, Poole was told not one was available.

BARSON, SCOTS IS INJURED IN SOCCER MATCH

Electrics Rattle in Five Goals After Accident to Caledonion Player.

C.G.E. 7, SCOTS 1.

The Canadian General soccer eleven outclassed the Caledonians on Saturday afternoon, at the annual C.G.E. picnic game by the score of seven to one, before a good attendance of spectators.

Clifford Barson, Caledonians, retired with a dislocated knee after five minutes play in the second half, thereby compelling the losers to play with ten men against eleven for the rest of the period.

McMaster Scores First

The opening exchanges were in favor of C.G.E., McMaster distributing the play to his wing men in an endeavor to split the defence. He was a successful scorer, after ten minues play, with an individual effort. On the next visit, offsides robbed him of another counter. The Caleys retaliated through McBride, who made splendid openings for his centre man to score; while the defence men checked closely to prevent a shot at goal. Quinn completed the Scots' eleven, at inside right, and made his presence known by his clever rocket drives on goal. For a long period, the Caleys were more aggressive but lacked finish around goal. Jones cleared upfield from a scrimmage and sent McPhate along the wing with the ball. The opposing defense intercepted the movement but not until the C.G.E. left winger had beat Melrose with a lightning drive. At the interval, Craig and his forwards were peppering the C.G.E. citadel from all angles without any success. C.G.E. 2, Caleys 0.

Add Up Score

On resuming, nice combination plays brought out the qualities of the half backs. On a concentrated movement by Dyer, at centre, along with Gore in close passing, they outwitted the full backs to find the latter scoring the best goal of the game. At this point, an unfortunate accident to Barson robbed the Scots of his services for the afternoon. He received first aid and it was found that he had a dislocated knee. With only ten players, the Sots endeavored to hold the score down, but McMaster took advantage of the openings to score three more goals; Earl and McPhate making the score seven to one in favor of the Canadian General. C.G.E., 7; Caleys, 1.

Canadian General.—W. Curtis, goal; J. Mitchell and A. Mitchell, full backs; W. Robb, E. Jones and A. Burgess, halves; R. McIntosh, F. Earle, B. McMaster, J. Cooper and T. McPhate, forwards.

Caledonians.—L. Melrose, goal; R. Creighton and W. Dinesin, full backs; H. Webb, T. Craig and C. Barson, halves; G. Clark, F. Dyer, J. Quinn, J. Gore and A. McBride, forwards.

Referee—Alex. Mitchell.

MARATHON TRIAL WON BY WEBSTER

Konomen Fails to Go Distance —Wilding, Burnside, Wyer Chosen.

By ELMER DULMAGE
(Canadian Press Staff Writer)

HAMILTON, June 18. (CP)—Unless a hard-bitten British Empire games committee that made up its mind long in advance on this very point does a sudden about-face, the most celebrated marathon runner in North America, Dave Komonen of Sudbury, Ont., will not represent Canada at the Empire Games this summer—naturalization papers or no.

The slender carpenter from Frood Mines had his chance for the Canadian team here Saturday in the official trial. He faced the strongest field that the country could muster and after running 11 miles the Finn retired. He stepped out of the Empire picture into an automobile and was driven back to the starting point.

Hamilton's steel-legged veteran, 42-year-old Harold Webster, was largely responsible for Komonen's downfall. He blazed a record-breaking trail over the sun-bathed highways to carry Komonen along at a clip faster than the Finn was prepared to go. When Dave threw in the sponge Webster went on to score a brilliant victory.

By winning, Webster assured himself of a place on the team that sails for London in mid-July. Dick Wilding of the Silverthorne A.C., Toronto, Alex Burnside of Toronto Monarchs and Percy Wyer, also of Monarchs, qualified by placing second, third and fourth.

THE SPUN GLASS MYSTERY

A Tale of Scotland Yard

By A. FIELDING

CHAPTER 26

And the man brought back in a minute the mate to the glove that Superintendent Dartmoor had taken from the room where Lord Mills had been found shot. Pointer sent it along at once to the superintendent at the Yard after the man had initialed it, "in cases it should get lost too," as Pointer remarked.

That done, Pointer was free to hurry to the spot where Tait had died. It was a bare three minutes' walk from the house and, as he expected, revealed nothing except that Tait would have had to pass a cab rank and a letter box at the turning. These two facts might or might not mean anything. Four of the men usually on the rank were away. Pointer left word for them to report to him should they have seen Mr. Tait that morning, and then set the constable return to his beat.

So Tait was probably the man who had left those smudges on the marble outside Lord Mills' door. Tait was certain that Mills had killed himself, according to his cousin Naylor, and, still according to that young barrister, knew why. Quite a plausible reason too. Naylor would not have put it forward as the cause of Mills' death unless he had every reason to think he could prove it. But what lay behind all this? Was the one clue so far available—the top of the gold fountain pen, was it a last effort on the part of the dying man to name his murderer? It looked like it.

But the two deaths, so closely following one on the other, seemed, on the face of things, to be linked in some way. Both men, though not business men in the ordinary sense of the word, were co-directors of companies started by Sir John Tait, the poisoned man's dead father. A very good chartered accountant would go over the companies' books. . . . Meanwhile, as he was not capable of following that trail, Pointer would hold to the bitten pen top and see if it led to the city or away from it. Somehow it did not suggest a business woman as its owner. Why had Tait passed on to his cousin only so important a piece of information concerning Mills' death. It looked odd. Pointer would not feel at all surprised if the one man had killed himself to avoid some financial smash and the other had at first thought that he could pass that death off as due to morbid terror until he himself was caught in some dark stream that ran into or out of the other—the first death. Yes, Pointer would not be at all surprised if the Yard accountant were not the man to find the right key to unlock the puzzle of the two deaths, but, meanwhile, he must follow up all other possible trails.

Pointer sent up word that he would be much obliged if Mrs. Burnham could give him a few minutes. He did not look forward to the interview.

Lucy's eyes were red rimmed, her face drawn and pale, but she almost ran to meet the chief inspector.

"Is it—true that it's not heart failure?" she stammered. "Scotland Yard being called in—the constable's manner—oh, what has happened to my John?" The last came in a tone of agony.

Pointer thought that truth was the best and the kindest.

"The doctors seem certain that Mr. Tait was poisoned. I'm afraid it's not an accident." He spoke reluctantly. "Now, Mrs. Burnham, if they're right, have you no idea of who the criminal could be?"

"Poisoned! Poisoned!" she repeated in a hoarse whisper. She covered her blanched face with her hands for a moment. Then she looked up, pale still but resolute.

"He had received a threat of some kind. I think a couple of days ago, but evidently he found out more about it or received another threat today. . But I'm afraid I'm incoherent, and I do so want to be clear and to the point. He sent up word after lunch today that he wanted a word with me. When I ran down he walked up and down in the bay window—we were in the library—without saying anything. I asked him of course what was wrong. He told me that he had received a threatening letter that included me too in its threat. And that for that reason he felt he must tell me all about it. He put his hand in his breast-pocket and felt a moment. He looked surprised and said would I wait a moment, he'd be back very quickly, and rushed off. That's all I know." She broke off to say in a tone of agony—"Not a word of goodby between us! He in a rush to get something, I all excited to hear what it was. And that was our parting forever!"

She fought down the hysteria which threatened to swamp her.

"Could you tell me more about what you mean by his having received a threat of some kind?" Pointer was listening very carefully, and showed it.

"The first time was the day before yesterday. Something came up about one's character having a good deal to do with one's fate—I'm not a fatalist, he was—and he said very slowly and as though thinking aloud, 'Yes, but what if one deliberately makes a decision that inevitably entails fatal consequences? What then? Is that fate or is it character?' And I replied that if one feared any consequence enough, one wouldn't do whatever it was that would bring the consequence down on one. He seemed to turn that over in his mind and still speaking as though in a sort of deep reverie he shook his head and said: 'No. One might dread very much some consequence that would be inevitable if one continued a certain line of conduct, and yet be unable to change, because to change would mean to change one's character, one's whole outlook on life, one's sense of right and wrong. And death would be preferable to that.' Then he added something about threats not always coming true, and that death would be preferable to allowing oneself to be intimidated. He was turning a letter over in his hands he he spoke, but he put it away in his letter-case without showing it to me. I did ask him, of course, what he meant, what was worrying him, but he seemed to realize that he had been talking on things that might frighten me, for he changed the subject."

"When did he say this to you?"

"Night before last, we were alone, walking back from a night club into which we had dropped for half an hour or so."

"That would be the night that Lord Mills shot himself?"

She looked startled. But after a moment's thought she shook her head decidedly. "That's not possible! I mean that there should be any connection. We talked of Lord Mills' dreadful end, and Mr. Tait didn't link it with this other—this talk of a threat. From something he muttered, as he thrust the letter into his pocket, I have a very fixed idea—only an idea, of course, as I can't even give you the exact words—that the threats were in some way connected with his family. Or to do with his family."

"Of whom does his family consist?"

"Oh, I don't mean the Naylors, his cousins, or his stepmother, Lady Tait I have an idea it was connected with some discharged servant—that sort of thing . . ."

"Could you describe the letter at all, that you saw in his hands?"

"It was bright violet in color, with rather sprawly spidery writing on it, very large and scroll-like, and written apparently with a very fine nib and violet ink. I thought after lunch that he meant to show me that letter, but, of course, on thinking his words over, I realize that he must have had another, a fresh one, which, as he said included me."

THE STARS SAY . . .

By GENEVIEVE KEMBLE

For Tuesday, June 19

A particularly lively and interesting day, both in business and in the personal relations, is forecast from the predominant lunar and mutual aspects between the planets. The emphasis, however, may be found on social, domestic and romantic affiliations, with much stirring in the realm of pleasure and social enjoyments.

Those whose birthday it is may be prepared for a very happy, pleasant and socially active year, with perhaps the domestic or affectional interests uppermost in claiming the attention. Increased popularity and prestige are probable. In business contacts the greatest success will be made through diplomacy, tact, or clever agreements or secret understandings rather than open methods.

A child born on this day should have outstanding social graces and qualities, gaining its success and standing through personal popularity and friendly contacts.

ANSWER MADE TO J. C. McRUER BY CLARK LOCKE

Money Received From Government Went to Newspapers —Only Got Commission.

INFERENCE MISLEADING.

Agency Received Appointment Before Locke Knew Premier.

"A typical example of the McRuer standard of chivalrous conduct and good taste quite to be expected from Mr. McRuer but hardly from a King's Counsel," said Mr. Locke, president of Clark Locke Ltd. Advertising Agency, Toronto, to-day in referring to the remarks of J. B. McRuer, K.C., at Peterborough on Friday night, concerning Mrs. Locke as reported in Saturday's Examiner. Mrs. Locke, daughter of Premier Henry, has been vice-president of the Junior Conservative Association of Toronto for four years.

"There is one thing, however, that I wish to make clear," said Mr. Locke to The Examiner to-day. "Mr. McRuer is quoted as having set forth certain sums which Clark Locke, Ltd., got from the Ontario Government in the past few years.

"The inference is of course misleading, as I am sure it was intended to be. This agency, with others, was appointed by Honorable Howard Ferguson to do certain Government advertising. This was undertaken several years before Mr. Locke enjoyed the privilege of knowing Hon. George S. Henry.

"Further, Mr. McRuer knows, as every publisher and business man knows, that the Ontario Government pays no sum to any agency. The Locke Agency included, on such advertising.

"The Daily Newspapers of Ontario got in display advertising the sums referred to, and in accordance with standard practice the newspapers paid the agency the commission accruing.

"I am not sanguine enough to expect that Mr. McRuer would seek to put the actual facts before the public, and so I take the opportunity of doing so," Mr. Locke declared.

ENCOURAGING REPORTS READ AT ANNUAL CASTLETON MEET

Women's Institutes of East Northumberland District Meet in Conference.

112 MEMBERS PRESENT.

WARKWORTH, June 18 (Examiner Correspondence) — One hundred and thirteen members of the Women's Institute met in the town hall at Castleton on Wednesday afternoon, June 14th for the East Northumberland district annual meeting. All the Institutes were represented morning and afternoon sessions were held.

The branch reports were as usual very encouraging and all showed a small balance on hand. The Institute motto "For home and country" had been lived up to i n every branch and had accomplished a great deal in the past year for relief and community activities.

Dinner was served i n the basement of the hall by the Castleton branch. The hall was tastefully decorated in orange and purple and the dinner was sumptuous and delicious.

When the meeting re-convened at 1.30 the official address of welcome was given by Miss Harriett Bowditch of Castleton and responded to by Mrs. Walter Fowlds of Hastings.

Mrs. J. Greenly, Warkworth moved a hearty vote of thanks to the Castleton ladies for their welcome and abundant hospitality.

A unique feature of the afternoon was the presence of a number of ex-presidents who were honored guests on the platform, and spoke a few words of their work in the past.

Community singing was enjoyed after which Miss Edith Hopkins the speaker for the day gave a splendid address on "Girl's Work." The girls of to-day are our homemakers and the success of the farm depends on our girls. We need it more now than ever. Miss Hopkins is planning on having coaching classes in the following centres: Smithfield, Wooler, Campbellford and Colborne and urged that as many girls as possible take advantage of these classes. Classes to start July 9th.

Miss Stuttaford gave a delightful recitation and Mrs. Harden and Mrs. Isaacs sang very sweetly. Mrs. Ben Andrus, an aged blind lady delighted all present with her recitation which was given by special request.

Mrs. Grant's kind invitation to meet next year in Colborne was accepted.

The meeting was dismissed by all singing the National Anthem. Quite a number remaining for a sumptuous tea. It was a delightful day and enjoyed by all present.

on the behalf of Mr. Ireland, local Conservative candidate.

Mrs. J. Archer, of Belleville was a visitor to town for a few days recently the guest of her daughter, Mrs. Fred Todd.

Mr. and Mrs. T. Owens have taken the apartment on Front street, recently vacated by Mr. and Mrs. Harold Spencer.

Prior to her departure from the district, Mrs. H. P. L. Seymour was honored by her Sunday School class of teen-aged girls on Wednesday, when she was the recipient of a beautiful silver sandwich and pickle dish. Entertaining her class to a picnic on the grounds of St. John's United Church, Campbellford, Mrs. Seymour was taken agreeably by surprise, when a very pretty address was read by Grace Wicher, the presentation being made by Marion Lucy. Before and after the serving of delicious refreshments, games and contests were enjoyed on the lawn, the evening being spent in an impromptu entertainment in the church hall. Mrs. Seymour will leave with her husband, the Rev. H. P. L. Seymour, for Springville, where he has secured the pastorate of the United Church there.

STILL GOING STRONG.

HAMILTON, Ont., June 16 (C. P.). — The acme of automotive perfection before King George was crowned, a 1908 tourig car built in Brockville, Ont., is still going strong here. It can do 55 miles an hour, perhaps because it was unused for 12 years and has gone only 6,000 miles.

MRS. DAVID POLLARD.

LIFFORD LINE, June 18 (Examiner Correspondence). — The sad news reached this community of the death of an old Manvers girl in the person of Eva Stanton, wife of David Pollard, at Kinmount, Ontario. The deceased, who was in her fifty-second year, passed away at her home after an illness extending over several months. She was born and raised in Manvers Township, her father being postmaster at Pontypool for a number of years. Later she became a graduate of the Belleville Ladies' College, and after her marriage resided at Gooderham.

The late Mrs. Pollard, who was gifted with musical talent, took an active part in social work wherever she went, and being of a fine Christian character, was an invaluable member of the United Church, serving as organist for a number of years. Her remains were taken to Orono Cemetery for interment. Besides her husband, she leaves to mourn her demise two daughters, Mary at home, Mrs. M. McGill (Ruth) of Toronto, and one son, William at home, also a small grand-daughter, Anne McGill, of Toronto. She leaves two brothers, Dr. Ambrose Stanton of India and Mr. George Stanton, postmaster-general at Toronto.

MISS LETA MAY DAINARD

HASTINGS, June 18 (Examiner Correspondence).—The funeral of the late Miss Leta May Dainard, 15-year-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John E. Dainard, was held on Friday afternoon. A private funeral service for the family and immediate relations was conducted at the family residence on Park street by Rev. H. F. Battersby and a public service at two o'clock at St. George's Anglican Church. Long before the last solemn and impressive service of the Anglican Church was commenced by Rev. H. F. Battersby, the pastor, the church was filled, many being unable to gain admittance, showing the esteem the deceased, a girl in her early teens, was held by young and old alike.

The pupils of the Senior room of Hastings Public School walked in a body in charge of Principal Mr. G. Sine, from the school directly to the church, where they occupied front seats.

Rev. Battersby, who spoke very feelingly of the young girl who had been such a faithful and devout member of his congregation, asked the children to follow her example in being so faithful to her church and Sunday school.

At the conclusion of the service, the school children formed two long lines to the hearse, through which the flower-covered grey coffin of their playmate was carried by six members of St. George's A.Y.P.A., Messrs. E. Pulford, C. Blackbourn, E. Radford, H. Terrill, N. Dainard, and R. Pulford.

Interment was made in Trent Valley Cemetery.

W. A. KILLINGBECK

HASTINGS, June 18 (Examiner correspondence).—Citizens from far and near, of every walk in life and of different creeds formed one of the largest funerals ever to be held in Hastings, when the village's beloved Chief Constable, the late W. A. Killingbeck, was laid to rest on Friday afternoon.

Since his death on Wednesday afternoon in Nicholls Hospital, Peterborough, messages of condolences have been received from many places by the sorrowing family as well as a great many beautiful floral offerings.

The funeral services were conducted at the family residence on Front street by Rev. S. H. Hill, B.A., of St. Andrew's Presbyterian Church of this village. So great was the number of friends who were present to pay their last respects to a beloved fellow citizen that Rev. Hill was obliged to conduct the service from the door of the home so that the large number on the outside might join in the service. Taking as his text, "Fear not, for ye are all believers of God," Rev. Hill spoke very touchingly of the deceased and of the great sorrow that had come to the sorrowing widow and large family.

The bearers were Messrs. G. Smullen, J. Varty, J. Thompson, H. Fairman, A. V. German and C. R. Fowlds.

As a mark of respect to the late constable, merchants closed their stores for the funeral.

Interment was made in Trent Valley Cemetery, Hastings.

(By Ernest Burritt, C.P. Staff Writer.)

TORONTO, June 19 (C.P.). — Confident his Conservative Government will be returned, Premier George S. Heiry went home to Oriole in his own riding of East York to await the decision of the Ontario electorate in the general election to-day.

Three addresses within four and a half hours brought the Premier's campaign to a close here last night with an appeal to residents of Ontario to choose the path of his administration, which he said "leads onward to safe and stable government, to orderly and enlightened progress, and to improving conditions."

The other choice, he said, "leads to disruption and disorder, to the placing of the Government of Ontario in the hands of groups of persons who have no guiding principle, no platform, and no responsible leadership."

Under his administration said the Premier, the Province was steadily

BOMB WRECKS TORONTO HOME

Residences Shaken For Blocks Around That of Italian Fruit Merchant.

FAMILY ESCAPES.

TORONTO, June 19.—(C.P.)— A bomb thrown into the Wells Hill home of Joseph Calderone, Italian fruit merchant, here this morning, wrecked the ground floor of the house, shook others blocks away from the scene but failed to injure anyone.

The verandah and front door of the house were described as "down flat" by Abraham Singer, brother and partner of E. P. Singer, K.C., Conservative candidate in to-day's elections. All windows of Mr. Singer's own home were shattered by the force of the explosion, the roar of which attracted scores of curious.

"The front door and verandah of Calderone's house are down flat," said Mr. Singer. "It was a terrific explosion; my two children woke up screaming with fright. I I don't think it was meant for me," he added. "I have no enemies."

Neighbors gave temporary care to the Calderone family and meanwhile police are investigating.

Threatening Letters.

A chain of threatening letters extending over a three year period were believed by police to hold some solution to the bombing.

Calderone told police of receiving threatening letters that began to arrive three years ago. The letters, unsigned, demanded money, but for the past few months no letters were received.

Police said the bomb must have been unusually powerful, for a hole was blown in the concrete floor of the verandah. The heavy porch roof was smashed and pieces of timber were blown across the road.

10 BIG STORES ARE OPERATED HUDSON BAY CO.

Financial Structure of Company Investigated by Committee.

264 YEARS OLD.

Dividends of 20, 30, 40 and 50 Per Cent. Paid in Ten Years.

OTTAWA, June 19.—(CP)—Dividends of 20, 30, 40 and 50 percent were paid by the Hudson's Bay Company between 1920 and 1930, the Parliamentary Mass Buying Committee learned today from one of its auditors, Thomas Weir, of Toronto. Since 1930 the 264-year-old company has paid no dividends to its shareholders, most of whom live in the United Kingdom.

The company paid dividends from its fur-trading and department stores as well as from land it received from the dominion when it surrendered its claim to what is now Manitoba, Saskatchewan and Alberta.

The committee today opened its investigation of the financial setup and business practices of the Hudson's Bay Company which operates fur trading posts, department stores, fur farms, fishing companies and land companies. Its capital is £4,492,224 with financial control and head office in London.

Growth of Company

Some idea of the growth of the Western company may be judged from the fact its assets increased from £1,606,115 in 1900 to £12,555,100 in 1929 and £10,470,900 in 1933. This increase was attributed largely to

SMITH REACHES HASTINGS LOCK

Had Rough Trip Across Rice Lake in Yesterday's Storm.

SPENT NIGHT AT KEENE.

HASTINGS June 19 (Examiner Correspondent)—John Smith, young canoeist bound for Peterborough England, passed through the lock at Hastings at 9 o'clock this morning, still going strong after his first conflict with the elements. Last evening as he proceeded down Rice Lake, his red canoe, "Pride of Peterborough" was almost swamped when a torrent of rain put several inches of water in the bottom of the craft.

Keeping the canoe upright with difficulty, Smith managed a landing at Keene as darkness was falling. As he beached he was under the impression that he had reached Hastings, his objective for the day, or otherwise he would have continued, he said to-day. He stopped for the night in Keene in view of the downpour of rain, although his plans are to sleep in the open on the shores of the lake and rivers whenever possible.

At Hastings to-day he paid a half-hour visit to the village in order to give his legs a stretch after his long early-morning paddle down from Keene. He told villagers that he was feeling fine and not at all tired after his paddle from Peterborough yesterday. He is reported to be quite as anxious as ever to reach St. John's, Newfoundland and set out over the Atlantic for Ireland.

The Weather

Saturday the countryside with welcome moisture and gladening the hearts of the farmers, the ten-hour downpour of rain that set in shortly before seven o'clock last evening was the heaviest experienced in Peterborough district in ten years, according to Walter Peters. The total overnight precipitation, he states, was 1.62 inches.

BLOOD STAINS FOUND IN TRUNK

New Clue in Tufverton Case—Records Show Poderjay Wed Again in March.

MARRIAGE IN LONDON.

VIENNA, June 19 (A.P.). — The newspaper Telegraf to-day said bloodstains had been found in a trunk in the apartment of Ivan Poderjay, held for questioning in the disappearance of Miss Agnes Tufverson of the United States, but the police did not immediately comment on the report.

Wed In March.

LONDON, June 19 (A.P.).—Records of the Paddington register office were opened to-day to show that Ivan Poderjay, held in custody in Vienna in connection with the disappearance of his American wife, Miss Agnes Tufverson, married Susanne Ferrun, with whom he was living in Vienna, March 22 of this year—three months after he married the American woman in New York.

His bride, who gave her name as Marguerite Ferrand, listed herself as a spinster, aged 37. Both gave London addresses. At the address given by Miss Ferran or Ferrand, it was said that Poderjay had lived there more than a year.

Sure Sister Dead.

DETROIT, June 19 (A.P.).—Discovery of a battered brief case in Capt. Poderjay's quarters in Vienna has convinced Miss Olive Tufverson that her sister, Miss Agnes Tufverson, missing bride of the Yugoslavian officer, "will never be found alive."

"That brief case had never been out of my sister's hands," Miss Tufverson said here to-day.

"It was more than just a good luck piece to her. It was a symbol of her success in New York and it meant everything to her. If she were alive it would be with her."

LARWOOD UNFIT TO PLAY.

LONDON, June 19 (C.J. Cable).—Harold Larwood, famous Nottinghamshire speed bowler, to-day reiterated his refusal to play for England in the second Test cricket match against the visiting Australians, thereby causing critics to believe his international career is over.

SIX LOSE LIVES FIERCE BLASTS GAS TANK FIRE

Tragedy Occurs as Blazing Truck Fires Immense Containers.

23 ARE INJURED.

Three Firemen Victims — Crowd Police Warnings to Stay Back.

JAMESTOWN, N.Y., June 19. — (A.P.).—Fire that followed terrific explosions of gasoline tanks which killed six persons and injured the District Attorney's office began at once an investigation to determine responsibility for the tragedy.

A tank trunk, believed to have caused the fire, was found burning yesterday afternoon, a moment after the driver, Herbert Johnson, started the motor. While he was calling the fire department, the flames spread, first to the office building of the wholesale distributing depot and then quickly to three 20,000-gallon gasoline tanks.

Fifteen minutes after the fire started in the trunk, two of the huge tanks exploded, almost simultaneously. An excited crowd, gathered to watch the firemen fight the truck fire, was hardly more than 150 feet distant from the tanks when the explosion occurred. They had resisted the efforts of the few policemen to drive them back out of danger. Many were knocked down by the explosion. Some were trampled as the hundreds of bystanders milled and fought to get away.

Firemen Bear Brunt.

The firemen, who had stood their ground when the explosion came, were the first to feel the searing flames. Three of the dead were from their ranks.

When it became apparent the third gasoline tank could not be saved, police fired rifle bullets into it to reduce the pressure and to prevent the mushrooming side flames which caused the deaths and injuries after the first explosion. A fourth tank, holding parafine, was saved.

The fire burned most of the night, while the vast clouds of dense smoke were borne away from the city by the wind.

James Anderson, 15, Wayne Lewis, 14, and Raymond Allison, 43, a fireman, died during the night. Walter Kastenbuker, 35, Oscar Bloom, 45, both firemen, and Henry Golocaynski, 18, were killed instantly.

Cloak, Dress Strike Set For End Of July

MONTREAL, June 19 (C.P.). — A tie-up in the cloak and dress industry of Montreal, Toronto, and other eastern Canadian manufacturing centres is threatened with the announcement that 3,000 employees in the industry here will stage a mass walk-out towards the end of July. The workers will strike to eliminate alleged sweatshop conditions in factories here. More than 85 plants will be affected.

Efforts will be made to reach a settlement before the strike is called, but union heads are determined to hold out for a 40-hour week, increased wages and establishment of a minimum wage scale with recognition of the union. In any event, definite word of the strike will probably be forthcoming following the quarterly meeting of the International Union, which is to take place here on July 25.

New-Born Baby Apparently Dead 2 Hours Is Revived By Heroic Efforts Of Doctor

NEW YORK, June 19 (C.P.). — The tiny heart of a baby who for more than two hours apparently was dead, pulsated rhythmically to-day.

This six-pound, day-old daughter of Mrs. Esther Rauch was born yesterday with an umbilical cord tightly twisted about her neck. To all appearances, said Dr. Bernard Zaslin, she was dead.

Into the baby's thigh Dr. Zaslin injected alpha lobiin, to promote respiration. Into the baby's heart he pressed a needle carrying adrenalin chloride, potent primer of the human engine.

Eyelids stirred. The heart beat feebly.

Down on his knees went the doctor, his lips over the baby's mouth. Minute after minute he breathed into the girl's lungs, forcing the tiny chest to expand, contract.

When he was exhausted a nurse took his place. For two hours they alternated at the child's side.

Then came a familiar cry. The babe lived.

All Poor?

MILWAUKEE, Wis., June 19 (C.P.). — County Judge John T. Karel has one of the toughest jobs of his long legal career.

John G. Pahl left $5,000 to his 10 poorest relatives, and a committee of three friends after investigating for almost a year were unable to name the 10 from the list of 59 relatives who believe themselves entitled to share in it.

Now the Judge must select the 10.

Claims Seaway Project Not Justified at Present—Enough Lines Now.

(By Jack Hambleton, Canadian Press Staff Writer.)

ST. THOMAS, Ont., June 19 (CP) —Mitchell F. Hepburn, Ontario Liberal Leader, hoping to-night will bring him the Premiership of this province, rested to-day at his South Yarmouth farm, tired after an intensive speaking campaign that took him several thousand miles.

Mr. Hepburn, faced in his own Elgin riding with a single Conservative opponent, Dr. H. J. Davis, member of the last Legislature, predicted his party would obtain 67 seats in to-day's general election. He reached his home early this morning after making his last pre-election appearance last night at St. Thomas.

In St. Thomas the Liberal Leader was given an enthusiastic reception by a large number of supporters who arranged a parade of floats and bands in his honor. He wound up the evening in the city's indoor skating rink, where he delivered a speech denouncing the administration of Premier George S. Henry.

Mr. Hepburn also enunciated his stand on the question of the St. Lawrence deep waterways and power project. He said Premier Henry had accused him of having "sold out" to power barons in Quebec, but insisted "my position on the St.

VOTING IS BRISK IN ALL SECTIONS OF THE COUNTY

Rural and Urban Residents Taking Keen Interest on Polling Day.

CANDIDATES OPTIMISTIC.

One-third of Total Vote in City Cast by One O'clock.

Forecasts by political strategists that rural and urban dwellers of Peterboro' County were not interested in the Provincial election and as a result a very small vote would be registered in the triple fight for the local seat, were dispelled today when voters turned out in legion numbers to use their ballots.

The electorate, which during most of the campaign appeared to be apathetic under the flood of oratory, indicated today that the outward lethargy was but a mask for its true feelings, and fully warmed up to the need for action in the big decision went to the polls to do its part on the issues of the day.

Reports from all sections of the county definitely indicated that a large vote was being polled. A tremendous interest in the result has grown up during the past few days.

All three party organizations were directing all their efforts today to "get the vote out" and their work in this direction, it was reported on all sides, was receiving marked success. The conveniences that the party organizations placed in the way of voters, it was admitted, was aiding tremendously in piling up what may prove to be an almost record vote.

Conservative and Liberal forces in particular had a fleet of cars to draw the voters to the polls, and women voters were taking full advantage of the invitations to ride to the polling booths.

Mr. Matthews admitted that yesterday he visited the head office of Canada Packesr and urged the increase for the Company's Peterborough employees. The glad tidings were announced to the foremen of the plant at noon.

BRITISH SOCIALIST PARTY PLANS TO DISREGARD EMPIRE UNITS

ABOLISH MONARCHY.

By PIERRE VAN PAASSEN

PARIS, June 19.—The break-up of the British Empire as an unavoidable political necessity in the event of a socialist regime being set up in England; the abolition of the monarchy and a close economic cooperation with other socialist countries in Europe rather than with the dominions and the probable exit of Britain from the League of Nations are incidental items in a program of empire policy envisaged by Frank Horrabin, the eminent geographical economist, in collaboration with Sir Strafford Cripps, juridicial counseller in the former Labor government; Sir Charles Trevelyan, former minister of education; William Mellor, former publisher of the Daily Herald; G. D. H. Cole, the theoretician of the cooperative movement; Major C. R. Attlee, first Labor postmaster; H. N. Poor Pussy

INTRA, Italy, June 19.—(C.P.)—A respectable citizen of Intra looked one morning "at what the cat brought in" and promptly sent for a lawyer.

He needed one, too. His neighbor, Angelo Barberis had already started for the police station to denounce the theft of his watch.

Backed by the testimony of the lawyer and the guilty look of the cat, the neighbor was able to convince Barberis that puss had done the job of filching.

Election Night At The Examiner

Complete election returns from all sections of Ontario will be announced from The Examiner office tonight starting at eight o'clock. Loudspeakers have been hooked up and with Dick Lush at the "mike" a most complete running broadcast of how the election is going is assured. Special wires will bring the returns from Canadian Press headquarters in Toronto to The Examiner.

Coupled with the broadcastings of the returns two election extras will be published. A staff of eight young ladies will also handle all telephone calls for information. When telephoning for information just ask for 1600 and you will be immediately given one of the young ladies. The results of Peterborough riding are expected to be fairly well known by 8.15 and 10.30 a fairly complete summary of the province will be had.

PREDICT SPLIT BETWEEN HITLER AND HINDENBURG

Result of Startling Attack on Nazi Policies by Vice Chancellor Von Papen.

GOERING REPLIES.

Observers Connect Incident With Resignation of Ambassador to Russia.

(By A. D. Stefferad, Associated Press Foreign Staff

BERLIN, June 19.—(AP)—Indications of a possible split between President Paul Von Hindenburg, Germany's "Grand Old Man," and Chancellor Adolf Hitler over Nazi policies were seen today as an aftermath of a startling blast against the government.

This criticism was made by Franz Von Papen, Vice Chancellor, understood to be close to President Paul Von Hindenburg.

Observers were quick to couple his attack on Nazi "Extremists" with the resignation of Count Rudolf Nadolny as ambassador to Russia. Count Nadolny is a friend of Von Hindenburg and one of the first officials of the Nazi regime to resign.

Growing dissatisfaction of Conservative elements, including Von Hindenburg and Von Papen, with the Nazi program, was rumored.

Goering's Reply

An answer—regarded as official—to Von Papen's speech was made at Potsdam by Hermann Goering, Minister of Aviation and premier of Prussia. He said that "without doubt, reason for dissatisfaction is really justified, but these are isolated cases."

"It is self evident that the enthusiasm which greeated us 18 months ago is not everlasting. Goering added. These outbursts of sentiment calm down and come back at intervals, it is up to us to have them recur at proper times. We must watch out that we do not lose contact with the people."

Political observers believed Von Papen's speech symbolized his parting of the ways with Hitlerism.

Million Dollar Rain Drenches Province

Rain-soaked fields to-day greeted Ontario farmers with promise of renewed vigor to drought-striken crops following the al-day soaking downfall of yesterday and last night.

Threatened complete loss of the strawberry crop was averted and farmers in Brantford, Stratford and Galt districts expected good results. Late planted crops were assisted by the downpour.

Increased grain yields were expected at Sault Ste. Marie, Brantford, and Orillia. The "million-dollar" rain gave maximum results in the Niagara fruit district, especially near St. Catharines.

Pastures throughout the province were rejuvenated, relieving the fodder situation which is expected to be serious next winter as there was no carry-over in most districts.

Peterborough reported an 18-hour soaking rain. The downfall came in the nick of time for crops i. the London district. Hay crops will profit most in Middlesex.

PIRATES ESCAPE WITH PRISONERS IN SWAMP LANDS

Shallow Chinese Waters Foil Rescue by British, U. S. Warships.

MAY USE PLANES.

Looted Steamer Reaches Port, Stripped of Valuables, Officer Wounded.

CHEFOO, China, June 19.—(AP) — The British steamer Shuntien, stripped of valuables and 26 passengers and officers, arrived in Chefoo this afternoon with a story of daring piracy along China's "Spanish Main."

Oneofficer of the vessel was shot and gravely wounded in resisting Chinese brigands who commandeered the vessel at 10 p.m. Sunday night off the Yellow River and held her passengers and crew under pistol point for 24 hours.

The captain of the steamer said pirates fled in junks after abandoning the Shuntien, and landed in the almost inaccessable swamps of the Yellow River delta, defying pursuit by British and United States warships.

In addition to the six British subjects, including two of the ship's officers held for ransom, it was learned another foreigner is a captive. He is named Yamamoto, reported to be an army officer. The other prisoners are Chinese.

May Use Planes

British authorities were considering sending aeroplanes from the aircraft carrier eagle at Weihaiwei in search of the pirates in Chinese authorities permit. The warships will not be able to enter the swamps, accessable only to small boats.

The Shuntien's captain said the pirates were skilled seamen and navigated the ship themselves, while officers were held prisoners in cabins. Many of the passengers were in a state of terror.

Taking their time, the brigands looted the steamer in a thorough fashion, threatening to kill anyone who showed fight.

EDWARD TANNER DIES SUDDENLY

Former Reeve of Lakefield and Very Prominent Citizen of Village.

BORN IN PETERBOROUGH.

LAKEFIELD, June 19. (Examiner Correspondent). Edward A. Tanner, one of the most respected and prominent residents of the village, passed away suddenly early this morning at the age of 65 years. He was managing director of the Monarch Mortgage Company of Toronto; a former reeve of the village, and in 1908 as Liberal candidate in the Federal campaign was defeated by J. E. Sexsmith, Conservative.

Actively interested in everything pertaining to the welfare of the community in which he had spent the greater part of his lifetime, Mr. Tanner was a former elder in the Presbyterian Church and later elder in the United Church; a Past Master of Clementi Lodge A.F. and A.M., and a strong supporter of Lakefield Curling Club.

As recently as yesterday afternoon, Mr. Tanner had met and talked with James Hawthorne, Liberal candidate, it is learned, and had assured the latter of his support and assistance in getting out the vote in Lakefield to-day. Seized with an acute attack of indigestion early this morning, Mr. Tanner called upon a member of his family for assistance, and passed away a few moments later.

Born in Peterborough, Mr. Tanner was the second son of the late Mr. and Mrs. George Tanner. He moved with his family to Lakefield as a small boy and had re-

THIRD WOMAN JOINS MYSTERY OF LOST LAWYER

Vienna Blonde Shows She Divorced Poderjay Month Before He Wed Miss Tufverson.

DUBS HIM UNRELIABLE.

Captain Abandons Story of Bigamous Marriage After Wife's Trunks Found.

VIENNA, June 19 (AP)—Another woman emerged to-day from the past of Ivan Poderjay, international Don Juan, as police sought to draw from him a solution of the strange disappearance of Agnes Tufverson, American lawyer.

Mme. Zhivka, a slender blonde, brought forth documents in Belgrade to show that she was divorced from the Yugo-Slavian officer Nov. 16, 1933—one month before his New York marriage to Miss Tufverson.

Eager for news of Poderjay, Mme. Zhivka described him as unreliable but "charming" with women. She said $10,000 disappeared from her safety deposit box about the time Poderjay left the country.

Six months after their marriage in 1926, she said, she discovered Poderjay was preparing to marry in Copenhagen. She prevented that marriage, she said, by sending a copy of her marriage certificate to Poderjay's Copenhagen fiancee.

Abandons Story

After a trunk and other property belonging to the missing American woman were found yesterday in Poderjay's apartment here, he abandoned his story that his marriage to Miss Tufverson was bigamous.

Police called for further explanations of Poderjay's claim that he has not seen Miss Tufverson since shortly after their wedding. They expressed belief she was dead.

(Authorities in England said the finding of a woman's torso and legs in a trunk there apparently had no connection with Miss Tufverson's disappearance, although they were investigating the possibility.)

Two books belonging to the New York and Detroit woman were found in the apartment. One was on the art of love, the other on birth control.

When first detained Poderjay said he and Miss Tufverson parted when she insisted that she accompany him to England as a bride, although he told her he had a wife there. This was Suanne Ferran, the woman he has been living with here and who was arrested when the property was found.

LAKEFIELD PAIR CAPTURE HONORS IN COMPETITION

96 Young People From All Parts of County Took Part in Contest.

CLASSES WELL FILLED

Number of New Boy Entrants Significant Feature of Annual Competition.

Howard Hamilton and Ethel Blakely, both of Lakefield, shared the high honors as the results of the annual County Judging Competition held at the Exhibition Grounds last Friday were announced to-day. Miss Blakely will be offered a two-week scholarship to the Ontario Agricultural College as a result of her victory.

A total of 96 young people—63 boys and 33 girls—gathered from all parts of Peterborough County for the livestock judging and domestic science competitions of the day. Competition in all classes was exceptionally keen and a particularly significant feature was the number of new boys on hand. Thirty-three of the 63 were taking part in their first county competition.

The livestock judging competition was in charge of Agricultural Representative A. D. Runions who was assisted by M. C. McPhail, Toronto; M. H. Winter, Lindsay; E. A. Summer, Port Hope; W. H. Smith, Brighton; W. M. Gordon, Dominion Livestock Branch, Peterborough; and W. O. Huffman, Peterborough. While the competition was in progress, A. Davies, district dairy inspector gave one group of the young men coaching in cream grading work which was a new feature of the competition.

Livestock were judged at the following farms, all in the vicinity of Peterborough: Holsteins, Joseph Tully; shorthorns, Bertram Bennett; horses, Sidney Rutherford; Leicester sheep, James R. Jackson; Jersey cattle, Norman McConkey. Two classes of hogs were judged at the Canada Packers.

Girls' Competition

The girls' competition consisted of classes in nutrition, clothing and house furnishings and was in charge of Edith Hopkins, Lindsay, assisted by Betty Wallace and Gertrude Gray of Toronto. In addition to the regular competition, two teams of girls coached by senior members competed against each other. A Keene team, coached by Edith Nelson of Keene and consisting of Alberta Comrie, Anna Tobin and Eleanor McCarthy, was judged the winner. A Lakefield team consisting of Ethel Blakely and Irene

This Miracle Shot B.C. Amateur Golf Title

A "miracle shot" won the B.C. amateur golf championship for the young Dick Moore, member of the Quilchena Golf Club of Vancouver, in a thrilling 36-hole final. It was a chip shot from rough guarding a sand trap on the sixteenth hole, which sent the ball in a high arch to the green where it rolled softly and gently down the green carpet into the cup. Dick Moore and Stan Leonard, former caddie, were all square at the fifteenth when the former performed his miracle—a miracle which followed four other birdies.

T.T.C. WAGE CUT HELD JUSTIFIED

Gordon Points to Fact $1,000,000 Drawn From Reserves.

IN PAST 3 YEARS.

OTTAWA, June 19.—(CP)—Finding a reduction in the wages of Toronto street railway employees justified the Board of Conciliation which investigated the wage dispute between the employees and the Toronto Transportation Commission has made its report to Hon. W. A. Gordon, Minister of Labor.

The finding is based chiefly on lowered living costs and curtailed revenues of the Commission which, it is stated, has withdrawn $1,000,000 from its reserves to maintain operations during the past three years. Taking the present basic wage as 60 cents an hour the board holds a reduction to 57 cents would not be unreasonable.

When the reduction was proposed by the Commission it was opposed by the men through their Union officials and the appointment of the board under the terms of the Industrial Disputes Investigation Act followed. The Union is now considering the question of taking a strike vote and of rejecting the findings of the board.

JANETVILLE.

On Thursday evening the Foresters' Hall at Janetville was well filled when Dr. Cotton, provincial C.C.F. candidate for Durham, spoke forcefully in the interests of C.C.F. The various planks in the platform were definitely outlined. Dr. Cotton was introduced by Mr. Otto Bragg, president of the Constituency Council, who also introduced the other speaker for the evening, Rev. Johnston, of Peterborough.

Several young people from Janetville motored to Caesarea on Saturday to attend the opening dance at the Caesarea pavilion when the Palois D'or orchestra of Toronto furnished the music. A special drawing card was the fact that the orchestra included Mr. Archie Stinson, known as "the rapid-fire artist of banjo and song," who is an old Manvers boy and spent all his life here until a few years ago when he accepted a position in Detroit where he made an extensive study of music, specializing in banjo and voice.

Aged Woman and Boy Pinch-Hit At Birth

WARSAW, Wis., June 19.—(C.P.)—In an isolated hut beneath the wavering glow of an oil lamp, an aged woman and a messenger boy pinch-hit for a physician at the birth of a 12-pound boy.

When the child's coming was imminent yesterday, the doctor assigned was ill and had failed to assign a substitute physician. Efforts to reach six other physicians failed, and the father, Hugo Froelich, began a hasty search for substitutes.

Against their portests that they had no medical knowledge, the aged woman and boy were brought to the cabin and performed their work successfully.

It is Froelich's 10th child.

HEAVY TURNOUT BEING FORECAST BOTH PROVINCES

Henry, Hepburn Equally Confident—Latter Predicts Landslide.

BITTER CAMPAIGNS.

Vote in West Expected to Reach 400,000, Largest in Province's History.

(By the Canadian Press)

Two governments rested their case today with the electors of Ontario and Saskatchewan, openly confident of re-election in general elections that climaxed long, bitter campaigns. The last word in the weeks-long platform battle was spoken last night. Today the electors hustled to the polls.

Two major parties—Conservatives and Liberals—appealed to the Ontario electorate for authority to carry on government. No other party can possibly gain enough seats to control the legislature. But the 90 candidates who run under varied colors, that range from Co-operative Commonwealth Federation to Communist, may take an important share of votes.

Since 1905, with the exception of four years when the United Farmers held sway, Ontario has been governed by Conservatives. Premier George S. Henry expressed confidence in his closing speeches yesterday at Simcoe, Oakville and Toronto that his administration will be returned.

It will be a landslide vote if the Liberal forces, led by Mitchel F. Hepburn, 38-year-old former member of parliament, achieve the government's downfall. Five years ago, at the last general elections, the Liberals gained only 14 seats in the House of 112 members while the government swept to an overwhelming victory, winning 91 seats.

But Mr. Hepburn predicted no less than a landslide last night, in addressing a cheering audience at St. Thomas, the largest centre of population in his own constituency of Elgin. The Liberay Party, he declared, would be 67-strong in the next House, which a redistribution has reduced to 90 seats.

In Elgin, Mr. Hepburn was in a straight fight against a Conservative, Dr. H. J. Davis, Aylmer veterinary surgeon, who represented East Elgin in the last Legislature.

Premier Henry had five opponents in East York—a Liberal, C.C.F., Independent, Socialist and Communist.

With interest aroused by bitter campaigning, voting was expected to be heavy both in Ontario and Saskatchewan, regardless of the weather. The final political flourishes were dampened scarcely at all yesterday in Ontario by heavy rains, and clear weather greeted voters in

Lawrence has been made quite clear."

Enough Transportation Lines

He maintained the Dominion Government had adopted a policy of crop restriction, and that the country was having trouble with the railways, including the new outlet to Hudson Bay which, he claimed, was "acknowledged by everyone to be a white elephant." In view of these circumstances, he asked: "Could anyone justify construction of another avenue of transportation?"

He reiterated his charge that Mr. Henry had sought to bribe the electors by increasing pay in road camps, boosting relief allowance and reducing the license fee for commercial fishing in Lake Erie. He declared the fishermen had been paying license fees for 10 years that were too high and that Premier Henry should have sent them "cheques for $1,000,' instead of the $100 cheques the Government sent them as a rebate on their fees.

Mr. Hepburn charged the Government had been unfair in redistribution of his riding of Elgin and said he would have another Redistribution Bill passed at a session of the Legislature that would "bring Elgin together again."

"We people of Ontario will plow a furrow tomorrow deep enough to bury Henry and all his Ministers," he said.

The Liberal Leader entered his own riding at Stratfordville after addressing a large crowd at Simcoe. He stayed a few minutes at Aylmer where he made a half-hour speech in the Town Hall before continuing to St. Thomas.

Parade Despite Rain

Supporters held a parade despite a heavy rain, and at one time traffic became so dence that Arthur G. Slaght, K.C., of Toronto, Mr. Hepburn's lieutenant, was wedged in it and had to be extricated by a traffic officer, who escorted him to the rink where the meeting was held.

Mr. Slaght attacked the Government as "corrupt" and "indefensible," and denounced Premier Henry for holding a director's seat in a Toronto mortgage company.

The campaign Mr. Hepburn ended last night took him to more than 50 constituencies in which he spoke before more than 90 audiences. He had been on the road exactly one month, travelling most of the time by automobile.

Police Checking Up Traffic Violations

(By Examiner Staff Correspondent)

CAMPBELLFORD, June 19. — A complete check-up of all traffic violations in the town of Campbellford, is being made by the police department, and Chief Constable George Hardy is busy these days seeing that traffic regulations in the municipality are observed. The non-observance of stop signs at intersections and corners has caused some alarm of late, and already two local motorists have appeared in police court and been assessed a fine for this transgression, and charges are pending against other transgressors.

And to ensure the safety of the children of the town, Chief Hardy has called upon the parents of children, to warn their offsprings of playing too near, or on the roads, and so ensure their safety and lessen the danger of accidents.

SAFETY SPEED COMFORT SERVICE

CANADIAN NATIONAL RAILWAYS

The Railways Offer Special Vacation Inducements.

All railways are anxious that the public should regard them as more than mere mechanical means of transportation. They wish each patron to feel that he is the object of personal and friendly interest, and that the magnitude of a railway's operations does not obscure the important fact that when all is said and done it is what the patron thinks that really matters. Passenger traffic, it is realised, can only be built up by obtaining and holding the goodwill and approval of those who travel, and it therefore follows that all factors which affect the traveller merit and receive careful study.

One present factor has been fully taken into account. Today people do not have the spending power—nor the spending desires—of a few years ago, and so, as an addition to the regular services, special fares and excursions have been arranged to meet these conditions. For the long distance traveller there is at present in operation the popular cent-a-mile rate which enables the East to visit the West, and the West to return the compliment, at an exceedingly low cost, while for the traveller whose journey is shorter, there are frequent special trips at attractive fares. There are also reduced fares for week-ends and low rates for special one-day excursions, as well as for trips extending over three or four days, and for organized groups of travellers consisting of more than ten adults reduced fares are obtainable.

When the other things which railways provide are considered, travel at these fares represents the most economical transportation available. Whatever the fare paid, there is provided the essential quality of safety; there is a maximum of comfort and attention. There are at night restful sleeping facilities at extremely low cost, and on long journeys there are inexpensive but attractive and nicely served meals.

It is the endeavour of the railways to please. Suggestions for improvement are welcomed and carefully considered. The passenger is important and his wishes must be paramount.

It will prove well worth your while to find out what the railways can do regarding that trip you have in mind. Our agents everywhere are at your service.

CHILD VICTIM LAID TO REST

Little Betty West Buried Monday—Was Victim of Campbellford Car Accident.

SYMPATHETIC COMMUNITY.

CABPBELLFORD, June 19 (Examiner Staff Correspondence). — A shocked and sympathetic community paid tribute yesterday to four-year-old Betty West, Campbellford victim of a car accident on Friday last, when the funeral service was held in the Campbellford home of her parents, Mr. and Mrs George West, Front Street, the interment beiig made in Mount Pleasant Cemetery.

On Saturday evening and all day Sunday, a continual stream of sympathetic friends from the town and township, visited the West home to offer the bereaved parents their sympathy, and the large attendance at the funeral and the many beautiful floral tributes testified to this sympathy and the loving esteem in which the little child was held.

The service was conducted by the Rev. H. P. L. Seymour, assisted by the Rev. R. C. Tait, the former, in a very touching address, paying tribute to the necessity of children in the Kingdom of God, their value and importance, and speaking words of Christian encouragement to the bereaved parents and family.

The pall-bearers were all neighbor children, being Jack Cassan, Jack Phillips, J. Thompson, Jim Farrell, Douglas McMullen, and Victor Stafford of St Catharines. The flower girls were playmates of little Betty, being: June McMullen, Shirley Rowe, Pauline Cassan, Helen Nicholson, Yvonne Beattie, Glory Anderson, Dorothy Nicholas, Yvonis Watters, Bernice McComb, and Betty Scott.

Little Betty died in Peterborough hospital on Saturday last, following an accident on Friday evening, when she was knocked down by a car driven by Oscar Campbell of Seymour, while playing on the road near her home. The car left the pavement and ran for some distance on the road between it and the sidewalk, where Betty, with another child, was playing, knocking her down and causing severe head injuries.

LEAGUE HEARS REV. MACTAVISH

Pastor of East Seymour Speaks at Trent River on "Automobile Religion."

READINGS GIVEN.

TRENT RIVER, June 19.—(Examiner Correspondence).—The special program at the Young People's League was an address by Rev. F. G. MacTavish, of Seymour East circuit. The opening exercises were in charge of Mr. D. Walker.

The members will hold a recreational period on the closing night of the league, June 29. Miss Debra Longmuir took over the program, as follows: Reading, "My Task," by Mrs. John H. Scott; piano duet, by Misses Margaret and Helen Brown.

Automobile Religion.

Rev. F. G. MacTavish, of Seymour, in his opening remarks said he was always interested in league work. There is no organization today doing as much good in training for leadership as the league. His message was brief but practical, taking for his topic, "Automobile Religion." Beginning with the "self-starter," touch it and car is ready to go to work, so in life we need a self-starter, self-reliance—something to send us out in life with new determination to do our great task for His Kingdom. The engine makes it possible to operate the car. Think of the personality of the soul. We must remember there are others on the road as well as ourselves. How necessary to keep the engine clean to give the best of service, so with the human personality. Carburettor forms the link between the gas tank and the engine, and we think of the carburettor of life when anything goes wrong with it and keeps us away from God. There are many things that get in the carburettor of life and stop the channel. The relationship between God and man today has become choked because we as Christian people have let things creep into our lives. The clutch, so it is in Christian life—a lot of our good things are slipping. We have slipped away from prayer. "Young people, I hope you will always find a place in your life for those things that enrich spiritual life." The wheel has so many things to do. How concerned we are of to-morrow instead of to-day! Remember, God sees the little routine things of life. God will give us greater things only as we are faithful. Modern gear-shift. These are to control speed, and so we have the gears of life today if we are living the Jesus way. God adjusts our lives. Life changes same as gears. Lastly, the battery, the great essential thing. In each human life God has placed a spark of life. Life needs to become charged afresh. In conclusion, the speaker stressed the fact that his hope for the league members was that they may be re-charged with His spirit and become a success as God wants you to be.

Miss Debra Longmuir had charge of a musical contest. Hymn, "O Master, Let Me Walk With Thee." The Mizpah benediction closed the meeting.

SUCCESSFUL PLAY IN WESTWOOD HALL

"Wild Ginger" Presented by Norwood United Church Choir Members.

WESTWOOD, June 19.—(Examiner Correspondence).—An appreciative audience greeted the three-act comedy-drama, "Wild Ginger," presented in the Westwood Town Hall on Friday evening, June 15, by the members of the United Church choir of Norwood. The personnel of the cast was well chosen, each one of the eleven persons carrying through their parts very creditably. Mrs. Renaud as "Wild Ginger" was particularly good. The play is a heart-gripping tale with plenty of laughs to offset the tears. Rev. H. J. Bell announced the cast of characters, as follows:

Jake Tallman, a miserly old pinch-penny—Roger McMillan.

Virginia Tallman, nicknamed "Wild Ginger," daughter of Jake Tallman—Mrs. C. Renaud.

Geoffrey Freeman, a young man of hero type—Ronald Webster.

Sanford Lakey, a man of extravagant habits—Harvey Bongard.

Marwood Lakey, his son—Robert Varley.

Bonita Lakey, Marwood's sister, a pampered daughter of wealth—Edith Stewart.

Wuzy Walker, a would-be chiropractor—Charles Gunstone.

Miz Walker, Wuzy's mother—Lila Kirk.

Miss Rachael Lee, Ginger's best friend—Mrs. Reta Pakenham.

Miss Stanley, a health nurse—Mrs. Basil Tucker.

Mr. Peterson, a grocer—Carman Knox.

W.M.S. Meeting.

On Wednesday afternoon, June 13, Mrs. David Tucker entertained the members of the United Church W. M. S. at her home for the regular June meeting. It was well attended and a pleasant afternoon was spent. Miss J. Davidson, the president, had charge of the meeting, Mrs. Tucker leading in prayer.

Readings on the subject, "Chinese Work in Canada," were given by Mrs. W. Morris, Mrs. Ross Lobb and Mrs. R. Y. Cameron, and a special prayer for the Chinese people was offered by Mrs. Hope.

Interesting readings were given by Mrs. Don Cameron on "The Greatest Gift" and by Miss Mary Cameron on "The Memorial Table."

At the close of the meeting dainty refreshments were served by the hostess. A vote of thanks to Mrs. Tucker for her kind hospitality was moved by Mrs. R. C. Brackenridge.

REV. J. SEMPLE ROTARY GUEST

Belleville Divine Addresses Campbellford Club on Service.

LIGHTING WARM FIRES.

CAMPBELLFORD, June 19. (By Examiner Staff Correspondent). — Service was the theme of the Rev. Dr. James Semple, of Bridge Street United Church, Belleville, when he addressed the Campbellford Rotary Club at their noon luncheon on Monday. Accompanying him, and a guest of the club, was the Rev. Harold B. Neal, the new minister of St. John's United Church at Campbellford. The Rev. F. G. MacTavish was also a club guest at the luncheon, which was presided over by Rotario Clarence Williams.

The speaker, who is a past president of Smith's Falls Rotary Club, and has a long experience with service clubs, pointed out that the idea of service club movement was not a new one, for as far back as the time of Queen Ann, the public was introduced to what was then known as the Ten Penny Club, a service organization.

The world to-day was going through a period of evolution, he said, and this applied to service clubs as well as religious organizations and bodies. To-day every institution had to justify itself, for what was good fifty years ago was not good to-day. "We must give a proof of our standing" he declared.

There were three types of men in the service club to-day, Dr. Semple pointed out. The man who liked the decorations, a type that did not reflect great credit on the organization; the materialist, who was especially wrong in his attitude that would give us our great place in Rotatry.

closed showing work done by Emily

The first of these demands, Dr. Semple said, was that of the gift of a beautiful spirit. Even Premier R. B. Bennett had said that this country needed a new spirit, and this he felt was true. Many people went through life making it hard for their fellows by badgering them, and as long as this spirit stays in life, we would not progress, he declared. It was not a matter of living among good neighbors, but being a good neighbor oneself.

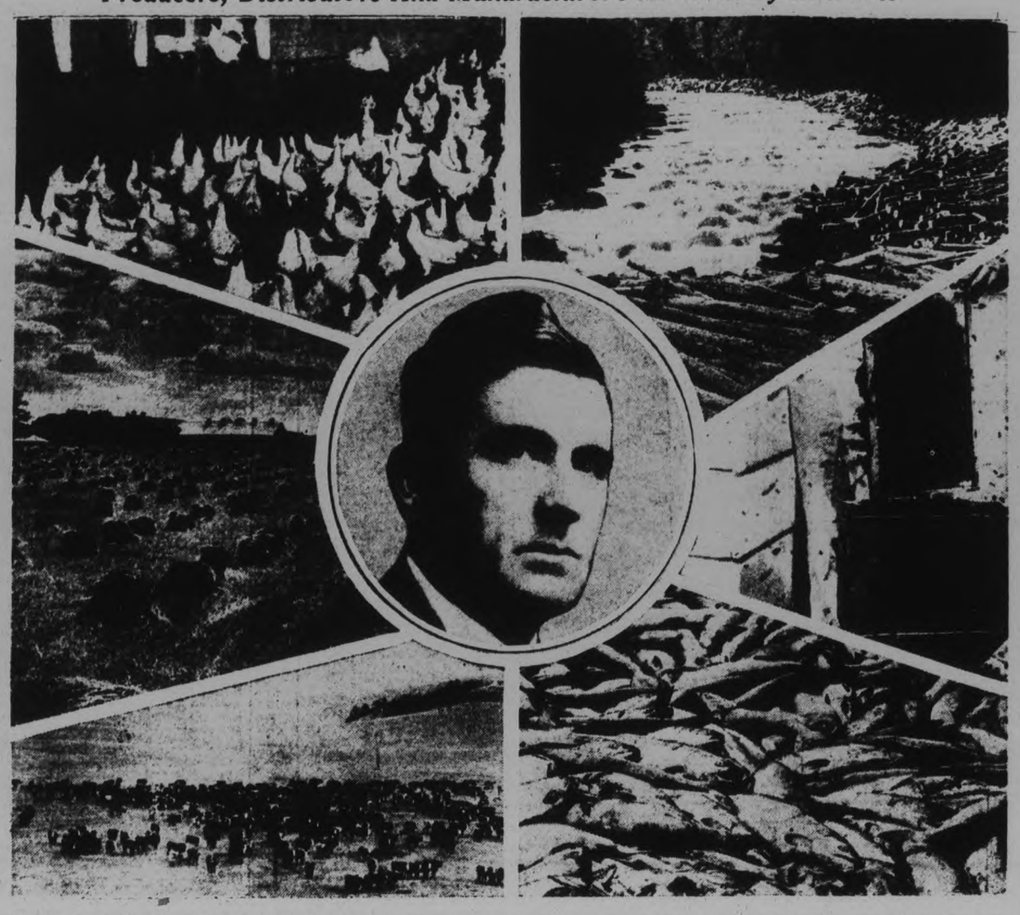
And to light fires in cold rooms, we should bring to the task the gift of a kindly service. Service he said, should be a principle that should be practiced in private life before it is carried into public life. For when we talked of service, we had to go back to Jesus Christ. Who taught that peerless service that was a pattern to all.

And goodwill was needed also, Dr. Semple said. It was easy to preach of this, but hard to live it. One had to have goodwill toward all in their own hearts, before they could give it to the community, and later, to the world at large.

And combining these three virtues, there must be the great gift of friendship, he declared. Our spirit must be right, then we will be of service to the community from which will spring goodwill, from which will come that great friendship, which is the true spirit of Rotary.

The speaker was introduced by Rotarian Rev. R. C. Tait, who is a friend of long standing of Dr. Semple, having served with him in the church in Saskatchewan. A vote of thanks on behalf of the club was moved by Rotarian Alex MacColl, contributing to the musical portion of the luncheon, a vocal solo was rendered by George Lucy, with Rotarian Edge Dolman at the piano.

Producers, Distributors And Manufacturers Affected By New Act



Natural Products Marketing Act, which is scheduled to become law early in July, will be felt in a vast variety of Canadian industry. Farm, forest, river and sea products will all be under the new act, which advocates hope will give the producer a "mass bargaining power" hitherto unobtainable under conditions of price-cutting and unfair competition. Hon. Robert Weir, shown above, is the father of the new bill designed to join together producer, distributor and manufacturer in a co-operative attempt to give all a fair deal. The new bill has met with much criticism and when it becomes law, will be one of the most important economic laws passed in the Dominion for many years. The accompanying article, the first of a series interprets the Act, tells of causes leading up to it.

most parts of the province to-day.

It may rain in Saskatchewan before the electorate has done its business at the polls, but political observers said the vote may reach 400,000, largest in the province's history. Three parties—Conservatives, Liberals and Farmer-Laborites—are expected to share the bulk of the votes.

Three Major Parties

Virtually every one of the 54 seat at stake was being contested by all three parties. Premier J. T. M. Anderson's Co-operative Government, made up of Conservatives, Progressives and Independents, has placed its defence largely in the hands of Conservative candidates. Eight Independents are adherents of the government.

Until the Anderson forces swept into power in 1929, Saskatchewan had known only Liberal administration. James G. Gardiner, former Premier, was confident his Liberals would regain power to-day.

Premier Anderson contested one of the two Saskatoon seats, while Mr. Gardiner ran in Melville. The Farmer-Labor Leader, M. J. Coldwell, was a candidate in two-seat Regina. He declared last night in his final campaign speech at Melville, that his C.C.F.-affiliated group would win the largest share of seats.

Archbishop Of Canterbury Appeals to Pope

Declaring world peace in imminent danger, the Most Reverend Cosmo Gordon Lang, Archbishop of Canterbury and primate of the Anglican Church of England, addressed a startling appeal to his holiness Pope Pius XI to help avert war. In a meeting of the Universal Christian council at London, he asked the head of the Catholic church to issue a call to all Christian churches of the world to promote a spirit of Christianity. improving its position. For the first six months of 1934 provincial revenue showed an increase of $470,000 over estimates, the Premier announced. "And with courage and a little patience we soon will be out of our difficulties."

Attacks Globe

The premier attacked the Toronto Globe and said its "debt scare" was "the biggest line of guff anyone could take" in what he described as a "deliberate attempt to inflame the public mind with the impression the province was bankrupt." The province, he said, was still wealthy and "the same sane government that has prevailed in the past, will continue to move forward in development."

He also attacked Arthur G. Slaght lieutenant of Liberal Leader Mitchell F. Hepburn, for "telling a deliberate falsehood," and the premier said he was "going to tell him to his face just what I think of him the first time I see him."

Mr. Hepburn, he charged, had gone with Mr. Slaght to confer with power barons in Rochester "where they were discussing Hydro, I know. Where did Mr. Hepburn get his money to carry on his lavish advertising campaign trroughout the province? Who paid for printing of those yellow posters, they have plastered all over the province."

Someone suggested 'Premier Henry.'

But the premier said "No. Rather they were paid for by the Beauharnois interests who have been supporting the Liberals all along. I haven't any doubt they are still behind Mr. Hepburn. Why? Because he is playing their game. The private interests are seeking to get control of the St. Lawrence for their own game and are throttling development of the project as a public enterprise.

Favors Seaway.

Mr. Henry, who addressed meetings at Simcoe and Oakville before coming here, said he understood development of the international section was still looked for by President Roosevelt, adding: "We are still anxious for it here. So it is necessary for us to have a government that believes in its development as soon as it is feasible."

The Opposition leader, said the Premier, had offered no platform to the people and was "attempting to ally himself with all those radicals whose one demand alone would cost the Government $50,000,000 annually, the entire revenue for its year." Yet, he added, Mr. Hepburn had promised to reduce government administration costs by 50 per cent. But all he had gone to indicate how this would be accomplished was to say a "few motor cars" would be sold and several commissions disbanded. One of these, he said, was the Workmen's Compensation Board "which doesn't cost the Province one nickle."

Mr. Henry, explaining his reference to Mr. Slaght, said the Toronto counsel had told a meeting the Premier had been told by a chairman at a "Liberal-Conservative meeting in his own riding to 'go to hell.' In telling that," Mr. Henry said, "Mr. Slaght knew full well he was telling a deliberate falsehood." The Premier said the chairman had become "wrathy" but apologized later—and the meeting, he said, was staged by a "group of radicals and C.C.F." who had boasted Mr. Henry was "afraid to meet them."

EMPIRE TRADE BOOMS.

Canada's trade with Empire countries is steadily advancing, and figures issued from Ottawa in regard to the exports for April show that the Dominion's exports to the other members of the Empire family totalled $13,591,000, compared with $7,889,000 in April a year ago, an increase of $5,702,000, or 72 per cent.

Exports to the United Kingdom increased by $4,294,000, or nearly 72 per cent.

There were twenty-four British Empire countries to which increased exports went in April, among them the Irish Free State, British East Africa, British South Africa, Bermuda, Australia and New Zealand.

The only Empire countries to which decreased exports went were the Gold Coast, British Honduras, the smaller British West Indies, Malta and Fiji, and in these cases the total amounts were not large.

One item of export that showed a substantial increase in the last fiscal year was fish, the amount being valued at $20,323,000, as compared with $16,859,000 the previous year, an advance of 22 per cent

Large increases in the export of halibut, salmon, whitefish and canned salmon.

THE CAUSE OF FIRES.

Fires in Ontario last year, according to the annual report of the provincial fire marshal, cost the people of this province some three dollars per capita.

There were in all 15,912 recorded fires and the total property damage amounted to $11,250,152, which is a substantial sum to pay for what in the main can be described as carelessness.

The causes of fires are discussed by the fire marshal in his report, and it is shown that first place in responsibility both for the number of fires and the amount of property loss in fires of known origin is held by heating and cooking systems.

Stoves, furnaces, defective and over-heated chimneys, hot coals and ashes were the culprits that caused 2,532 fires with a total loss of $1,320,482, while lighting systems, electricity, gas and open lights winning the distinction of being the second worse offenders.

Matches were blamed for 791 fires and tobacco for 2,606, but the loss in these latter cases was only $188,055, a very small percentage of the total.

Householders would do well to study these figures, and particularly to note the danger from defective heating systems, uncleaned chimneys and bad wiring.

These fire hazards should be eliminated if this annual destruction of life and property is to be prevented.

THE TARIFF BOARD.

There is no doubt of the fact that the decision of the Supreme Court that the Tariff Board is little more than a fact-finding body will cause a great deal of criticism both in and out of Parliament.

If the board has no real authority to decide tariff problems it will be difficult to convince a large proportion of Canadians that it will serve a very useful purpose.

The staffs of the Department of Finance and the Department of National Revenue are surely capable of searching out and establishing all the facts required for the forming and changing of tariff legislation, and if this body is henceforth merely to hear evidence and have no power to decide policies the general verdict will be that it will be a rather expensive rubber stamp.

When the present board was established it was the belief of most people that it was intended to serve as a tribunal by which business firms in Empire countries, as well as Canadian business and industrial firms, could have their cases heard whenever they felt that they were being discriminated against in the matter of tariffs.

If it is not to serve in this way, and if its decisions can be accepted or refused just as the Government sees fit, most people will have some difficulty in convincing themselves that the Tariff Board, within the limits of the Supreme Court decision, is an institution that has a useful place in the scheme of things.

ONTARIO AND SASKATCHEWAN.

Commenting on the fact that both Ontario and Saskatchewan are holding their elections to-day, the Border Cities Star calls attention to an interesting comparison between the two provinces.

Except for four years Ontario has been governed by a Conservative administration since 1905.

Except for five years Saskatchewan has been governed by a Liberal administration since 1905.

In Ontario, Sir James Whitney, Conservative, took over the reins in Ontario from Hon. G. W. Ross, Liberal. He remained in office until September 25, 1914, and after his death Sir William Hearst became Premier on October 2, 1914.

On November 14, 1919, came the first break when Hon. E. C. Drury and his United Farmers of Ontario Government came into power.

On July 16, 1923, the Conservatives were back in office again with Hon. G. H. Ferguson, and he remained in command until December 15, 1930, when Premier George S. Henry succeeded him.

On September 5, 1905, Hon. Walter Scott, Liberal, became Premier of the new province of Saskatchewan.

Hon. W. M. Martin, also a Liberal, succeeded Mr. Scott on October 20, 1922; another Liberal, Hon. Chas. A. Dunning, succeeded Mr. Martin on April 5, 1922, and Hon. James G. Gardiner, still another Liberal, succeeded Mr. Dunning on February 26, 1926.

Following the general election of 1929, Hon. J. T. M. Anderson resumed power on September 9, 1929, as head of a Conservative-Independent-Progressive Coalition Government.

The people can speak today; but will have no voice in government for another five years. It is important to vote, and vote right.

SHOULD SPEAK CANDIDLY

Ottawa reports that Lieut.-Col. W. B. MacDonnell has resigned as warden of Kings on Pen. Beyond making the bare announcement Hon. Hugh Guthrie, Minister of Justice, is reported as having had "nothing to say." It is understood that no pressure had been brought on the warden to tender his resignation. Nothing official was to be ascertained at Kingston, on the outskirts of which the penitentiary is located.

It is noted that in the story which tells of this change there is frequent use made of such phrases as "it is understood," "there have been rumors," etc.

In view of what has been taking place at Kingston within recent months, we believe the Department of Justice would be well advised to pursue a policy of more frankness with the public and give information telling what is going on. There should be a fair statement, for instance, on why Warden MacDonnell tendered his resignation. He was looked upon as a promising official; he seemed to possess the needed qualifications; he was interested in the work which he had undertaken, and he was gradually introducing and bringing into operation such changes as he had found necessary. All the public knows is that he has resigned, and that is not sufficient. The lack of plain, informative statements from Ottawa regarding affairs at Kingston is leaving the field open to rumor and that is harmful.—Stratford Beacon-Herald.

TRADE RECOVERY IN GREAT BRITAIN.

The returns just published by the British Ministry of Labor indicate a marked improvement in trade in that country. The most recent census of the number of insured persons in work which was taken a few weeks ago, totals 10,187,000, the highest number since 1929. On the other hand, the number of persons registered as unemployed showed a decline of 57,514 compared with the preceding census. A comparison with the figures of two years ago indicate that there are 836,000 more people at work now than there were at that time.

This announcement, following so closely Mr. Neville Chamberlain's encouraging budget, indicates very clearly that so far as the Motherland is concerned the worst of the depression is over. The very marked progress made in trade recovery is due in no small measure to the recapturing of markets which for the time being had been lost to the British manufacturer.

There is still one industry for which the press is urging the Government to do more and that is agriculture. Some newspapers are drawing attention to the fact that the meat agreements which were concluded at Ottawa will expire this month, and that it will be necessary for the Government to consider some new policy which will assure that the home producer comes first in the British market and that the Dominion producer should have the preference over those of foreign countries.

Canada's cattle trade with Great Britain improved very materially last year, and it is hoped that any new arrangements which are made will not interfere with this improvement. Great Britain must necessarily import very large quantities of foodstuffs, and it would seem to be only right and proper that after the British farmer has been properly taken care of the British Dominions should have chief consideration.—Kingston Whig-Standard.

HOW TO "DUMP" WHEAT.

Before Canada talks further of a wheat dumping campaign she would be well advised to plan her marketing so that it can do the most good.

The dumping talk has started as a result of Argentine's refusing to be bound by export quotas. The world wheat conference fixed quotas for the principal wheat nations. Argentine has already passed her quota of 110 million bushels, and is still going.

Canada should direct her wheat to the Orient, where the world's biggest undeveloped market waits for constructive trade moves.

It may be true that she cannot at present SELL much more wheat to China than she is doing. But she can certainly GIVE wheat to China.

But what sort of trading is that, giving stuff away? It is simply a matter of economics, not of charity. If Canada were to load one, two, three or more ships with wheat and ship it to China, and see that it got to Chinese consumers, it would be one of the best gestures she could make.

The effect would be dramatic and practical. It would take the name of Canada into China in a way it has never been taken before. It would help lay the groundwork for future trade.

Slowly the world is finding out that it pays to give away surpluses. Technology has enabled us to produce foods and goods in abundance. Social-mindedness will teach us to distribute foods and goods in the same abundance, both at home and abroad.

Who would pay for the distribution?

Well, who is paying for the non-distribution that chokes our elevators and warehouses to-day with unused products of soil and technology?

Labor is paying for it, in reduced payrolls and in millions of unemployed.

Business is paying for it, in small turnover, and by being forced to operate on a policy of scarcity in an age of abundance.

Gift-wheat sounds like a novelty to-day. But it is only another way of saying that USE, not mere possession, is the only true wealth we can realize and enjoy. —Vancouver Sun.

THE SEPARATE SCHOOL QUESTION

The Editor The Examiner,

Dear Sir,—It seems to the writer—Protestant, who has many esteemed friends of the Roman Catholic faith, that the demand for subdivision of taxes may rebound disastrously upon the church organization promoting this demand.

When one bears in mind the relatively vast sums of money voted and spent annually by Protestant communities, not without protest, for educational purposes, and where schools with their specialized staffs and equipments are open to the children of all local parents, irrespective of colour, race or creed; it is more than likely that parents of the Roman Catholic faith will naturally prefer that their children receive the best local education at their disposal, a very natural desire on the part of all parents, worthwhile to the end of fitting their children for the battle of life, a battle which most of the parents have been bravely fighting, with more or less success for a lifetime.

Granted that the demand for subdivision of taxes is allowed; then it seems to the writer that many children will be automatically cut off from Protestant Schools, the alternative being that many sincere people of the Roman Catholic faith will be compelled in self defence to declare themselves as Public School supporters. It is hardly conceivable in this more or less internecine strife that the Protestant Board authorities will accept eleventh hour comments to the public school system for collegiate and vocational training for their children, when they have hitherto proclaimed themselves as Separate School supporters.

Yours very truly,
W. H. Pretty.

Foreign Affairs

(By H. W. L. MAHOOD)

RUSSIA

The form of government influences profoundly the quality of a nation's literature. Freedom of expression fosters.

Literature Under Rule of Soviets

Rigid censorship blights. The Soviet form of government regiments the people into groups, and controls them. Every man, every woman is part of an organized assemblage. The individual is not a one of himself. His individuality is rubbed out of him. Instead of being one he is just a part.

With an environment such as this are the literary gifted, the artist endowed, and the born dramatist, according to every reasonable expectation likely to flourish? Literature and art and drama to appeal must in the very nature of things be conceived in earnestness and enthusiasm. Regimentation is a douche of cold water. Touching freedom Sovietism is not wholly empty.

The social revolution at the hands of the Soviet form of government is rich in romance, and a new kind of heroism. The winning of Siberia, the Great West of Russia has proven as productive of great authors, and painters, and musicians as has the winning of the Canadian West, or the winning of the Middle-west and the West of the United States. Flaubert once said: Literature is an ocean vast enough for me. Soviet writers are saying: The revolution is an ocean vast enough for us. The author, and the artist, and the musician feel themselves under obligation to consecrate their labor to the revolutionary social idealism. During the middle ages the Rennaissance artists consecrated their gifts to the church. They felt under obligation to do so. The product was sublime architecture, and painting, and sculpture as the artists wrought collectively or individually.

BELGIUM

As this article is being written Belgium is the danger spot of the world. In this little kingdom two rival factions are at sword's points. If the Blue Shirts and the Brown Shirts should draw blood France and Germany would fight. The Blue Shirts are the Walloons in war array. The Brown Shirts are the Flemings getting ready for battle.

Walloon Blue Shirts Flemish Brown Shirts

The death of King Albert marked the end of an era. He was more than popular. For long time there has been serious discord between the two racial Belgian factors—the Walloons and the Flemings. One is mostly German or Dutch, and the other mostly French. The existing antipathy between Germany and France is reflected in Belgium. It is tearing the Belgian kingdom apart.

During the reign of King Albert there was considerable friction about the question of a national language. He was liberal. National unity is largely dependent upon unity of language. The Walloons are of French extraction. The Walloons are nationalists. Their ideal is to preserve the independence and unity of Belgium. The Flemings would welcome union with either Holland or Germany. Communists are busy creating friction between the two Belgian factions. The influence of the Walloons is so great that France can count on the support of Leopold the III, in the event of war. In one of the first messages of Leopold to his people he emphasized the necessity of preserving the peace and unity and independence of Belgium for the sake of Europe.

THE ARMS INDUSTRY

The utmost attention of the world is focussed on the Arms Industry. The Living Age startled Europe with revelations about arms makers. Fortune took up the cudgel on the strength of the veracity of the revelation published in Living Age. A Book of the Month Club of New York city gave to the readers Merchants Of Death. Immediately the American press was full of the startling news. The type of literature here mentioned came from the pens of radicals and pacifists. Not one newspaper, or one magazine but would have hesitated 10 years ago to feature such revelations. At the present there are few publications that pass up the facts about the armament racket.

You can write it down that a story about armament makers is sensational news. A very few years ago the writer of such articles as are now sought out would have been dubbed a Communist or a Pacifist. French and British and American and Japanese and Czech manufacturers are selling arms to Germany. At the same time they are crying out about the menace of Hitler. And Japan is protesting vigorously against Western nations selling arms and airplanes to China.

Millions of thoughtful men and women have begun to co-operate effectively to stay the war incentives. The peace movement, will come out of the present agitation against arms makers, in high favor. A new approach has been opened to the peace forces. Anti-war strikes are in the offing of each of the greater nations. "War is an old man's game played for profit, with youth as the pawn."

ADVICE FOR A MAN IN A RAGE

So you've found out that the fellow you thought was your friend isn't your friend at all?

He said something and that "something" got around, traveled from tongue to ear and tongue to ear and finally came back to you. He talked behind your back, criticised you. Of course it was something he's said at least a dozen times to you, but he shouldn't have been saying it to other people. . . . Or, perhaps, it was something more serious than that. He broke a confidence and told a secret you'd never told anybody but him....And that's what hurts the most deeply, the most indelibly. You trusted him and he didn't deserve your faith. You leaned upon him, spiritually if in no other way, and he "fell down".....And you'll probably never get over it, as long as you live. You've learned a lesson from it. You'll be harder now, you'll be toughly cynical, and take no more chances with people....You're hurt, you're furious!

Very well, then. Pack your grips and sail for some desert island. Take a hot water bottle and go to the north pole. Take an ice box to the Sahara. Build a stone house on a mountain peak, move in, bar the doors and windows, and never come out again....You might as well. For these are the only ways you will ever be able to escape from human beings.

You can't get away from them any more than you can get away from yourself and it isn't much use trying....Whose life are you trying to live, anyway? Your's or somebody's else? Human relationships are good, healthy, necessary, satisfying, but it's fatal to let them wreck your life when they go wrong ....You must, in the long run, live your own life. Not all of it, to be sure. Other people must be allowed to enter it. You must open your doors and invite them to be a part of your existence....as your guests. But another human being must not be a big fraction of your life. And certainly a friend, however precious, should not be more than a tenth of your existence. A vital, productive tenth, but not enough to wreck your life....You can't measure friendship calculatingly, to a quarter of a teaspoonful, let us say, but your life must be governed by a natural and distinctive wisdom—and if it isn't you will suffer for it....And deserve what you get.

ON THIS DATE

A DAY IN CANADIAN HISTORY

By Fred Williams

AT WAR; DID NOT KNOW IT

On this date, in 1812 the people of Canada were at war, but they did not know it. It was on June 18, 1812, that the United States Congress, by a bare majority declared war against Great Britain and started its forces towards the invasion of Canada, which was to be the chief prize when victory came as they were certain it would come. They had 8,000,000 people, Canada less than half a million. How could David stand up against Goliath? It was going to be a walkover; but it was nothing of the kind. The militia of both Lower and Upper Canada saw to that; and history tells the result. At the end of two years and a half the enemy had been driven out of British territory and had the campaign lasted another few months our forces would have been in occupation of much of New York state.

It was a war which should never have been; it would not have been if there had been a cable then in existence, for the very day before Congress acted the British government withdrew the orders in council to which the United States objected. In these days of rapid communication it is hard to realize the importance of time in that contest. The government of Upper Canada did not know officially for nearly a week that the war had come. Brock had known for months that it was coming and had done his best to get ready, but it was July 6 before he was able to issue his proclamation ordering the people to "forbear all communication with the enemy."

As a matter of fact the news of the war decision was known in York on the 21st of June, the word having been brought up by one of John Richard's boats form Oswego, probably the Nancy, and it was as a result of this private information that Brock was able to make such rapid progress with his plans to repel the invaders on the western front, which he did in such quick time that by August 12, three weeks after the declaration of war, he had captured Detroit.

Canada had nothing to do with the cause of the war; she was a victim because she was British, and while the sacrifice was terribly hard to bear it was worth while since it gave birth to a national consciousness and for the first time to union between the two races in a common defence or their homes.

GRAIN AND PRODUCE REVIEWS

ONTARIO GRAIN

Approximate prices track shipping point—Wheat, 99c to $1.02; oats, 40c to 45c; barley, 48c to 50c; corn, 65c to 70c; rye, 48c to 50c; buckwheat, 58c to 60c.

MONTREAL PRODUCE

Butter and egg prices were easier while cheese and potatoes quotations held steady on the Montreal produce and dairy markets yesterday.

Fresh No. 1 butter was off ½c at 20¾c to 21c a pound in carlots or less. Small lots to retailers were quoted at 22c a pound for solids and 23c for prints. Receipts were 624 boxes.

The egg market was easier. Graded shipments in less than carlots were 19½c to 20c a dozen for 'A' large, 18½c to 19c for 'A' medium, 18c to 18½c for 'B' and 17c to 17½c for 'C'. Arrivals were 1,952 cases.

Cheese was steady, Ontario colored 1,137 boxes.

The potato market was generally firm. N.B. Mountains were 70c to 75c per 80-pound bag; Quebec whites, 65c per 80-pound bag, and Prince Edward Island Mountains, 95c per 90-pound bag.

CHICAGO GRAIN

Notable strength which developed in the corn market yesterday because the ruling factor as to all grains at the last.

Authoritative reports indicating extreme severity of chinch bug damage to the corn crop led to a decided jump in corn values, and so, too, did predictions that corn injury would show up in cumulative shape very rapidly the next ten days. Adding to the upward impetus of the corn market was 2,599,000 bushels decrease of the corn visible supply, reducing the available stock to below that of the corresponding time a year previous.

Corn closed skittish at virtually day's top, 1c to 1⅝c above Saturday's finish wheat, ⅞c up; oats, unchanged to ¼c advance, and provisions showing a rise of 12c to 20c.

WINNIPEG GRAIN.

WINNIPEG, June 19.—Persistence of drought over a large part of Europe coupled with export sales of 600,000 bushels of Canadian wheat sent futures prices up for net gains of ⅞c to 1 cent on the Winnipeg Grain Exchange yesterday.

July wheat closed at 77⅞c, October at 80¼c, and December at 81c. Bulk of the buying was attributed to the pessimistic tone of cables from Europe. In the opinion of some authorities, European countries will not produce any wheat for export.

These conditions more than offset any improvement that rains have brought about in the North American wheat belt. Trading was in moderate volume, Chicago sources supplied most of the light selling, while support was credited to seaboard and Continental houses in the main.

What's in The NAME

of Canadian Cities and Towns?

By FRANK H. WILLIAMS

CHARLOTTETOWN, P.E.I.

The province of Prince Edward Island established a principle of using the names of royalty in naming counties, towns, etc., which accounts for the naming of Charlottetown, although most of the present generation will experience difficulty in tracing the parallel.

The naming of the island capital at Charlottetown goes bavk to 1764, when Capt. Holland began a survey of the island. He laid out county towns for each of the counties and for Queen's county he selected the name of Charlottetown as the county seat, named for Queen Charlotte, the consort of George III.

PRINCE BECOMES HEAD ENGLISH SPEAKING UNION

LONDON, June 19 (CP Cable).—Acceptance by the Prince of Wales of the presidency of the English-Speaking Union of the British Empire, to-day was hailed by Union members as signalizing the importance of the organization as an agency for promoting peace and fellowship between the English-speaking peoples of the world.

Announcement that His Royal Highness had consented to act as the Union's president was made last night.

The English-speaking Union, now 16 years old, was organized under the Presidency of Lord Balfour and the late President Howard Taft became the first president of the Union in the United States.

QUINTUPLETS GAIN AGAIN

CORBEIL, Ont., June 19.—(CP)—The Dionne quintuplets, 22 days old, today won back most of the weight they dropped yesterday and now are 7¼ ounces heavier than they were last Saturday.

The increase today was 3¼ ounces bringing the total weight of the five to 11 pounds 11¼ ounces, compared with 11 pounds 8 ounces yesterday.

Dr. A. R. Dafoe reported 24-year-old Mrs. Oliva Dionne and her five girl daughters were all in good condition when he visited them today.

Profit-taking in Oil Group Sends Leaders Down Fractions.

UTILITIES HOLD FIRM.

TORONTO, June 19. (CP). Adjournment of the U.S. Congress did not stir industrial markets into a rally as had been widely indicted, the Toronto Exchange closing to-day with losses predominating. Profit-taking was in evidence in the oil group which turned in losses of ⅛ to ⅜ among the leaders on heavy volume and foods and steels closed with recessions ranging up to a point. Utilities held mainly firm.

Volume in the distillery and brewery shares showed a sharp decline from recent levels and at the close brewers and distillers, Canada Bud, Cosgrave, Industrial Alcohol and Distillers Seagrams were on the down side narrowly. Canada Malting retained a narrow gain.

In the food group Westons was up and Canners 'A' added nearly two points while lower prices ruled for Dominion Stores, Hunts 'A', Loblaw 'A' and Maple Leaf.

Shawinigan was the only weak spot in the Utilities.

Paine Webber—Regard the stock market as in strong technical shape. Expect higher prices in the immediate future.

E. A. Pierce—General outlook at this point seems to indicate possibility that further gains will be made before notable resistance is met.

NEW YORK, N.Y., June 19. — Offerings exhausted in dull drift and rise from the opening to-day indicated. The market points higher though for the present strength is likely to be selective. There is every likelihood of an opening gap on the upside to-day followed by the strength throughout most of the session. The market is in a position to go forward with less difficulty than it had in getting across the 100 level in the averages. There is stock for sale, of course, and it will be more apparent in some departments than in others, but with the backing and fillings we have witnessed in reaching this level the market has taken a big hurdle and is all but in the clear for further gains.

CHICAGO, June 19.—Corn moved to front yesterday on news of chinch bugs. Reports from several quarters yesterday indicated corn is in real danger. Up to yesterday reports on corn had been encouraging. Trading wheat was not heavy. With professional traders playing close to their vests the market stays dull.

Timely Rain Monday Helps Spring Crops

Another heavy and timely rain last night has given the Peterborough countryside all the signs of agricultural well being. The spring sown grains and roots are making excellent progress. Pastures are green, and the moisture should give the corn crop a strong start. The country is looking fresh and green, and in spite of the setback caused by the winter killing of fall wheat and clover the farms are everywhere in good condition, with prospects for a satisfactory harvest.

Miner Runs Amok Slays Two Women

BLUEFIELD, W. Va., June 19. — (A.P.)—Double murder, as mystifying as it was sudden, sent police on a hunt for a motive to-day, even though the slayer himself was dead.

The shooting was at Ken Harrison's place. Walter Cheek, a miner of Algoma, broke in the kitchen door. In one hand was a knife, in the other a pistol.

Without warning he opened fire upon two women— Mrs. Lucinda Harrison (she was Cheek's sister-in-law), and Mrs. Mary Ann Sizemore, Mrs. Harrison's mother. Both women were killed.

Ken Harrison, the husband, snatched a shotgun from the wall and sent a charge of shot into Cheek's body at close range, and Cheek fell dead.

Harrison, who could offer no explanation of Cheek's mad visit, surrendered to police.

VOTE ON BEER PARLORS

REGINA, June 19 (CP)—Electors of Saskatchewan who go to the polls to-day to elect members of the Legislature, have also a beer plebiscite ballot to mark.

On a straight ballot, they are asked to mark "Yes" or "No" to the question of the sale of beer on licensed premises.

If an affirmative answer is given, beer parlors would be established, under government supervision.

Good Progress Made Ensign Gold Mines

C. W. Dunthorne, manager of Ensign Gold Mines Limited property which is situated three miles from Webbwood, has just returned from a visit to the property, accompanied by a Peterborough shareholder, and reports he is well pleased with the progress that is being made. It is well situated, with a good gravel road passing through it. On the property is a shaft previously sunk to 400 feet, with three levels opened.

Mr. Dunthorne is to be in New York this week in connection with further financing with which to erect a mill and if matters work out as anticipated and arranged fifteen men will be at work by the end of June cleaning up and getting the millsite completed, and if plans under way carry through, all new buildings will be erected and the mill in operation in October.

Archbishop's Prayers Answered By Rain

LONDON, Eng., June 19. (AP).—Prayers for rain were offered by the Archbishop of York at the church assembly session in Westminster to-day and it wasn't long afterward that a few light showers, the first in many a long day, fell in parts of the London area.

Word came from the north that it had been raining steadily since 2 a.m.; Manchester and sections of the south coast and west England as well were deluged.

Weather authorities would not say the drought actually was broken, but the situation, as far as surface moisture is concerned, was certainly alleviated in some sections.

The air ministry furthermore predicted the continuation of the welcome dampness declaring that the land will get its share within 24 hours.

THEATRES

AT THE CAPITOL

'MANHATTAN MELODRAMA."

This is a most interesting picture, despite the fact that the three stars who work in it never stop acting for a moment. William Powell, Clark Gable, and Myrna Loy strive for supremacy at all times. It is entertaining to watch each of the trio striving to dominate a scene, and each one of the others putting him or her back in place, at the same time.

But the honors go to the suave, smooth little man, Powell, although the sympathy of the watchers is with "Blackie" Gallagher.

Two dominating motives, contrasting strongly, influence the lives of two men. Gallagher goes the crooked path of the gangster and Powell takes to the law, to send his erstwhile boyish companion to the electric chair. But Gallagher's murders are a bit too cold-blooded. He never gives his victims a chance, so the sympathetic angle is somewhat blurred at the last. One feels that he deserved to die. Myrna Loy, the pretty lady who is becoming a little plumper, emphasizes her remarks as usual with energetic head motions.

One of the great disasters of history, the burning of the excursion boat, the General Slocum, comes into this picture.

Charley Chase is as funny as always in "Another Wild Idea.' He demonstrates the power of a new electric ray, the invention of a priceless old gent with a gargoyle face. This contraption causes the one on which it is used to instantly give way to suppressed desires, so we see Charley fight a policeman and smash a radio during a gooey "Bedtime Hour" period and do other things that sane citizens think about with yearning and seldom carry out. —Jeanette.

Alderman Toured Western Ontario

Alderman and Mrs. Walter Stocker have returned from a 5-day motor tour through Western Ontario. The former returned in order to preside as chairman at the regular monthly meeting of the local Board of Health only to declare that the meeting would stand adjourned to Thursday Alderman Stocker did not regret his early return as it enabled both he and his wife to poll their votes during the course of the day.

On the tour which he made Alderman Stocker, as chairman of the Parks Committee, was particularly interested in the parks in the various centres he visited, and declared that he had been particularly impressed with the parks in Toronto and Hamilton, the rockery at Kitchener and the grounds of the Ontario Reformatory at Guelph.

Other places he visited included Galt, Preston, Stratford, Ingersoll, Woodstock, London, Brampton and Port Dover.

Probe Mine Blast That Took 3 Lives

NACMINE, Alta, June 19 (CP)—Preparations were underway today for investigation into the explosion in the Thomas Coal Company Mine here yesterday, taking the lives of three men. Two others narrowly escaped.

The dead are Alex McLeod, fire boss; Ivor Jones, pitt boss and son of the mine manager, and Hugh McDougall. W. L. Thomas, brother of the owner, and Louis Auger, machine boss, narrowly escaped with their lives.

Jones died in an attempt to rescue McLeod and McDougall. Escaping from the fall of rock after the explosion, Jones re-entered the mine but was trapped by more rock and was killed.

Cause of the explosion had not been determined to-day. An inquest into the death of the three man, all survived by widows and families, has been ordered, but no date for taking the evidence has been set.

An investigation by officers of the Alberta Government's Mines Department also was anticipated.

Living Link Circle Holds Indoor Picnic

Owing to inclement weather the outdoor picnic planned by the Living Link Mission Circle of Trinity Church was held last evening in Reid Street Hall, with the president, Edna Forster, conducting, and a goodly number in attendance.

Supper was served, after which business was dispensed with and Fall plans outlined.

Miss Odie Wright's group then took over the meeting with Scripture taken by Miss Wright.

Mrs. Legon and Alice Brown brought splendid Christian Stewardship and Temperance items. Grace Sargent very interestingly presented the fifth chapter of Study Book, "Lady, Fourth Daughter of China," which deals with the training of the girls for future home life.

Two enjoyable letters were read from the Circle's adopted missionary, Miss Vera Boyd, telling of her work in hospital at Indore, India.

The meeting closed with the Mizpah Benediction.

Market Closing On All Exchanges

WALL STREET

NEW YORK, June 19 (A.P.) — Stocks developed heaviness to-day and drifted lower after opening with a generally firm tone. Activity picked up, transfers approximating 800,000 shares. Aircraft, sugar and steel issues were under some pressure, although Great Western Sugar Preferred and American Sugar Refining were exceptions. Mining stocks, after touching new tops in some cases, lost their gains. Rails, aside from Union Pacific, were soft. U.S. Steel, Telephone, American Can, General Motors, Chrysler, Westinghouse and other leaders lost up to a point.

COAST ISSUES SHOW DECLINES

Wayside, Bridge River Extension Leads Moderate Setback at Toronto.

GENERAL LIST FIRM.

TORONTO, June 19.— (C.P.) — Heavy volume in a few individual issues and a generally firm price structure, characterized to-day's mining section of the Toronto stock exchange. British Columbia issues, with exception of Bralorne, sold off, led by Wayside, which was dumped in huge blocks attended by a drop of 4 cents to 13½. Bridge River Extension fell back to 87, down 10 cents. Base Metals and Silvers were steady but slow.

Gold shares held the main interest. Bralorne advanced above $15 while Dome set a new high mark at $44.50, but did not hold. Teck Hughes, Wright Hargreaves and Hollinger closed off 10 to 20.

Strong spots in the secondary gold group included God's Lake, up 6 to $1.75, and Read Authier, up 3 to $1.49.

Noranda was the only weak spot in the base metals. It closed at $43.25, down 75 cents.

SKIES CLEARING FOR RAILROADS

Electric Railways Looking For Greater Business in Present Year.

WAGE RATES CUT.

TORONTO, June 19 (C.P.).—The Canadian Transit Association views with optimism Canada's increasing employment, believing it will bring to the nation's electric railways more passenger traffic and will put a brake on revenues that have been skidding since 1930.

In its eighth annual bulletin, "Electric Railway Statistics," the association links the trend of employment with that of passenger revenue and suggests revenue is more dependent on the number of persons working than with lessening competition of private or other automobiles.

It notes passenger revenue per mile of single track reached the peak in 1930 when it stood at $20,484. Thereafter it declined steadily until, at the end of 1933, it stood at $17,183, the lowest since 1920. In the same period operating expense per single mile of track dropped from a peak of $16,530 a year to $13,019, also the lowest since 1920. At the end of 1933 the ratio of operating expense to passenger revenue per mile of single track was at the lowest point in 12 years, with the exception of 1929.

Despite every effort of companies to economize, the report says, the spread between passenger revenue and operating expenses has become less since 1929. It noted the change from one to two-man cars has been one factor in reduction of operating expenses.

Most companies, the report says, have made substantial reductions in their wage rates, coupled with efforts to spread work as much as possible. As a result, it maintains, staff reductions have not been as extensive as in other industries. It claims also that wages have maintained a favorable level compared with the cost of living, "much better in fact than those in other comparative industries."

Calling the 1913 wage rate 100, the report continues, wages had risen by 1930 to 199.4, their peak. On the same basis, it says, the cost of living reached its peak in 1920, falling off later to between 150 and 160, where it stayed for nine years until the depression, when it fell further to 114.2 in 1932 and 112.9 at the end of 1933.

Wages, the bulletin says, did not feel the effect of the depression very much until 1932, but seem now to be definitely on the downgrade ending 1933 with an index of 182.7.

The report notes a trend toward control by established transport agencies of transportation services in and around cities. "The majority of the large independent bus lines in Canada," it says, "have been purchased or are controlled by electric railways. Previous to these purchases many independent companies were operating over city streets, depriving street railways of considerable revenue and establishing what would ultimately have resulted in perpetual franchises. In the interests of the cities served it was advisable from every standpoint to have all transportation facilities in the hands of established and reliable companies."

SECTION FOREMAN IS KILLED BY TRAIN

Patrick O'Neill of Bowmanville Steps Into Path of C.N.R. Train.

BOWMANVILLE, June 19.—Patrick O'Neill, aged about 60 years, Canadian National Railways section foreman at Newcastle, was instantly killed by a fast through freight train about two miles east of Newcastle yesterday.

Apparently forgetful of the fact that a rail detector had rerouted traffic, the unfortunate man stepped on to the north rail directly into the path of the oncoming train. He had been accustomed to traffic approaching on the south rail, and before he found out his error it was too late. Mr. O'Neill was to have been pensioned next year, after many years' service with the C.N.R.

He is survived by his widow; two sons, Patrick of Philadelphia and Percy of Belleville; and one daughter, Mrs. Ray Keech, of Trenton. Dr. Neil Colville, Coroner, of Orono, held a preliminary inquest here last night, and adjourned the hearing until a future date.

Suddenly reflecting that it had been some time since his students had had earthquake drill, the principal of Marlborough College, was surprised three seconds later by a bad quake.

HEAVIEST VOTE IN HISTORY SEEN

Heavy Rain in Night Gives Ontario Rural Voters Day Off For Balloting.

STORMING IN WEST.

(By the Canadian Press.)

Heralded by clear skies, brilliant sunshine and cool breezes in almost every section of the province, election day came upon Ontario to-day with prospects of the largest turnout of the electorate in history.

From Fort William and Sault Ste. Marie in the north-west, across the northern belt of Sudbury and North Bay, eastward to Ottawa and along the whole southern sector from Windsor to Kingston came reports of early activity and steady polling in both urban and rural centres.

Just what figures to-day's total vote would reach was problematical. In the 1929 Provincial general election 1,001,880 votes were cast; in 1926 there were 1,146,521 votes.

As the trickle of voters at poll-opening became a steady stream, there were no reports of disturbances.

A serious accident was averted at St. Thomas when one voter, going after another, lost control of his car and leaped from the machine with his young brother as it plunged into a dam.

Rain Increases Vote

To the west, farmers reported an end of the drought, and where crops could be saved the rain proved of inestimable value. The heavy downpour of the previous 24 hours was expected to increase rather than lessen the "farmer vote."

Only on little-travelled clay roads was any difficulty expected in reaching the polls, and it was believed this factor could be generally disregarded. Many farmers preferred to do no work today after the soaking downpour and prepared to "make a day of it" for the balloting.

In urban centres the change in the weather augured well for a heavy turnout of electors.

Storms In West

REGINA, June 19.—(CP)—Heralded by booming thunder, flashes of lightning and heavy showers during early hours, Saskatchewan electors went to the polls today over mud-splashed roads.

Grey, rain-laden clouds swung across the province and with heavy roads reported in rural areas a curtailment in the general vote was expected.

It was estimated yesterday at least 325,000 men and women would journey to the polls in the 51 constituencies in which 167 candidates seek election to 54 legislature seats today, but overnight rains may change this total considerably.

Henry Votes

TORONTO, June 19. (CP)—Premier George S. Henry voted shortly after 10.30 o'clock today when he appeared at sub-division 1, ward 1, North York, at Oriole, a few miles beyond the division, appearing just as it opened. Other members of the family voted early in the morning.

Norman Muirhead said the premier made no comment on the election but talked about the rain, saying he thought it would do a lot of good, and shook hands with everyone.

Hepburn Turns Out

ST. THOMAS, Ont., June 19.—(CP)—Mitchell F. Hepburn, Liberal leader cast his vote at the polling booth in the Community Hall at Union Village, this afternoon. He remained in the city last night after the big meeting here and rested this morning.

VOTING IS BRISK IN ALL SECTIONS OF THE COUNTY

clock to-day by The Examiner indicated that throughout the city about one-third of the total vote had been recorded. Scrutineers expressed complete satisfaction with the manner in which the vote was being steadily recorded.

Similar reports were received from the rural sections of the county. Perfect weather conditions added the rural voters in reaching the polls, and from all sections it was stated, "Voting is brisk."

All three candidates threw the full weight of their presence this morning into the rural districts. It was reported at committee room headquarters that T. P. Lancaster, Conservative candidate; James Hawthorne, Liberal standard bearer, and Rev. John A. Sutherland, C.C.F. candidate, had been busy all morning rounding up the vote in certain chosen districts of the county.

However, this afternoon all three were just as active in the city, making their presence felt in the last minute generalship of getting out the vote.

All Are Optimistic

Optimism and confidence was the paramount feeling at headquarters this afternoon of the three candidates.

At Rev. Mr. Sutherland's committee rooms The Examiner was told "We have been drawing quite a large vote out of the north end.

Mrs. Robert MacMillan, wife of a peddler of Inverness, Scotland, recently gave birth to husky triplets.

Honoring Carl Hans Lody, the German naval officer, who was shot as a spy in the Tower of London in 1914, a memorial is to be erected in Lubeck, Germany.

Train For Stratosphere Flight

Prof. Jean Piccard, well known scientist, and his wife, Jeannette, are pictured taking off from a Detroit airport on a balloon flight, one of the piloting tests being made by the couple in preparation for their scheduled stratosphere flight from Detroit this summer. Mrs. Piccard, who is receiving instructions in balloon piloting from Edward J. Hill, Detroit balloonist, will pilot the stratosphere balloon while Piccard makes observations. They are also shown inset.

We put a lot of effort into that district this morning and results were surprising. We are certainly hoping that Rev. Mr. Sutherland will be the winner. Anyway we are putting up a good fight."

At Mr. Hawthornes headquarters, one of his campaign managers stated, "Everything is running very smoothly, and everyone is most optimistic as to the result. Hawthorne is sure going to be the winner. Everything is in readiness for the big dance here this evening. Win or lose we will not be downhearted, and the big dance will go with merriment."

At the headquarters for Mr. Lancaster, it was said, "The vote is coming in nicely. Everyone is busy and there is nothing but confidence as to the result here. Mr. Lancaster is going to win."

Sheriff F. J. A. Hall, who in his capacity as returning officer of the riding is virtually in charge of the whole local election, said, "Everything in connection with the voting is running smoothly. There have been some complaints, but when investigated they did not amount to anything."

sided in the community ever since, with exception of six years when he resided in Toronto.

Operated Drug Store

For many years he operated the drug store at Lakefield which is now under the management of his brother, Charles S. Tanner, also former reeve of the village, and ex-Warden of the County of Peterborough.

The late Mr. Tanner was reeve of Lakefield for a number of years, prior to going to Toronto in 1912. He was popularly regarded as a progressive and economical administrator.

While he was managing director of the Monarch Mortgage Company of Toronto at the time of his death, the late Mr. Tanner had continued to reside in Lakefield and had been in the habit of making periodic business trips to Toronto, where he was well known.

Besides his widow, formerly Minnie Linton of Orono, the late Mr. Tanner leaves three sisters, Mrs. James Edward of Montreal, Mrs. A. J. Whakeley of Toronto and Mrs. Guillett of Cobourg; also two brothers, Fred W. Tanner of Toronto and Charles S. Tanner of Lakefield.

T.T.C. Strike Action Far From Settled

TORONTO, June 19 (C.P.).—Immediate strike action of Toronto Transportation Commission motormen and conductors remained indefinite to-day, following publication of the majority report of the Board of Conciliation.

"There is still a possibility of the strike going into effect to-day," said Larry O'Connell, president of the Street Railwaymen's International Union. He added, however: "Unless something new develops the committee may not decide until late to-day or to-morrow just when, if at all, the strike will be staged."

department store expansion.

The company as a whole had a net surplus of $977,400 in 1925; $982,600 in 1926; $3,398,783 in 1926; $3,171,381 in 1928; and $1,879,928 in 1929. Then came three years of red ink, $2,935,400 in 1930; $4,261,400 in 1931 and $1,061,500 in 1932. The company returned to a profit last year, $403,400.

The store division of the Company has been a consistent money-maker. Before depreciation was charged, the stores have made money every year but one since 1925 red ink being used in 1931.

"I have seen the list of executive salaries and they are quite moderate," the auditor told the committee. Wage reductions have been made in recent years but definite figures will be furnished later.

The company had broadened out since its formation in 1670 until at the present time it had the following distinct departments: Head office London, England; Canadian committee and administrative offices; fur trading department; departmental stores department; wholesale department and land department.

"Besides this," stated Thomas Weir, of Clarkson and Company, accountants, "the company has subsidiary companies or interests in subsidiary companies in the fishing trade, in the development of oil and gas, in fox farms, in other trading companies and have also had joint interest with other companies in land settlement projects."

During 1931, said the accountant, the methods of administration of the company's affairs in Canada underwent a change. A Canadian administrative office was appointed with head office in Winnipeg and charged with the control of the company's operations in the Dominion, besides which a general manager was appointed as the company's chief executive in Canada. Control of company policy and finance, however, still rested with the governor and the committee in London, England.

Department Curtailed

Activities of the company's wholesale department had been substantially curtailed, witness told the committee. This department was now maintained almost entirely for the supply of the company's branded lines of tea, coffee and liquors.

The stores department at present operated 10 departmental stores, Mr. Weir answered.

The average number of employees of the company in Canada, including temporary help, this year was 3,856, the accountant stated.

"The company has no funded debt," witness said in discussing the capital stock of the organization.

The capitalization of the company at Jan. 31, last, said the accountant was: Five percent cumulative preference shares of £5 each amounting to £2,000,000, all authorized, subscribed an fully paid; and £3,000,000 ordinary stock at a par value of £1 each. Of this ordinary stock, £2,492,224 were subscribed and fully paid.

Dividends of five percent on the preferred stock were paid regularly up to July 2, 1930, with none paid since. The last dividend was also paid that year on the common shares.

Turning to the stores department, the auditor said the relatives importance of the various sores was indicated by the following tabulation of sales of each store for the year ending Jan. 31, 1934:

Winnipeg	$7,600,000
Vancouver	6,000,000
Calgary	2,600,000
Victoria	1,900,000
Edmonton	1,900,000
Saskatoon	1,100,000
Kamloops	277,000
Nelson	238,000
Vernon	219,000
Yorkton	171,000

In all stores, sales increased from $4,592,000 in 1911 to a peak of $35,810,000 in 1930. There has been a steady decrease in the last four years until a total of $22,114,000 was reached in 193 3

The gross porfits to cost of sales after adding buying office charges and costs of alterations was 36.98 per cent in 1929; 35.77 in 1930; 35.06 in 1931; 36.61 in 1932 and 38 33 in 1933.

"These percentages," said the auditor, "seem to indicate that the reduction in profits in the years ending Jan. 31, 1930, 1931 and 1932 were partly accounted for at least by a reducing scale of maintained mark-ups as well as the reduction in volume of sales and that in the years ending Jan. 31, 1933 and 1934, a somewhat better ratio of mark-ups has been obtained, which probably accounts to some extent at least, for the improved operating results in those two years, although this improvement has also been materially assisted by a substantial reduction of expenses."

ASTOR ROMANCE DETAILS GIVEN

Gillespie Family Reveal Daughter Was Offered $1,500,000 Trust Fund.

BEFORE ENGAGEMENT.

NEW YORK, June 19. (CP).—A spokesman for Mr. and Mrs. Lawrence Lewis Gillespie is reported to have disclosed that John Jacob Astor offered a $1,500,000 trust fund to Miss Eileen Gillespie immediately upon the announcement of their engagement, which was broken in January.

Astor was quoted as having said to Gillespie at the Union Club:

"I'd like to give Eileen a million dollars—no, a million and a half."

"She's too young to have that much money," Gillespie demurred, the spokesman said.

"Why not a trust fund, the income to be paid her for life and her children to inherit the principal, or in case there are no children, to revert to the Astor estate on her death?" Gillespie was quoted as asking.

The $1,500,000 was later reduced to $500,000 after conferences with attorneys representing both the Gillespie and the Astor estate, the spokesman reported.

The New York American says it was Astor who "broke" the engagement—not Miss Gillespie.

Astor that paper continues, explained to Miss Gillespie that he was no longer in love with her and that he did not wish to marry her—or anyone else—"for a long, long time."

His bicycle skidding, fifteen-year-old Thomas Connolly was thrown into into the canal in Ballydough, Irish Free State, and drowned.

TRUNK MURDER REAL MYSTERY

Scotland Yard Given Valuable Tip by Person Sworn to Secrecy.

ALL LUGGAGE COMBED.

LONDON, June 19 (A.P.). — The discovery of a woman's legs in London and a woman's torso in Brighton put Scotland Yard on the trail to-day of of one of England's weirdest murder mysteries.

There were only meagre clues. Both the legs and the torso were wrapped in brown wrapping paper and authorities were almost certain they belonged to the same person.

Four letters, "F-O-R-D" written on the paper at Brighton with a blue pencil, detectives believed, might serve as a signboard in the search for the slayer.

Scotland Yard said, however, valuable information had been divulged by a person "sworn to secrecy."

After an examination of the legs, found in a suit case which had been left at the King's Cross Railway Station here June 7, Sir Bernard Spilsbury, noted Home Office pathologist, was to go to Brighton to examine the torso and decide whether the legs belonged to the body.

In the hope of discovering other possible clues, all railway stations, cloak rooms and luggage deposits in London were thoroughly combed without success under the direction of Scotland Yard.

The torso at Brighton, dismembered by a saw, was stuffed into a cheap canvas trunk, with wool wrapped about it.

The frightful discoveries came within a few hours of each other and shocked all England.

Interest was heightened by publicity given the international case of the missing Agnes Tufverson, American lawyer, whose husband, Captain Ivan Foderjay, is being held in Vienna, but the two mysteries were thought by authorities not to be linked.

Officials pointed out there was no scar on the Brighton torso, although Miss Tufverson bore one because of an abdominal operation.

BRITISH SOCIALIST PARTY PLANS TO DISREGARD EMPIRE UNITS

the national union government of Messrs. MacDonald, Baldwin and Simon.

"It is impossible to build a viable socialist economic system on the basis of a socialized British Empire. We must seek a much wider basis if we do not want to see our plan break down in a devastating crisis," writes Horrabin in explaining the new orientation of the left-wingers in the Labor party to the socialist delegates of the European continent, assembled in Paris.

Disregard Empire

Considering the general line of an Empire policy to be pursued by an eventual socialist government in England, Dr. Horrabin said: "The British Empire as it exists to-day is not a geographical unity. Therein lies in fact its weakness in its battle for economic mastery with the other capitalist powers of the world. The dominions are independent capitalist states. In different imperial conferences—the last Ottawa conference especially — it became absolutely clear that there is no chance of subordinating the interests of these countries to those of England. British policy sought there (meaning Ottawa) with the aid of an armful of sentiment, to convince 'the children of a mighty mother' that they must accord their ex-mother a number of economic preferences. The intention of this policy was to equip England with the raw materials which she lacks at present in the not so sentimental competitive battle with the U.S. A., Japan and other rivals. A socialist government will make no such arrangements with the dominions. We are not going to build socialism in England on the basis of language, race, blood-sentiment or any sentiment whatsoever. Our relations with the Dominions will rest on exactly the same basis as that on which we treat with other capitalist countries. If preferences are to be given they will naturally be given to other socialist states. We will first of all treat with the Russians.

"A socialist government must lock the reality in the face. It is an obvious fact that such a government can expect no aid from the possessing classes in a dominion like Canada, but the very opposite. We will therefore conclude the closest possible alliance with our own friends—with states that are ruled by socialists. This implies first of all a close contact with the labor movements of other countries."

Hold No Possessions

One of the most important declarations of the left-wingers concerns the future relations of England with her present colonies. Horrabin says: "A socialist government will start out with forbidding any future English government to possess overseas territories without taking into consideration the wishes of the inhabitants of those territories. We will fully respect the right of everyone of these peoples to self-determination. We have no intention of continuing the present policy of trying to make imitation Europeans out of African natives, but urge these people to develop their civilization according to their own character and inclinations. As socialists we will have no right to force other peoples into accepting our economic plans."

This of course raises principally the question of India. "Only people who follow an ostrich policy with regard to India," Dr. Horrabin added, "can deny that the various Indian groups strive for a different goal. This has hitherto served to postpone every form of agreement in India. There is not the faintest chance that these different aspirations are brought together under one hat so long as a government rules in India which is alien to the country and which has the power to advance the interests of this or that group. A socialist government in England will have to cut the knot in leaving responsibility to the Indians themselves. It is not socialist propaganda but a historical fact to say, in strict opposition to the stories in capitalistic schoolbooks about 'the extension of civilization' and 'the white man's burden' that nothing was ever done in the colonial empire towards the improvement of the lot of the masses if it did not first of all contribute to the increase of profits. British imperialism has dried up swamps, built bridges and dams, conquered deserts, but it has not done so out of feelings of humanity, but because without such measures capitalist exploitation would have been impossible. The history of British relations to India is a systematic, planned economic ruination of the Indian masses in order to drive up the profits of the Lancashire cotton-spinners. Therefore a socialist government will not concern itself overmuch with the claims, rights and prerogatives of the native princes, but will in so far as this is possible, support the interests of the broad masses of the Indian peasants and industrial workers. Those who think that for this reason alone we ought to stay in India should not forget that today we can hold on to India alone by military force. And even this will not last much longer."

Of the monarchy Frank Horrabin had this to say. "In general parlance it is said that the crown is the link which binds the colonial empire together; 'crown' is only another word for dividends in this connection." The League of Nations in its present from and composition is unacceptable to the left-wingers, "for," he added, "we doubt very much whether a really socialist government can give an account of its activity to the League of Nations so long as the Geneva body remains a predominantly capitalist organization. It would be more sensible to give an accounting to the socialist labor internationale."

The afternoon session commenced at 2 o'clock, the devotional exercises being in charge of Rev. Mr. Downing, of Indian River Baptist Church.

WEDNESDAY EVENING

The general public is invited to visit The Peterborough Canoe Company's showrooms on Water street, where starting on Wednesday of this week a special display of boats is to be on view.

While the showrooms are open at all times of the year to prospective customers, it is the first time they have been thrown open in such a manner to the general public. On Wednesday evening and for the balance of the week, the showrooms are to remain open until ten o'clock each evening, and the various models of canoes, and outboard and inboard motor boats will be tastefully displayed to demonstrate in a unique way the large and varied line which is manufactured by the company.

Besides approximately eight different canoe models, the firm manufactures about sixteen models in the outboard field from the 65 lb. auto boat specially designed for convenient carrying by motorists, to the ten passenger family model known as the "Admiral," as well as six different outboard boats.

In connection with the boat show, the firm is featuring a specially attractive display window at the Peterborough Hardware Company's store on George street.

Roseneath Branch Meets at Home of Mrs. John Baxter —Pleasing Program.

ROSENEATH, June 19 (Examiner Correspondence) — The regular meeting of the Women's Institute was held at the home of Mrs. John Baxter, the president, Mrs. Frank Nichol presiding.

Mrs. S. Ryan reported that Mrs. T. A. Tucker had consented to give a reading at the district annual meeting at Fenella. Mrs. Barton Thackeray offered her car to take Roseneath delegates to this meeting.

The July meeting to be held in the town hall with Mrs. Ednel Blodgett as hostess and Mrs. Earl Thackeray and Mrs. Delbert Brisbin as program committee. Miss Annie Brown suggested a drive to increase the membership and later it was put in force when Mrs. Ezra Sherwin and Miss Ruby Blodgett consented to act as leaders, the drive to last until the September meeting. Miss Brown offered to donate the first prize. Each leader is to be given a prize and former members who have not already joined, to count as members.

A new idea was discussed on suggestion of Mrs. Pacey, seconded by Mrs. Alfred Sherwin that the Institute have four assistant hostesses at each meeting, carried. After much discussion it was decided that the refreshments be divided as follows: two provide two cakes each and the remaining two sandwiches. The lunch committee secretary is Mrs. Ednel Blodgett and the lunch committee for July will be Mrs. Pacey and Mrs. Alfred Sherwin, cakes, Mrs. E. Sherwin and Miss Ruby Blodgett, sandwiches.

The program consisted of a talk on the motto, "Speech is the Index of the Mind," by Mrs. Ednel Blodgett, and brought out many instructive ideas. A solo "Believe me if all those endearing young charms," by Mrs. Delbert Brisbin. A reading, "Just a Baby," by Mrs. C. W. Varcoe. A contest on advertising slogans was put on by Mrs. Earl Waldie. A reading, "A Mother's Clothes Line" by Mrs. Earl Thackeray. A baseball contest was put on by Mrs. Barton Thackeray; a reading, "The Greatest Happiness" by Mrs. William Mounce; a humorous number was given by Mrs. M. D. Brown, "Ma and Her Check Book." The lucky chair prize was won by Mrs. Earl Thackeray.

A vote of thanks was tender ed Mrs. Baxter for her kind hospitality and the meeting was closed with singing the National Anthem.

Delicious refreshments were served by Mrs. Baxter and her friends which completed a delightful afternoon.

Obituary

JAMES CROWLEY.

The funeral was held on Monday morning of James Crowley, whose death occurred early on Friday morning after a brief illness, from the home of his sisters at 6 Inverlea Street. A celebration of Requiem Mass was offered at St. Peter's Cathedral by the Rev. Fr. Guiry of Port Hope, a cousin of the deceased. Rev. Paul Costello, rector of the Cathedral preached an eloquent funeral sermon

Spiritual and floral tokens and the large attendance at the service bore testimony to the esteem in which the late Mr. Crowley was held in the community in which he had spent a greater part of his life.

The late Mr. Crowley was born in Douro Township sixty years ago, a son of the late Cornelius Crowley and Ellen Leahy. He leaves four sisters, the Misses Suzanne and Mary Crowley of Inverlea Street, Mrs. S. F. Redmond of Otonabee and Mrs. Dupre of Rochester, N.Y. Two sisters predeceased him

Pall-bearers were: Messrs John R Corkery, Ernest Redmond, John Crowley, Maxwell Redmond, Charles Brown, Frank Hickey, Ray McColl, Dr. J. M. O'Brien

Rev. Paul Costello and Rev. Fr. Guiry recited committal prayers at the graveside in the family plot at St. Peter's Cemetery. Among those noticed from a distance were his sister, Mrs. Dupre of Rochester, Mrs. J. A. Egan, Miss Viola Egan and John Egan, all of Toronto.

PUBLIC WORKS IN HOUSE TODAY

Bill Expected to Deliver Powerful Blow at Depression and Unemployment.

DEBT BILLS ADVANCE.

OTTAWA, June 19 (C.P.)—Designed to deliver a powerful blow at depression and unemployment, the Federal Government's public works program comes before the House of Commons to-day. It will provide for the initiation of a building program in all the nine provinces of Canada which will give employment to large numbers and create a demand for materials which, it is hoped, will be an important factor in speeding up business generally.

In order to keep the plan out of the realm of political controversy as much as possible, the Government delayed its introduction until after the close of the election campaigns in Ontario and Saskatchewan.

Yesterday the Commons approved the bills to assist debt-burdened farmers and moved them through the committee stage. The companion measures on the one hand provide a system for debt adjustment whereby a farmer may effect voluntary and, if necessary, compulsory compromises with his creditors without losing his land or going through bankruptcy, and on the other hand provide for loans from the Farm Loan Board to furnish finances needed to carry on farm operations.

$40,000,000 In Bonds.

In this connection the authority of the Farm Loan Board to sell bonds to secure funds for farm loans is stepped up from $15,000,000 to $40,000,000. So far the bonds of the board outstanding total about $10,000,000.

The Farm Loan Board came in for criticism from a number of members on the ground it was merely a collection agency and refused loans when gilt-edged security was offered.

The supplementary estimates for the present year were tabled yesterday and the House moved into committee of supply to pass the remainder of the main estimates and more than a quarter of supplementaries. These totalled $8,274,739 and $2,117,542 were voted.

Public Buildings.

Included in the supplementaries passed were all the public buildings for Quebec, Ontario, Manitoba, Saskatchewan and Alberta, totalling $111,000, and harbor and river works in Quebec, Ontario and British Columbia, $21,350. An item of $100,000 in aid of the four hundredth anniversary celebration of the discovery of Canada was passed and a vote of $529,299 as a payment to New Brunswick, the amount at the credit of its debt allowance account.

Most of the large items and the more important ones, in the supplementaries were left over for further consideration.

The total of the main estimates and supplementaries this year was $404,584,316.

Premier Bennett turned down a suggestion from the Progressive corner on the Dominion Farm Loan Board for a flat rate of five percent on farm mortgages, set by statute. He said this would ruin the people it was designed to assist because it would tighten credit. But above that—it would be a severe blow to credit stability when money lenders realized the Dominion stepped in and passed a law nullifying their contracts and arbitrarily reducing their assets.

Attacks Board

B. F. Smith, (Cons. Victoria Carleton) opened the attack on the board and said in New Brunswick many applications which had been approved by the Provincial Board, were forwarded to the Farm Loan Board at Ottawa only to meet with refusal.

Harry Spencer (U. F. A., Battle River), said the Loan Board was not only a collecting agency but a collector of the very roughest kind. Radical changes would have to be made in its administration if it were to be made to act in a way beneficial to the farmers.

In the district he represented, said Erick Willis, (Cons. Souris), the Farm Loan Board had refused to grant any loans regardless of the security offered, the reputation or the record of the farmer. He believed the administrators of the Board were open to the severest kind of criticism.

"Nothing would be more inimical to the high reputation this country now enjoys," the Prime Minister declared on the proposed five percent interest rate.

"Once we started on that course what would be the end?" It would be an easy way to court popular approval in certain quarters but would be most hurtful to the country in general and in particular to those it was intended to assist.

The board was authorized to borrow from the Minister of Finance up to $15,000,000, said the Prime Minister. Roughly $10,000,000 had been dealt with in this way leaving a remainder of $5,000,000 which could be borrowed.

He moved an amendment to fill in a blank provision in the printed bill so that the Board could borrow up to $40,000,000. This would leave practically $30,000,000 still free for the Board to borrow. The amendment was passed.

Saskatchewan Problem

"Is there not some way whereby if money cannot be advanced directly from the Federal Loan Board to finance individual farmers in Saskaktchewan the Provincial Farm Loan scheme of Saskatchewan could be financed from this so that farmers in that province may at least be on an equal footing with the farmers in other provinces?" asked A. M. Carmichael (Prog. Kindersley).

There were those who held that they were much better off under their own act than they would be under this act, replied the Prime Minister. He did not know what steps might be taken to meet that situation.

When the bill was finished in committee and stood for third reading he would go over it again "and if we can think out a plan by which what has been suggested can be done we shall see that in another place a clause is added to the bill."

The question had been given much thought but it was not so easy as would appear to arrive at a solution. The Farm Loan board did not operate in Saskatchewan "and we cannot substitute some other instrumentality that will make advances and over which we ourselves would have no control."

"Is Saskatchewan the only province that has not made use of the Canada Farm Loan act?" inquired H. E. Spencer (U.F.A. Battle River).

Ontario did not, replied the government leader.

IN MEMORIAM.

HATLEY.—In loving memory of Reta, dearly beloved daughter of Mr. and Mrs. T. Hatley, who passed away June 19th, 1930.

"Gone, dear Reta, gone forever,
How we miss your smiling face;
But you left us to remember;
No one on earth can take your place.
A happy home we once enjoyed,
How sweet the memory still,
But death has left a loneliness
The world can never fill."

—Ever remembered by Mother, Father, Sisters and Brother.

TULLY.—In loving membory of my dear husband, who died June 19th, 1933.

"One year has passed since that sad day,
When the one we loved was called away;
God took him home, it was His will.
But in our hearts he liveth still.
Just when his days seemed brightest,
Just when his hopes seemed best,
God called him from among us,
To the home of Eternal Rest.
The world may change from year to year,
And friends from day to day,
But never will the one we loved
From our memory pass away."

73RD CONGRESS CLOSES SESSION

Insurgents in Dramatic Coup Pass Bill for Board to Conciliate Labor.

FINAL SHOT BY HUEY LONG.

WASHINGTON, June 19 (A.P.).—The 73rd United States Congress which, among other things, appropriated an estimated $6,800,000,000, passed into history to-day.

Its finale, which came at 11.45 o'clock last night, was marked by a dramatic coup by insurgents and an uproarious farewell sally by Senator Huey Long.

The Congress, besides appropriating nearly $7,000,000,000, guaranteed an estimated $7,000,000,000 in home mortgages and farm bonds, set up a $2,000,000,000 stabilization fund, passed thousands of bills, approved approximately 7,000 nominations and ratified a score of treaties.

The surprising end came last night after party independents arose in the Senate and smote Opposition to the Dill-Crosser bill to set up a national board to conciliate labor and employers in their disagreements in the railway industry.

President Roosevelt and party leaders had wanted the bill to go over to the next Congress, for they feared final action would mean a prolonged session. The insurgents, however, with such senators as Burton Wheeler (D., Mont.) and Robert Lafollette (R., Wis.) in the forefront, kept driving ahead for action, overcoming a one-man filibuster by Senator Daniel Hastings (R., Del.) and finally winning against the Opposition of administration leaders.

The administration's housing program provided for partial government guarantees of loans for home buildings and repair, and other measures to set the construction ball rolling, was the last major item to go through.

FRENCH BRIOCHE AND REQUESTED RECIPE FOR MAKING IT

Brioche is a delicious French bread or bun made with yeast. The dough is called a paste, and can be used for many purposes. It is found in French pastry shops, and in those bakeries which carry fancy breads. It is something like a bath bun, only richer, and not so easy to prepare. To make good brioche is a test of a good cook. Brioche may be likened to a pound cake bread, that is, it is as rich as pound cake is for cake. Some recipes call for bread, ¾ pound butter to 1 pound flour, and from 4 to 7 eggs to thes proportions. The following recipe is given especially for those readers who delight in the niceties of cooking.

• • • • • • •

One pound flour or one quart. One-half pound butter or three-quarters pound for a richer brioche. 5 eggs, 7 may be used. One yeast cake dissolved in one-quarter cup lukewarm water. One teaspoon salt. One or two teaspoons sugar as preferred.

• • • • • • •

FIRST PROCESS

Make a sponge of one cup of flour and the dissolved yeast cake. Set this soft paste to rise in a warm place out of draughts, and well covered. This will probably be ready to add to the rest of the dough when that is prepared, which will take some time, an hour at least.

• • • • • • •

SECOND PROCESS

Put the remainder of the flour in a bread pan, or on a bread board or good size platter. Make a well in the centre of the flour. Soften the butter, until it is almost melted. Put it into the well in which the salt and sugar already have been put. Add 3 eggs, first broken into a cup and then poured into the well, whole. Work the mixture in the well with the hands very gradually drawing in the flour. When half the flour has been worked in, add two more eggs. If seven eggs are used, these should be added one at a time when the others have been thoroughly incorporated. This dough must be worked or kneaded well. The French work it with both fists pressed down flat onto the board so that there is no possibility of there being any lumps.

• • • • • • •

THIRD PROCESS

When the sponge has tripled in size, spread it out on the dough, mix both together and knead well. Put the paste in a bowl, cover well, and let it rise in a warm place until double its size. If made in the evening it can rise overnight. The paste should be elastic and full of small air bubbles.

• • • • • • •

MAKING AND BAKING

The paste-dough can be made into balls, flattened and brushed with egg, or it can be rolled between the palms of the hands and made into twists or circles. Brush with egg. Allow to rise half hour and bake in moderate oven until delicately browned about 20 minutes. The paste must be very lightly handled or it will loose some of its fine texture.

Your Health

By DR LOGAN CLENDENING

Recently we discussed the effect of the secretion of the anterior pituitary gland on growth. It also has an effect on the weight of the patient.

In one form if pituitary disease there is excessive weight in childhood, with an inclination in males to a female type of body—lack of beard growth, high pitched voice, narrow shoulders and wide hips. There is also a tendency of sleepiness. The classic example of the disease is that of the fat boy in "Pickwick Papers." Frequently these case can be benefited by the use of pituitary extract.

In middle age the pituitary tends to atrophy and the "middle-aged spread," with deposits of fat around the waist and hips, is generally ascribed to diminution in the pituitary function. There have been preserved little statuette figures from the Stone Age which resemble perfectly modern example of this condition so that we know the pituitary has been with us a good many thousand years. I like to think of the sculptor who made these statuettes 50,000 years ago, watching some fat old lady waddle down the village street, and grinningly embodying her constitutional characteristics forever in the imperishable stone.

But the pituitary has actions on other glands which influence growth. It produces a substance which makes the thyroid gland active. And we know that in conditions of excessive activity of the thyroid gland, the individual is inclined to be thin, while in decreased activity of the thyroid, a definite increase in weight occurs. Therefore, we can understand that with fluctuations in pituitary secretion, any degree of leanness or stoutness may result.

Statuette carved by sculptor of stone age, evidently from a model who had pituitary obesity.

Perhaps even more important than its control over growth and weight is the control of the pituitary function over the reproductive activities. In fact, the dream of a few years ago of rejuvenating elderly people—the so-called monkey gland treatment—has been supplanted now by the use of the particular pituitary extract which presides over these functions, and instead of resorting to monkey gland rejuvenation, the modern clinician uses Antuitrin "S".

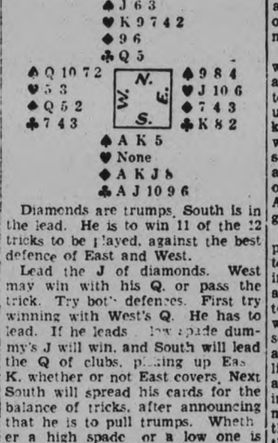
A 12-CARD PROBLEM

The following hand was dealt in a money game. Mr. Edward E. Glasgow of Winnipeg, Manitoba, presents it as a 12-card problem, after South won the first trick. It is one of the best 12-card problems I have seen in years.



Diamonds are trumps, South is in the lead. He is to win 11 of the 12 tricks to be played, against the best defence of East and West.

Lead the J of diamonds. West may win with his Q, or pass the trick. Try both defences. First try winning with West's Q. He has to lead. If he leads low spade dummy's J will win, and South will lead the Q of clubs, picking up East's K, whether or not East covers. Next South will spread his cards for the balance of tricks, after announcing that he is to pull trumps. Whether a high spade or a low one is led, South must win 11 of the 12 tricks.

If West's Q of diamonds wins, a heart lead will be won in dummy, allowing the declarer to discard his lowest spade. Then he will lead dummy's Q of clubs and pick up East's K, before pulling trumps. A heart lead will give the declarer 11 of the 12 tricks. If West leads a trump, dummy will win with the 9, then South will discard his lowest spade on the K of hearts. After that he will pick up East's K of clubs, before pulling trumps and wining his 11 tricks. If West leads a club, East's K will be picked up. Dummy will be put in the lead with the 9 of diamonds, and the declarer will discard his lowest spade on dummy's K of hearts. Any return lead made by West, if he wins the first trump lead with Q, will give South the balance of the tricks. Evidently it will not pay West to win a trick with his Q. He should pass the trick.

If West passes the first lead of diamonds, South will lead the J of clubs. If East wins that with his K, dummy's Q of clubs will yield entry to that hand, permitting the declarer to discard his lowest spade on the K of hearts, pick up West's Q of trumps, and win 11 of the 12 tricks.

If East declines to win with his K of clubs, the declarer will lead his ace of clubs, then dummy will use its last diamond to ruff a third round of clubs. The declarer will discard his lowest spade on the K of hearts. He will lead a low spade then pull trumps, winning all 12 tricks. By no means can opponents prevent South from winning 11 of the 12 tricks shown in the diagram.

I've seen how the years creep up on women who neglect themselves. That's why I take the advice of all the beauty experts who say Palmolive is best for protecting my skin . . . I think it will help your complexion wonderfully, too!

I like to know exactly what my soap is made from, and Palmolive is one soap that tells me! It's made only from pure vegetable oils . . . a blend of palm and olive oils. I don't see how anyone could make a better soap, at any price!

My husband says he's always proud of me at parties . . . my back and arms always look so nice, just as smooth as my face. I'm sure it's just because that velvety lather gives my whole body a Palmolive facial every time I bathe!

Watch Screen for Smart Frocks, But Study Your Type for Style

It seems to me, that every year the screen becomes more and more important as a fashion and beauty medium. Back in the days of be-mustached villains and exotic vamps, most of the clothes worn on the screen were far too exaggerated and extreme for anyone ever to be able to copy. But the screen stars of today garb themselves much more practically.

It is a good plan, therefore, to watch the film actresses. For if anyone knows how to gown herself to enhance the loveliness of her figure, it's the average screen star. She knows which styles to adopt and which to discard; which fashions she can wear and which she should avoid. Her main object is to bring out the full beauty of her figure. And so she studies her lines—and gowns herself accordingly.

The woman who has no idea of proper gowning can do a great deal to increase her loveliness by studying the stars of the cinema. If you are in this class, however, and wish to adopt screen styles for your own wear, remember always to be yourself. Pick out the star or stars who are most like your own type, and limit your studies to them. If you are of the same type as Ann Harding, for instance, don't spoil your madonna-like beauty by copying those frilly, ultra-feminine styles that Loretta Young wears so well. Stick to simplicity of line. If you are the subtle, suave, glamorous type like Connie Bennett, don't adopt the severely tailored costumes that so become Norma Shearer. Stick to smart, sophisticated style. If you're tall, get your fashion hints from someone like Kay Francis. And if you're short, Sidney Fox is a good individual for you to study.

There's no denying that proper gowning does a great deal to increase the loveliness of the female form divine. Improper costuming can make a woman look gawky or dumpy or matronly or any number of other unpleasant things. So the woman who does not know how to gown herself properly, and has no other source of information, should study those who do know how—and learn by good example!

This is the second of the meatless meals I promised. You may have some jam left over that is getting a bit stale, and it can be used up in the jam cake.

Today's Recipes

Tuna Fsh Salad.—One small can tuna fish, flaked and combined with one apple, diced, four or five radishes, one-half cucumber, two or three stalks celery, one green onion, cut fine; two tomatoes. Mix with mayonnaise and serve on lettuce, or cut lettuce and add to the salad before adding dressing. Serves four.

Jam Cake—One-half cup fat, one cup sugar, one-half cup jam (any kind), two eggs, one and one-half teaspoons cinnamon, one-half teaspoon cloves, one-half teaspoon nutmeg, one-eighth teaspoon salt, one-half cup raisins, one-half cup nuts, one and one-half cups flour, one teaspoon soda, one-half teaspoon baking powder. FACTS AND FANCIES

Pad "Slip Covers"

Pretty slip covers can be made for the pads which you put under luncheon pieces. The pads, of course, protect the table from hot dishes and the luncheon pieces are a part of the table decoration; but pretty slip covers for the pads keep them clean and fresh in appearance. These slip covers can be washed as often as you wish and made in such a way that they can be taken off or put on at will.

LITTLE SARATOGA is sure getting the crowds these days. On opening day you could not get any more fans in the plant if you had used a shoe horn. Aymond and Master Bobbie, both seasoned campaigners on the small oval each accounted for their first win of the season. The Hatch stable are keeping up their ways as when Trigling won on opening day it meant at least one winner per day for eight consecutive days.

Below Cost, the Flippon color bearer who was a red hot tip on closing day at Long Branch and could do no better than second, made no mistakes on opening day at Dufferin and the boys retrieved their losses in good style. Single A is certainly a keen hide right now and looks good for a few more winning efforts. Our old friend, The Doctor is doing his training at Detroit and any day now you can look for him to be returned a winner. At the same track is Salisbury who always is a consistent winner.

SQUEAKY, owned by the Fontaine stable of this city took the 5th race at Blue Bonnets last Saturday from a fair brand of platers and paid $11.45 for a two dollar ducat. This same stable also house a five-year-old maiden named Blanchette who will bear plenty of Watching . . . . Cavalcade again demonstrated on Saturday that he is the master of the three year old division when he came from behind and copped the big Detroit Derby and enriched his owner to the extent of over nineteen thousand grand. He also broke the track record in doing so.

Harry Giddings has taken the extensive McLaughlin stable to Hamilton to await the opening at that point which takes place one week from today. They will as usual have one race per day decided over the turf track, which is the only one of its kind in Canada. There is generally a long shot goes over in these events as some horse that has not been doing so well on the dirt tracks take kindly to the turf course and just tow ropes them all. Hamilton are expecting a number of horses from New York which will inject new blood and also provide keen competition. One thing to remember during the course of the Hamilton meeting is that Eddie Seagram's horses always like that track and this year will be no exception.

JIM BADAME has a trick called Darksini which is gradually working up to a winning effort and the date won't be far from now if not during the current Dufferin meeting. In this same stable they have a juvenile called Muckle Do which they got down in the southern states this past winter and to date has not done a thing but they are very sweet on him so do not overlook him when you notice him in his own class. Sir Byron is an old Dufferin favorite and before the week is over it will surprise us a lot if he does not at least account for one race.

MAX ADMITS HE'S B AER AS LADIES' MAN

Decided He Wanted to Be a Heart-Breaker and He Is, He Tells Adorning Girl Reporter

Max Baer, new worlds heavyweight boxing champion, is shown explaining and demonstrating his technique in winning the ladies to them something to make them really mad."

Marie-Louise Van Slyke, author of the accompanying story, at LOWER RIGHT. He is also depicted in some of his other favorite roles—as fighter, vaudeville and night club entertainer, movie actor and bon-vivant.

By MARIE-LOUISE VAN SLYKE
Central Press Canadian Writer

NEW YORK, June 19.—"I love the girls and the girls love me,' Max Baer admitted it frankly.

That wasnt the only surprise I had after the editor (male), assigned me to go and find out why so many women admire Maxie, the butcher's boy. What, for instance, caused them to flock to his training camp before his Carnera victory, to sit around in the blistering sun on hard pine boards, just to get a glimpse of him? No other pugilist ever drew so many women to his training camp. No boxer has ever had so much feminine fan mail. No prize-fight ever built up so much interest among the women as the Carnera-Baer fray.

He's Not Pretty

I found that, closeup, the Baer isn't handsome. Not according to the standards of the matinee idol that women have elected to cherish. He's no Barrymore or Chtvalier. Not even a Gable, though there's something familiar about Baer's ears. True, he's tall and built on the classic lines of the Greek Gods that captivated the women of Helles. But many a lifeguard has such a torso. He has an infectious grin that bares even rows of white shiny teeth, and that's about all that can be chalked up in his favor as far as looks go.

But—Maxie decided he wanted to be a heart-breaker, made up his mind that he could be, eventually arrived at the decision that he was, and then made the idea as contagious as a case of measles. There's your answer to the question, provided by Max himself.

It is necessary for me to get personal to show how the Baer works.

Max Springs to Arms

"Hello darling," he greeted me emerging from his room, "let's go out to my house where we can be alone and I'll gladly give you the story of my 25 years on this globe." His powerful right arm encircled me as he guided me down the hall, politely ushered me into an elevator and to his waiting car.

Inside the car, his arm snuggled me close to him and before I could say anything, he voiced the impression that had been forming in my mind.

"Look at those dames," he chuckled. "Their eyes are green—anyone of them would give their teeth to be where you are. Come on, let's give

Doesn't Prefer Blondes

With that, both arms went to work, we were in a clinch and he was pretending to kiss me and—although I was in no position to see—I'm sure that Max's stock went up several points with every woman watching, who received the vicarious kiss that Mr. Baer was pretending to give me. He waved to them as the car sped away, a gesture that hinted that their turn might come next.

Well, that's' why droves of women admire him.

Don't get the idea Maxie prefers blondes because his name has been linked in the papers with many a blonde charmer. The color of a girl's hair or eyes makes little difference to the man who excels in boxing, acting, singing, dancing? and radio. He has no "ideal" as far as beauty types go, but he does like his girls tall—"Because I'm tall myself," he explained.

News For Mae West

A girl who can play golf, ride and swim, dance, drink a little and be an addition to any party, can occupy a good bit of Max's crowded hours—until the next one comes along. He is not looking for a Camp Fire Girl though, or a muscular Amazon. The figure is important and he doesn't go for Mae West's.

Dorothy Dunbar, who has the distinction of being the divorced Mrs. Max Baer, and other women in Baer's life don't run to a type. Among these other women were Olive Beck, a waitress who sued for $250,000 worth of breach of promise; and Shirley La Belle, another girl who sued with a crack in her heart in between chorus routines; Actress June Knight and Edna Dunham, society divorcee, who married Phil Plant after Baer announced to a waiting world that he would lead her to the altar.

Another Baer Fan

His trump card with the women, as far as I could figure out, is that he leaves a convincing impression that he means the flattering things he says; that he's saying them for the first time to you—even though you know the record of punches straight to the heart that he has to his credit. All right, that's a paradox. But so is Max Baer.

Yes, and I'll probably be in line with all the other dizzy dames, waiting for a chance to pat him on the back or grab an autograph, the very next time he makes a public appearance.

Batten Provides Feature Play By Knocking Down Green's Smash to End Rally.

(Special to Examiner)

BELLEVILLE, June 19—In a continued drizzling rain that fell practically the full nine innings the Peterborough seniors dropped a hard fought tussle here last evening when Jack "Chief" Williams bested Willie Calladine, by the score of 4 to 3. Facing a three run deficit in the ninth innings, the Petes rose to the occasion but with the tying run on third base Houston struck out to end the pastime.

To open the ninth innings, both teams lined up in front of the grandstand and were presented with Belleville Centennial Medals, a token struck in honor of the 100th anniversary of the inauguration of the municipality as a police village. The players were each given a bronze medal, presented by league secretary Newt Thompson as a mark of distinction in the athletic activities of the centennial celebration.

Rain Hampers Game.

In reference to the actual game, the tilt was played under the most trying weather conditions as a continual rain hampered the pitchers' efforts throughout. For three innings the teams battled without a score until the homesters broke loose in the fourth when Utronki singled and, after being sacrificed, was caught at the plate. Mills hit to right and on Weir's fielder's choice all were safe and advanced on Smith's one-base blow. Williams' hard drive to centre scored two and the third run came on Scarlett's out. The home team scored their final run in the sixth, following Konopka's error and Smith's timely single.

Held To Six Hits.

The Petes were held to six hits, one by Foley in the fourth when he dropped a Texas leaguer over first, and two in the fifth when Calladine opened with a single and scored on Konopka's mighty triple to left centre, with none out. Williams retired the side with two strikeouts and his assist to first to stop the rally. The Petes made their final bid in the ninth when Foley singled, was forced at second by Murray, who went to the middle bag on Ash's one-base blow, putting two on and two out, as Whatley previously had struck out. Burton lifted a mighty fly to deep right centre for three bases, scoring two, but Houston took a third strike to end the pastime.

The game was marked with speed, being played well under the time of one hour and fifty minutes. The dampness prevailing proved a drastic hazard to both fielders and pitchers, as dry balls were repeatedly asked for by both hurlers. Williams hurled superb ball in the pinches, allowing but six scattered hits and whiffing 12 Peterborough batters. Calladine was given excellent support at time and pitched airtight ball, allowing but one free pass and striking out three Belleville hitters. Burton and Konopka were the long distance hitters of the day, each collecting a timely triple with Weir getting the only Belleville extra base hit, a double.

Hastings Bowlers Take Four Games in Trent Valley League Fixtures.

HASTINGS, June 19.—(Examiner Correspondence.)—Hastings bowlers were very successful in Havelock last week when they captured the four scheduled games in the Trent Valley League. Lynch coasted along to an early victory over Armstrong 17 to 7, the latter getting six on the last end, which with a little effort on the part of Lynch could have been cut down. In the other game Anderson and Wellman were even on the seventh end, but the latter put the game on ice in the eight with a big four.

The closing games were much closer and harder fought. Wellman won from Armstrong 14 to 10, getting seven in the last two ends. Wellman needed four in the tenth end and when he found he couldn't get it he killed the end and made his four on the extra end. Lynch and Anderson fought a nip and tuck battle, being all square going into the last end, which Lynch won.

BEARS TAKE 9TH VICTORY FROM REDMEN

Floyd Newkirk is Credited With His Ninth Trumph of the Season.

BISONS DOWN CHIEFS.

(By Associated Press.)

If Newark's Bears were in some other league, the Rochester Redwings would be so far out in front of the International League field that it would be strictly no contest. As it is, almost entirely because the Redwings can't beat the Bears, Rochester is down in third place, a game and a half behind Toronto and five and a half behind Newark. . . . . . .

Newark's 12-4 conquest of the Redwings yesterday marked the Bears' ninth victory in 11 games with Rochester this season. In the club against club records, the Bears have fouid the St. Louis Cardinal farm team easiest of all their rivals to beat. They have taken seven out of 11 from Buffalo, four of eight from Toronto, seven of 11 from Montreal, five of eight from Syracuse, five of seven from Albany, and six of eight from Baltimore.

Eleven Newark hits, eleven bases on balls by Ray Harrell and Dykes Potter, and three Rochester errors spelled ruin for the Redwings yesterday. They were outhit only 11 to 10 and were in the game until the last half of the eighth when the Bears scored six runs. Floyd Newkirk was removed for a pinch batter in that frame, but gained credit for his ninth victory.

Sixth place Buffalo moved to within a half-game of Syracuse by beating the Chiefs 6-2. Ollie Carnegie drove in four Bisons' runs all told, doubling with two on the first and singling with the bases filled in the fourth. Howie Meyers drove in the other two with a single with two on. Ace Elliott went the route for Buffalo, scattering nine hits, Johnny Watwood getting five of them. Tim McKeithan Sourgeon Chandler and Clarence Fisher gave up eight hits and issued 10 bases on balls.

13-7 Win Over Royals.

The Albany Senators hammered Chad Kimsey, Curly Ogden and John Pomorski for 17 hits, and easily earned a 13-7 decision over Montreal in a night game. Cy Blanton pitched well enough in view of the heavy lead his mates gave him, but finally was removed in the ninth when the Royals rallied for two runs. Edwards mopped up.

DETROIT CUTS YANKEES' LEAD IN AMERK RACE

Tigers Defeat League Leaders 6-5 With Ninth-Inning Rally.

RED SOX WIN TWIN.

(By Herbert W. Barker, Associated Press Sports Writer)

The fourth act of their cut-throat series today had left the New York Yankees and Detroit Tigers exactly where they were when they started and given the rest of the American League a chance to catch up.

Detroit's 6-5 triumph over the Yankees yesterday squared the series at two-games all and left Babe Ruth and company still in first place but by a margin of only four slender percentage points. Moreover, the dog-eat-dog competition between the two leaders had allowed the fifth place Boston Red Sox to draw up to within four games of the lead.

Van Atta Rapped Hard

For the seventh time in as many starts this year, Russ Van Atta failed to go the route. The young Yankees flinger was rapped for eight hits and four runs before he was supplanted by Burleigh Grimes with one out in the sixth. Tough old Burleigh got out of that jam but was nicked for the winning runs in the ninth when Pete Fox's double drove in Manager Mickey Cochrane and Joyner White.

Fred (Firpo) Marberry went out for a pinch hitter during that rally and it almost cost the Tigers the ball game. The Yankees put two men on base with one out in the last of the ninth but Elon Hogsett, who had succeeded Marberry, snuffed out the rally by fanning Babe Ruth, pinch hitting for Red Rolfe, and forcing Lou Gehrig to ground out. Despite the handicap of a chipped bone in the big toe of his right foot, suffered Sunday, Gehrig played in his 140th consecutive game and rapped out his 17th homer and a single.

Red Sox Take Double

Taking advantage of the idleness of Washington and Cleveland, who hold third and fourth places respectively, the Red Sox began making threatening gestures to both by sweeping a double bill with the St. Louis Browns, 6-5 and 14-9. Bucky Harris' club now trails Cleveland by only one game and Washington by 1½.

Aided by Manager Rogers Hornsby's pinch double, scoring two runs in the ninth, the Browns made the first game close but the second was a rout. The Red Sox collected 17 hits off six pitchers and won easily after Fritz Ostermueller went in to pitch with none out in the fifth. Fritz, who also had been summoned for relief duty in the first game, when John Welch spoiled a five-hit game with wildness, held the Browns to four hits in the last five frames of the nightcap.

Fine pitching by George Earnshaw and Leslie Tieje gave the Chicago White Sox two victories over the Athletics, 3-2 and 5-0, the nightcap ending after five innings becauseof rain. Bob Johnson, A's outfielder, clouted two homers in the opener to take the major league lead at 19.

All other games were rained out. The same thing occurred with the

For a long time, we thought cricket just meant a bug, and let it go at that. Eventually, we heard it was a popular game not only in England but in many countries. But we never did get around to learning much about it except that it is a gentleman's game and that a cricketer never gets excited nor angry—except maybe when a Larwood is doing a bit of body-line bowling (body-line bowling being in cricket what the bean-ball is in baseball). Instead, the chappies congratulate each other frequently with a "Well played, old fellow" or an "Oh, I say, beautiful play, you know!" That about winds up our knowledge of cricket, we must admit. Consequently, we were surprised this morning to get a request for the origination of the term "Ashes", that mythical honor England and Australia fight for on the cricket fields.

• • • • • •

Luckily for us we had saved a clipping which explains it all. Seems 'way back in '82 England had a good cricket team but an Australian one beat them in a match. The Aussies made quite a celebration of it, but all England mourned the loss. And in one paper was printed the following epitaph, from which the terms "Ashes" came to stay:

IN AFFECTIONATE REMEMBRANCE OF ENGLISH CRICKET
WHICH DIED AT THE OVAL
ON 29TH AUGUST, 1882
DEEPLY LAMENTED BY A LARGE CIRCLE OF SORROWING

At the men's softball meeting in the "Y" last night the C.G.E. team gave its word that it would play out the schedule and not drop out as at first intended. But they want another hurler. The loop rescinded the motion barring its players from playing with or against Southend League players. And, since Lindsay gave this zone permission to use Omemee players, Fashion-Crafts' complaint of Johnston's Tires was over-ruled, and the game complained about will stand as played. Officers on certain nights will sell draw-tickets for their radio at men's games, and fans paying a dime for the game will get a ticket also.

Arrangements have been made by Kiwanis lacrossers for Riverside Park Thursday for their opening O.A.L.A. game with the Aajmaa Club of Belleville. The local team nosed out Cobourg the other night in their first game away, while Belleville slapped Campbellford down hard on the Quinte turf. Hence, this game here Thursday shapes up as being an ideal opener and fans will likely flock out to see it. Fixture will start at six and admission charge is two bits.

Foster and C.G.E. will play their E.P.L. baseball game—weather permitting—at six tonight at the Exhibition Grounds. These outfits are well matched and a tidy battle may be looked for. As we've pointed out several times, some smart pitching and good ball is being dished up at the southend diamond, but the crowds are not what they should be. With Cogs heading the polls, both Fosters and C.G.E. will concentrate hard on getting a second-place playoff berth, so every game between them ought to be hot.

Jack (Chief) Williams was in rare form yesterday and he and the Nats turned back the Petes, 4 to 3, in a drizzling rain. The smart Indian southpaw fanned twelve of the locals and allowed but three hits till the ninth, when Knotty Lee's gang got to him for three more and two runs. When Williams is going right, Belleville is a tough crew to beat and the Petes discovered that yesterday. The wet ball made for some costly errors and Bill Calladine found it hard to pitch under the circumstances. This loss shoved the locals back to second place behind Kingston. Yeah, it's developing into quite a battle, what with us beating Kingston, Oshawa licking Belleville and the Nats turning around and tossing us for a loss.

Southend Softball League officials met last p.m. and made the following rule regarding the City Softball Loop: "One player from each of the five Southend League teams will be placed on a selected list. These five players may play both in the City and Southend leagues after July 1st for the remainder of the season." City League players wanting to try out one of these players must get the written consent of the Southend League through Secretary Dick Pearson of 112 Monaghan Road. The above ruling goes into effect at once, since peace has been restored between the two circuits. Monday's postponed game between Nationals and Cogs will be played Wednesday. If Cogs win and thereby create a tie with Orioles for second place, these teams will play a sudden-death game, the date to be set by the president and secretary.

Since we wrote Paragraph 3 of this column—the one about the men's softball meeting in the 'Y'—we have been informed by Manager Johnny Russell of Fashion-Crafts that he intends posting the required fee and protesting that questionable game which was played some time ago between his team and Johnston's Tires. He claims there was an infraction of the rules inasmuch as sixteen Tiremen were signed, instead of fifteen, and two of them (Parsons and McQuade of Omemee) were ineligible. He also states that the loop president, secretary and other officers had admitted to him that a rule had been brken. "Why then," Johnny asks, "do they turn around and dismiss my complaint? Well, it's not a complaint now, it's a protest. The league can't afford to set a precedent like this, or rules will be broken right along."

MENIE GAINS LEAGUE LEAD

Takes 15 to 10 Victory Over West Seymour at Campbellford Saturday.

HEAVY SLUGGING.

BURNBRAE, June 19 (Examiner Correspondence).—With a 15 to 10 win over West Seymour in Saturday evening's Seymour League game at Campbellford, the Menie softball gang go into undisputed leadership of the loop with two wins and no losses. The Westerners put up a game battle, batting hard and fielding well, but a streak of wildness developing in each pitcher played havoc with the result. Russell started in the box for the losers, and turned in a nice performance for two innings. He struck out three, and allowed not a single hit, but five walks and an error resulted in a brace of runs being scored. Anderson then took over the hurling duties and was hit hard and often while his teammates chipped in with three errors, and he passed another trio of batters. Anderson registered five strike-outs.

Eagleson, on the winners' mound, pitched steady ball with the exception of the fifth, when a four count was run up on five safe hits, including Anderson's homer. The same player got another circuit blow in the sixth, while McCook did likewise in the first. Eagleson struck out three and issued one fee ticket. McCulloch looked good in the outfield for the losers, while the winners' infield starred throughout.

Menie and Petherick play on Wednesday evening in what should be one of the best games of the season.

"If The Cap Fits"

"King Max," new overlord of fistiana, "the guy who first declared 'uneasy lies the head that wears the crown,' got his tiaras all mixed up. This crown fits to a "T", and it's comfortable, too. The new heavyweight champion, in his usual playful mood, awoke the day after the bout all set to thoroughly enjoy his new status, and seemingly none the worse for his brawl with Primo Carnera.

Everything was all wet out at the Bowling green last night. The rain sure will do a lot of good and it certainly will make the greens fit for the big tournament to-morrow.

Judging by the advance entry list it looks like as if we will break all records. Late yesterday afternoon we officially received four entries from Bowmanville, two from Cannington, two from Port Perry and one from Lindsay.

The local boys are asked to remember the time—1 o'clock Standard Time. It is the wish of the committee that this tournament be run as near on time as possible—it makes better playing, creates better feeling, and then everybody will be away in good time.

We have just received word from the chairman of the games committee that owing to the heavy downpour of rain, and out of consideration for the greens, all games scheduled for to-night are cancelled.

It is the first time this hole has been navigated in one, as far as can be learned. There are five holes of the 18 shorter than the one Alex. registered his "oner" on.

At Lakeview golf course, William Murray dropped in his ball on the drive No. 3, a 220-yard hole.

WHITAKER CLUB BEATEN 63-59

Toronto Beaches Cricket Club Triumphs on Own Grounds on Saturday.

EXHIBITION TUSSLE.

The C. Whitaker Cricket Club journeyed to Toronto on Saturday, June 16th, to play the return match with the Beaches Cricket Club, Captain Farnell, winning the toss, elected to put his team in first; opening the innings with himself and D. R. Stainsley. After scoring six runs the latter was run out, owing to smart fielding of A. Hamilton. McDermid followed, but only stayed long enough to score two runs. C. Farmer next, who scored eight, but was caught out by T. Jones at square leg. R. C. Farnell was clean bowled by F. Dyer, but not until he had made 25, comprising of one 4, seven 2's, and the remained in singles. The remaining batters could not stand up to the bowling of Dyer and Jefferson, and were all out for a total of 63.

The Whitaker Club commenced with G. Colbran and A. Radford; the latter was out in the second over without scoring. A. Hamilton took his place and could only score four.

R. Mahood and F. Jefferson only registered two runs between them. Colbran was caught out in midfield, his contribution was eight. F. Dyer went in and soon had 20 runs to his credit. The next four batters could only get one run between them, until Tom Jones, the last batter, kept his wicket to enable Dyer to take his score up to 34, when Jones skied one up in the air and was caught out. Thus bringing to a close a most interesting game with Whitaker's only being defeated by four runs.

Women Golfers Tie On Hamilton Course

HAMILTON, June 19 — Splashing their way over a course that had been drenched by heavy rains Miss Mary Hunter, winner of the Ontario ladies' championship at Kitchener one week ago, and Mrs. Clifford Shuttleworth of the Dundas Valley Club, finished in a deadlock for the Hamilton and District ladies' golf championship yesterday, and as a result will meet over the Hamilton Golf and Country Club course later in the week for the title. The leaders returned scores of 89, both experiencing trouble on the greens, which were inches deep in water.

Both Miss Hunter and Mrs Shuttleworth were awarded gross prizes, while the low net awards went to Mrs. K. Woodyat, Brantford, and Mrs. T. D. Waring, Hamilton.

THE SPUN GLASS MYSTERY

A Tale of Scotland Yard

By A. FIELDING

CHAPTER 27

Pointer asked Mrs. Burnham other questions. He learned nothing more. He thanked her, seemed about to open the door and stooping picked up—or seemed to pick up—the gold pen top from the carpet. She evidently had never seen it before, or at least did not recognize it. Certainly she did not associate it with Tait, and therefore it did not interest her. But he had one more question.

"Your companion, Miss Dundas, has she been with you long?"

Mrs. Burnham said that, strictly speaking, Miss Dundas was not her companion. Very briefly and clearly she gave in outline what she had already told Lady Tait in full.

"And you don't think there's anything odd about this young lady having arrived—in just the way—the day before Mr. Tait died?"

She looked at him in pitying horror.

"I think I should go mad if such a thought occurred to me," she replied simply. "Miss Dundas and Mr. Tait had never met, chief inspector, except at Vichy. Where I doubt if either was more than just aware of the other's existence. What could have put such a ghastly idea into your head?" she asked with a sort of horrified curiosity.

"The man charged with investigating a crime, Mrs. Burnham, has to have all sorts of ideas," Pointer replied a trifle dryly. "Frankly I think someone ought to point out to you two facts. Miss Dundas arrived the same day as that on which Lord Mills shot himself. And the day after, Mr. Tait dies. However horrible the thought, if I were you, I should bear these two facts in mind—for your own sake." He spoke very gravely. Lucy turned white.

"I shan't be able to get it out of my mind. But simply because it's so utterly horribly impossible." There was impatience now in tone and look. "Lady Tait has been talking to you," she said accusingly, and yet as though this partly excused him. "She dislikes Miss Dundas. And, finding that to be so, I shouldn't have allowed the girl to stop on here at all. But it's not easy when one's busy with one's own affairs, to make time for other people's. I thought a few days one way or another wouldn't matter. But if she talks like this about that poor girl, it would have been much better for Miss Dundas to have turned to some other acquaintance rather than to me."

"And just why did she turn to you?" Pointer asked meaningly. He wanted Mrs. Burnham to appreciate a little of the dark possibilities which she seemed so to ignore.

"Because I was happy, I think." Mrs. Burnham's lip quivered for a moment, but she went on steadily. "Like all girls who have to earn their living, I think Miss Dundas is a good judge of character as far as it concerns herself. I mean, I think she feels who would be kind to her and who wouldn't. She's so lovely that a good many women aren't kind to her. Not that that is Lady Tait's reason. I can't think why she dislikes her so." Or rather, she has explained it all to me, but I don't agree with her. But to go back to the reason for Miss Dundas turning to me. I should like to think that she knew I would want to help her anyway, in such an impossible position as she was in, but I'm afraid it's partly because she doesn't know many people in town just now, except Mrs. de Souza's own circle. I was out of that circle, and, as I say, I think she banked on the fact that any one as lucky as I was—then—would be kind to those less lucky."

"Did Mr. Tait object?"

"Why should he? But, in point of fact, I had not yet had time to tell him of her being with me."

Then why is Miss Dundas so shaken by his death? was what Pinter thought.

"And was Mr. Tait attached to his family? I understand that his only relatives are here in the house, staying for the moment with Lady Tait?"

Lucy said that this was so, and added that there existed a very genuine and warm attachment between John Tait and his stepmother, and that, as far as she knew, he was as fond of his cousins as people usually are, and they of him.

She looked very pale and done. Pointer did not keep her under answering harrowing questions. He let her go with his sincere sympathy. He stood a moment thinking things over. Apart from Tait's death, the only odd thing in the house seemed to be the sudden appearance on the scene of Miss Dundas. Naylor had given this quite a light and airy touch in passing, as it were, but it struck the chief inspector as very singular, which was why he had given those straight words of warning to Mrs. Burnham just now. He decided to see Miss Dundas last and learn meanwhile as much as possible about her from the other members of the household.

He asked for Lady Tait. She had him brought up at once to her sitting room. He found her not as much shaken by the tragedy as a more imaginative, softer character would have been. If really as attached to her stepson as Mrs. Burnham thought, and as she herself immediately represented herself to be, then he thought that things had moved too swiftly for her to grasp them yet. She answered all his questions very helpfully, and yet he had a sudden conviction of reservations somewhere, of something withheld that might be important, but which the woman before him, masterful, dominant, did not wish to tell. Obviously it must concern John Tait, but it did not seem to concern any one else in the house. About them all, Lady Tait answered with he thought was genuine candor.

"And where did Mr. Tait lunch today, do you know?" he asked towards the end.

"You mean—oh, of course!" Horror made her close her eyes for a moment.

"We know nothing as to how the poison got into the body as yet," Pointer reminded her. "But, of course, we want to get our facts as quickly as possible."

"I don't know where he lunched," she said speaking as though lost in thought. But her eyes wavered. There was a silence after the short sentence, which was full of trouble, so Pointer felt. Finally Lady Tait looked up. "I don't know where my son"—she generally called John that—"lunched this morning, except that I—well—I wonder if—if it could have been with——" Again she broke off and seemed very unwilling to proceed.

Pointer did not help her out with a question. This was not the kind of nature that needed supporting or sustaining.

"It's a terrible predicament," she began again. "I hope I'm not unjust—led away by personal dislike—but I shouldn't be very much surprised, chief inspector, if you learned that my son had lunched with Miss Dundas. Have you been told who she is?"

Apparently Pointer had not. Lady Tait gave him a brief but far more detailed account of that young lady than had Naylor. She made the young woman's presence in this house of death a very inexplicable business. She began with the note dropped into her cabin at Vichy, and finished with her maid's account of the meeting between the girl and the dead man the night before. A meeting on which Naylor had intruded.

"Of course I ought not to have tolerated her for a moment in the house, nor would I have, but for Mrs. Burnham's sake. If this old affair of Mr. Tait's really should prove to be at the bottom of his death it will break her heart. I had half decided to say nothing about my suspicions," she went on, "just because of the pain it will give if I'm right, but I owe it to my son to tell you all I suspect."

For Wednesday, June 20

The planetary configurations for this day point to a very welcome removal of a long-standing obstacle, stagnation or crystallization, which had rendered futile the most intelligent and well-directed efforts at breaking up such sturdy congestions. Now by steady, stubborn and industrious application, assisted by the friendship of elderly persons or institutions, a real "break" may be expected. However, employment may have its anxieties or hazards. Increased real possessions may add to the benefits to be anticipated. Sign papers with care.

Those whose birthday it is may be prepared for a year in which there will be a breaking up of tenacious obstacles, congested and stagnant conditions, with increased possessions in the property line and the substantial assistance of elderly persons or institutions. This may call for steadfastness to these, with hard work and indomitable persistency. Even then employment may have its perplexities and it would be well to sign all writings cautiously.

A child born on this day should be studious, industrious, persistent and faithful.

41 CHILDREN ENJOY PICNIC

Children From Orphanage and Shelter Guests of Canadian Deparment Store.

AT JACKSON PARK.

Despite the steady downpour of yesterday afternoon, the children from the Shelter and St. Vincent's Orphanage who were entertained by the Canadian Department Stores had a grand time at their picnic in the pavilion at Jackson Park.

Thirty children came from the Orphanage and eleven from the Shelter. They played a variety of games and at intervals, during lulls in the rainfall, ran off races, including a fifty-yard dash for ages six to ten, a hundred-yard dash, ages eleven to fifteen years, a three-legged race, open to all, a balloon race, a soda-biscuit race and a drawing contest.

At supper time, plates loaded with sandwiches and cake covered the tables, after which the children had all the ice cream and soft drinks they could consume. Before leaving, each child was presented with a large bag of candy, and many won prizes also in the contests. The children were unanimous in pronouncing the afternoon a wonderful event.

The children from the Orphanage were conducted by the Rev. Mother Superior and one of the Sisters, also Mesdames Hickey, Lynch and Carroll, while the children from the Shelter were under direction of the matron, Mrs. H. Nigh, with Mesdames Sturgeon and Darcy.

Supper was served by Mrs. McGraw and Mrs. Jamison, and cars for the excursion were lent by Mrs. McGraw and Messrs. Jamison, Woodburn, K. Hall and W. Robson. The contests were looked after by J. H. Jamison, A. J. Woodburn and J. Armitage.

A draw was arranged for the ladies and boxes of candy were won by Mrs. Darcy and Mrs. Hickey.

The children will probably remember for months this jolly outing, arranged through the kindness of the Canadian Department Stores.

Harry Cooper Wins Western Open Title

PEORIA, Ill., June 19.—(A.P.) — Harry Cooper, Chicago, won the western open golf championship yesterday in two eighteen-hole overtime matches, with Ky Laffoon of Denver.

Cooper came back with a great rush to tie up the first match in the morning, fired back with a spectacular 30 on the front nine of the afternoon to get a long seven-shot lead, and then staved off a brisk challenge to win by three shots.

Cooper's rounds were 67—66 against totals of 67—69 for Laffoon on the par 72 course. They had tied with 274 each over the regulation 72-hole route.

Cooper's finish gave him a record of 25 shots under par for the 108 holes he had to play to win the title. Laffoon was under 22. Both tied after the regulation 72 holes with 274, and tied with 67's on the first 18-hole overtime match yesterday morning.

BENNETT URGES ONTARIO TO VOTE HENRY TICKET

Points to Advancement in Province's Education Achievement by Conservatives.

UPHOLDS HYDRO.

Warns Against Replacing Old Institution by New, Untried Sysems.

OTTAWA, June 19 (CP)—Appealing to the people of Ontario to put their trust in men of tried experience rather than in an untried group which had offered no constructive policy, Prime Minister R. B. Bennett had one of the last words uttered in the Ontario election campaign.

Speaking here late last night, Mr. Bennett paid a warm tribute to Premier George S. Henry and the policies the Conservative Government of Ontario has pursued, policies which had brought Ontario through the depression and to an assurance of prosperity.

Mr. Bennett said he spoke as an elector of Ontario and declared the Opposition had not offered a single suggestion for the betterment of conditions in the province. Their appeals were based on threats and innuendos.

"Laughs, jokes and innuendoes directed against those in power cannot take the place of the rich experience and wise judgment of those who have served you so well," the Prime Minister declared.

Directing his attention to the educational, social and cultural policies of the Government, the Prime Minister declared that if Ontario had one thing to be proud of it was what had been done for education by the Conservative Government, from the Primary schools to the Universities.

The Hydro Question

Hydro-Electric, the Prime Minister said, had been the subject of attacks, aspersions and implications designed to influence the electorate.

"Ask yourselves to-night what these attacks mean, who inspires them; ask yourselves how what you have received from Hydro-Electric compares with what has been received by those in other provinces," said Mr. Bennett.

"The people should see to it that they preserve their Hydro-Electric development which has been the envy of the whole world and has given to the people, particularly in the rural districts benefits far in advance of those enjoyed in other places."

In every country at such times as the present there existed an active effort on the part of a substantial quarter of the people to tear down old institutions and set up new and untried systems in their place, Mr. Bennett continued.

"I urge you to pause, think and consider, not only for yourselves but for your children and your children's children, before you take that step. Despite all the innuendoes directed against the Government, I ask you if any person has made a charge upon which an investigation could be held as to the honesty or ability of those who head the Government.

"Shall this party be rejected, turned aside, replaced at this time when its steady-going, carefully-evolved policies have brought up to a position where prosperity is assured and the depression is past? Shall we, in a fit of ingratitude, reject those who have served us so well?"

Which Party?

There were three parties seeking power, the Prime Minister said. "Which of those parties would you choose for the purpose of transacting your personal business affairs over a period of years?" he asked.

"A government of men whose pride is in Ontario, who love their province as they love their homes, who have staked their all in the development of Ontario, asks a mandate to carry on; to evolve fresh policies and maintain the old policies that have proven good.

"The Liberals have urged you, by threat and innuendo, to throw out this government. Every appeal possible has been made to arouse in the minds of the less fortunate that feeling of enmity, animosity and the desire to destroy that comes to those who live in poverty while others enjoy affluence, forgetting that those who have given generously so that others might not suffer the lack of food, shelter and clothing.

"One cannot name a single suggestion from the opposition for the betterment of conditions in the province. They only ask you to "destroy the government and we will do something better. Are you prepared to vote for that party whose vague, indefinite program varies acording to the community in which its sponsor is speaking?

"I offer no apology for speaking to you as a voter. I have only an earnest desire that the great province which has preserved all that is best and has marched forward in a manner rivalling all others in the confederation, shall continue to have the service and benefits of the rich experience and wide knowledge of those who have served it so well."

Mr. Bennett paid a gracious tribute to the ability, honesty and wise judgement of Premier George Henry and urged the electors to return him and his government so that they might continue their work for the security, happiness and prosperity of the people.

MISS E. ROBSON GUEST SPEAKER

Large Attendance at Summer Series Meeting in Trent River.

UNDER W.I. AUSPICES

TRENT RIVER June 19 (Examiner Correspondence) — Ideal weather conditions favored the June meeting of the Women's Institute recently held in the United Church when Miss Ethel Robson of Denfield, Ont. was the guest speaker for the occasion. Branches were represented from Havelock, Belmont and West Seymour making total attendance of over eighty.

The meeting opened with Mrs. G. Brooks in charge, after the singing of the Institute ode and repeating the Lord's Prayer, the secretary, Mrs. Harry Mann read the roll call, the answer for which was "A Canadian Beauty Spot" to which nearly all the members responded. Mrs. James Longmuir reading the motto "Now if ever come perfect days."

The members decided to send the sum of $2 to assist the girls at Guelph. Material was purchased for a sick member. After the business part was over the program consisted of the following: piano duet, "Robin's Return," Misses Margaret and Helen Brown; the president welcomed the members of visiting branches. The speaker, Miss Ethel Robson was introduced, who in opening her address told an amusing incident that occurred to her recently at her home when she drew a ticket and received the prize of a real true pedigreed ayrshire calf—she was thrilled, she planned to send it to two little boys in Western Ontario—Miss Robson gave her hearers something practical and Institute members "how to carry on."

Music in Schools

Touching on music in schools the speaker said these tight fisted hard boiled farmers think it a waste of time and money. It's orthodox to teach grammar but not music. The teaching of music is not a frill or waste of time. Music has to be taught socially. See that music is taught in every rural school. Going to church should be an emotional exercise. If you rob the children now you can never make it up. Turning the eyes on the community is Institute work.

Miss Robson then quoted some verses of her own composition in connection with a wedding reception in Manitoulin also on a "Golden Wedding" in the same place, she also related an Indian story—a tribute to the Institute in Muskoka. The Indians believed that the soul of the great chief "Eagle Eye" passed into the soul of the great loon. This concluded Miss Robson's first address.

Mrs. T. C. Jamieson of Havelock contributed a vocal number 'Beautiful Dreamer" with Miss Lily Morrison at the piano. Community sing song led by Miss B. G. French playing piano accompaniments. Miss Robson again addressed the gathering with special appeal to the children.

A hearty vote of thanks was given to the members of the Ladies' Aid and Church Board for the use of the church and dining hall for the occasion also to those who had contributed to the program. The National Anthem brought the meeting to a close after which all repaired to the dining hall, where three long tables were arranged, decorated with beautiful cut flowers and laden with all things good to eat consisting of tea, coffee, sandwiches of various kinds, cakes, tarts, salads and jellies. A number of friends arrived for the serving of supper, bringing the total attendance up to one hundred. The small fee of ten cents was made and the sum of over $12 was added to the Institute treasury.

Burlington Pastor Preaches At Cavan

Rev. Sexsmith Ministered to Cavan Circuit 29 Years Ago.

CAVAN, June 18 (Examiner Correspondence) — Cavan United Church Sunday School held its anniversary services on Sunday at which the Rev. Mr. Sexsmith of Burlington preached morning and evening.

Large congregations assembled to hear Mr. Sexsmith who twenty-nine years ago came to Cavan as pastor of the Mount Pleasant, Fairmount and Cavan circuit.

A number motored from Fairmount and Mount Pleasant to attend the services. In the morning the choir was made up of Sunday School scholars, who with Miss A. Tinney as organist, added much to the services.

In the evening the regular choir, with Mrs. A. B. Kennedy presiding at the organ, contributed splendid music.

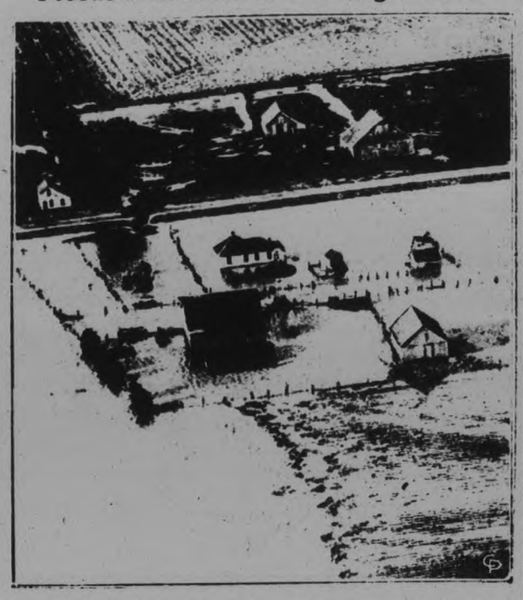
Floods Now Wash Out Drought Area



Mother Nature is certainly not handing out many good things to the farmers this year. Here is farm land at Iowa that was parched and burned by sustained drought. The farmers asked for rain and they got a flood, washing out what the sun didn't burn. The heavy rains overflowed rivers, creeks and canals.

Hastings

Mr. and Mrs. Wesley Montgomery received word that their little granddaughter Ruth Ball, three and a half year old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Claude Ball (nee Lily Montgomery) of Toronto had received very serious injuries while playing near her home. Falling backwards over a guardrail in the rear of their apartment, she fell a distance of thirty feet landing on a cement walk in the yard. Ruth was rushed to the Sick Children's Hospital, where x-rays were taken to determine the extent of her injuries. Examination showed a fracture of her right arm, injuries to her hip and possible head injuries.

Mrs. W. H. Jones, formerly Miss Beatrice Merrills of Percy and Miss Kathleen Barrie, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. George Barrie of Birdsalls were among the list of lucky winners in the Cobourg Sentinel contest. Mrs. Jones and Miss Barrie are entitled to a free trip to New York and Bermuda and will leave in July along with the other winners. As Mrs. Jones headed the list she is the winner of the double trip, which allows her to select a friend to accompany her.

Miss Mary Jones is spending a vacation with friends in Rochester.

Mrs. Alex Fleming and son Joey of Trenton spent several days at the home of her sister, Mr. and Mrs. Gordon Faux.

Mrs. John Black of Peterborough spent a few days in the village and attended the funeral of the late William Killenbeck.

Mrs. Annie Fleming returned home after a three week's vacation with her son and daughter-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. A Fleming of Trenton.

Weddings

QUINN—ABRAMS

LAKEFIELD, June 19.—(Examiner Correspondence).—A pretty wedding was quietly solemnized at the parsonage of the Lakefield United Church on Saturday afternoon when Helen Bernice, second daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Morgan Abrams, was united in marriage to James Willson Quinn, son of Mr. and Mrs. Harold Store of Toronto. Rev. W. R. Archer, B.A., officiated.

The bride wore a becoming frock of heavy crepe in daffodil shade with ruffled net trimming in the same shade and a large white hat and white accessories and carried a sheaf of Ophelia roses. She was attended by Miss Maryon Pearson, who wore a dainty blush rose organdy white frock, white hat, pink gloves and white accessories and carried pink carnations. The groom was attended by Mr. Cresswell Tighe. A reception was held at the home of the bride's parents on Strickland street, where luncheon was served.

The happy couple left by motor for Belleville, where the honeymoon will be spent, the bride travelling in a pink ensemble suit of crepe with white hat and accessories. The groom's gifts to the bride and bridesmaid were antique compacts and to the best man a collar set in white gold. The gift of the groom's parents was a cabinet of silver.

The dining-room was decorated in yellow and white with a large white bell and flowers used profusely.

Mr. and Mrs. Quinn will reside in Toronto and have the heartiest good wishes of many friends for years of confugal felicity.

Obituary

MRS. WILLIAM CARMAN

WESTWOOD, June 19 (Examiner Correspondence) — Following a lingering illness, Hannah Isabelle Hamilton, wife of William Carman, passed away at her residence in the Township of Asphodel on Sunday, June 10.

The funeral which was held on Wednesday, her 68th birthday, was conducted at the house by Rev. H. J. Bell, B.A., B.D., of Hastings United Church.

She leaves to mourn the loss of a loving wife and mother, her husband, four daughters and two sons, namely: Beatrice, Mrs. William Banner, of Saskatoon, Sask.; Cora, Mrs. R. H Vansickle, of Havelock; Gladys, Mrs. J. T. English, of Rochester, N.Y.; William H., of Niagara Falls, N.Y.; Ernest and Olive at home. She also leaves seven grandchildren and one sister, Mrs. James E. Mumby, of Springbrook and two brothers, Howard and William of Cordova Mines.

Interment was made in Maple Grove cemetery, Havelock, the pall bearers being James Sargent, Sidney Warr, Fred Neilson, Thomas Cardwell Jr., William and James Thompson.

LAKEFIELD, June 19.—(Examiner Correspondence).—A large crowd of friends and relatives gathered on Sunday afternoon to pay a tribute of love and respect to the late Mrs. Samuel Spence, who passed away on Thursday. The service was held from the Spence home on Queen street and was in charge of Rev. W. R. Archer, B.A., pastor of the Lakefield United Church.

Mr. Archer took his text from St. Paul's first epistle to the Corinthians: "Death is swallowed up in victory", paying a well merited tribute to the Christian service to her family, her church, and her community, which combined to make a record which all classes and creeds honored and loved. Devoted and loyal her passing leaves a vacancy which none can fill for she was an outstanding figure in the life of her community.

Three hymns were sung: "For All the Saints", "Rock of Ages" and "Jesus Lover of My Soul."

The pall-bearers were five grandsons, Sam, Robert and Walter Spence, Jack and George English and a nephew, G. Warren Payne. Interment was made in the Lakefield Cemetery.

Jemima Payne was born in Dummer Township on March 19, 1857 the youngest of the family of ten children of the late Mr. and Mrs George Payne and in April, 1877, she married Samuel S. Spence of South Dummer, who pre-deceased her nearly three years ago. After more than a quarter of a century's residence in South Dummer, Mr. and Mrs. Spence removed to Toronto, where they resided for a short time, removing to Lakefield in 1904 where Mr. Spence and his sons established the well-known grocery firm of Spence and Sons.

Mrs. Spence was actively identified with the women's organizations of the Methodist church and as treasurer of the Ladies' Aid for twenty-five years she was an important factor in the work of raising funds to replace the old frame church with the handsome new cement block structure now known as the Lakefield United Church. Her enthusiasm and personality and her remarkable qualities of leadership made her a community figure, loved and respected, and her human sympathy and understanding brought comfort to many a sore heart who never appealed in vain to her. Known to scores of people as "Aunt Jemima," she had a family connection which was in itself a community and this was augmented by a host of friends who loved and revered her. She had what seemed to be the secret of perennial youth and took a keen interest in all the doings of the community and of the great world beyond, always standing firmly by the standards of Christian virtues which she had learned as a child and practiced all through her life.

Although a staunch Methodist other churches in the community knew and appreciated her broad-mindedness. As a next door neighbour of St. John's Parish Hall, every organization bore loving witness of her kindness and willingness to lend a hand at any time to aid their work and her cheery presence was always welcomed at every event in the Parish Hall. When Mr. and Mrs. Spence celebrated their golden wedding in April, 1927, it was a social event in which the whole village had a part and a keen sympathetic interest. Mrs. Spence was a great delight to her and many dainty articles for babies and children were made by her clever fingers.

Her presence is gone for the community but her personality lives on, a beautiful memory and a shining example for Christian service.

Surviving are two sons, Percy and George H. of Lakefield, and three daughters, Mrs. Lorne Webster, Mrs. R. B. English of Peterborough, and Mrs. Harry Dunford, and twelve grandchildren.

Trent River

Two tourist yachts passed through Saturday en route up the canal.

Mr. and Mrs. Wilt, Mr. and Mrs. Wright of Toronto spent over the week-end at "Sans Souce". This summer home owned by the Messrs Cuthbertson of Toronto has been opened up (after being closed for several years) and is undergoing repairs before being occupied for the season.

Mr. Earl Fairbrother and Mr. Dyer of Toronto spent the week-end at the former's summer home where Mrs. Earl Fairbrother and children and Mrs. Dyer and children are holidaying for the summer.

The Neighbourhood Workers Association of Toronto have one thousand children in the city to distribute throughout Ontario to any one willing to assist in this good work—to give the kiddies a two weeks vacation in the country. An appeal has been made through the United Church and any one who would wish to take one or two children must advise Rev. S. A. Kemp.

Mr. and Mrs. M. McArthur had as their Sunday visitors: Mr. and Mrs. Wesley Wildman, Mrs. R. Morrow of Donegal, Misses Fleda and Ruth Menzies of Norwood Road.

FURTHER STUDY OF WAGES PAID STORE CLERKS

Ottawa Committee Delves Into Working of Freiman Store.

DIVIDENDS PAID.

Seven Dollars a Week High Wages For Clerk in Montreal.

OTTAWA, June 20 (C.P.). — Between 1924 and 1931 the A. J. Freiman department store of Ottawa rolled up net operating profits of $1,436,095, the Parliamentary Mass Buying Committee learned to-day. In 1932 and 1933 there were net losses of $1,501.

S. H. Dobell, committee auditor, said the Freiman store was 34 years old, and in 1933 had sales of $3,597,910. Sales in 1924 were $2,018,930, and reached a peak of $4,021,630 in 1930.

The Freiman store recorded a net loss of $190 in 1933 and $1,311 in 1932, but profits for the previous eight years ranged from $293,765 in 1929 to $115,048 in 1924.

The steady growth of the Freiman Company was shown in the increase of assets from $2,018,932 in 1925 to $3,597,910 in 1933. The Freiman family owns control of the store.

The gross profit, the difference between cost and selling prices of goods, ran from 43.42 per cent. in 1934 to 42.63 in 1933, remaining steady all the way.

Regular Dividends.

Dividends have been paid every year since 1928. They ranged from $40,107 in 1928 to $55,680 last year.

Some employees of the firm got 20 per cent. discount and others 10 per cent. on their own purchases. Department managers were paid a bonus based on profits of their departments.

In the past year no holidays had been allowed with pay to employees.

Employees could contribute 15 cents per week for free medical service, including operations, and in such cases where they were ill the firm's doctor visited their

REGINA, June 20 (CP) — Final returns in all Saskatchewan's 54 constituencies at noon to-day revealed the Liberal party, headed by J. G. Gardiner, had scored a complete shut-out over their Conservative opponents. The Liberal banner waved over 49 seats with the remaining five going to the Farmer-Labor party affiliate of the C.C.F.

Lancaster Wins In Local Riding By Small Margin

Conservative Candidate Early Ran Up a Plurality, Only to be Overcome as Results From Rural Sections Were Announced.

MORE THAN 90 PER CENT. OF ELECTORS CAST THEIR VOTES—LARGEST IN HISTORY

One of the closest elections in Peterborough County's long history of hot political campaigns passed into history last night, and when the results were compiled in The Examiner office to-day, T. P. Lancaster, Conservative candidate, was conceded to be the winner in the triple fight for the local seat in the Provincial House by the narrow margin of 114 votes over his Liberal opponent, James Hawthorne.

The battle of ballots was a clear-cut fight between the two old party candidates all the way. Rev. John A. Sutherland, C. C. F. standard-bearer, was never a real contender as the results poured into The Examiner office in an ever mounting total. He secured only slightly more than one-fourth of votes piled up by either of his more successful opponents.

Tied at 9.30.

So hard fought was the contest between Mr. Lancaster and Mr. Hawthorne last night as more and more polls were heard from that the leadership swayed between them a dozen times. With eight polls, mainly from scattered districts in the northern townships, still to be reported from at 9.30 p.m. they were tied.

Lancaster early rolled up a lead of 587 over Hawthorne in the city, but

N.B.C. Programs May Be Taken Off

TORONTO, June 20. —(CP)— S. Ryall, vice president of the Toronto Musical Protective Association, claimed today "almost immediately" National Broadcasting Company sustaining programs would be cut off all Canadian Radio Commission stations.

Mr. Ryall received word from Walter Murdoch, president of the Toronto Association and chairman of the Musicians' Radio Board, that he brought the matter up before the Musicians' Convention, now in session in England, and received support of the N.B.C. to that extent.

Payment of Bet Creates Parade

GALT, Ont., June 20 (C.P.). —Hundreds of people lined the main thoroughfare at Preston to-day to watch Robert Barber, ardent Conservative, pay an election bet. Mr. Barber had to wheel Robert Shantz on a handcart for two blocks. A long procession of automobiles joined the parade, which was led by a motorcycle policeman. And as Mr. Barber perspiringly carried out his wager, a merchant ran out and coated him with flour.

Breach Of Wage Act Brings Conviction

HAMILTON, Ont., June 20 (C.P.). — "This is the first case I have ever tried for this offence" said Magistrate Burbidge in Magistrate's Court this morning when Bennie Iwan, King Street East restaurant keeper, was charged with a breach of the minimum wage law. Iwan pleaded guilty through his lawyer to two charges, the first of paying a girl less than the Act requires and the second neglect to keep records as to the names and addresses of employees and hours and wages of their labor. He was fined $25 on the first charge, and $10 on the second.

Similar charges against Florence Brown, hairdresser, were adjourned.

STATION YIELDS BABY'S REMAINS IN OLD SUITCASE

Same Checkroom Where Woman's Torso Found in Trunk.

PROBE CONTINUES.

Scotland Yard Appeals for Details of All Women Missing Since May 30.

BRIGHTON, England, June 20.—(A.P.)—A baby's body was found today in a suitcase in the same railway station checkroom where a woman's torso was discovered in a trunk Sunday night, creating England's most gruesome murder mystery in years.

This sensational development came shortly after it was disclosed that Sir Bernard Spilsbury, famous criminologist, and Scotland Yard detectives have made little progress in their investigation on the woman's murder.

Legs of the young woman, whose body had been dismembered with a saw, were discovered Monday night in a railway station in London.

Authorities were not certain that the infant was coupled with the slaying, but it was pointed out that both bodies were found within three days of each other in the same checkroom.

Baby Born Dead.

Police announced later that the baby was born dead and had been deposited in the check-room Feb. 24. They said they did not believe it was connected with the woman's murder.

An urgent Scotland Yard broadcast this morning disclosed that authorities were convinced the young woman had been slain within the past three weeks.

"It is of the utmost importance that the identity of the woman be established within the next 24 hours," the appeal to the public said. "Special importance should be given inquiries dealing with women missing since May 30."

NOT PERMITTED TO LEAVE POST

Hitler Refuses to Accept Von Papen's Resignation.

CRITICISM IS FAIR.

(By Louis P. Lochner, Associated Press Foreign Staff)

BERLIN, June 20 (AP)—Vice Chancellor Franz Von Papen, it was revealed to-day, offered his resignation from the German Government to Chancellor Hitler, following his Sunday speech in which he attacked certain phases of the Nazi regime.

Hitler flatly declined to permit his critic to quit his trusted position.

The resignation, it was said on highest authority, was tendered in order that the Chancellor might not be embarrassed.

Hitler, in fact, is reported to have agreed with the Vice-Chancellor in many of the criticisms but to have disagreed on the propriety of making them at this particular time and in the sharp manner in which they were offered.

He was understood, however, to have promised Von Papen to act on such complaints as were justified.

Now that the smoke caused by the speech has cleared away, both the Vice Chancellery and the Propaganda Ministry—the branch of Government most criticized by Von Papen—feel confident that their respective chiefs' courses were the only right ones.

The Vice Chancellery thinks the Vice Chancellor was correct in speaking as he did and the Propaganda Ministry thinks Joseph Goebbels, its minister, was right in prohibiting a radio broadcast of the speech and its publication subsequently.

ONE IS KILLED, THREE INJURED IN MOTOR CRASH

Police State Terrific Speed Responsible for Accident.

CAR SOMERSAULTS.

Occupants Thrown Through Top—Two May Die.

LONDON, June 20.—(CP)— Mrs. Gertrude Oke 143 Elmwood avenue was killed and three others injured, two seriously, when their car went out of control on the North River Road near the Thames Valley Golf Course early today. After investigating the accident, provincial police declared it probably was caused by "terrific speed."

Of the three injured passengers, Frank McLeod, a city fireman of 533 Grey street, may die. He is in Victoria Hospital, his skull fractured and still unconscious. McLeod is a single man while the other man in the car, George Smithson, 20, Simcoe street, also a fireman escaped with slight injuries. is married.

Mrs. Doris White of 24 Stanley street fourth member of the party, is also in Victoria hospital and her condition also is considered critical. She suffered abdominal injuries.

The automobile was owned by McLeod, but police could not immediately determine who was driving it. They believed it was McLeod but learned Mrs. Oke and Smithson also had driver's licenses. Smithson is to be asked for a statement later.

Police said the automobile was evidently speeding when it left the road on a slight turn, tore through a fence knocking over four posts and travelling for 150 feet across the soft earth of the field. During its wild career, the machine somersaulted three times, hurtling the occupants out of the top.

The Weather

The rainfall of Monday night, namely 1 inch and 62 100, takes its place among the heavy downpours of recent years. If I am not mistaken it is the heaviest since Aug. 4, 1915, when we had 2.16. August of that year had a total of 6.8, and the [illegible] were completely washed out by a number of torrential downpours.

BRITAIN'S NAVY NEEDS OUTLINED

Stresses Enormous Responsibility and World Position.

DISARMAMENT PLANS.

LONDON, June 20 (AP)—Prime Minister J. Ramsay Macdonald today presented a long outline of Great Britain's naval problems to the United States delegation here to discuss plans for next year's naval disarmament conference.

It was said in official quarters that Mr. Macdonald stressed Great Britain's "enormous responsibility, and her position in world affairs."

It was reported he discussed both European and Far Eastern problems at considerable length. It was understood that Great Britain did not offer a definite outline for the 1935 conference. There was only a general discussion of an appropriate date for the conference.

The United States delegates were invited to No. 10 Downing street for luncheon, and it was decided to continue the conversations later.

For the first time in 10 years a house census is being taken in England.

Only 3 of Cabinet And Henry Survive In Vote Landslide

Record Day At Polls, Incomplete, Shows 1,211,591 Citizens Cast Ballots, Giving Hepburn, New Premier, 65 Seats, Majority Of 41 Over All Other Parties Combined—Tories Alone Lose 49 Ridings—Only 36 Seats Remain Unchanged.

NIXON BILLED PROVINCIAL SECRETARY, ROEBUCK, ATTORNEY-GEN.—SIMPSON, HEALTH

By W. R. Wheatley, Canadian Press Staff Writer

TORONTO, June 20. —(CP)— After an absence of 29 years from administrative control in the Ontario political arena, the Liberal party under youthful Mitchell Hepburn came back into legislative power today on a record-breaking vote rolled up by the electorate and a smashing defeat of Premier George S. Henry's Conservative government.

Sixty-five seats out of a total of 90 were captured in the Liberal uprising. From 84 members—the number held out of 112 ridings before redistribution — the Conservatives dropped precipitately to 17. Liberals ran up their total from 15 in the last House.

Returns compiled by the Canadian Press, though still incomplete today, showed a total of 1,211,591 votes cast, eclipsing the old mark of 1,146,521 set in 1926. In the 1929 election 1,011,880 votes were cast.

The early Liberal trend, seen immediately after [illegible] closing last night, gathered surprising momentum and swept the province. Two hours after voting stopped the Canadian Press flashed a Liberal victory. In another hour the Liberals had an actual majority of the 90 seats and the Conservative debacle was complete with the party trailing hopelessly.

Four Liberal-Progressives, expected to align themselves with Mr. Hepburn's party, were victorious. In the same category were one Independent, one United Farmers of Ontario and one Labor-Liberal.

One C.C.F. Elected.

The Co-operative Commonwealth Federation, making its first bid for political recognition in Ontario, returned one member—in Hamilton East—out of 37 candidates in the field.

The swelling tide of Liberal votes swept 49 seats from Conservative tenure alone. It lashed traditionally "Tory Toronto" and split it in twain. Eight out of 12 members of the Henry cabinet went down to defeat. Premier Henry held a safe margin of victory over five opponents in York East, while Premier-designate Hepburn was an early win-

Lad, 14, Kidnapper Is Given 10 Years

CHICAGO, June 20.— (A.P.) — Fourteen year old George Rogalski, believed to be the youngest person ever convicted of kidnapping, is resigned to a 10 year term of imprisonment.

"I expected to get punished," he said following his conviction last night for the kidnapping of Baby Dorette Zeitlow, two and a half years old. He thanked "everybody concerned" for their "kindness" to him, and said: "I don't know why I did those things."

"Those things," included luring the little girl with the promise of a nickel to an abandoned ice house where he stripped her of her clothing and then abandoned her. She was found many hours later, weak, but still alive. She died in a hospital. The crime was done last April.

Liberal Party Heads Polls in Saskatchewan

SASKATCHEWAN CO-OPERATIVES ARE ANNIHILATED

Liberals Are Victors in Most Outstanding Vote of Provinces's in 30 Years.

44 ARE ELECTED.

Every Member Anderson Cabinet Defeated—Only 3 Farm-Labor Go In

(By George Finlay, C.P. Staff Writer.)

REGINA, June 20 (C.P.).—Saskatchewan's Co-operative Government was annihilated to-day, swept from power by the most astounding surge of Liberal ballots in the 30-year history of the Province. As the vote-count in the Provincial election neared completion not one follower of Coservative Premier J. T. M. Anderson had been elected and not one was leading in the few doubtful constituencies.

James G. Gardiner, whose forces were ousted from power in 1929 after a quarter-century of Liberal rule, round himself at the head of a group of 44 in a 55-seat Legislature, with every prospect of a further increase in his forces. Every member of the Anderson Cabinet was defeated.

The Standing.

The marked turn-over in Saskatchewan is indicated in the following comparison of the party standings in the old and new Legislaturs:

	Old. House.	New. House.
Liberals	26	44
Farmer-Labor	—	3
Conservative	23	—
Independent	5	—
Progressive	4	—
Vacant	5	—
Doubtful	—	7
Deferred	—	1
Total	63	55

Tories Lose 18 Seats

The Conservatives, who held "Co-operative" power in the last Legislature by virtue of their alliance with Independents, lost 18 seats in the above tabulation, all to Liberals. The Liberals, in addition, gained four seats each from Progressives and Independents. One gain was made by the Farmer-Labor party from Independents.

But the Farmer-Labor group, in the field under the aegis of the Co-operative Commonwealth Federation, was a disappointment to its backers. M. J. Coldwell, leader of the "Planned Economy" party, conceded defeat early in Regina and to-day found only three of the 53 Farmer-Labor candidates in the field had been returned—in Shaunavon, Cutknife, and Gull Lake.

When the Liberal Government is formed with Mr. Gardiner at its head, a special session will be called to deal with his pledges of debt adjustment to relieve the burden of rural and urban citizens. He announced during the campaign he would call a session of the House at the earliest date possible.

Anderson, McConnell Fall

Premier Anderson and his Conservative running mate, Hon. Howard McConnell, Minister of Municipal Affairs, met defeat at the hands of two Liberals, J. W. Estey and G. W. Norman, in the two-seat constituency of Saskatoon City.

In Regina, P. M. Anderson, K.C., and W. P. Kerr, were elected out of seven candidates, which included Hon. M. A. MacPherson, Attorney-General. In the other two-seat constituency of Moose Jaw City, another cabinet member, Hon. J. A. Merkley, Provincial Secretary and Minister of Railways, Labor and Industries, was defeated as two Liberals, W. G. Ross and J. H. Laird, were elected.

Other cabinet members shared the same fate as Premier Anderson. Hon. J. F. Bryant, Minister of Pub-

Incomplete Returns Give Carr 950 Majority in Northumberland County.

CLOSE RACE AT COBOURG.

CAMPBELLFORD, June 20. (By Examiner Staff Correspondent). — For the first time in twenty-nine years, a Liberal majority was registered in Eastern Northumberland for the provincial house, when Mayor Harold N. Carr of Campbelford headed the polls in his fight against the government member, Fred J. McArthur of Cobourg, yesterday.

Final returns for the county were not known at a late hour last evening, although soon after the polls were closed Mayor Carr's election was conceded by the party heardquarters at Cobourg, and some time later Mr. McArthur conceded Mr. Carr the election. Cobourg estimated the Liberal majority at approximately 950, although some polling sub-divisions were not heard from, among which were Murray township and South Monaghan, both centres, however, being estimated to give the Campbelford mayor a majority.

The election was one of the fiercest political fights staged in the county for many years, and the under current of antagonism which has been felt for some weeks past, flared out yesterday, when one of the heavies votes on record was polled, an estimate of about 15,000

HOUSE PASSES PUBLIC WORKS OF $40,000,000

Building Operations Intended to Give Employment, Stimulate Business.

FINANCE BILL ADVANCES.

Currency Issued in Excess of $120,000,000 to be Backed by Gold 100 Cents on Dollar.

OTTAWA, June 20 (C.P.)—Political feeling ran a blood-tide on Parliament Hill to-day as the Federal parliamentarians went on with the work of bringing their session to a close. Liberals were in a jubilant mood as a result of the sweeping victories of their party in Ontario and Saskatchewan, and Conservatives on the whole were silent.

The House of Commons has before it to-day the Government's public works construction program, involving an expenditure of some $40,000,000 on building operations scattered over the whole Dominion. It is intended to provide employment and stimulate business and industrial recovery. With little discussion the House passed the resolution preliminary to the introduction of the bill to provide for the construction program and gave first reading to the bill.

A finance bill to authorize the Government to increase the total note issue for which gold coverage of 25 per cent. is required from $50 000,000 to $120.000,000 received first reading yesterday. It also authorizes the Government to purchase 1,671,802 ounces of silver in accordance with the international silver agreement.

Prime Minister R. B. Bennett explained the increased note issue would be used to finance the building program.

The bill repeals the Dominion Notes Act which is outdated by the proposed establishment of the Bank of Canada and in a general way it will serve to cover the transitional period until the Bank of Canada takes over the entire issue of currency.

100 Cents On Dollar.

Currency issued in excess of the $120,000,000 will be backed by gold to the extent of 100 cents on the dollar. The total Dominion note issue at present is $171,110,949, against which the Minister of Finance holds gold to the value of $69,166,942.

The bills to aid debt-burdened farmers received third reading in the Lower House yesterday, and now go to the Senate. One sets up machinery to effect compromises between debtors and creditors and the other enlarges the scope of the Farm Loan Act.

Despite a last protest from William Duff (Lib., Antogonish-Guysboro), the voluminous shipping bill received third reading last night. It effects a complete revision and consolidation of the marine law and takes over much of the legislative field which was formerly occupied by statutes of the Imperial Parliament at Westminster. One or two amendments were made to the bill which will necessitate its going back to the Senate, where it originated.

Great Crowd Hears Election Returns From In Front Of Examiner Office

Receiving the news of the Liberal sweep in the Province with mixed feelings and awaiting the final results of the Peterborough County election in an atmosphere of tense excitement, a crowd of more than 2,000 had gathered in front of The Examiner office by ten o'clock to hear the results announced by Dick Lush. The crowd filled completely a stretch of George street from Hunter almost to Brock.

Despite occasional shouts of "Down with Lancaster!" and shouts of "Down with Hawthorne!" in spirited reply from different sections of the street, the assemblage kept good order. From the enthusiasm with which favorable Liberal news was greeted in comparison with the reception of good Conservative news, it was apparent that its sympathies were evenly divided. The majority of those in the crowd were men.

Conveyed with distinctness and volume by electrical amplifiers, the announcements of Mr. Lush were heard far up and down the street without difficulty.

A Nice Fish

CAPE PORPOISE, Me., June 20 (C.P.).—A two-ton shark was captured five miles off shore today and landed after a terrific struggle.

The mammoth fish, 25 feet long, became entangled in the net of two fishermen, George Nunan and Arnold Stinson, and towed their craft several miles before it was subdued by repeated blows on the head. It was alive when brought ashore, but died soon afterward.

Veteran seafarers said the shark was the largest they ever had seen on this coast.

LOCAL WINNER GIVES ADDRESS

Safely Elected by Small Plurality, Mr. Lancaster Speaks to the Crowd.

PRAISES OPPONENTS

With one distant poll in the backwoods of the county still to be heard from, T. P. Lancaster, Conservative, according to The Examiner's carefully compiled figures had a plurality over James Hawthorne, Liberal of 98 votes.

As the elected for Peterborough riding in the next Provincial House, Mr Lancaster was prevailed upon to address the huge throng that filed George street outside The Examiner office.

Mr. Lancaster stated, "Ladies and gentleman they tell me I am elected, and it appears that I am. Naturally the figures will have to be checked more closely to-morrow but I do not think it will materially change the figures The Examiner has at the present time.

"Permit me to say, that although I will be a member of a very, very small minority in the next House and everything will be difficult, I asure you with utmost sincerity that I will continue to represent this riding with all my ability. I will save no effort in working for the good of Peterborough.

"I desire to thank those who supported me at the polls both in the city and rural districts and so made my slim margin of victory possible.

"Permit me also to express my sincere appreciation of the clean fight fought by my two opponents, James Hawthorne and John Sutherland. In Peterborough the fight was clean throughout, maintaining a high standard that was a credit to the riding. I thank you."

THE CEYLON TEA BUREAU advise Canadian women to buy "Good Tea". We are heartily in accord. Forty years ago we adopted the words "Good Tea" as our slogan and year after year, since 1894, we have told Canadian women they might identify "Good Tea" by the trade-name "Red Rose". Many tried Red Rose Tea—thousands of homes have used it for two generations. We merit this confidence in our name by insuring a quality that proved worthy of our slogan "Good Tea".

LANCASTER WINS BY SMALL MARGIN

when reports came through from the rural municipalities this lead quickly melted away until at one stage Hawthorne was out in front by nearly 200 votes.

With Hawthorne out in front by a margin of less than 100 votes, The Examiner overcame communication difficulties with its Apsley correspondent, and with his reports from the scattered polls through Burleigh, Anstruther and Belmont the leadership was again reversed and Lancaster came out on top by the slimmest margin.

The vote secured by each candidate is as follows:

Lancaster	9,512
Hawthorne	9,400
Sutherland	2,257

Truth of The Examiner's prediction yesterday that voters throughout the riding had masked their true interest in the campaign under the barrage of oratory, and were going to the polls in huge numbers to record their vote, is fully shown by the huge ballot total. More than 90 per cent. of the electors used their ballots, smashing all records locally by the size of the vote cast. Out of a possible total vote in the whole riding of 24,065, a total of 21,171 ballots were marked in yesterday's smashing vote.

A survey of the riding shows that Peterborough City, North Monaghan, Havelock, Lakefield, Norwood, Chandos, Belmont and the six Burleigh road camps gave Lancaster pluralities. Hawthorne's strength lay in Smith, Ennismore, Otonabee, Dummer, Harvey, Asphodel and Galway, all of which townships gave big pluralities.

These facts are set forth definitely in the following figures:

Peterborough riding results by municipalities:

	Hawthorne	Lancaster	Sutherland
City polls	4,466	5,053	1,340
North Monaghan	476	606	252
Smith	551	383	62
Ennismore	234	35	11

HENRY EXPLAINS PARTY DEFEAT

Blames Economic Depression and Over Confidence by Tory Party.

CHARGES HURT.

TORONTO, June 20 (C.P.).—In a little school-room in his own riding of East York, Premier George S. Henry last night conceded the defeat of his Conservative Government in the Ontario elections. He ascribed the defeat to the economic depression, the failure of many Conservatives to go to the polls and to the effect of the many charges against the Government "even if there was no truth in them."

Premier Henry, who was elected while other members of the Cabinet were being defeated, made no public appearance, but gave the Canadian Press the following statement:

"I attribute the defeat of the Government to three causes: First, the depression which has thrown so many out of work and caused others to lose their properties. The Government, of course, was powerless to stem the world-wide depression, but people who have suffered are resentful and I presume express their resentment by voting against the Government. It is not logical but it is human nature.

Overconfident.

"The second reason is probably the failure of many Conservatives throughout the province to pull their full weight. In this respect our previous great majority has been a harm to us as many of our supporters felt there was no need to go to the ballot box and neglected their organization.

"In the third place, there is no doubt the many charges laid against the Government had their effect even if there was no truth in them. This is only a temporary reverse and the Conservative members will work for the province no less faithfully in opposition than they did in office. I want to tender my thanks to all those who worked so loyally during the campaign."

Paul Poisson, Minister without portfolio, in Essex North; Hon. J. P. Moore, Minister without portfolio, in London; Hon. William Finlayson, Minister of Lands and Forests, in Simcoe East; Hon. J. M. Robb, Minister of Health, in Algoma-Manitoulin, and Hon. H. C. Schofield, Minister without portfolio, in Toronto St. George.

Survivors of the Conservative cabinet in addition to Premier Henry were Hon. G. H. Challies, Provincial Secretary, returned in Grenville-Dundas; Hon. Leopold Macaulay, Minister of Highways, in York South, and Hon. W. H. Price, Attorney-General, in Toronto Parkdale.

The Liberal onslaught attacked urban and rural ridings alike.

The loss of six seats in the solid phalanx of Toronto ridings was a death blow to the Conservative cause. Seven were retained by the Premier's adherents in a bitter struggle in the city constituencies where a strong C.C.F. vote was not lacking.

In the suburban York constituencies, honors were divided with two seats each to Conservatives and Liberals.

Windsor-Sandwich and Windsor-Walkerville each returned a Liberal member.

Liberals were elected in Hamilton Centre and Hamilton-Wentworth; both seats gains from Conservatives. Sam Lawrence, one C.C.F. candidate elected, was victorious in Hamilton East.

Ottawa Splits Honors

Honors were even in Ottawa, where the Liberals captured Ottawa East and the Conservatives won in Ottawa South. The City of London riding went Liberal.

In the smaller cities and in the rural constituencies seat after seat fell in the Liberal advance. Conservatives were elected in only seven ridings outside of Toronto and the adjoining Yorks. In the whole province only 35 seats among all parties remained unchanged, and the Liberal sweep gave the new Premier a majority of 42 over all other parties combined.

The result of the election sent Liberal supporters into a wildly joyous demonstration. Successful candidates spoke their thanks and pleasure to celebrating throngs. Parades formed and bands blared; there was endless hand-shaking and back-slapping.

Downtown Toronto was typical of scores of other gatherings throughout the province. Crowds formed in solid masses about newspaper offices. Bulletins were flashed on screens and loud-speakers told the story; Music blared forth, auto horns squawked and whoops of Liberal supporters added to the general din. The throngs milled about the streets long after the bulletin announcements were ended.

St. Thomas, in the Elgin riding where Mr. Hepburn was elected, put on a show for the Premier-designate. The 38-year-old leader addressed a cheering crowd when the Liberal sweep was definitely known. Earlier he sat in the kitchen of the Masonic Temple and was given the Canadian Press returns from a telegraph wire installed there.

Mr. Hepburn, who featured his campaign with a call for reduced expenditures and economy in Government, charging maladministration to the Henry regime, told the cheering throng the old Government had outlived its usefulness. He said he would "bring about the reforms I have discussed during the campaign,' and declared he had been subjected to a "campaign of villification and belittlement" during the past three weeks.

The Liberal leader, who resigned his seat in the Dominion Parliament, enters the Ontario Legislature for the first time in his political career.

Henry Explains

In a schoolhouse office in the York east riding Premier Henry, surrounded by members of his family and close political friends, received the returns that told of the overthrow of his government. He attributed the Conservative defeat to three causes: First, the depression, which he said had caused unemployment, and made the people resentful; second, failure of many Conservatives in the province to poll their whole vote through neglect; third, charges against the government, whether true or not, made themselves felt.

He said there was "nothing vindictive' in his makeup and expressed appreciation for what the electors had done for him. The Premier wired his congratulations to Mr. Hepburn.

Up in Sudbury, Hon. Charles McCrea, cabinet member, who lost out to E. A. LaPierre, Liberal was widely acclaimed by his supporters even in defeat. Addressing the gathering he bespoke congratulations for the victor and said he would continue to work for the province and the good of the north country.

New Ministers?

Speculation was rife to-day on the make-up of the new Liberal cabinet. Mr. Hepburn has announced Hon. Duncan Marshall, elected in Peel, would be the next Minister of Agriculture.

Political observers believe H. C. Nixon, elected in Brant, as a Liberal-Progressive, will receive the portfolio of Provincial Secretary, the post he held under E. C. Drury in the U.F.O. regime. It was considered likely the Ministry of Health would go to Dr. L. J. Simpson, and that of Game and Fisheries to D. J. Taylor. A. W. Roebuck is mentioned for the Attorney-Generalship. Other cabinet possibilities are seen in Mayor David Croll of Windsor, J. H. Clark of the same city and Paul Munro of Wellington south.

It was believed the portfolio of Minister of Mines would go to a northerner with a French-Canadian member getting the preference. Mr. Hepburn stated during his campaign there would be a French-speaking representative in his cabinet, and it was expected the mantle will fall on either E. A. LePierre, elected in Sudbury over Mr. McCrea who formerly held the portfolio, or Theo LeGaut, victorious in Nipissing, both of whom have had legislative experience.

There was no indication whether Mr. Hepburn would follow the example of Premier Henry and take over the Provincial Treasurer's Department.

In the voting aftermath conjecture on the Speakership for the next Legislature centred about W. E. N. Sinclair, former Party Leader, and it was considered likely the victorious member in the riding of Ontaro would be asked to assume the post.

Until the excitement over the Liberal victory dies down it is believed there will be no definite action toward a special Legislative session to deal with unemployment. In his campaign speeches Mr Hepburn declared a special session would be called if the Federal Government withdrew its grants for direct relief on July 15 as announced. There would be only the unemployment problem on the agenda, and the special session would likely last only two or three weeks.

Beer July 1?

"Beer-by-the-glass" legislation is expected to receive early proclamation, perhaps by July 1. Details of how the new legislation, adopted at the last session, will be put into effect, and whether the schedule of licenses prepared by the Conservative administration will be adhered to, are not yet known.

Along with the deluge of congratulations heaped upon Mr. Hepburn by Liberal Party stalwarts and personal friends was the statement issued last night in Ottawa by the Hon. W. L. Mackenzie King, the Dominion Liberal Chieftain.

Expressing pleasure at the Liberal victories in both Ontario and Saskatchewan, Mr. King declared: "The country has served notice on the Prime Minister Mr. Bennett, that his administration has long since ceased to enjoy its confidence, and that the Government's further continuance in office is without shadow of justification."

King Lauds Hepburn

The former Prime Minister of Canada paid tribute to the Ontario leader, declaring "Too much credit cannot be given to Mr. Hepburn for the results which have been achieved by the Liberals in the Province of Ontario." He lauded Mr. Hepburn's "fearless, energetic and persistent campaign" was mainly responsible for the Conservative defeat.

In the Ontario and Saskatchewan elections, along with the previous results in British Columbia and Nova Scotia and federal by-elections in the last three years, Mr. King said it was "equally clear in all contests it is the determination of the electorate to have little or nothing to do with the vague and extreme policies of the Co-operative Commonwealth Federation."

C.C.F. Satisfied

In Toronto, Graham Spry, chairman of the C.C.F. executive committee for Ontario, said the Ontario results gave the C.C.F. its objective, "which was to obtain a foothold in the legislature." He declared that despite the anti-third party argument "to defeat the Conservative government, and despite "the fact that we have no money, no press, no radio and an inexperienced organization, we polled a large vote." He said the C.C.F. would have a candidate in the next federal election "in every possible riding."

lic Works and long a figure in Saskatchewan politics, was defeated in Lumsden; Hon. F. D. Munroe, Minister of Health, lost in Moosemin; Hon. W. W. Smith, a minister without portfolio, was defeated in Swift Current; Hon. W. C. Buckle, Minister of Agriculture, was beaten in Tisdale, and Hon. A. C. Stewart, Minister of Highways, met defeat in Yorkton.

The speaker of the last legislature, Rev. R. S. Leslie, was beaten in Weyburn.

Mr. Coldwel admitted his own defeat as the early returns from Regina City came in. A few hours after the polls closed Premier Anderson and Mr. McConnell conceded their defeat. Shortly afterward the defeat of the government was conceded.

Greatest Rout In History

The rout of the Conservative-Cooperative forces was believed the greatest that ever overtook any administration in the history of the Dominion. Of the three leaders, Mr. Gardiner, a former premier, was the only one elected. He succeeded to the premiership when Hon. C. A. Dunning was named federal Minister of Finance in 1927 and it was under Mr. Gardiner's leadership that the Liberals lost the first Saskatchewan election since the province was formed.

No announcements respecting the formation of a Liberal cabinet was expected for several days. Two former cabinet members were among those elected—T. C. Davis, Prince Albert, former attorney-general, and Dr. J. H. Uhrich, Rosthern, a former Minister of Health.

CARR IS GIVEN GREAT WELCOME BY HOME TOWN

Long Line of Cars Escorts Newly-elected Northumberland Member Through Streets.

AT CAMPBELLFORD.

Makes Short Stops at Grafton, Brighton and Warkworth on Route Home

CAMPBELLFORD, June 20 (By Examiner Staff Correspondent).—With cars four abreast on the Grand road, in an endless stream stretching from the bridge to the town limits, Campbellford welcomed home its mayor member last evening and showed their enthusiasm for his success at the polls, by according him a royal reception. Meeting Mayor Carr, the newly-elected Liberal member for Northumberland, after he had returned home from Cobourg, via Grafton, Brighton, and Warkworth, in which places he had delivered short addresses, Campbellford citizens met him on the outskirts of the town, and headed by the town band, gaily escorted him to the Liberal committee rooms, enthroned on a car gaily decorated with Union Jacks.

All along the route through town, Mayor Carr had to stop at points to greet the crowd and give short addresses of thanks to the citizens who had shown their confidence in him and given him such a splendid majority.

But last night was one to be remembered in Campbellford, for the Liberal victory was the firts one in the Provincial field since John Douglas was elected 29 years ago. And citizens remembered it, and celebrated the occasion by organizing a street dance, which was carried on well into the small hours of the morning.

being registered, as against a total of 13,533 polled in the Dominion election of 1930. Despite strong feeling only one fistic encounter was registered, when two scrutineers at a polling booth at Brighton got tangled yesterday morning, but were soon quieted down.

Some of the features of the Northumberland election were the very small majority given Fred McArthur in his own town of Cobourg, 148, in all, and the lead of 139 votes registered for Mayor Carr in his own town of Campbellford. It is estimated that these two centres, one by its majority for the Liberals and the other by its very small Conservative lead, practically elected Mayor Carr, although Colborne, Brighton village and township, Cramahe, with Cobourg, gave a Conservative majority.

And in that section of the district where Mayor Carr is well known, the Township of Seymour, a majority of 139 was accorded him, with five out of the eight polls electing him. In Percy township also he had a splendid lead registering 211 votes ahead of McArthur.

The total returns available last evening were as follows:

Hastings Car Stolen

HASTINGS, June 20 (Examiner Correspondence). — The first car theft in Hastings in some time occurred on Sunday night, when a 1928 coach, license number Y-2377, owned by Leo Keogan, was stolen from in front of Our Lady of Mount Carmel Roman Catholic Church. Speaking to The Examiner on Sunday night Mr. Keogan thought it was only a joke and it would turn up on Monday, but so far nothing has been heard of the car. Constable Calbury is working on the case.

Oscar was in poor health, but instead of killing him, his appointed "executioner" turned him loose in Lake Michigan. The exercise brought him up to par.

Officials of the Aquarium said they would make no effort to recapture him.

"Tight buttoned"

Have You, The "Can't Afford It" Habit?

THE use of that phrase does not suggest the inability to buy so much as the desire to practice rigid economy . . . to save . . . to deny yourself needed and necessary commodities.

But Man, oh Man, and you, too, Madam, how better and more effectively can you practice economy and thrift than to buy when prices are at their lowest ebb in years? How more certainly can you insure economy than to replace worn or out-of-date furniture than when new is selling for one-third of what it sold for 15 years ago? Or to stock up on food products when they are 40% less than at any time since the war? Or clothing when $53 to-day will buy you what you paid $100 for in 1912?

What you really cannot afford to do is not buy because you cannot afford to miss to-day's low levels . . . prices that are an actual boon to reduced incomes . . . to the practice of sensible, far-sighted economy.

WEDNESDAY, JUNE 20, 1934

THE ONTARIO LANDSLIDE.

In the greatest political landslide in the history of the province, Liberalism swept back into power in Ontario yesterday after an absence of 29 years. The verdict of the electors was complete, decisive, devastating, for the Conservative Government of Hon. George S. Henry was literally torn to pieces. City ridings and urban constituencies, new and old Ontario alike, decided that it was time for a change; even the traditionally solidly Conservative bloc of Toronto seats and the Yorks forsook its traditional Tory allegiance to add strength to the Liberal sweep. Seat after seat, usually regarded as "safe" from a Conservative viewpoint, were wrested by Liberal candidates, until the final summary showed only sixteen Government nominees elected in the whole province.

Mitchell F. Hepburn, at 38 years of age, becomes the new Premier of Ontario, achieving that great honor without ever having sat in the Legislature. For him is opened wide the door of opportunity; the many vital problems that are demanding a successful solution will test his statesmanship, his judgment and his wisdom, but at the same time will give him a splendid stage upon which to demonstrate his fitness for the responsible position to which the people of Ontario by an overwhelming majority have allocated him. He takes over the reins of office at a time when the electors are inclined to be more than usually critical of all governing bodies, but he has a mighty array of members behind him, full power to inaugurate any reform that he considers necessary, and a clear-cut mandate to put into effect the policies and changes he has stressed in his campaign. The opportunity is his for splendid service in the interest of this province and its people, and he should have the support, the co-operation and the good wishes of all Ontario as he takes over the administration of public affairs in Canada's banner province.

Yesterday's tremendous turnover, while surprising in its completeness, had been foreshadowed throughout the progress of the campaign. The size and enthusiasm of the audiences which greeted Mr. Hepburn in all parts of the province were in glaring contrast to the reception that greeted Premier Henry and his lieutenants, for while the Liberal leader was received with cheers at his every appearance, the Government chieftains ran into constant heckling to a degree unheard of before in this province. Few, however, thought the Hepburn triumph would be so convincing that the Government strength would be reduced to a mere one dozen and a quarter members, with most of the Cabinet Ministers going down to defeat.

The reasons for this province-wide repudiation of the Henry administration are not hard to trace. In the first place, the usual tendency in periods of hard times to lay the blame for the conditions on the shoulders of the Government in power, and to seek a change as offering the hope of a betterment played a prominent part. In the second, the feeling that this Government had been too long in office for its own good and that of the province, that it had grown lax and become callous to criticism and indifferent to the opinion of the people was a potent factor. And lastly, the Government has suffered from inept leadership, for even his most ardent supporters will not attempt to deny the fact that Premier Henry showed neither political sagacity nor personal magnetism in this campaign. There have been stupid attempts to "bribe the people with their own money," as the Opposition has said, and the Government's case has been clumsily and lamely presented from the public platform and in radio broadcasts.

No Government, however strong, could stand up against such a combination of circumstances, and the Government that now passes from the scene has not been strong in the later portion of its regime.

The wine and beer issue apparently played little part in the result, for wet Liberals and dry members of the party were equally successful to their appeal to the electorate; it will probably not escape Mr. Henry's notice that the Windsor district from which came most of the shouting for freer beer defeated every one of his candidates.

The failure of the C.C.F. party to make any real showing—only one of its candidates was successful—tells its own story of the determination of the people of Ontario not to be lured away by impracticable hallucinations. Even at a time of great unemployment and agricultural distress, the electors of this province spurned socialism as a means of restoring more prosperous conditions. Yesterday's verdict spelled disaster not only for the Henry Government but for the Ontario disciples of J. S. Woodsworth—and even Conservative voters can extract some measure of satisfaction from the repudiation of the Co-operative Commonwealth Federation.

SASKATCHEWAN GOES LIBERAL.

While the Saskatchewan returns were far from complete when this article was written, a sweeping Liberal victory was assured. As in Ontario, the Government went down to defeat, the administration of Premier Anderson, almost completely Conservative with the assistance of a few Progressives, utterly failing to convince the electorate that it was entitled on its record in office to a vote of confidence.

The turning out of the Government was not the most striking feature of the campaign; it remained for the Farmer-Labor party, the C.C.F. organization in Saskatchewan, to supply the element of surprise by its dismal failure to win any substantial recognition from the electors of the province. The new party had pinned its hopes on Saskatchewan; leaders of the movement, including J. S. Woodsworth, national C.C.F. chieftain, and Captain Elmore Philpott, concentrated their efforts on the western province, firmly convinced that the Farmer-Labor forces would form the new Government.

They had some reason for that belief, because of the fact that Saskatchewan had felt the full brunt of successive crop failures and economic distress, and surely offered fertile soil for socialistic propaganda, if any part of Canada did.

Like their fellow-Canadians in Ontario, however, the people of Saskatchewan turned a deaf ear to the blandishments of those who advocated a new social order; they wanted a change, but they flatly refused to follow along the dangerous path that C.C.F. leaders vainly tried to picture as the road to Utopia.

The Saskatchewan result, in conjunction with the Liberal landslide in Ontario, has done two things.

It has dealt a body blow to the prestige of the C.C.F. as a political force, and it has practically assured the postponement of a federal election until next year. In the face of the double disaster, the Co-operative Commonwealth organization will have difficulty in keeping up the morale of its rank and file, and just as certainly Mr. Bennett, remembering that discretion is the better part of valor, will delay his appeal to the electorate until the clouds in the economic sky have broken.

TRADE GAINS.

Daily examples of the improvement in Canadian business are not lacking.

Mr. Mathews, Minister of National Revenue, gives out the statement that our country's revenues for the month of May were increased by $7,368,062, while for the first two months of the current fiscal year the increase was $11,059,035. In May, also, both customs and excise taxes were up to the tune of more than $3,000,000.

Total collections for the two months of the fiscal year amounted to $34,438,117 contrasted with $23,379,082 for the same period of 1933, or an increase of nearly 50 per cent.

Canada's foreign trade climbed up 41 per cent. in May, compared with the same month of 1933.

For the two months of the current fiscal year Canada's volume of foreign trade has increased from $118,971,913 last year to $177,179,394 this year, or a gain of slightly more than 48 per cent.

During May the value of Canadian exports was $57,899,511, as against $45,576,337 for the same month of 1933; while imports jumped from $32,926,630 to $52,883,004.

It may be the Imperial Conference agreements, it may be this or it may be that, but the main thing is the increase, the very substantial increase in trade volume and Government receipts. However, we suppose opponents of the Government will contend that the figures would be even more satisfactory, the country's revenue even larger, were the duty rates generally lowered.—Border Cities Star.

THE LOCAL RESULT.

In veiw of the completeness of the disaster that overcome his party yesterday, T. P. Lancaster, the successful Conservative candidate for Peterborough, has every right to look upon his victory as a personal triumph.

When his colleagues on all sides of him were tossed into the discard, when most of the Cabinet Ministers were numbered with the slain, and even "Tory Toronto" rejected some of its native sons, the fact that Mr. Lancaster was able to weather the storm and win the new combined city and county riding is a testimony to the fine service he contributed during his term as the representative of Peterborough County. Even his opponents admitted that Mr. Lancaster had made a good job of his almost five years at Queen's Park and had done much for the riding and its people, and his personal popularity and record of achievement stood him in good stead yesterday, giving him the only Conservative victory in this whole section.

On the other hand, Mr. Hawthorne, the Liberal candidate, has the satisfaction of knowing that he polled a remarkable vote, and was given a measure of support in the urban section of the riding that has not been accorded few other Liberal candidates in recent years.

The third party, the C.C.F., with Rev. John Sutherland as its candidate, polled less than one-tenth of the possible vote, a result that indicates that socialistic ideas have not made a great deal of headway in this county, despite the fact that the C.C.F. policies were eloquently and forcibly and frequently presented to the electors.

Perhaps the most surprising feature of all in connection with the local campaign was the size of the vote polled—one of the heaviest in the history of the county, and this despite the fact that meetings on the whole had not been largely attended, and that there was an apparent lack of interest among the electorate. The perfect weather conditions, of course, greatly assisted in bringing out a record vote, but there have been other elections held in fine weather and with apparently far more enthusiasm that did not see anything like the percentage of voters as was in evidence yesterday.

The candidates and the party organizations are to be congratulated upon the clean and sportsmanlike nature of the campaign that was fought in Peterborough. Whatever other concern the defeated aspirants may feel over the result they have the satisfaction of knowing that they said or did nothing during the election that will be remembered to their discredit, and the victor has the gratification of feeling that his triumph is not marred by discourtesy to his opponents or any departure from the path of sportsmanlike conduct.

EDITORIAL NOTES AND COMMENT.

Well, people certainly voted as they liked, but they voted.

Ontario will have a Liberal Government after 29 years of Conservative rule, broken only by four years under the Drury Farmers' Government.

Mr. Hepburn, whose main activity for many weeks has been making speeches, will now turn his attention to making a Cabinet.

Peel changed political allegiance yesterday, but still has the distinction of being represented by the Minister of Agriculture.

The electors of Brantford play no favorites. A few nights ago they threw tomatoes at Premier Henry, and yesterday they canned his Minister of Welfare, Hon. W. G. Martin.

If the Toronto authorities are awake they will persuade Mr. Hepburn to have that parade of discharged Government employees and sale of Ministers' cars lined up as part of the centennial program.

It is one of the tragedies of politics that good men have to go down to defeat when a landslide occurs. Ministers like Hon. Charlie McCrea, Hon. Dr. Robb, the Minister of Health, and Hon. T. L. Kennedy, Minister of Agriculture, will be missed from the Legislature. It would have been better for the province and, in the final analysis, better for the new Government if the electors had not made such a complete job of wrecking the Henry administration.

REBELLION!

I'm about to have an argument with the proofreader—and I intend to win that argument....Or, at any rate, I intend to have my own way.

You see, I used to phrase "somebody else's" in an article and when it came out in the paper it had been changed to "somebody's else". I don't know who did it, but I suspect that he was technically correct.

Nevertheless, I didn't write it that way. I'm not going to write it that way; I never, never, NEVER will write it that way....It's too fussy, it's too lah-de-dah, it's not natural. ....When I see "somebody's else" in print it pulls me up sharply, reminds me abruptly of the man who's doing the writing, tells me sharply that he is a precise fellow and causes me to suspect that he is thinking more of his grammar than of what he is trying to say....By that precision of grammar instead of meaning he throws me clear off his train of thought and I have trouble getting back....So I'm NOT going to write that way. It may be somebody else's way, but it's not going to be mine.

I'll not use such words as "enthuse" or "donate" when I mean "give." I'll distinguish between "its' and "its". I'll not say "those kind of people'" when I mean "that kind.' Nor will I set "most unique" down in print, or speak of "contacting a man". And I'll hesitate a little about splitting infinitives, because nine times in ten they shouldn't be split. But I'll NOT write "somebody's else" any more than I'll crook my little finger when I drink a cup of tea.

Words should not be the masters of men, men should do their best to master words and use them. Am I to let those two words, "somebody's else", bully and master me! No, sir, I AM not....Shakespeare made a few errors. Joseph Conrad wasn't always perfect. Franklin Roosevelt wrote, "I don't care WHO you tell this to"....And William Makepeace Thackeray wrote: "A suit of clothes like everybody else's."

Thackeray's good enough for me.

What's in The NAME

of Canadian Cities and Towns?

By FRANK H. WILLIAMS

WINNIPEG, MANITOBA

Prior to 1866 the capital city of the west was known as the Red River Settlement. Then came a man named Nicholas Gary, an important figure in Hudson's Bay Company affairs and the settlement gradually came to be known as Fort Garry, owing to a fort of that name having been erected.

Years later, when an act to incorporate the city came before the provincial legislature the discussion hinged around two names "Fort Garry" and "Selkirk", the latter name in honor of Lord Selkirk, a former governor of the Red River colony. Someone suggested the name Winnipeg, which had its origin in the Indian Cree name given to the lake 40 miles north, the "Win," meaning muddy, and "nipee" meaning water. The name later was changed to Winnipeg.

Henry to Assist New Government

TORONTO, June 19 (CP) — Only a few minutes after conceding defeat of his Conservative Government, Premier George S. Henry to-night sent the following message to Mitchell F. Hepburn, whose Liberal forces swept the province in the Ontario election:

"Congratulations—I will give you every assistance in taking over the reins of government.—George S. Henry."

ON THIS DATE

A DAY IN CANADIAN HISTORY

By Fred Williams

THE GREAT FIRE AT SAINT JOHN

On this date, in 1877 the city of Saint John was swept by one of the worst fires in Canadian history. Practically the whole city was wiped out. When the conflagration had been conquered after hours of desperate gallantry by fire men and citizens it was found that no less than 1,612 houses and 615 business places had been destroyed. It was a desperate fire. The wind was high; most of the buildings were old and of wood, some of them dating back nearly a century, and they burned like tinder. Some of the stone builings withstood the fire, but the business houses wiped out included many that had been considered fireproof.

Over 13,000 people were made homeless; the money loss exceeded $27,000,000 on which there was insurance of only $7,000,000. It was a staggering blow; but the people of Saint John never lost heart completely. Aid poured in from Boston and New York and from "Upper Canada" as some of the old timers even yet speak of any part of Canada west of the Baie de Chaleur. Food, clothing and other accessories were rushed in by special trains. Relief funds were opened at many places, even in London, England, and it was not long before rebuilding began. It was slow work; business was dislocated; it really took years to overcome the effects of the disaster, but Saint John carried on with the same courage which made the Loyalist pioneers lay the foundations of the city. Phoenix-like, Saint John rose from its ashes. There are few survivors of that dreadful day in June 1877; but when one visits Saint John today he can find men of middle age who had been told the story by their parents and who recall with pride how the folks set their teeth and determined that not even one of the greatest fires in the world's history could wipe out the city founded by the Loyalists a century and a half ago.

GRAIN AND PRODUCE REVIEWS

ONTARIO GRAIN

Approximate prices track shipping point—Wheat, 90c to $1.02; oats, 40c to 45c; barley, 48c to 50c; corn, 65c to 70c; rye, 48c to 50c; buckwheat, 55c to 60c.

CHICAGO GRAIN

A brisk rally in the wheat markets late yesterday, accompanied a buying spurt on the part of houses with connections East, and more than overcame earlier losses.

High temperatures in spring wheat territory and unfavorable crop reports from there were mentioned as among incentives for purchasing. A Chicago observer wired that from Portal, N.D., to Weygurn, 90 miles, crops were a complete failure and would not return seed. Earlier, the wheat market had sagged owing more or less to improved threshing returns from winter wheat sections southwest, Kansas in particular.

Wheat closed firm at the same as Monday's finish to ¼c higher. Corn ¼c off to ⅛ advance, and provisions unchanged to 7c lower.

MONTREAL PRODUCE

Butter quotations were easier, while prices of other commodities remained steady on the Montreal produce and dairy market yesterday.

At the week auction yesterday 1,076 boxes of No. 1 Quebec butter were offered and the highest bid, 20c was refused. Other offerings included 316 boxes of No. 1 white Quebec cheese and 184 boxes of No. 1 colored Quebec cheese which sold for 10 5/16c a pound.

The butter market eased ¼c, bringing 20¼c a pound for fresh No. 1. Small lots to retailers were quoted at 22c for solids and 23c a pound for prints. Receipts were 12 boxes.

Cheese was firm, Ontario colored being 11c to 11¼c a pound, while No. 1 Quebecs were quoted at 10⅜c to 10½c a pound. Arrivals totalled 3,402 boxes.

The egg marktet was unchanged. Graded shipments in carlots or less from Ontario being 19½c to 20c a dozen for 'A' large; 18½c to 19c for 'A' medium; 18c to 18½c for 'B', and 17½c for 'C'. Carlots from the West sold for 21c a dozen for 'A' large; 20c for 'A' medium; 19c for 'B' and 18c for 'C'. Recepits totalled 1,397 cases.

No changes were recorded in the prices of potatoes, New Brunswick Mountains being 70c to 75c for 80-pound bags, Quebec whites, 65c per 80-pound bag, while Prince Edward Island Mountains were 95c per 90-pound bag.

WINNIPEG GRAIN.

WINNIPEG, June 20. — Grain traders yesterday took notice of bullish Western Canada crop advices sent in by private United States observers and wheat prices reflected the news by regainig major portions of an early ¾c decline. The late rally lifted Winipeg Grain Exchange futures to close only ¼c to ⅜c lower.

July wheat wound up at 77¾c, October ended at 79⅞c, aid December at 80¾c. These reports referred mainly to southern sections of Saskatchewan, and while they were only a confirmation of advices sent in by Canadian correspondents they appeared to get more notice from the trade.

Pit trade was small in volume and aside from the late firmness was without any feature. Crop news Europe showed no improvement but buyers were apparently content to sit back and wait new developments. Liverpool cables suggested a good demand for Canadian wheat this week.

Cash grain trading was dull and coarse grains eased slightly with wheat.

Munds Winslow & Potter. We think the market is in a favorable position to advance in the immediate future.

Fenner & Bean—The near outlook appears to be cast in uncertainty.

Jackson Bros.—We believe any improvement in London security prices will be reflected in further recoveries on the New York market with so-called "international" issues leading the advance.

NEW YORK, N.Y., June 20.—One day's setback from a new high mark is not conclusive of anything. Nevertheless the position of the market for the next few days is thrown in doubt and risks from a trading standpoint at least are suddenly included. It is not so much the fact that there was a reaction from the new high figure that creates doubt of the market's course in the immediate future, but is is the fact of failure to sustain the bullish suggestion of Monday. From the standpoint of the long pull, however, there was nothing in yesterday's action to change the view that selected stocks are to be held. If prices open lower this morning than they closed the probabilities will be for a closing level lower than that of yesterday. An opening higher than yesterday's close would make likely an immediate correction of yesterday's failure.

SAN FRANCISCO.—An earthquake lasting about 30 seconds was felt here at 5.40 a.m. No damage was reported. The shock also was felt at San Mateo, where it was described as "quite sharp."

SENIOR GOLDS ACTION SLOW

Irregularity Rules Mining Section With Main Changes on the Down Side.

BRALORNE ACTIVE.

TORONTO, June 20.—(CP)—Irregularity ruled in the mining section of the Toronto Exchange with the preponderanceof price changes on the down side. Senior gold stocks were slow with exception of Bralorne which turned over in good volume at $15, unchanged and Lake Shore and Dome recorded net gains up to 60 cents against recessions for McIntyre, Hollinger, Pioneer and Teck Hughes.

A drooping New York market carried Canadian gold shares back narrowly today in the early trading but a slightly better tone developed in the early afternoon, net gains appearing for Lake Shore and Dome. San Antonio, Little Long Lac, Wayside, Pickle Crow, and Howey were sold freely and these all sought lower levels.

Base metal stocks firmed up a little, particularly Noranda but the silver shares were not enlivened, either by the higher prices for metal, ruling both in London and New York, or the Canadian government's plan to buy a quantity of silver.

Selling pressure continued in Wayside and that B. C. issue sagged to 10½, about one-fifth of the price at which it sold within the last three months.

Twenty visiting members from Lindsay and ten from Millbrook were among the gathering present for the occasion.

TORONT LIVESTOCK

TORONTO, June 20 (CP) — For the second successive day, hogs were the only class to resigter a gain on the Toronto Livestock Market. After an unsettled opening, they advanced five to ten cents this afternoon and were selling 10 to 16 cents higher for the week. Cattle trading continued active, with prices steady on all grades. Calves moved slowly and generally 50 cents lower for the day. Sheep and lambs held firm.

Receipts as reported by the Dominion Livestock Branch were: Cattle, 730; calves, 960; hogs, 880; sheep and lambs, 1,020.

Weighty steers ranged from $4.75 to $6, while choice butchers sold at $5 to $5.35, with common selling down to $3.50. Good butcher cows went at $3.75 and good bulls at $3 to $3.35. A few choice fed calves sold at $6 to $6.25. Few stocker cattle were offered.

Hogs gained 5 to 10 cents to sell at $8.60 f.o.b. for bacons, $9 off truck and $9.35 off car. Calves balanced the gain and loss section with a drop of 50 cents, selling at $5 to $5.50 for the few good vealers and down to $3 for common.

Lambs held steady at $9 cwt. for choice, at $8 to $8.50 for medium and at $6 for culls. The few sheep offered brought $1 to $2 cwt.

STATION YIELDS BABY'S REMAINS

in a trunk would have become a mother in five months and that "pregnancy undoubtedly provided the motive for the crime."

The announcement followed a coroner's inquest into the remains of the woman whose dismembered legs were found in London and whose head and arms are still missing, soon after another grewsome discovery in the same Brighton station — the body of a stillborn baby.

Both the woman and the baby are still unidentified, despite supreme efforts by Scotland Yard, assisted by Sir Bernard Spilsbury of the Home Office, Europe's most famous criminologist.

The inquest definitely established that the torso was unmarked by an operation such as that which was performed on Miss Agnes Tufverson, missing Detroit and New York attorney, in 1928.

The coroner announced that Sir Bernard "found no marks or scars whereby an identification could be established."

The find to-day was made following a blanket police order to open all the luggage left in the station more than two weeks.

The same station attendants who found the torso found the child, a girl. The torso was discovered on Sunday.

Real Mystery.

Sir Bernard Spilsbury, the most publicized criminologist in Europe, is the big sensation of the trunk murder case in Brighton.

Although he has never been known to say a word for publication, Sir Bernard has such a hold on the public imagination in England that once he is called into consultation, the murder itself becomes of almost secondary interest.

When the tall, clean shaven, cherubic-faced criminologist sped here yesterday afternoon by motor car from London, the British public knew that the killing of the woman whose torso was found in a trunk here was a murder mystery of the first rank.

Sir Bernard, as honorary Home Office pathologist, has been called into every important murder case in many years.

Aiding Cupid

CHICAGO, June 20. (CP).—The park authorities have decided to give Cupid a boost.

Instead of chasing spooners out, the park police from now on will do their best to protect them against intruders.

As Captain James Sammis of the Lincoln Park Police put it:

"Love making, within proper limits, is a protected occupation now, and we'll keep the park safe for romance."

CONSTRUCTION ISSUES ACTIVE

Group Moves Ahead on Prospect of Business Pick-up Through Expenditure of Public Works.

CANADA CEMENT UP POINT.

TORONTO, June 20 (C.P.). — Construction shares saved the industrial section of the Toronto Exchange from a drab session to-day, the issues of that group moving ahead on the prospect of business pickup through expenditure of public works. Canada Cement Common added more than a point net, the Preferred more than 3 points, and Canada Dredge closed 2¼ higher at 22¾. The general tone was firmer late in the day and at the close losses and gains about balanced.

The industrial share market gave a demonstration to-day its dependence on Wall Street for leadership. The inflationary factor involved in the Federal Government's new monetary program was ignored as Canadian stocks trailed along with the New York market to lower levels in the early trading. Construction shares alone moved up, encouraged y the outlook for a hefty public works expenditure.

Profit-taking in the oils and leaders of the group sagged in spots. Distillery shares were off narrowly and the brewery group made no response to the Ontario election results, although Liberal leades were credited with the statement that beer by the glass would be a reality by July 1.

Of the male employees, totalling 137, six were receiving below $12 per week, 23 were getting between $12 and $14.99 weekly, and 108 were being paid $15 and over per week.

Of the female employees, totalling 174, four were getting below $12 per week, 156 were receiving between $12 and $14.99 weekly, and 15 were being paid $15 and over per week.

Montreal Wages

OTTAWA, June 30 (CP)—Wages of $4, $5, $6 and $7 a week have been paid in the Montreal Department Store of Dupuis Freres Limited, the Parliamentary Mass Buying Committee learned to-day. The combined retail and mail order house has made money every year since 1924.

S. H. Dobell, one of the committee auditors, said the Dupuis organization had recorded net profits since 1924 ranging from $161,225 in 1924 to $2,146 in 1932 and $31,153 last year. This was after every charge had been made.

Turning to wages, the auditor said there was no minimum wage law in Quebec applying to store clerks.

Huge Profit Made

OTTAWA, June 20 (CP) — Low wages paid in the old-established Montral department store of Henry Morgan and Company, Limited, were under review to-day by the Parliamentary Mass Buying Committee. In 1933, six men and 112 women sales clerks received less than $36 a month with some as low as $15 and $20 a month.

On sales of $4,500,000 last year, a gross profit of $1,374,000 was recorded which was turned into a net loss when all charges were levied.

SAILOR CROSSES ATLANTIC ALONE

Adventurer Reaches Newfoundland from England in 24 days.

MET HEAVY WEATHER.

ST. JOHN'S, Nfld., June 20 (C.P. Cable).—A lone adventurer from Great Britain sailed his tiny yacht into harbor after crossing the Atlantic to-day and then tumbled gratefully into bed for his first real sleep in 24 days.

Commander R. B. Graham, R.N., was skipper and crew of the 24-foot yawl on the perilous crossing from Bantry, Ireland. He left there 24 days ago, and though heavy weather beset his little boat at times, made a remarkably fast crossing.

To hear Commander Graham speak sailing across the Atlantic single-handed might be an everyday happening. "Yes," he said, "had some varied weather, but the boat behaved splendidly."

Nothing worried him on the long trip, he said—except lack of sleep. At night he would turn in after setting a course and lashing the yawl's helm, but his sleep would be interrupted from time to time.

To-day the little yacht rested at a St. John's wharf, while Commander Graham made up his lost sleep. He had not decided yet where he would go from here.

Noranda Strike Causes Lock-Out

NORANDA, Que., June 20.—(CP)—Strike of 300 miners employed at Noranda mines here today has turned to a virtual lock-out against instigators of the strike. There are 300 men out of work as a result of the strike which began a week ago today. Their places in the mine have been filled with other miners and work is going on as usual at the mine.

Noranda officials regard the strike as over. They have made no negotiations with the strikers and do not expect to. It is reported here many miners led by a few leaders to strike have now turned to bitter criticism of their organizers who persuaded them to walk off the job.

Conditions in this mining town were back to normal.

OLDEST VOTER

David Conroy, who will be 95 years of age on August 4 next, was probably the oldest voter in the district who yesterday exercised his franchise at the polls. He also claims to have been one of the first voters in the city, having left home for the polling sub-division at Mrs. Dickson's House, 376 Burnham street at seven-thirty o'clock in the morning, to assure his arrival when the polls opened at eight o'clock.

Mr. Conroy voted Liberal and is very proud of the fact, according to his daughter, Mrs. P. J Doris of Sophia street.

FINAL POLL

Returns from the lone outstanding poll at Carroll's Schoolhouse in Methuen Township reached The Examiner office at two o'clock this afternoon giving, T. P. Lancaster a total majority over James Hawthorne of 114 votes. Of the sixteen ballots cast at Carroll's Schoolhouse all were in favor of the Conservative candidate. None were recorded in favor of either the Liberal or the C.C.F. standard bearers.

Voters In Ontario Pile Up Highest Total Ever Reached In History Of Province

TORONTO, June 20.—(CP)—Balloting in the Ontario election reached the highest figure in the province's history. Incomplete figures, compiled by the Canadian Press, showed a total vote of 1,211,591 with numerous final figures still to come. The best previous mark was in 1926 when the vote totalled 1,146,521. In 1929, 1,011,880 votes were cast.

Popular vote of the three leading parties in the three elections follows:

	1926	1929	1934
Conservative	647,577	586,246	483,603

21,167 VOTERS WENT TO POLLS

Vote Polled in County 3,542 More Than in 1929.

The electors of Peterborough county, comprising the two former constituencies of east and west Peterborough, polled 21,167 votes yesterday as compared with 17,625 in 1929, according to the incomplete returns received by The Examiner early this morning.

This is an increase of 3,542 votes.

In 1929 the riding of Peterborough comprised the city and the townships of North Monaghan and Smith. All the rest of the county, including the villages of Norwood, Hastings and Havelock, were grouped in the old constituency of East Peterborough.

Four years ago the total vote in East Peterborough was 6,123. In that election Mr. Lancaster received 3,118 votes to W. A. Anderson's 3,095, the Conservative majority being 25.

At the same time 11,412 votes were polled in West Peterborough, J. F. Strickland, K.C., getting 5,931 and Dr. A. Moir 5,481. The Conservative majority in the riding was 450.

The approximate vote in the old east riding yesterday was 7,400, in the city 13,188 and an additional 579 in the road camps. These figures are incomplete, but they indicate emphatically the deep interest of the electorate, in spite of surface quiet in which the campaign proceeded to its conclusion.

J. W. HARRIMAN IS HELD GUILTY BANK SCANDAL

Former President is Convicted on Sixteen Counts of Banking Malpractice.

VICE IS CLEARED.

Maximum Penalty is 80 Years, $80,000 Fine—Sentence Wednesday.

NEW YORK, June 20. (AP).—Joseph W. Harriman, former bank president, and his subordinate, Albert M. Austin, were parted today—Harriman facing prison, Austin free.

Stolid, steel grey haired Harriman—a banker before Austin was born — was convicted in United States district court late yesterday on 16 counts of banking malpractice. Austin was acquitted.

The trial took five weeks; the jury's deliberations two hours.

Harriman, 67, former president of the defunct Harriman National Bank and Trust Company, sat with bowed head. Austin, 41, former vice president, wept silently.

Austin's wife, running into his arms, cried: Won't the children be happy!"

80 Year Penalty

Harriman's conviction of falsifying bank records to the extent of $1,713,225, and misapplying $600,000 carried a maximum penalty of 90 years' imprisonment, $80,000 fine —or both.

Judge John C. Knox set next Wednesday for sentence. Harriman's bond of $25,000 was continued, and arm in arm he returned to the nursing home where he is under treatment.

Judge Knox congratulated the jurors and called their verdict "a highly salutory one for those entrusted with the funds of the public."

During the trial, Harriman's defence had shifted the onus of any malpractice on Austin, maintaining that mistrusted confidence had ruined Harriman.

SMITH ARRIVES CAMPBELLFORD

Continues Trip Down Trent After Short Stop in Milltown.

MAKING GOOD PROGRESS

CAMPBELLFORD, June 19.—John Smith of Peterborough, Atlantic bound in his sixteen-foot canoe, "Pride of Peterborough," arrived here this afternoon at four o'clock, several hours behind his schedule.

He left Keene at 6.30 o'clock in the morning, and battled head winds all the way to Hastings and Trent Bridge, the adverse weather causing loss of time in the progress he expected to make during the first two days of paddling.

Young Smith stretched his legs until 5.20, when he continued on his way down the Trent, planning to cover 26 miles to-night before beaching his canoe for sleep. He paddled the 34 miles from Keene to Campbellford from 6.30 a.m. to 4 p.m., with a brief rest at Hastings. He had a light lunch at the Clifton Tea Rooms here, and was presented by J. E. Birks, druggist, with a handy kit of medical supplies.

Smith told The Examiner that except for a blister on the index finger of his right hand he was in the best of health and spirits.

Election Briefs

Down at Brook's store at hot Conservative was looking through the window when the votes were being counted in the polling booth. He ran to a telephone and called the Conservative committee rooms.. In an expected voice he called over the wire, "It's a majority for Lancaster. I saw 'em counting the votes through the window. They aren't finished yet but its a safe bet he's in. I seen it." This caused a laugh at the committee rooms.

"They've been giving us the around since 4 o'clock this afternoon," one of the campaign executives at the Conservative committee rooms complained to The Examiner. Facts about the "run around" calls came to light when in answer to telephone calls for cars for voters, cars were repeatedly sent out to find the calls were for vacant houses. One such call came in about 6.50, and some of those in the rooms wanted to rush a car out immediately. "It's another empty house," a man reported, who had looked up the address given in the call. "We've had a lot of those. Somebody has been having great fun at our expense."

The first poll heard from at the Conservative committee rooms caused jubilation. It was poll No. 10, and gave the following votes: Hawthorne 55, Lancaster 81, Sutherland 17. "If it keeps up like that it will be swell," was one of the comments. The next three polls reported continued Lancaster's majorities.

Government Goes Down At Polls

HON. GEORGE S. HENRY.

whose Government went down to defeat at the polls. Mr. Henry carried his own riding in York.

LIBERALS HOPE FOR VICTORY

Workers Are Enthusiastic of Final Result in Local Riding.

GET BIG VOTE IN COUNTY

First returns which began to come in fifteen minutes after the polls had closed, were not a little disconcerting to Liberal supporters. First three returns from sub-divisions south of Charlotte Street gave T. P. Lancaster, Conservative a plurality in the three-corner fight.

At eight o'clock the Conservative standard-bearer was still at the apex of the political triangle with a plurality over his two opponents with over forty polls throughout the county heard from, of approxmatey 119 votes.

General interest at the Liberal Committee rooms was keen. Harry Rudkins manned the telephone, relaying the return verbally to an eager group of computers, led by Jacob Low, the Liberal candidate's agent in the city division of the constituency.

W. F. Huycke, secretary of the Peterborough Liberal Association, read at intervals telegrams informing of results in other parts of the province. Among them was a wire from East York in the constituency where Premier Henry is putting up a stiff fight in a field of 6 candidates.

Wild cheering greeted announcements by Cyril Rice of results in Windsor, Fort William, and Oshawa. In the latter place Sinclair's announced victory was especially loudly acclaimed.

Three cheers for Hawthorne were called for as results from Warsaw were announced and then as if he had timed his arrival for the psychological moment James Hawthorne arrived at the committee rooms at eight-thirty o'clock.

His arrival was the signal for another wild outburst of applause and also the announcement that Hawthorne was at that time leading by 40 votes.

Alderman James Ellis arrived at the Committee Rooms to announce a 187 plurality for the Liberal candidate in East City division.

James Hawthorne, the candidate, calmly confident, stood up on a chair beside J. J. Duffus and Cyril Rice to receive the plaudits of an increasingly enthusiastic and growing crowd of supporters.

Word was received from Poll 83 at Nassau, usually regarded as a Conservative stronghold, that Hawthorne had a majority of 13 votes over his two opponents.

J. J. Duffus, president of Central Ontario Liberal Association, suffering a mild attack of larnygitis, announced a Liberal landslide in Downer's Corners that brought enthusiastic cheers from the densely packed crowd.

Later announcing other provincial results, Mr. Duffus stated, "Boys we're in."

Before the results started to come in, a radio was used to entertain the gathering crowd. It is later to be used to celebrate a Liberal victory, according to optimistic statements of Liberal workers.

One of the latest returns to come in prior to 8.30 o'clock was that from Poll 37, Rogers Street, which gave Hawthorne a total of 158 as compared with Lancaster's 100, and Sutherland's 31.

Shortly before nine o'clock the crowd in the Liberal committee rooms had become so dense, that the candidate and his workers were forced to move upstairs, while the crowd sat tense and expectant below.

James Hawthorne, asked by The Examiner if he wished to make a statement, declined at so early a stage. J. J. Duffus, promising that he would get the candidate to The Examiner Office as soon as victory was definitely assured, in order that Mr. Hawthorne might make a statement over the loudspeaker equipment, stated: "We shall parade up there later this evening."

At the time of Mr. Duffus' statement, the returns gave Hawthorne a total of 5,682, as compared with Lancaster's 5,616.

Traditionally Tory Toronto Yields Four of 13 Seats—C.C.F. Heads Race in Fifth Riding — Conservatives Run Second to Liberals and C.C.F. in Hamilton in Three Seats.

W. E. N. SINCLAIR AND NIXON ARE RETURNED; FINLAYSON AND LYONS OF SOO DEFEATED

TORONTO, June 19.—(CP).—Defeat of the Conservative Government of George S. Henry was indicated tonight at 9:00 P.M. E.S.T. in the standings compiled by the Canadian Press. Liberal gains from Conservatives, who held 84 of 112 seats at dissolution, totalled 14 in the first 25 seats conceded.

TORONTO, June 19.—(CP)—At 9.30 tonight, Eastern Daylight Time, there were strong indications the tide in Ontario had turned against the 11-year-old Conservative administration.

At that time Liberals claimed 10 elected members and a lead in 35 other seats, half of the province's total of 90 ridings. In contrast Conservatives showed one elected, and a lead in 17 seats. Two Liberal-Progressives and a C.C.F. candidate, latter first of his party to enter the Ontario Legislature, were conceded election.

Mitchell Hepburn, the Liberal party leader who forsook the Dominion House to seek a seat in the Ontario Legislature, was conceded his riding over his Conservative opponent in Elgin, about an hour after the polls closed. Dr. H. J. Davis took the riding from the Liberals in 1929.

In his own riding of York East battling five other candidates, Premier George S. Henry, the Conservative Government head, had a comfortable majority as the county progressed.

In traditionally Tory Toronto, Liberals were making the running in four of the 13 seats, and a C.C.F. candidate was leading the race in another riding.

Hamilton, likewise a Conservative stronghold, showed Conservatives running behind C.C.F. or Liberal opponents in three seats.

W. E. N. Sinclair, veteran Liberal leader of the Province, who was succeeded by Mr. Hepburn in 1930, and from then until this year was Liberal leader in the House, was conceded re-election in Ontario an hour after the polls closed.

Liberals Lead in West

REGINA, June 19 (CP)—Liberals were making a strong bid for return to power after five years out of office in to-day's Saskatchewan general elections.

Even Premier J. T. M. Anderson and Howard McConnell, Minister of Municipal Affairs, were trailing Liberal candidates in the two-seat constituency of Saskatoon.

In the two-seat Moose Jaw constituency, Hon. J. A. Merkley, another cabinet member, and J. Hawthorne, his Conservative running mate, were behind the Liberals.

All told, Liberals were leading in seven seats, Conservatives in three seats and Farmer-Labor (C.C.F.) party in one seat.

HENRY RETURNED

TORONTO, June 19 (CP)—Re-election of Premier George S. Henry in his own riding of East York was conceded. He battled five candidates for the right to continue as representative of the constituency he has served in the Ontario Legislature for 21 years.

WE'RE GOING DOWN FIGHTING DECLARES REV. SUTHERLAND

C. C. F. Candidate is Well Pleased With Vote Polled.

RESULT HEARD IN SILENCE

"We're going down fighting!" declared Rev. John Sutherland, C.C.F. candidate, as local results giving his opponents Lancaster and Hawthorne, overwhelming leads came pouring in at eight o'clock this evening. Declining, however, to make any official statement to the press until further poll had been received.

Despite his eventual defeat, he continued a cheerful and even optimistic interest as further results came in. "We've got to take it," he said. "But lots may happen yet."

A large group of workers and supporters were on hand to hear the reports. All joked and talked in good spirit but were determined not to admit defeat until the fact was inescapable.

First Poll Heard

"Good for me!" Rev. Sutherland exclaimed as the first local report to reach the rooms came in. It was from Poll 19A on Gilmour street in the west end and gave Lancaster 82, Hawthorne 63, and Sutherland 12 votes. "I've got twelve votes anyway," he remarked jocularly. Wesley Lawford, committee room secretary, commented that Poll 19A was in the district most feared by the C.C.F.

The report of the advance poll from the Court House came next giving Rev. Sutherland only two votes with Lancaster's 41 and Hawthorne's 18. Considerable disappointment was felt, several having predicted that the C.C.F. would garner a more substantial vote from the soldiers who cast their votes on Saturday and Monday.

The next few reports came from polls among which were some considered C.C.F. strongholds. The groups heard the unfavorable results in silence.

Spirits Were High

A small group had already gathered in the committee room at seven o'clock awaiting the first reports from the city and district. Their spirits were high and general confidence prevailed. The "silent vote" could be depended on for considerable C.C.F. strength, it was said.

Rev. Sutherland had spent the morning at his home in Keene and returned to the city in the afternoon. He was encouraged by supporters who reported to him good turn-outs of his followers at the polls in the southern part of the city and Monaghan. The C.C.F. expected its best vote in this section.

Hon. Chas. McCrea Among The Fallen

Minister of Mines Defeated by E. A. Lapierre in Sudbury.

SUDBURY, June 19 (CP).—Hon. Charles McCrea, Ontario Minister of Mines, member for Sudbury since 1911, who received acclamations in the last two provincial elections, was defeated to-night by E. A. Lapierre, Liberal candidate in a three-cornered fight. He was appointed to the Cabinet under Hon. G. Howard Ferguson in 1923.

RESULT CLOSE AS POLLS MADE THEIR REPORTS

Lancaster Piled Up Small Lead at First to be Later Overtaken.

BOTH TIED ONCE.

With Results From Road Camps Hawthorne's Lead Wiped Out.

While the Liberal party was romping into a long and early lead in the telegraph returns of the progress of the provincial elections, the contest in Peterborough as tabulated in The Examiner editorial rooms from the telephoned reports assumed the interest of a keen race whose decision hung on the returns from the last few polls.

T. P. Lancaster, the Conservative candidate and representative of East Peterborough in the last Legislature, started with a majority at the first poll to telephone The Examiner. Robert Miller's house on Sherbrooke street set Mr. Lancaster in motion with a promising lead that was gradually lengthened as the city returns were received in rapid succession. Incidentally, it was only ten minutes after seven o'clock when that initial result was written on the score sheet.

By eight o'clock Mr. Lancaster seemed headed for a certain victory with the only doubtful element of the size of his plurality. But, country returns were beginning to cut in on his margin, and by 9 p.m. with 20 of the 135 polls to hear from the standing of the three candidates was:—

Hawthorne	8741
Lancaster	8619
Sutherland	2174

It seemed then almost incredible that the situation had changed so rapidly, and that Mr. Hawthorne was out in front with 130 votes more than his Conservative opponent.

A Swift Change

Almost the next poll that was heard from was Belmont town hall giving Hawthorne 60, Lancaster 136 and Sutherland 10. That gain of 76 votes put Lancaster within striking distance again, and with three of the Burleigh-Apsley road camps to hear from. At 9.25 o'clock Hawthorne was still leading by 43, and only 14 polls were yet to report.

Then came Road Camp No. 3 with 13 for Hawthorne, 54 for Lancaster and 18 for Sutherland, and according to The Examiner's figures Mr. Hawthorne's plurality had been reduced to one or two votes. At that stage it was evident that the final result was "in the bag" for Lancaster.

O'Reilley's School, Ennismore, turned in 71 for Hawthorne, 5 for Lancaster and 6 for Sutherland sending Hawthorne again ahead with a narrow and precarious margin, that was partly whittled down when South Lake School in Belmont and Methuen gave Hawthorne 7, Lancaster 25 and Sutherland 2.

Then road camps 4 and 5 unloaded a Lancaster plurality, although No. 5 went against him.

The vote at No. 4 was—Hawthorne 15, Lancaster 53, Sutherland 0 and at No. 5 it was Hawthorne 29, Lancaster 18 and Sutherland 0.

Lancaster Up 3

Apsley followed with Hawthorne 74, Lancaster 100 and Sutherland 1, and with eight polls still unrecorded the totals were Hawthorne 9,230, Lancaster 9,233 and Sutherland 2,251.

With 8 polls to hear from in Galway, Chandos and Belmont-Methuen, the final stage gradually increased the Lancaster plurality until all but Carroll's School in Belmont-Methuen had been heard from.

Higgins' House in Galway gave Hawthorne 12, Lancaster 9 and Sutherland 1, putting the two leading candidates on even terms.

The voice of Chandos finally reached the city, drumming Mr. Hawthorne out of the final dash.

Caldwell's gave Lancaster 35 majority, Poet's added 14, and Hales tacked on 31. Rickle's School in Belmont came through with a ten point margin for Lancaster, while these four polls ignored Mr. Sutherland.

No. 6 Camp beyond Apsley reported four for Hawthorne, 16 for Lancaster and 5 for Sutherland.

Mr. Lancaster was then safe with a plurality of 102. Bacon's house in Galway, the second last of all the polling places to be reached by telephone gave Hawthorne eight votes more than Lancaster, and while Carroll's house was still silent when all three parties knocked off and called it a day, the concluding stage of the engagement in Peterborough riding had been determined in Chandos and on the Burleigh-Apsley road.

1st ST. JOHN'S TROOP

Friday evening was the occasion of a most successful parent's night for the 1st St. John's Peterborough Troop—both Cubs and Scouts.

Meeting at the usual time the Cubs and Scouts gathered in their own quarters and prepared to meet their parents. For the Scouts the events of the evening were organized into an inter patrol competition — everything from inspection to camp fire counted.

A few minutes before 8 o'clock the Cubs came upstairs and there entertained their parents with games and a snake dance. The Cub pack was under the leadership of Cubmaster Bill Coleman and his assistant Albert Stephen.

The Scout contests were closely competed and maintained the interest of the assembled parents and friends. Perhaps the most amusing item at this time was a game of "chain tag" in which a large number of the visitors joined. This part of the program was under the general supervision of Assistant Scout Master Fred Ford.

During the evening the guests visited the various patrol corners, inspecting them and listening in on instruction the leaders were giving their followers.

Council Fire

Finally the Scouts, Cubs and friends adjourned to the Cubs lair for a council fire meeting. Here the Scoutmaster, Mr. George Groombridge took charge. At his suggestion the opening song "O Canada", was replaced by the Doxology. The change was impressive. Songs, stories and presentations followed, all taking place in a room lighted by seven candles, placed on a table along with the troop and King's colors. This table replaced the usual council fire. The scoutmaster asked for yarns from some of the visitors and Mr. H. Chate volunteered with an excellent one from India. Mr. Claire Sootheran reserved his, one on perserverance for the presentation of proficiency badges, et cetera. Mr. Sootheran presented the following badges:

Alex Carlyle, Wolf Patrol, swimmer, carpenter; Bill Staunton, Seal Patrol, swimmer; P. L. Tom Hooper, Bulldog Patrol, knotter; Acting P. L. Allen Chivas, Otter Patrol, knotter; Charles Jeffries, Bulldog Patrol, knotter (absent); Kenneth Brown, Bulldog Patrol, laundry man; Murray Cooke, Seal Patrol, second class laundry man; Arthur Pritchard, Seal Patrol, second class laundryman, swimmer, friend to animals; Gordon Pink, Bulldog Patrol, laundry man; P. L. Alfred Pink, Seal Patrol, ambulance man; Allan Marshal, Seal Patrol, second class.

Honor Pennant

Then came the awarding of the honor pennant for the patrol competition. This was done by A. S. M. Warren Turner who took the opportunity to appeal to the parents for their cooperation and to commend the Scout Camp to them. The Otter Patrol was declared the winner and Acting Patrol Leader Allen Chivas received the pennant and congratulations from the Scouter.

As refreshments were being served Pete Dominik who was invested last week displayed some silk worms and told of their cultivation. Refreshments consisting of coffee and biscuits were served by the patrol leader through the kindness of Mrs. Ford. The meeting finally adjourned with the singing of the National Anthem followed by cheers for S.M. George Groombridge led by A.S.M. Turner at the request of some of the boys.

Besides the officers already mentioned the success of the occasion owes much to Troop Leader Clifford Boate, the troop secretary.

For the Camp Fire period the 8th Peterborough Troop (St. Andrews) under S.M. Victor Millard and A.S.M. Max Hutchinson were very welcome guests. The both leaders are old boys, of the 1st St. John's Troop.

The heavy downpour of rain spoiled the sports part of the program, which was disappointing for the pupils. Yelverton Young People presented their humorous play, "The Family Upstairs." The supper was good, with aubndance of provisions left over. Owing to the weather the crowd was not as large as usual. The Rev. Mr. Sexsmith and Mrs. Sexsmith remained for the supper and were guests of Mr. and Mrs. James Douglas over the week-end.

Mr. A. Braithwaite and daughter, Miss Cora Braithwaite, were guests of Mr. and Mrs. Wilbert Werry of Blackstock on Monday.

COMPLETE RETURNS FOR PROVINCE RECEIVED IN EXAMINER BY 11.30

Much Difficulty Experienced in Collecting Few of County Polls.

EVERYONE CO-OPERATED.

An all-time record for speed and completeness in its election services to the public was achieved by The Examiner last night. By 10 p.m. the returns from all but one poll in Peterborough County had been collected and announced and by 11.30 the final results for the entire province were announced.

In no other elections have such complete local returns been provided within three hours of the closing of the election polls. In the case of the municipal election on January 1 this year, there were still a number of polls to be heard from at 11 p.m., despite the fact that all were within the city limits. On the occasion of the Provincial election in 1923, when Lancaster ran against Anderson in the County, the election of Lancaster was not known until the following day.

With Canadian Press and its widespread organization collecting and relaying returns of the province as a whole from its head office, The Examiner had sole responsibility for Peterborough returns. More than seventy-five members of its organization, including its correspondents spread throughout the county as well as the local staff, had a part in the work. The task involved plans and preparations made many days in advance.

Zero Hour

As seven o'clock, the zero hour of the day arrived, a score of desk men, reporters, telephone clerks, tabulators and messenger boys went into action in the local office. Calls from the city polls and from correspondents in touch with the county polls commenced to pour in. All figures were tabulated on a master card, checked and verified wherever possible and then added. In the meantime the Provincial figures were streaming in from Toronto on the Creed telegraphic printer. With the regular mechanical staff of the paper on duty, the work of getting out the two "extras" went ahead. The first was published at 9.40 o'clock and the second at 11 o'clock.

Besides the correspondents of The Examiner, credit is due to many volunteers throughout the city and county who assisted in getting prompt word in. At Haultain a telephone operator gathered returns by sending messengers to Nos. 4 and 5 road camps and forwarded them promptly. A number of others went to considerable personal trouble to be of assistance.

One of the difficulties encountered during the evening was a lack of communication between this city and Apsley. The Bell Telephone operators here reported Apsley System's line out of order, and for forty-five minutes the Peterborough election hung in the balance while efforts were made to contact The Examiner correspondent there. Rushing by motor car to Mount Julian, the correspondent got a line through at 10 o'clock and reported the returns from Galway, Chandos.

Throughout the evening, The Examiner was able to keep twenty to twenty-five polls ahead of the party committee rooms despite the fact that the parties were well represented by their agents at the polling places.

Hepburn's Fortune-Telling Hotelkeeper Lives Up To 67 Seat Victory Prediction

ST. THOMAS, Ont., June 20 (CP)—"Colonel" Albert Conley, veteran St. Thomas hotelkeeper and lifelong friend of Premier-elect Mitchell F. Hepburn, could say "I told you so" with some justification to-day.

For it was he who predicted "through the stars" some weeks ago that the Liberal Leader would win 67 seats in the Ontario general election. The Liberals elected 65, and probably will be supported by four Liberal-Progressives.

Mr. Hepburn had no doubt about his majority in the House since the day the aged political observer told him: "It is written in the stars you will have 67 seats." For there is more than a tinge of superstition about the Liberal Leader. During the campaign, friends gave him a handkerchief and wrist watch with instructions to carry them until voting day if he would have luck. He carried out both assignments faithfully.

"Colonel" Conley has predicted every important step in Mr. Hepburn's political career correctly, the Premier-elect states, even to naming his majorities in elections and coming very near to the actual figures. He also told Mr. Hepburn he would be Liberal Leader when he had no intention of assuming that post.

NAZI STORM TROOPERS GIVE EVERY COURTESY TO VISITORS

Writer on Way to Oberammergau Treated With Utmost Kindness.

MANY CHILDREN.

By CORALIE VAN PAASSEN
(Central Press Canadian Writer)

OBERAMMERGAU, June 20. — Before leaving Paris solicitous friends did their utmost to dissuade me from visiting the Passion Plays at Oberammergau. Don't you know, they said, that the Germans keep long lists with the names of proscribed journalists and newspapers at the borders and that the moment they see your name on your passport they will clamp you in jail? And then they drew me this enchanting picture: I'd have to run the gauntlet of a mob of heavily-armed, brutal unmannered, gorilla-jawed Storm-Troopers, who would subject me to a nerve-racking third-degree, who would paw over my belongings, perhaps rip the lining out of my clothes and cut the heels off my shoes in search for secret documents. The brown-shirted boys might even, so I was assured, undress me and examine my skin for political messages written in invisible ink. In short, I would regret all my days that I had ever set foot in "Hitler-Germany." I had better stay in Paris and avoid a humiliating experience.

"Wilkommen in Deutschland!" said a young blonde giant with a soft voice and dreamy blue eyes, who swung aboard our train as we pulled into the frontier-station of Muelheim. "Welcome to Germany!" Can I help you with anything?" he said. "Yes." I said, taken by surprise. "I would like to know if I can stop over in Munich on my way back. My ticket does not specify, you see!"

Spoke Kindly.

"Bitte sehr, may I see your ticket?" he said kindly. He examined the piece of pastebdard for a moment. "No," he shook his head, gravely, "your ticket does not allow for a stop-over, but I will arrange it with the station master in no time.' He was gone three minutes. Then I saw him come running along the platform in big athletic strides.

"Bitte sehr," he handed me back my ticket. "Now you can stop over wherever you like." he smiled a set of flashing white teeth. "I had it stamped and signed by the chief. And," he hesitated, his face blushing pleasantly, boyishly. I brought you this!" he handed me a bunch of wild flowers.

"Danke Herzlichst," I said. "They are beautiful!"

"They are German flowers," he said feelingly.

The train pulled out after a remarkably short stop for a frontier station. A group of clean-limbed Nazi boys, members of the Hitler-Jugend (Hitler-Youth) on the platform waved their hands at us. Then we steamed into the green fields. But we had not moved out before the tongues of the foreign passengers became untied. What courtesy. What kindness! Everybody had had a pleasant surprise. Nobody had been eaten up alive by the "barbarians." Nobody had been undressed and nobody had the least complaint to make.

Better than France.

"He just looked at my passport," remarked an elderly Englishman in my compartment, "and touched his cap. 'All right, British subject,' he said. 'Welcome to Germany.' That traveller was obviously pleased. "I cannot imagine," the same man added, "that such boys do all those horrible things they are charged with. They look like English boys and their manners are perfect. Now when we landed in France yesterday," he went on..... Here followed the inevitable story of difficulties and vexations with French customs-officers, which I will spare you, because it is the same to-day, yesterday and forever, world without end.

Sunbeams were playing through the green meadows and the patches of pine forest as we sped eastward. Farmhouses stood out like children's toys, freshly painted and immaculate. A limousine on a parallel road tried to keep up with the train. You could see the occupants urge on the driver. Then as we crashed over a lever crossing of which the bars were lowered the auto dropped behind and the girls in the back seat waved a farewell.

Peasants were out in the fields, although the hour was early. Horses stood swishing their tails in the shade of leafy elm trees by the side of crystal-clear brooks. Little red-brick country churches, their fine spires projecting from masses of dark green foliage loomed up on the horizon and then slowly receded in the shimmering bluish haze that hung over the landscape. We crossed a river and I had a glimpse of slow-moving barges pulled by horses which stepped leisurely on a grass-bordered tow-path. It was like a slow-motion reel of enchanting travel pictures!

Saw Many Children

What struck me with amazement after living in Paris for several years was the number of children on the roads in Germany. It was 8 in the morning, and they were on their way to school; wooden shoes as in Holland, the boys with knapsacks on their backs, the girls carrying lunch baskets in their hands. The train went slow at one particular point, just before moving into some station, and my carriage window stopped just opposite a railway crossing. There must have been a hundred children standing there waiting to cross. All were bareheaded. And all were light blonde, the kind of blonde that was introduced on broadway by the late Flo Ziegeld, gold and platinum. My window was open so I tossed out some flowers. A boy caught them. A hundred pairs of happy blue eyes were fixed on me. They were well dressed, but soberly. None looked underfed. Wherever I went it was the same story; children, children, children. A rich land, Germany!

I noticed some Jewish passengers in the dining car. I counted them. There were eighteen in all. I don't know where they were going. But nobody bothered them. They were waited on with the same excellent courtesy as the other passengers. They sat apart, but this was of their own free choice. They ate heartily and did not seem cowed or embarrassed in the least. Their conversation was lively. Yet we were already in the heart of the Hitler-land in Bavaria. Within an hour we would be in Oberammergau.

Splendid Prospects On Casey Property

A thorough check up of the several gold bearing veins outcropping on Casey Contact Gold Mines property, which is being made by H. F. Fancy, M.E., engineer in charge, has revealed the presence of similar geological conditions to those on the adjoining Casey Summit Gold Mines property which is going into production in about two months' time.

Because of this similarity of structure and the fact that gold has already been found, Casey Contact is conceded to have an unusually good chance of developing important ore bodies as work progresses.

H. F. Fancy has expressed the opinion that at least one of the outcrops has every appearance of being the apex of an ore body at comparatively shallow depth and he has arranged for a campaign of diamond drilling along the strike of the vein which should quickly determine the importance of the find." Other discoveries are to be investigated also.

NANAIMO, B.C., June 19 (CP)—British Columbia Provincial Police to-day denied a report that a number of dogs had been left in starvation conditions in a kennel near here.

A number of persons had reported to police that they had seen dogs victims of alleged neglect.

Police investigation revealed the owner of the kennel had been away for two days, but had left the dogs and other stock in charge of neighbors.

INTIMIDATION IN ROAD CAMP BEING ALLEGED

Liberals May Seek to Upset the Election of T. P. Lancaster.

OPEN BOXES MONDAY.

Seven Liberals Elected in Central Ontario Association.

Acting on reports of intimidation of workmen in one of the camps on the Burleigh Falls-Apsley road, a group of Liberals, two-thirds of whom are residents of the rural section of Peterborough county, subscribed on their own initiative a sum of money last night for the purpose of contesting the election of T. P. Lancaster.

J. J. Duffus, president of the Central Ontario Liberal Association, verified this morning the rumors of the proposed protest, but said he did not know whether any legal action would be taken.

"Most of the crowd had gone from the committee rooms last night," Mr. Duffus said, "when these men came to me with the money they had pooled as the nucleus of a fund, asked me to take charge of it, and said they felt that the reports which had come in from the Burleigh road should be investigated. That is all I know directly about it, and I wouldn't mention it at all at this stage except that I have been asked about the rumors that were heard this morning."

Mr. Duffus said that the spontaneous contribution of this money was an indication of the strong feeling that animated friends of Mr. Hawthorne in the effect of the road camp vote.

Position Delicate

"Personally, I felt worse than when I was defeated myself," he continued, "It is true that I was in the campaign simply as a supporter of Mr. Hawthorne as the party's candidate. In my own election I was fairly defeated by Mr. Peck, and while I was disappointed there was nothing I could complain about. But, in this election I think I felt like every other Liberal that hundreds of men who had been unemployed and who secured work on the Burleigh Road found themselves in a delicate position in which the influence of any foreman who wished to exercise it could be applied, I think, unfairly and possibly illegally. Many of these men, I am told, were brought more or less recently from other parts of the province, and to that extent were not ordinary residents of the county, a group who could swing against a man like Jim Hawthorne whose people have been residents of Dummer township for a great many years. When you are beaten fairly you have no grievance, and you can take it, but this was different. It is not that the Hepburn government will need another member of the House, but it is this camp business with active, partisan Tory foremen that leaves a sting on the feelings of justice and fair play of every Liberal man and woman in Peterborough county."

Seven Liberals Returned

Mr. Duffus also remarked incidentally that the Central Ontario Liberal Association had very reason to be satisfied with the results. Of the eleven ridings in that designated group seven had returned Liberal Liberal representatives. The Conservatives had retained possession of four of the seats, Kingston, Peterborough, East Hastings and Addington.

Open Boxes Next Monday

Although the result in Peterborough is accepted as an approximately correct count by Liberals, Conservatives and C.C.F., it is likely that some of the figures in last night's tabulation by The Examiner will be changed when Sheriff Hall opens the ballot boxes next Monday night, and compiles the polling results as recorded by the deputy-returning officers.

According to the Election Act the ballot boxes shall not be officially opened until 7 p.m. Monday June 25.

BRIDGE GRANTS ARE BEING HELD BY DEPARTMENT

Action of Chief Highways Engineer Criticized by County Council.

ACCOUNTS HELD UP.

Warden Charges Department Retaliating for Cutting Engineer's Salary.

Non-payment of over $400 in bridge grants, is alleged by Warden Rork Ferguson, reeve of Asphodel Township, to be retaliation by the Department of Highways against the county's reduction of the road superintendent's salary from $3,000 to $2,400.

The council was in committee considering the report of the standing committee on Roads and Bridges under chairmanship of Reeve Austin Jackson this morning when the matter flared out in discussion.

Under section 2 of the committees report, it was enacted at the 1933 January sessions of council that the reeves of the respective townships were given authority to make expenditures not in excess of $100 on bridge repairs without the work being previously inspected and approved by the county road superintendent.

$400 Grants Refused

Work has since been done on six bridges at an approximate cost of $947, but while the accounts were approved by the county superintendent, it was stated, this morning that they were questioned by government auditors. Grants to the amount of over $400 to which a major section of the county council feels that the county is entitled, were refused by the Department.

As a result of the discussion this morning it was recommended by the committee on motion of Deputy Reeve James Milby, seconded by Reeve A. B. Burrows, "That there be added to section 2 of the report of the standing committee on roads and bridges, the clause provided that all such repairs be carried out with aproval of the county road superintendent." The motion was carried.

During discussion of the matter Reeve Allan B. Mann requested the Warden, "Tell the council just what happened when Muir came here in March last. I do not think any of the councillors know about it."

Tells of Muir's Visit

The Warden explained that in March as a result of a visit of Robert Muir, chief engineer of the Department of Highways, a joint meeting of the County Roads and Suburban Area Commissions was called.

"Muir felt," the warden proceeded, "that the county council had no business in reducing Chalmer's salary as they did at the January sessions from $3,000 to $2,400, without first consulting the Department. It was on the grounds that the Deparment pays half of the superintendent's salary."

"It is my feeling that the bridge grants were cut off as a result of that visit of Muir," the Warden exclaimed. "I feel that the motion that is on the minutes in regard to this bridge work should remain without amendment. If an engineer is to come down here and dictate to us it is time we were out."

Accounts O.K.'d

"The accounts," the Warden explained, "were O.K'd by the engineer. What is the reason the payment of the grants was refused?"

Reeve Mann interjected to remark that it was because of the visit of Mr. Muir. "He came here dictating to us and wanting us to buy the superintendent a new car."

Expressing the opinion that "Muir is putting up a bluff" Reeve Mann urged, "Let the books stand as they are." He added, "Muir told us we either had to increase Chalmers' salary, buy him a new car or pay for his gasoline.

During the course of the debate Reeve W. A. Anderson moved that the county stand behind the road commission and that the matter of the grants be referred back to the Department, as the matter was being shelved to be again taken up at a later stage of the sessions in committee, he remarked: "Any motion I have made can stand until the report of the committee comes in. I am not admitting we were wrong in the action we took."

STARTING YOUNG

Politics so interested one six-year-old lad of the city that on being refused permission to accompany his father down town last night, to witness the thrilling proceedings of election night, he proceeded upstairs, cleaned his face and hands and tidied his clothes and hid himself in the rear seat of the family car. However, a small head appearing just before the paternal parent entered the car, was the cause of his discovery, and he was obliged to forego the pleasure of taking any part in the civic rejoicings—or otherwise.

More Than 3,000 Requests For Election Information Received By The Examiner

With queries coming in at a rate of more than 17 a minute and 1,000 per hour, a total of more than 3,000 requests for election information were answered by the special Examiner staff of seven operators at the Bell Telephone Company last night between 8 and 11 o'clock. It is estimated that an additional 2,000 inquirers failed to make connections on account of the busy lines.

The heaviest load came after 8.30, gradually increasing to a peak at 10.30. During that period, one-half of all calls coming through the Peterborough Exchange were election calls, Manager H. H. P. Johnston said to-day. A fact that ought to have some political significance is that about 70 per cent of all queries were for information on the outcome in the local riding only. To a certain extent, of course, the broadcast of the Provincial results by radio were responsible for this.

Many further calls directly to The Examiner offices were answered after the special staff went off duty at the Bell Telephone Company at 11 o'clock. By 1 o'clock about the last inquirer had been satisfied.

RAND MINE WORTH BILLIONS FOUNDER LIVES IN POVERTY

Sold Secret of Great Gold Reefs for Few Dollars

FORTUNE BECKONED

London.—The secret of the way to the great gold reefs of the Rand was once sold for $25. George Honeyball was the seller and Godfray Lys the buyer. Both remained poor men. That was in 1886.

Today the world is richer by more than five billions of dollars—the value of the gold dug from nature's strongroom in the heart of the Rand. That, so far, is the realized value of the secret.

Last month Honeyball celebrated his 77th birthday. He is a man without hope. He has nothing to live for.

Chance Beyond Recall

Forty-eight years ago a golden opportunity was offered this wanderer of the Transvaal highveld. It was an opportunity that might have led to colossal fortune. Honeyball sold it for $25. His chance has gone beyond recall.

Gold, gold, more gold! That is the cry of the nations. The mighty white dumps of the Rand reach skywards . . . slowly but relentlessly, for man must have gold . . . as deep as 8,000 feet white men and black slave side by side in intense heat.

Mr. Honeyball sits in the sun outside his cottage on the outskirts of Johannesburg. He lives in penury and obscurity.

The man who did not take advantage of the chance of a century feels his position keenly, but fate was unkind to him.

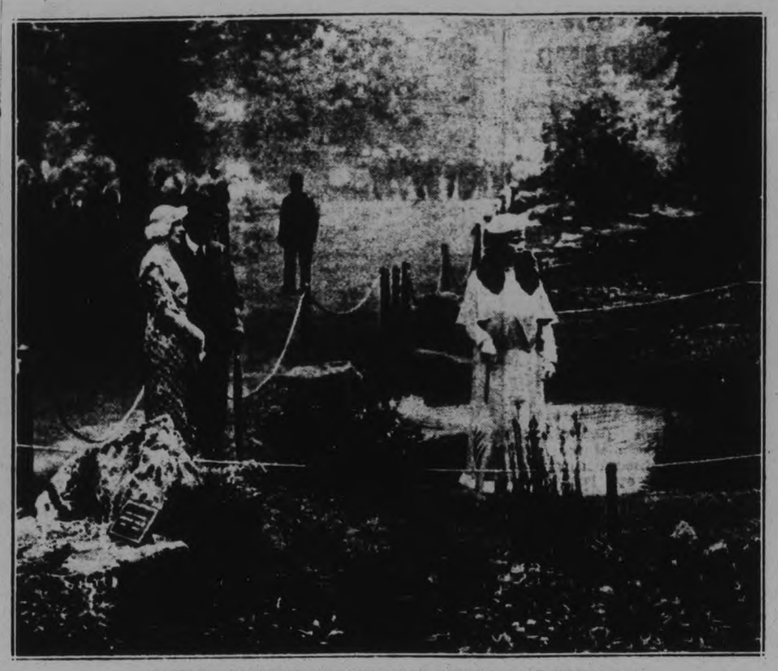
The Johannesburg valuation court was sitting on his birthday. The one-time collection of tin shanties has been officially valued at $400,000,000—and new buildings are rising in every street. Prosperity is to be found the whole length of the 80-mile Main Reef Rd. New mines are to be developed on the Far East Rand involving a capital outlay of $50,000,000.

BRITAIN EXPECTS 1934 BOOM YEAR

London.—Britain's most prosperous year since the war! That will be the record of 1934 if the present rate of improvement is maintained.

Official figures show a further reduction of 50,000 in the number of unemployed.

Production is already almost up to the level of the "boom" year of 1929.



THEIR MAJESTIES VIEW NATURE'S HANDIWORK

Nature put on its best attire to greet Great Britain's beloved King and Queen at the recent Chelsea Flower Show. Their majesties showed especial interest in the Dartington Hall rock garden section. The above photograph was taken when, accompanied by Lady Aberconway, they spent some time examining the plants.

MELBOURNE ARRANGES DISTANCE AIR CONTEST

Aviators Will Vie for $50,000 During Australian City's Centenary

Manchester. — The MacRobertson trophy air race, from England to Melbourne, Australia, in October for which the entries will shortly close, will be the longest "distance" contest in air history. It is also expected to be the fastest, the most gruelling, and possibly also the most dangerous. A millionaire citizen of Melbourne, Sir Macpherson Robertson (better known by his business name of "MacRobertson"), had the novel idea of commemorating the city's centenary celebrations by offering a gold cup, a first prize of $50,000 and other cash prizes for the fastest time between England and Australia.

The race is open to the world. It is divided into two parts—a handicap race and a speed race. In the speed race there are hardly any restrictions. Any type of aeroplane may be used, so long as it has a certificate of airworthiness and refuelling in the air or night flying will be permitted. There will be five "control" points along the route, at which machines must land, but no allowance will be made for time spent at these points or anywhere else. After the starting-gun is fired from several aerodromes in England on Oct. 20 the first aeroplane to cross the finishing line at Melbourne will be the winner.

It is already certain that Mr. and Mrs. James Mollison will start.

WOMEN BEAT MEN ANSWERING POSERS

Must Be Experts on Frog's Eggs to Get Jobs

London.—If a woman can describe the changes in a frog's egg from the time of deposition to the time of hatching, and give some indication of the duration of this period of the frog's life from her own observations, she may be considered fit to levy sur-tax.

If, on the other hand, she can give a concise account of the respiratory organs of a mammal, she will probably be an expert on death duties.

These are two of the questions in the examinations for posts at Somerset House, where Miss M. D. McGillivray has been appointed an executive officer.

Women for these posts—which may carry a salary only just short of $5,000 a year—are recruited from the stars of the girls' public schools.

But Miss 1934 apparently takes biology, political economy, and history in her stride; at a recent examination one woman beat more than 600 men.

SIX SISTERS ESCORT BRIDE ON HORSEBACK

Newly-Weds to Walk Under Archway of Whips

Northolt.—The "Seven Riding Sisters"—their name is Croxon and for two years they have run a riding-school—are in a whirl of excitement.

For the eldest girl, 21-year-old Freda, is being married to John White, a young London business man.

Northolt calls them the "Riding Sisters" because they go everywhere on horseback—and they intend to keep up their practice at Freda's wedding.

Her six sisters, wearing jodhpurs of gold satin, blouses of daffodil silk, and tiny gold silk berets on their fair curls, will act as bridesmaids, and escort Freda to church mounted on gray and piebald ponies.

At Northolt parish church there will be a guard of honor of girls wearing riding kit, and as the bride and bridegroom leave the church they will walk under an archway of riding whips.

Three days after, he died.

AEROPLANES DIRECT TROOPS OVERCOMING HEATH BLAZE

West Kents, Wearing Steel Helmets, Rush to Fire Scene

LIKE A BATTLEFIELD

Pirbright.—While R.A.F. aeroplanes directed operations from the air, 500 steel-helmeted troops fought for four hours here the most serious heath and forest fire of the year.

The fire broke out a. Fox Hills, close to the Pirbright-Farnham road, and with startling swiftness the flames spread along the parched gorse and fir trees over an area of three miles.

The alarm was raised by a passing motorist. Orders were given for a detachment of 200 troops from the Royal West Kent Regiment at Aldershot to go to the spot.

They left at once in army lorries, and were on the scene in half an hour.

With sticks and shovels they attacked the flames but, after an hour's work, they found the fire was winning.

At times the flames rose twenty feet in the air, and the dried-up gorse and undergrowth burst into fire.

Another detachment of lorries with 300 men from the 1st Welsh Guards were despatched to the spot. For four hours the troops, some of them wearing gas masks, worked unceasingly beating and stamping at the flames.

From two to five p.m. the fire fighters, their faces blackened and scorched by the smoke, struggled to master the outbreak, and at one time fully a thousand helpers were at work.

The scene was like a battlefield. Clouds of smoke rose from the heath, bullets dropped by soldiers at musketry practice exploded as the fire spread, despatch riders raced to carry orders to the fighting "fronts."

At one time the flames were within twenty yards of Glen Cottage farm, owned by Sir Philip Henriques.

The Blackdown fire brigade and a lorry load of soldiers, after over an hour's fight, succeeded in saving the cottage.

HINT MAN IN BASKET WHEN MAILS VANISH

Claim Collision Reveals Missing Bags

Wokingham.—A suggestion that some one was hidden in a large basket on a train from which three mailbags were later found to be missing was put forward by prosecuting counsel when four men appeared on remand charged with stealing and receiving the three mailbags.

All the men, who pleaded not guilty, were committed for trial.

Mr. Keneim Preedy, prosecuting, explained that inside each of two of the bags there was one smaller mailbag.

The mails were put on the 7.55 p.m. Paddington-Fishguard express on May 10. Two of them were bound for Newport and the third for Swansea.

Just before the train left two men came up with a large skip—a type of basket used by actors and commercial travellers—a trunk, and a cardboard box.

They wanted them to go on the train, and put the skip on themselves. It appeared to be heavy, but the trunk apparently was empty. The train stopped at Reading at 8.35 in order that Reading mails might be unloaded.

At Reading the same two men fetched the trunk and skip, and loaded them into a motor-van waiting outside the station. It then drove off.

It was stated that later a collision occurred between two cars outside Reading. The contents of the mailbags was found in one of the cars, which was damaged. The four men were granted bail.

DIES IN LOVER'S SIGHT

Ilkeston.—A girl, bent upon suicide, cycled along a canal towpath until she overtook her fiance on his way to work at night, and pedalled furiously into the water in front of him, a coroner's jury here was told.

FREE "TREAT" PROVES DEADLY BELLADONNA

Men Thought Liquorice Fell From Lorry and Ate It

Leicester. — Fourteen men here have suffered from poisoning after eating deadly belladonna root in mistake for liquorice.

One of them, after discovering his mistake, cycled to the hospital. He collapsed at the entrance and remembers nothing of his wild ride to escape death.

The men are employees of a rubber factory. A quantity of belladonna root was being conveyed to the premises of a manufacturing chemist in the same locality.

Some of the roots fell from the lorry. They were picked up by one of the rubber factory employees, who thought they were sticks of liquorice. He shared them with 13 of his companions.

Within a short time all the men who had tasted the root were taken ill. Inquiries at the chemical factory revealed that they had eaten belladonna.

WALKING IN SLEEP GIRL TOOK MONEY

Pleading She Didn't Deliberately Steal, Nursemaid Acquitted

Lymington.—A case which appears to provide a new point in medico-legal procedure came before the county magistrates when a 20-year-old girl who was accused of stealing money from fellow domestic servants successfully pleaded that she took it while walking in her sleep.

The girl was Kathleen Carpenter, a nursemaid employed by Captain Yateman at Seanlans, Sway, and the charge against her was dismissed.

Miss Carpenter stated that as a child living in County Kildare, Ireland, she walked in her sleep every night for a year. Then she gradually got better.

"I never know whether I have walked in my sleep or not," she added. "I never deliberately took any money."

SUSPECT 'TRAIN RATS' SLEW RICH TRAVELLER

Search for Missing Man Reveals Body on Tracks

Paris.—Did "train rats" have a hand in the mysterious death of M. Boule, the wealthy man whose body was found on the line near Marseilles?

"Train rats" are the plausible criminals who prey upon rich people in the luxury trains on the continent as card-sharpers fleece travellers in the Atlantic liners.

M. Boule and his wife joined the famous "Blue Express" at Nice to return to their Versailles home after a Riviera holiday.

They occupied sleeping compartments which had a communicating door. In the early hours of the morning Madame Boule knocked on the door—and received no answer. In panic she summoned the guard, who opened the husband's compartment with a pass key.

M. Boule was not there. A few minutes later the train ran into Avignon and the alarm was flashed back along the line. Search revealed the body.

M. Boule was fully clad when he met his death, and although his wife said he almost certainly had a large sum on him before he died, no money was found in his pockets.

URGES FARM WOMEN TO STRIKE FOR REST

Parson Says They Need it as Much as Horses do

Vale, Oregon—Farm women of Malheur county will go on "strike" for three days this summer if Rev. S. P. Hagler, Ontario minister, is successful in his campaign to have them leave their washing machines and churns long enough to take a camping vacation and let their husbands tend the children.

"You give your horses a rest of several months," Mr. Hagler told the farmers at a recent meeting of the Malheur county grange, "but you won't even give your wives a three-day rest."

DOG DEPOSITS CASH

Picks Up Envelope of 180,000 Francs; Brings it to Master

Paris.—A dog belonging to M. Caubel, who keeps a wine shop in the Rue Dulong, returned home with what looked like a piece of paper, and dropped it at his master's feet.

As M. Caubel paid no attention, the dog began to bark. M. Caubel then picked the object up and discovered that it was an envelope containing six cheques, five of them payable to bearer, representing a total of 180,000 francs. The cheques and envelope, which bore no address, were handed over to the police.

NAZIS TOLD "HOSTAGE" WIFE HUSBAND DIDN'T WANT HER

Seger Family Safe in England After Hardships at Separate Camps

MAN WAS FLOGGED

Croydon.—Frau Ilse Seger, known as the "hostage" wife, is reunited with her husband and child after a long nightmare of torturing doubts and misunderstandings.

For nearly six months she and her child have been imprisoned by the Nazis as hostages for Herr Seger.

Herr Seger escaped from a Nazi concentration camp and finally reached Britain, only to hear that his wife had been seized in his stead.

In a final desperate attempt to secure her release he started divorce proceedings in the hope that his wife might be freed.

"They told me that my husband no longer loved me . . . that he did not want me back. When they released me I didn't know whether I really wanted to be free . . . in case what they said was true," said Frau Seger.

With her hand tightly clasping her husband's, Frau Seger told of her ordeal. "My baby and I were placed in a concentration camp after the publication of my husband's anti-Nazi book," she said. "Unknown to me, my husband was working day and night to secure my release."

It was only a week after his election to the Reichstag that Herr Seger was arrested because he was a member of the Socialist party. First he was imprisoned at Dessau, then he was transferred to another prison at Oranienburg, from which he escaped to Czechoslovakia.

He spent the long hours in prison memorizing events and dates so that he would be able to reveal the terrible truth about the conditions there when he regained his liberty.

Beaten With Clubs

Many times he was beaten with rubber truncheons without cause. Some of his fellow-prisoners were confined for days on end in concrete dungeons with a floor space of only two feet by three so that there was room only for standing.

When he escaped to Czechoslovakia the Nazis took their revenge by arresting his wife and son and confining them in another camp.

When Mrs. Mavis Tate, the Willesden M.P. who took up the case, finally rescued Frau Seger and her child from the prison it was some time before she could make the mother believe that she was really free and that her husband was waiting for her.

"I thought at first that Mrs. Tate was an agent of the police," Frau Seger said. "I was completely bewildered. I felt that I would rather stop in exile with my baby. Then Mrs. Tate told me the greatest news. She said, 'Your husband says he still loves you deeply. He wishes for nothing more than for you and his baby boy. He is waiting in England.' Then I knew at once that I wanted to rejoin him more than anything else."

Herr Seger intends to recommence with redoubled vigor the campaign he has launched laying bare the full horror of the Nazi concentration camps.

DOG'S PLAYFUL JUMP ENDS MASTER'S LIFE

Tiverton.—Raiph Charles Salter, a farmer, aged 39, of Uffculme, near here, went to pick up his gun to shoot a rabbit.

His dog—which was devoted to him—scented sport and leaped playfully at him, putting its paws up on his chest.

There was a shot . . . and Mr. Salter fell dead in the scullery.

This theory was put forward by the dead man's widow at the inquest. The coroner, accepting it, returned a verdict of "Accidental death."

TRIED TO SEE KING ON NIGHT CLUB BET

"Lord Orkney of Thurso Castle" Stopped by His Majesty's Secretary

London.—John S. Mitchell, known as the monocle man, who went to Balmoral to interview the King—for a bet—was recently sentenced to five years' penal servitude for mailbag robberies.

One night in a Soho night club he wagered $125 that he would interview the King in Balmoral castle.

The bet was taken. And this, according to Mitchell's own story of the exploit, is how he tried to win it.

He procured an imposing official-looking envelope, filled it with newspapers, heavily sealed it, and addressed it to the King.

He took the train to Aberdeen—his native city—arriving late at night. He ordered a car to drive him at top speed to Balmoral, tell the driver that he was "Lord Orkney of Thurso castle," and had important dispatches for the King which must be delivered as soon as possible.

The driver drove Mitchell to the castle gate. It was then early morning, and the royal servants were asleep.

Mitchell told a policeman that he was "a King's messenger" and flourished the impressive-looking envelope. "I must deliver it to the King in person," he said. He was allowed to spend the rest of the night in a room in the castle, and in the morning he was interviewed by another official. Later he was escorted to the room of the King's private secretary, and not until then was his bogus role unmasked.

It was found that he had only a penny in his possession.

DUKE OF GLOUCESTER WINS PRAISE AS ORANGE DRUMMER

Joins in Ulster's Traditional Rite by Playing "Lambeg"

PARADES WITH BAND

Belfast.—The Duke of Gloucester, on his first official visit to northern Ireland, aroused great enthusiasm by taking part in the traditional ceremony of beating the "Lambeg" (Orange) drums.

The drums, according to repute, are a solemn warning to the Orangemen's enemies or a call of welcome to their friends.

At Hillsborough the Orangemen gathered in force. For hours after the duke's arrival the village resounded with the weird music of the "Lambeg" drums.

The Prince of Wales' drum, now adorned with his portrait, led the procession as the drummers marched backwards and forwards, the music growing more insistent as the hours passed.

They hoped that the Duke of Gloucester would follow the example of his elder brother and participate in the demonstration and they would not be denied.

Eventually, about 11.30 a.m., the duke appeared at the castle gates and was immediately surrounded by a cheering crowd.

Entering into the spirit of the moment, the duke set off amid the drummers. Dan Patton of Lisburn Drumming Club produced a "Lambeg" and hung it over the duke's shoulder amid the wild cheers of the Orangemen.

The duke showed considerable skill in the manipulation of the sticks before he surrendered the drum once more to its owner.

DAUGHTER INHERITS FATHER'S BEAGLES

Mother Acts as Master of Hounds for Young Girl

Melton Mowbray. — A 14-year-old girl has just become the possessor of a pack of beagles under the will of her father, who was the late master.

She is Miss Anne Paget and her father, the late Capt. J. Otho Paget of Burrough-on-the-Hill, near here, in Leicestershire, died last February, aged 74.

His pack—the Thorpe Satchville Beagles—is to be sold for her benefit if she does not wish to carry it on.

Mrs. Otho Paget, the girls' mother, told a reporter that the beagles were to be kept on next season, at any rate. "I shall act as master as I did during most of last season," she said. "My daughter, of course, knows all the hounds by name, and I think she has hunted with them ever since she was a little girl riding in the pannier of a pony. My husband ran this pack of beagles for 44 years, so naturally we want to keep them on if possble."

The bride was Miss Edna May Greenwood, the bridgroom, Norman Mills, an accountant. They kept their wedding plans a secret.

It had been arranged that Miss Greenwood should dress for the wedding and collect her bouquet at the home of Miss Bessie Dawson, the bridesmaid. But she had not arrived there 45 minutes after the hour fixed for the ceremony at St. John's church.

Norman Mills, Albert Mills, his brother, and Miss Dawson rushed in a taxicab to Holcombe Brook, five miles away.

Miss Dawson found Miss Greenwood discussing the matter with her mother, who had learned of the "secret" marriage plans. Soon afterwards, the two men came in and persuaded Miss Greenwood, hatless, and even shoeless, to enter the waiting taxicab.

She had to borrow a pair of shoes before the ceremony could take place. She did not wait to change her dress, nor stop to collect her bouquet.

Governor of Bengal Shot At by Would-Be Assassins

POLICE RETURN FIRE

Darjeeling.—Four Bengalis firing at point-blank range attempted to assassinate Sir John Anderson, the governor of Bengal, at Lebong race course.

Sir John was standing in his box with his daughter, Miss Mary Anderson, after the finish of the race for the governor's cup, when four Bengals approached to within a few feet and started to shoot at him. At least six shots were fired.

The district superintendent of police, E. E. English, fired at one of the assailants, who was killed outright. Another man who was firing point-blank at the governor was seized by Mr. Green, of the public works department.

Altogether six Bengalis believed to be implicated in the plot were arrested. Four of them were armed with revolvers.

Not one in the governor's party was injured, but a woman in the stand behind the box was injured by a shot in the ankle. The injured woman is Miss Bulla Thornton, daughter of an Anglo-Indian engine driver.

A cordon of troops and police was rapidly formed round the course. The governor, apparently unperturbed, remained until the last race was over.

LOVED COMRADE'S WIFE SOLDIER DUPES FAMILY

Claim That He Was Husband Explodes When Real Wife Appears

Nancy—Fifteen years ago when a French soldier, believed to have been killed in the war, turned up, there was general rejoicing in his native town, and none were more delighted to see him than his family.

Now the family is forced to recognize that they were the victims of an amazing imposture.

In the year 1917 the family of Maurice Laval, a machine-gunner, received intimation that he had died in captivity in Germany as the result of wounds sustained at Verdun.

The death was recorded by the military authorities and a pension was allowed to the wife and three children.

Some time after the armistice, the family were astonished and delighted to see the dead man appear, and the resurrection was made the occasion for general rejoicing.

Nevertheless, there were some who thought that if this were indeed Maurice Laval, his war experiences had changed him in many ways.

The man, however, had the papers to establish his claim, and the military authorities did not seem disposed to question it until a few days ago when information was received from Germany.

This was to the effect that the supposed Laval was, in reality, an infantry soldier named Thibaut, who bore a resemblance to Laval, with whom he had been in captivity for over a year.

Without saying anything to the suposed Laval, the military authorities invited the "widow" of Thibaut to come to Nancy, and when she saw the man she promptly identified him as her missing husband.

When taxed with the deception the man admitted it, saying that he and his real wife had been unhappy together.

He had fallen in love with Laval's wife after seeing her photograph in the possession of his comrade, and he had decided to profit by the other's death to assume his identity.

Despite the man's confession and the positive identification as Thibaut, Laval's family still maintain that he is Laval and will not surrender their rights in him.

What has complicated the matter is the fact that in the belief that her husband was dead, Madame Thibaut married again, and has several children by the second husband.

PRISONER'S SCREAMS AROUSES MOB'S IRE

Madrid—An infuriated mob stormed the prison at Puigcerda, Catalonia, to rescue a prisoner who was being thrashed for attempting to escape.

The convict's screams attracted the attention of passers-by. Soon a crowd collected. First they smashed all the windows in the gaol.

Then they stormed the main gate, brushing the guards aside. They discovered the beaten convict lying in a serious condition and when they were unable to discover the warder who administered the thrashing they took vengeance on another, who had to be taken to hospital with grave injuries.

The mob threatened to fire the prison, but were eventually appeased by the governor's promise to punish the warder guilty of beating the convict.

The beaten man was one of five prisoners who broke from the goal and made a dash for the French frontier. Civil guards, frontier guards and police joined in the man hunt, and eventually two of the escaped men were discovered in hiding.

LOVERS' "KISS OF DEATH" FOILED BY RUBBER SOLES

Parents Permit Marriage as Double-Suicide Plan Fails

CIRCUIT BROKEN

Petravaid.—Here in eastern Moravia dwells an electrical engineer, 23 years of age, scion of a rich and proud family. In the home of his parents is, or was until the other day, a beautiful servant girl, aged 20. They loved each other, but, as marriage was declared by the youth's father to be impossible, they determined to die—to die by a kiss.

The young man constructed an apparatus by which, when it was linked up with the house current, he could decrease the amperage and increase the voltage to a point where it would cause certain death. When all was prepared he wrote a note to his parents and explained to the girl:

"I shall stand on this stool with glass legs and when I am charged you will kiss me. The current will thus pass through you to the ground and we shall both die."

They took their positions and their lips met. Nothing happened. They were still seeking death in this way when the young man's parents rushed into the room. In consternation lest they share his intended fate he jumped from the stool.

Later it was discovered that the girl had been wearing tennis shoes with rubber soles, thus preventing completion of the fatal circuit. Then all was forgiven, the parental blessing gratefully bestowed and everything set for the loving couple to live happily ever afterward.

BEARDLESS HUBBY UNKNOWN TO WIFE

Clean-Shaven Man in Bed Shocked Woman

Mainz.—In the early morning hours the residents of a block of houses in this city heard loud cries for help. Some of them rushed in and found a woman in night-clothes on the stairs, trembling from fear and shouting that a stranger had invaded her room. Three men, armed with clubs, followed her into the room and found a clean-shaved man snoring in bed. Being awakened with some difficulty, he protested that he was in his own house and his own bed.

Some friends had bet him five liters of beer that he did not dare to shave off his beard. He could not resist the temptation, the beard was shaved off, and his wife had not recognized him.

GIVES LIFE FOR DOGS

Paris.—"Save the dogs!" A man's voice, shrieking above the howling of 80 tortured dogs, shouted these words, giving the first alarm to the inhabitants of the district of Ternes that a building containing a garage and dog kennels was on fire.

The voice was that of M. Quentin, keeper of the garage, who made a desperate attempt to free the dogs. He managed to release 28 of them before he himself fell a victim to the fumes.

When the fire brigade got the fire under they found M. Quentin dead, surrounded by the charred remains of 52 dogs.

On Friday evening, about seventy-five of the members and friends of Gilmour Memorial Baptist Church met at the home of Mrs. T. R. Mann to present Miss Margaret Mann and Mr. Reg. McMullen, whose marriage took place to-day, with a handsome walnut living room table. An impromptu program was presented during the evening, followed by an appropriate address read by Mr. Howard Blewett and the presentation of the gift by Mr. Gordon McGregor. A fitting acknowledgment was made by the guests of honor and the balance of the evening was spent in playing games on the lawn, after which dainty refreshments were served by the ladies.

BALLYDUFF

On Sunday, June 17th, the Ballyduff choir motored to Lotus to assist in the service of song on the occasion of their annual Sunday School anniversary. The church was beautifully decorated with seasonable flowers which added greatly to the impressiveness of the services in afternoon and evening.

The ladies of the church had painted thef loor of the building a pretty slate gray and received the hearty commendation of the church workers for their labour.

Rev. W. C. Smith, B.A., B.D., of Janetville United Church, conducted both services and his rousing address was much appreciated by his many hearers, his evening theme being particularly for the young men and women.

Besides several beautiful anthems rendered by the choir, the Ballyduff quartette including Misses Winnifred Preston and Viola Gray and Messrs. Harry and Percy Preston contributed two hearty numgers.

As the ladies of the church had not sponsored a garden party for the past five years, they decided to do so this year in order to defray church expenses. On Monday evening al preparations were under way but the weather being particularly wet the event had to be withdrawn.

A number from here motored to Blackstock on Saturday and attended a day of sport. A fitting monumen, was dedicated to the pioneers of the district the following Sunday.

Mr. Harry Preston who has erected a fine new barn on his ranch known as the Porter farm, near Ballyduff school, had a raising on Monday afternoon when a large number of men gathered to assist with the work which could only be carried on intermittently on account of showery weather. About thirty men sat down to five o'clock supper at the nearby Hepburn home and the work was concluded the following evening.

Just Between Us Women

A daily chat with Examiner neighbors conducted by Anne Wilcox

Now that the warm weather is really here, everything should be planned about the house to make it as cool as possible. There are two distinct theories as to methods. One is that windows should be opened only when the air is cool, and in the morning before the air gets torrid, that the windows be shut, shades drawn, and shutters closed, if there are any shutters. The theory is that the cool air is kept in the house. The other theory is that windows should be wide open during all hours so that every lightest breeze can circulate through the rooms. The windows where the sun would come in should be fitted with awnings as it is imperative that the scorching rays be shut out. It is the idea in this plan that draughts bring coolness. Electric fans are designed to cool rooms by this method. Each theory has its ardent adherents, and each works to a degree.

* * * * * * *

In some theatres there are cooling plants installed, which force cold air into rooms. These act in reverse order to central heating furnaces which force heat into rooms in cold weather. While some hotels are thus equipped, private homes have not entered appreciably into such equipments. And so the average homemaker must rely upon other methods for fostering comfortable coolness into her house.

* * * * * * *

It is important to put papers where they will not blow out. Also magazines whose pages would rustle, and other things that would cause annoying sounds if caught in a draught of air. But it is even more essential to have pictures and mirrors firmly hung so that they will not shift in a strong gust of wind. This could loosen them from their fastenings and havoc would result if they fell down.

* * * * * * *

See that vases of flowers are not top heavy and that they are out of draughts. For one thing wind blowing across blossoms wilts them and for another, there is the danger of having the vases broken and the water spilled on wall paper, on books, table covers—whatever happens to be the thing the water splashes on.

* * * * * * *

The comfort of the family is interfered with unless precautions are taken to prevent annoyances, or damage through sudden gusts of wind coming through open windows. These things may happen whichever method is followed as it may be in the night time or the daytime that the wind rises and plays about the house.

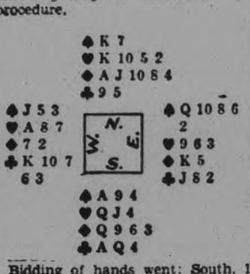
A "KNOCKOUT"

A "knockout" is the term which I apply to a play at no trumps, well known only to finished players, but extremely important. The play consists of early elimination of danger from a missing high honor, while you hold guards to all suits. The following diagram illustrates the procedure.



Bidding of hands went: South, 1 no-trump; North, 3 diamonds, to force; South, 3 no-trumps.

The opening lead was the 6 of clubs, showing East held two cards of the suit higher than the one led, but not showing whether West held 4, 5 or 6 of the suit. Dummy played the 9, East the J and declarer the Q.

South could count 2 tricks in spades, 2 tricks in clubs, and 5 tricks in diamonds, if West held the missing K, but only 4 diamond tricks in case East held it. Evidently to be safe, a heart trick must be won to complete the nine tricks required for game. It was necessary to make the knockout, before losing the second stop to West's clubs.

The ace of hearts and the K of diamonds might lie in any one of four different ways: Ace and K West; ace and K East; ace West and K East; K West and ace East. The first position would cause the loss of a single trick to the ace, but the K could be picked up. The second position would give East two tricks, but it could not cost game, provided South did not win a club trick with his ace until East led the second round of that suit, if he held two. When East got in with the K of diamonds he could not lead another club, if he originally held only three. In case East originally held four clubs, then only two club tricks could be lost, assuring game. The third possible position of the missing ace and K, also insured game, as the ace would be knocked out of West's hand, before East was in with the K of diamonds, or else East would have no heart to lead. The fourth position assured game also, as West's K of diamonds would be picked up.

South led the Q of hearts. West passed the trick. The declarer noted that both opponents played a heart. When the J of hearts was led, West played the ace, and led the 10 of clubs, which South allowed him to hold. South won the next lead of clubs with his ace, now assured of game. The diamond finesse lost to East's K, but there was no way by which West could be put in, so South made four-odd, instead of going down a trick, if he had not played the knockout.

REV. S. H. HILL GUEST SPEAKER AT WARKWORTH

St. Andrew's Presbyterian Church Celebrates Seventy-sixth Anniversary.

LARGE CONGREGATIONS.

WARKWORTH, June 20 (Examiner Correspondence)—The seventy-sixth anniversary of St. Andrew's Presbyterian Church was held Sunday, June 17th. Rev. S. H. Hill of Hastings was the special speaker and gave interesting addresses.

In the morning the old testament lesson was Isaiah 61st chapter and the new testament lesson was John 15, verses 1 to 17. The text was the latter part of the 5th verse of John 15, "For without me ye can do nothing."

The speaker clearly pointed out that humanity alone, could accomplish nothing, because of Jesus' statement, unless we abide in Him and He in us, we can do nothing. Jesus Christ trusted us to spread the work of the gospel which He began.

In the evening the first nine verses of the second chapter of Haggai, was read for the first lesson by the minister of the church, Rev. G. R. Duncan and who also exupressed appreciation of greetings from St. Paul's congregation given by Dr. Cooper, who also read Mathew 16, verses 1 to 6 for the second lesson and offered prayer.

The speaker chose Mathew 16, 18, "And I say also unto thee, that thou art Peter, and upon this rock I will build my church"; and I Timothy 1, 15 This is a faithful saying and worthy of all acceptation, that Christ Jesus came into the world to save sinners; of whom I am chief. The subject of the address was "The true Church." The church is a divine institution, non sectarian and universal. We must confess Jesus Christ and preach Him to have a victorious church. The church is a home of believers and it must be dominate in all activities. By helping others as Christ did can we have a true church.

The large congregations greatly appreciated the special music consisting of an anthem, a solo and a quartet at each service.

The beautiful floral decorations added to the success of the anniversary services.

BE BEAUTIFUL

By GLADYS GLAD

"Dear Miss Glad: My daily occupation is rather strenuous, and by evening I usually feel very tired and nervous during the hot weather. I've heard that alcohol rubs are very soothing and restful. Is this so? And how does one administer an alcohol rub? RUBY."

An alcohol rub is indeed soothing and refreshing during hot weather, and will assist you in recovering from the weariness of the day. A warm, cleansing bath should be taken first, to soothe the jangled nerves and to cleanse all impurities from the skin. After the bath, the body should be thoroughly dried with a warm towel. Then apply a generous amount of rubbing alcohol to your body with a pad of cotton, and massage every part of your body until it is dry. An alcohol rub induces the restful sleep so necessary to beauty, and counteracts the harmful effect of fatigue.

"Dear Miss Glad: Well, I'm back again for advice, and with good reason. You see, I followed the reducing course in your 'New Figure' booklet, and lost 28 pounds. And consequently, I think your advice pretty infallible. However, my hips have always been larger than they should, and I was wondering if it would help for me to wear a rubber girdle in addition to following your exercises. Do you think so

"KATHIE."

I think that a rubber girdle should help to reduce your hips. It breaks up fatty tissues locally. Wear the girdle, however, when you do your daily exercise, or while taking long walks. It is good to wear a cotton or glove silk vest beneath the girdle to absorb the perspiration. If the girdle is worn next to the skin, it is liable to prove irritating. Wash the girdle daily in warm water to which a bit of borax has been added. This treatment will help to keep it always fresh and clean.

* * *

"Dear Miss Glad: I have had very long hair for the past three years, and it's very pretty. It has always been of an even thickness. Lately, however, the ends have become split and broken. What has this condition resulted from, do you suppose?

"BERNICE."

The natural oil of the hair is exuded at the scalp. This oil should be distributed evenly throughout the hair, so that the hair is sufficiently lubricated from scalp to tip-ends. Unless measures are taken to assist nature in spreading the oil to the very tips of the hair, the hair-ends may become dry and brittle. Brush your hair vigorously and thoroughly every day. Keep the ends of your hair well oiled by the application of a bit of pure olive oil or plain castor oil. Also, cut the ends of your hair once or twice a year, to keep the hair of an even thickness, and to remove any scraggly, wispy ends. A fortnightly hot oil shampoo, such as the one described in my "Beauty Culture" booklet, also will prove effective in promoting the health of the scalp and in keeping the hair soft and glossy.

DEER VISITS CHURCH

OIL CITY, Pa., June 20 (C.P.).—So anxious was a young deer to attend church that it crashed through a low stained glass window at St. Joseph's Church.

Once inside, however, the deer decided not to remain. It fled to the open again, bowling over Rev. J. F. Murphy, assistant pastor, en route.

TOOK PILLS FOR 30 YEARS, THEN CEREAL BROUGHT RELIEF

Mr. Forsythe Endorses ALL-BRAN for Constipation

If you suffer from headaches, loss of appetite and energy or any other of the frequent effects of constipation, read this voluntary letter:

"After taking pills and tablets for about thirty years for constipation, I started to take your ALL-BRAN three times a day according to directions. Today I can eat cheese, and that is binding, and certainly feel fine."—Mr. Ed. Forsythe (address furnished upon request).

Science says ALL-BRAN provides "bulk" to exercise the intestines, and vitamin B to further aid regular habits. In addition, ALL-BRAN is rich in blood-building iron.

The "bulk" in ALL-BRAN is much like that of leafy vegetables. Inside the body, it forms a soft mass which gently clears the intestines of wastes.

Isn't this pleasant "cereal way" far more healthful than using patent medicines — so often habit-forming?

Just eat two tablespoonfuls daily. In serious cases use with each meal. If not relieved this way, see your doctor.

INSIDE THE PADDOCK

BY ART MURRAY

THERE WAS a peculiar accident at Dufferin on Monday when Canterbury Rain crossed his legs and fell breaking his neck, dying almost immediately. He was leading the field for the greater part of the race and then seemed to tire suddenly and drop. This puts us in mind of a similar happening which occurred a few years ago at the Woodbine when a horse called What's The Time won a race and immediately after crossing the finish line dropped dead. The jockey fell off and walked back to be weighed in and as the mutual machine clerks started to pay off on the winning horse the said horse was being dragged off the track to be buried.

Dude Feden accepted just two mounts at Dufferin on Monday and brought both home winners. The horses were Caryldon and Poet's Dream. The Dude said last year he would do no more riding at Little Saratoga but evidently he has changed his mind but at any rate he is batting one thousand as the ball players would say! . . . Blue Bonnets at Montreal closed a very successful fourteen day meeting on Monday of this week.

UNCOVERED from the barn of Arthur Hullcoat seems to be the greatest second horse in Canada. In his last three or four starts he has gone out in front at the rise of the barrier and led all the way only to be nosed out right at the wire on each occasion. Some of these days he will forget to stop and the payoff will be good as the boys are branding him as a quitter and laying off. Old Promethius showed that he could negotiate the sharp turns by taking the third event on Tuesday's card from a nice band of platers. Some thought that on account of him not running there before that maybe he would not take to it but he soon quelled that fear.

Since Art Halliwell brought young Cochrane from Long Branch over to Detroit the boy has been booting them home for him regularly. The latest being Tarnish on Monday at over fifteen dollars for a straight two dollar ducat. Newgro made amends for his recent dismal performances on the mile tracks by winning from select company at Dufferin on Tuesday. It rained all Monday at Little Saratoga, yet on Tuesday the track was as dry as a chip which bears out what we told you about this being the best drained track in America.

ELECTRICS GET THIRD VICTORY IN FIVE GAMES

Ralph Clark and Dinesen Allow Seven Safeties on Foster Mound.

7 ERRORS IN ALL.

Pitching two-hit ball with a beautiful steady style, Jack Barry, right hand twirler for the C.G.E. stood the Foster Athletic Club team on its head last night at the Exhibition Grounds in an East Peterborough League tussle, to chalk up the third victory for the Electrics in five starts by a count of 7 to 3.

Barry allowed one single in the first, when Hutchinson connected and one in the fourth when Joe Dunkerley lifted a fly in short right field. Fosters went out in order in three frames, and it looked as if Barry would get a shut-out until the seventh when he walked the first two batters. McCarroll, third batter for Fosters, popped to Hatton and Pryde hit an infield fly to Hillier at second, but Dinesen walked loading the bases. Harvey Smith went to bat with the bases loaded and burned a hot grounder at Weir, which the latter misjudged and two runners crossed. The throw from right field was blocked at the plate by the second runner coming home and the ball sailed on to the race track allowing Dinesen to tally the third counter, while Smith went to third. Lefty Smith fanned to finish the rally.

Ralph Clark started on the mound for fosters, and hurled smart ball but the C.G.E. batters got to him early and hammered seven hits for an equal number of runs. Dinesen started in the sixth with Smith receiving, but put himself in a hole by walking the first two. A timely double-play engineered by Ira Dundas gave the pitcher a break and Nicholls flied into right field to make the third out. In the last innings, a walk, an infield error and a hit batter loaded the bases but Dinesen's luck again came to his rescue when the side went out on infield plays. Deb Hillier staged the neatest fielding play of the game with a running catch of Maudsleys' high fly over second in the sixth inning.

ORIOLES GAIN EASY VICTORY FROM REDWINGS

Birds Hop on Michaels and Winford for 13 Hits, Including Four Homers.

FINAL SCORE 7-2.

(By the Associated Press).

The Baltimore Orioles took seven successive lacings from the Rochester Red Wings before they discovered how to win an International League ball game from the Wings this season.

Joe Judge's Orioles found the combination last night and earned an easy 7-2 decision behind the fine pitching of Chief Euel Moore, workhorse of the Baltimore staff.

The Orioles hopped on Johnny Michaels and Jim Winford for 13 hits, including four home runs, a triple by Keit Molesworth and doubles by Clark and Kroner in breaking the jinx Rochester had held over Baltimore all season.

While all this heavy shelling was going on, Moore held the Red Wings to six hits. He blanked them with two hits in the first eight frames, but the Wings put together four hits for two runs to save themselves from a shutout in the ninth. George Puccinelli contributed two home runs to the winners' cause and also fielded sensationally. The other Baltimore homers were by Bob Asby and Doug. Tait.

All other league games were rained out.

WESTCLOX COPS 26-17 VICTORY

Clockmakers Revenge Defeat Suffered at Hands of Electrics Last Week

HEAVY SLUGGING.

Westclox Girls revenged the defeat which they suffered at the hands of the C.G.E. team in their first encounter of the season, a week ago, when the two crews hooked up for the second battle at Armour Field last night, and the Alarm Maidens, pounded four opposing hurlers for seventeen hits and a 26 to 17 victory.

The losers chased six across in the first and five in the third when they seemed to have the Westclox on the run but from that innings on, Barb Blade, pitching for the winners steadily improved and her teammates flashed splendid fielding. The Electrics displayed poor defensive work, and the pitchers had difficulty holding the Westclox batters who hit hard and often, and scampered around the bases almost at will. A disastrous sixth frame gave the winners nine runs, and although the C.G.E. got four back in the seventh, they lacked the punch to overcome the big lead.

CARPET LOOP CLOSES YEAR

League Ends Season at Successful Banquet Held in Sons of England Hall.

FINAL BUSINESS.

The City Carpet Ball League closed its most successful season at a general meeting held on Tuesday last in the Sons of England hall. Representatives from every organization that participated in the schedule, were present.

Dave Leether, the popular president was ably supported by Vice President F. J. Parsons. The financial report as audited by Messrs W. G. Shiner and G. Soulby showed a cash balanceon hand of $4.63.

One or two subjects were discussed and it was decided that any person making application for membership next season must pay any arrears or application will not be entertained.

The matter appertaining to the awarding of the Bleasedell Memorial Shield was left over to the next general meeting. Also a notice of motion was placed that the Reach Trophy will be renamed The President's Cup, this being due to the fact that it was through President Dave Leether that the same Cup was secured. A very hearty vote of thanks was accorded to the president and his committee for the splendid program put on at the annual banquet and the prize committee for the assortment of prizes.

The date of the next general meeting was settled. The meeting will be held in the Sons of England Hall on Wednesday, Sept. 5 at 7.45 p.m. Notification will be sent out through the press and mail and all clubs or organizations that are contemplating entering teams for the next season are asked to keep this date in mind.

All interested members are asked to abide by the following. All notice of motion for amendments to the constitution of the league are requested to mail same to the secretary G. E. Groombridge, 296 Rogers street on or before August 30th, 1934. These are to be presented at the general meeting. No further amendments will be accepted later than this date.

A very hearty vote of thanks was accorded to the S.O.E. for their kindness in placing the hall at the disposal of the league and to the sports department of The Examiner for the splendid cooperation during the past season.

SPORTS DAY BY DAY

Baseball, Lacrosse, Soccer Softball, Bowling, etc.

By C. J. P.

It seems there was an election of some sort around these parts yesterday. Quite a few folks took an active interest in what went on, and consequently we—with the rest of this sheet's staff—had to sort of forget sports for the evening and do a lot of buzzing around here and there to give the voters the dope. We've even heard people say that elections were more important than sports. Of course, this is absurd but after all, we suppose, even the politicians must have the odd inning. So we don't know much of what went on around town in sports last night, though we did hear that C.G.E. men softballers weren't all out for their game with Johnston's Tires—the election no doubt having something to do with this.

• • • • • • •

A guy signing himself 'Super Snicker" in the Oshawa Times the other day was quite tickled—and who can blame him?—over the Dukes' win over Belleville. He even breaks out in a rash of poetry: "Oh, somewhere in this favoured land, dark clouds may hide the sun, And somewhere bands no longer play and children have no fun, And somewhere over blighted lives there hangs a pall of shame— But Oshawa hearts are happy now for the Dukes have wone a game!"

• • • • • • •

The Oshawa scribe naturally is quite elated now, and it appears as if they can henceforth field a full and strong team. They play the Petes here Saturday and this will be a game watched with interest by many. However, we think the Motor City key-mauler's remark that "They flashed a brand of baseball which marks them as the team to beat for C.O.B.L. honors" is a bit over-enthusiastic. That winning streak of theirs—large as it is—may be broken any time now, even here this week. We won't take T.R.H. the Dukes too lightly—not at all. But we will continue to cast the odd eye Kingston's way ere the season endeth.

• • • • • • •

The Petes all felt yesterday that they should have copped that tilt in Belleville the previous night. They admitted Williams hurled lovely ball, but also stated that Calladine's flinging was pretty smooth, too. Rough gound and rain caused the locals' infield to boot a few bad ones around and that made the difference in a close game. They came mighty close to grabbing the verdict in the ninth, and feel they can always climb aboard Willams when he slows up late in the game and pound out a win.

• • • • • • •

We have no hesitation in advising lacrosse fans, and lovers of fast sports, to amble down to Riverside Park tomorrow eve at six bells and get a load of a nifty lacrosse game. We're sure it will be a honey as both Belleville and the Petes shape up as well-matched and experienced teams. They throw off sparks with their action and in a good O.A.L.A. grouping, playing on their new grounds, the lot . . wielders of the gutted sticks—the team is known as "Kiwanis" this summer—ought to step in there with both feet and a lot of wim, wigor and witality. If the game is a flop, we will never run for office again—but we simply can't be wrong all the time.

• • • • • • •

We were sorry to have missed last night's E.P.L. game at the Exhibition Grounds, especially when Jack Barry was hurling two-hit ball. C.G.E. won from Fosters, 7-3, and it was a good game, but Barry proved too much for the losers. They used Clark and Dinesen, the former fanning a flock and the latter getting more support than the leaning tower of Pisa—no, no, we don't mean Carnera but the real ower. Fosters still aren't getting twirling quite good enough for the opposition, though they're strong enough in every other department.

• • • • • • •

The gal softballers couldn't get the Bowl last night as the recent rains had softened the ground again, so they played in Armour Field and Westclox 26-17'nd the C.G.E. damsels. The Electrics put on a parade of pitchers that rivalled the political parade later in the eve though C.G.E. didn't have a band. Barbara Blade also had her ups and downs on the Clockers' slab but settled away the last half, and got fine backing from her teammates throughout. C.G.E.'s support just wasn't.

• • • • • • •

There will be a twilight game of soccer, first of the year, tomorrow (Thursday) night at six in King Edward Park, with Caledonians playing C.G.E. in a league fixture. The classy Electrics haven't dropped a tilt yet, but the Scots are out to take 'em this time. It is necessary to run in the odd twilight encounter owing to differences of times in the various towns in the circuit, some being on Daylight Saving, and others being oldfashioned like us.

• • • • • • •

Sport shorts: C.G.E.'s pickup men's softball team put up quite an argument last p.m. before bowing to Johnston's Tires, 16-9 . . . . Next scheduled gals' game here in Westclox vs. Maple Leafs at Central Sat'day . . . . Sideboards four feet high, topped with about six feet of wire, will protect fans from flying balls at the lacrosse game in Riverside tomorrow e'en . . . . Cogs play Fosters in Friday's E.P.L. tussle . . . . School Softball League should be wound up one of these days and the final standings published.

ADA MACKENZIE WINS TORONTO GOLF HONORS FOR FIFTH TIME

Finishes 12 Strokes in Front of Maude Smith in 36-hole Medal Competition.

MRS. MULQUEEN THIRD.

TORONTO, June 20.—As was expected after her record-breaking round at the Rosedale Golf Club on Monday, Miss Ada Mackenzie of the Ladies' Club added her fifth city championship to her lengthy list of golf honors yesterday as her long lead of seven strokes at the half-way mark was too much for her nearest rival to overcome. Although the champion slipped eight strokes over her first round score, to 85, the other leaders also took more strokes to play the round, although playing conditions were greatly improved over those that prevailed on Monday.

Miss Maude Smith of the Toronto Golf Club, who was second after the first 18 holes, slipped off to a 90 and therefore Miss Mackenzie won by a 12-stroke margin, the largest in the 12 years that the championship has been held. In 1929 at Summit, Miss Mackenzie won by a ten-stroke margin with Miss Smith being the runner-up on that occasion also. Mrs. F. J. Mulqueen of the Toronto club was third, three strokes behind her club mate, this being the third years in succession that she finished third.

The closest struggle was in the net score event, with Miss Ella Vigeon and Mrs. E. J. Trow, both of the Rosedale club, finishing with 154's, and Miss Vigeon taking first prize after a comparison of the last nine cards. Miss Audrey Brown, of Missisauga, was third with 156.

Following the completion of the round the prizes were presented, along with the Murray and The Mail and Empire trophies for 1933. The former was won by Miss Isobel Pepall, of Lambton, and the later by the Toronto Golf Club's team. The prizes-winners were:

Gross scores—Rodger trophy and Centennial medal, 1, Miss Ada Mackenzie, Toronto Ladies, 162; 2, Miss Maude E. Smith, Toronto Golf 174; 3, Mrs. F. J. Mulqueen, Toronto Golf, 177.

Net scores—Col. A. E. Gooderham's prize, 1, Miss Ella Vigeon, Rosedale, 154; 2, Rosedale Ladies' prize, Mrs. E. J. Trow, 154; 3, Miss Audrey Brown, Mississauga, 156.

Best single gross—Mrs. McBain's prize, Mrs. George Stanley, Thornhill, 91.

Best single net—Mrs. McBain's prize, Miss Willo Love, Lambton, 75.

Silver division aggregate driving—1, Mrs. R. W. Gouinlock, Toronto Golf; 2, Mrs. George Stanley, Thornhill; longest individual, Miss Ada Mackenzie, Toronto Ladies.

Bronze division aggregate driving—1, Mrs. G. Hutchings, Islington; 2, Eleanor Williams, Toronto Ladies; longest individual, Mrs. E. R. Sproatt, Lambton.

Putting—Monday, Miss Ada Mackenzie, Toronto Ladies; Tuesday, Mrs. Geo. A. Downey, Toronto Ladies.

Murray Cup, for greatest percentage of reduction in handicap during 1933—Miss Isobel Pepall, Lambton, from 22 to 9.

Big Six Leaders

Heinie Manush continued to pound the ball in yesterday's double-header and increased his lead over the idle Charley Gehringer by seven points in the race for the Big Six and the American League batting lead. Manush collected five times in eight attempts, making his 98th blow of the season and hoisting his mark to .410. His team-mate, Cecil Travis, lost five points, hitting only twice in seven tries. Joe Medwick missed out six times straight and lost 10 points, but held fourth place safe from Sam Leslie, who registered a five-point gain with three hits in five times up.

The standing:

FIRST LACROSSE GAME ON THURSDAY

Aajmaa Club of Belleville and Kiwanis to Hook Up in League Fixture.

The 1934 O.A.L.A. season is ushered in locally to-morrow (Thursday) evening at six o'clock in Riverside Park when an intermediate lacrosse game is played between the Aajmaa Club of Belleville and the Kiwanis of Peterborough. It is a regularly scheduled game and will show the strong Quinte team for the first time against the former Petes who went to the Ontario finals two years ago. Belleville won its first game last week with a 15-6 score over Campbellford while the local Kiwanis crew nosed out Cobourg, 8-7. The fixture here tomorrow promises to be a fine whirlwind battle between two good teams. Patrons can sit in the west grandstand and have a close-up view of the game.

The Aajmaa Club went far and wide to round up a classy squad and has players from Belleville, Ottawa, Trenton, Port Arthur and Cornwall—all of them now residents of the Quinte town. The classy Joe Gould, with Norwood last year, starred in their recent win over Campbellford. This is the Belleville line-up: Goal, Delaney; defence, T. Day and Morgan; rover, J. Gould; wings, Gibbs and B. Gould; centre, Burdes; alternates, Smith, Goodier, Brooks, Brant, Cassidy, L'Heureaux and Murphy.

SEEKING RETURN MATCH BETWEEN ROSS, McLARNIN

NEW YORK, June 20.—(C.P.)—Negotiations for a return match between Barney Ross and Jimmy McLarnin were started yesterday with the arrival of Ross and Sam Pian, one of his managers, from Chicago. The holder of the world light and welterweight championships is here to begin a vaudeville engagement.

The match is being sought by the Milk Fund, which would stage it at the Polo Grounds in September. The signatures of McLarnin and his manager, Pop Foster, are already available, it is said.

Ross promised McLarnin an opportunity to regain his welterweight title, and since he made good on his promise to give Tony Canzoneri a return crack at his lightweight crown it is expected Ross will do the same for the Vancouver Irishman.

CHANGE OF MANAGERS FAILS TO SWING WIN FOR PIRATES

Giants Make it Three Straight Victories at Pittsburg.

CUBS BOW TO BRAVES.

Another major league has tried the old experiment of changing its fortunes by changing its managers and to-day the Pittsburgh Pirates had a new pilot, Harold (Pie) Traynor, and offered an almost perfect opportunity for him to make good.

Traynor took over the managerial duties yesterday from George Gibson, who became progressively less popular with Pittsburgh fans as the Pirates' slump continued. The Bucs then went out and lost another game, their fifth straight and their eighth in nine starts, going down 5-3 before the league-leading New York Giants. That, coupled with Boston's 2-1 triumph over Chicago, put the Bucs in fifth place.

With a 4½ game margin over Brooklyn, Pittsburgh can't go much lower for a while and Traynor has a good starting place frem which to hoist the club back into the pennant fight. The Bucs put up a good scrap, outhitting their rivals 13-11 and losing several good chances through New York's fielding brilliance, the Giants finally had to call Carl Hubgel in to finish the game after Hal Schumacher had been nicked for two runs in the eighth.

The victory was a profitable one for the Giants as it increased their lead over the second-place Cardinals to four games and their margin over Chicago to 5½. While the combination of Ed Brandt's four-hit pitching and a timely homer by Randy Moore gave the Braves their decision over the Cubs, the Phillies pulled out a 12 inning decision over the Cardinals and Paul Dean, 10 to 8.

Loses His First Game

Dean, the fourth St. Louis flinger, lost his first game of the year after eight victories. The Phils broke a string of six scoreless innings with a single by John Moore, a triple by Dolph Camilli and a double by Curt Davis, who was the fifth Philadelphia flinger and won his eighth game of the year.

Previously the Cards had scored five run in the second on homers by Tex Carleton and Jack Rothrock and the Phils had squared things with two four-run frames.

Redmen Get Place.

The last-place Cincinnati Reds won the other National League game when Manager Casey Stengel of Brooklyn tried starting Johnny Babich, Rookie hurler from the Coast League, and saw him go out in the fourth five runs behind after having his pitching hand struck by a batted ball. The final count in the slugfest was 11 to 7.

Divide Double Bill.

The American League had a rather profitable day when Cleveland and Washington, rivals for third place, split a double-header and remained in a virtual tie. All the other clubs were idle as the Chicago-Philadelphia and Detroit-New York games were rained out and St. Louis and Boston had an open date.

The Senators won the opener, 6-2, with the aid of first inning homers by Johnny Stone and Heinie Manush and a dozen other hits off Oral Hildebrand. The Indians came back behind Mel Harder to win a mound duel 3 to 0 and finish only four points to the rear. Hal Trosky started the scoring with his 12th homer and the victim, Monte Weaver, was charged with his second defeat against eight victories.

Home Run Kings

Home runs yesterday:
Trosty, Indians, 1; Holland Indians, 1; Stone, Senators, 1; Manush, Senators, 1; Moore, Braves, 1; Boyle, Dodgers, 1; Carleton, Cardinals, 1; Rothrock, Cardinals, 1.
The leaders:

KNOX JUVENILES DROP FIRST GAME OF YEAR

Knox Juveniles, Church League champions last year, dropped their first game of the season last night, 11-10, to St. John's in a fine battle. It was the first game of the semi-finals. Capt. Ernie Smith scored the winning run in the ninth frame. Chivras had better control than Graham, and only four St. John men were left on bases, while ten Knox players died on the sacks. Smith and LeClaire led the clouters. The teams:

Knox: Williams, ss; Penrose, c; Graham, p; Hughes, rf; Laing, lf; Lucas, 2b; LeClaire, 1b; Whatman, 3b; Andrews, cf.

St. John's: Kent, 1b; Thirnbeck, c; Chivras, p; Bowler, ss; Gibbs, ss; Smith, 3b; Vollans, lf; Copperthwaite, cf; Coleman, rf.

INVESTIGATION PENDING

TORONTO, June 20. (CP).—Affiliation of all Toronto amateur boxing clubs were suspended by the registration committee of the Central Ontario branch of the A.A.U. of C. pending an investigation into the activities of the clubs, Secretary W. M. Gladish announced to-day.

Leafs' Series Cut To Double Contests

NEWARK, June 20.—The heavy rain storm which caused the Maple Leafs to lay off at Baltimore Monday night, followed the Canadians here and last night's game with the Newark Bears was called off on account of wet grounds.

Charlie Hollingsworth, league-leading pitcher, who was slated to pitch Monday night, then last night, will work this afternoon in the first game of the crucial series against the league leaders. Walter Brown, Hollingsworth's closest rival, was scheduled to pitch for Newark, but if he is not ready Jack Larocca will get the call.

The series here has been reduced to two games, a night game Thursday night, and Friday will be an off-day. This is anything but pleasing to Manager Iwe Boone for he doesn't relish three holidays in five days just when his team is travelling at a fast clip.

St. James' Juniors Defeat Lakefield

A large crowd last night saw St. James wallop Lakefield Juniors, 19-9, in their Church Loop softball game last evening, the winners clinching first place. Ridley was in rare form for the Saints, though a bit wild late in the contest, and fanned eight. Graham gave way to Garbutt for Lakefield. Erratic base-running helped in Lakefield's loss. Elliott and Graham each got two hits for the visitors while Mowry, Leggett and Heal topped the winners at bat. Smart and Garbutt had good catches. The teams:

Lakefield United—Loyst, c; Elliott, cf; Kingdon, lf; Morrison, 3b; Jewell, 8b; Chittick, 1b; Spence, ss; Garbutt, rf, p; Graham, p, rf.

St. James: English, 3b; Heal, 2b; Mowry, ss; Ridley, p; McGoverin, 1b; Spencely, rf; Todd, lf; Leggett, c; Smart, cf.

Mark St. Bantams In Church Finals

Mark Street Bantams qualified for the Church Softball League finals last night by taking the third semi-final game from George Street, 9-5. They now meet St. Paul's to-night and Friday. The losers were minus the Hamilton brothers and this loss was felt at bat and in the field. Outfield errors played a large part in their loss also. The game was a snappy affair, featured by good twirling by Craig and Wildman. W. Agnew, Craig, Elton and Parnell were the best of the hitters. A big fifth inning put the tilt on ice for the Ashburnham crew. The teams:

George Street—Elton, rf; Stewart c; Parnel, ss; Wildman p; McKinnon, 1b; Weese, 3b; Willshaw, cf; Atkins, lf; Carter, 2b.

Mark Street—Brady, 3b; Craig, p; Ball, lf; V. Ferguson, cf; Scriver, c; C. Ferguson, 1b; Clark, 2b; F. Agnew, ss; W. Agnew, rf.

TWO BIG FRAMES WINS FOR MARK ST. SENIORS

After being fooled for four frames by Fleming's slow ball, Mark Street Seniors got to him for seven runs in two innings to knock off St. Paul, 8 to 2, in a Church Softball League game last night. R. Hunter hurled a good game for the winners, leaving eleven runners stranded. Parsons, Bradley and Marsh went good in the field with Clayton and Parsons batting well. The win leaves Mark Street on top with their game to-night against Knox deciding first place. The teams:

St. Paul—Wooll, lf; Kirkwood, rf; Marsh, 3b; Fleming, p; Clayton, c; McIntyre, cf; Broadley, 2b; Anders, ss; Coleman, 1b.

GOLF FACTS NOT THEORIES

By ALEX. J. MORRISON

A pupil of mine who has been playing golf for less than three years complained about not being able to make long iron shots.

I told him that these shots are tough for any player to make.

I can think of only three players who hit long irons with consistency. They are Bobby Jones, Tommy Armour and Mac Smith.

I remember that just before the national open at Fresh Meadows none other than Gene Sarazen was practising with his number one and two irons, trying to cultivate the long high flight which characterizes the iron play of the above named players.

It takes an almost perfect swing to play long irons properly.

If you cannot hit these shots look to your swing.

Lindsay Celebrates Return Of Liberals

LINDSAY, Ont., June 20 (Special to Examiner).—It was a night of nights for the Liberals of Victoria and Haliburton riding on election night as they celebrated the greatest Liberal victory in the history of the old riding in the election of William Newman, by a majority of 2,700. A record vote was registered in every polling subdivision. A feature of the contest was the amazing majorities rolled up by the Liberal candidate in the strong Conservative section of the north (Haliburton County). Even the voters in the road camp voted for Mr. Newman. The Conservatives had counted on the northern vote to swing them into the winning column. Mr. Newman spent the day in the northern part of the constituency (on the fringe of Algonquin Park). He did not reach Lindsay until after midnight. Even at that late hour thousands were waiting to welcome him. A procession of about two hundred autos was headed by the Forty-Fifth Regiment Band, thousands lined the streets and cheered the victor as the parade proceeded to Victoria Park, where addresses were delivered by Mr. Newman and other prominent Liberals.

50-1 SHOT PAYS AT ASCOT

ASCOT, England, June 20. (C.P. Cable)—Biggest upset of the meeting to date, H. E. Ewing's four-year-old Caymanas at 50 to 1, won the renewal of the Royal Hunt Cup, to-day's feature of the great Royal Ascot meeting, over the seven furlongs, 166 yards course.

John Tait, stepson of wealthy Lady Tait, is engaged to marry Lucy Burnham, a widow. In France, where the three were sojourning Lady Tait takes a dislike to Gillian Dundas, a beautiful girl, who, it is disclosed, is blackmailing Tait for a past indiscretion. Back in London Tait becomes alarmed when his business associate, Lord Mills, is found shot to death. Mrs. Burnham takes Miss Dundas "under her wing" much to Lady Tait's annoyance. A luncheon given by Lady Tait in honor of Tait and his fiancee, and attended by John's cousins Alysia, Etta and Claud Naylor, is a poor success owing to Tait's apparent uneasiness. Tea is interrupted by the discovery of John Tait's body on the sidewalk in front of Lady Tait's home. Suspecting he has been poisoned, Chief Inspector Pointer of Scotland Yard investigates what appears to be murder and first questions the victim's cousin, Claud Naylor. Talking with Lucy Burnham, Pointer learns that Tait received a death threat by letter the same day Lord Mills had killed himself. Then the inspector interviews Lady Tait.

CHAPTER 28

"I think you do," Pointer agreed. "Your idea then is, that whatever it was between them was being renewed?"

"Oh, no! My son was entirely and deeply in love with Mrs. Burnham, as you would have known had you heard the tone of his voice, as well as his words, when he left her—only a little over an hour ago!" Emotion then nearly overcame her, but she steadied her lips and went on after a pause. "No. He was trying to get out of some old affair—some escapade—that sort of thing." There fell a short silence.

Pointer asked her if she had ever seen the pen to which the gold top in his hand belonged. He had picked it up, he told her too, off the dining-room floor. Lady Tait looked at it without interest, said she had never seen one like it to her knowledge, and suggested therefore Mrs. Burnham as the possible owner. "Though it would be quite in keeping with the preposterous belongings of Miss Dundas, if it were hers."

Cleverly concealed but very skillful questions had led to no confidences about threatening letters having been received by the dead man, so Pointer put the question finally point blank. Had her stepson received any such?

"Of course not" she said to that in a tone of sharp, almost terrified indignation. "What a wild and romantic idea, chief inspector!"

So now he knew what she had been keeping back. Lady Tait knew of such a letter, or letters, or the possibility of their having been received and for some reason wished to withhold the information from the police. . . . He thanked her, closed the interview on that, and next saw Miss Naylor. He learned nothing from Alysia. He did not think that she was in possession of any knowledge that would help him. Her interests in the tragedy were entirely as to how it concerned herself, so he read her. He might be all wrong, of course, but for the present, he put her down as a talker, not a doer.

But her sister Etta, who came next, was an entirely different proposition, apart from the strange glimpse that he had had of her watching Gillian Dundas so intently.

Here was a strong character, he thought. It was not the kind of face that he, the chief inspector, cared to see in the family of one who had died by poison. Not that it was an evil face, but it was the face of one who thought her own thoughts, would go her own way. Something about the handsomely cut, full lips suggested intense repression. The cheek bones were high, the neck short rather than long. A woman of swift action when roused, one would expect. Not the face of one to quietly endure. And yet something about those lips suggested a woman who had endured much. Unlike Lady Tait, there was a singular tone of insincerity about all that she said to him. But Pointer did not think her fundamentally insincere. She affected him more as a woman who might be very sincere indeed but who, for some reason, chose to assume a character, play a part quite at variance with her natural one.

These smug sentences with which she referred to the inevitability of death and our duty to so live that we could at any time be called away, struck him as so many gags used by an actress, yet he felt that she was far more interested in the tragedy than she showed. Or rather, he felt that her interest was quite removed from anything to do with the emotions, with grief, or with horror. He had felt the same about her brother. There was a look in the eyes of both that spoke of some active, engrossing preoccupation arising from Tait's death. Pointer's habit, in a murder case, was always to ask the person to whom he was talking who that person thought might have committed the crime, unless they had already suggested a criminal. His question was put entirely with a view to obtaining information as to the relationships among themselves of the circle around the dead man. Many a time, unsuspected mistrusts, enmities of which he would never have otherwise heard, rustled and showed themselves in answer to that query, like snakes coming to the charmer's flute.

Etta, like Alysia, told him that she had no idea where to look for the criminal or the motive. So she would not name the girl on the landing. Yet, if her fixed stare at that shrinking figure had not meant suspicion, what did account for it? Strange currents flowed into and out of murder. If John Tait's death proved to be as seemed certain, a planned murder, they would surely be here too. He asked her to describe the scene in the hall when the body was brought in. He learned nothing, except that she confined herself rigidly to facts.

"Who profits by Mr. Tait's death?" he asked, after a pause.

"If you mean in a money sense, all three of us, his cousins, profit. But the only real profit, chief inspector, are the things that cannot be set down in a will."

"True," he agreed placidly, "yet of the things that can be so set down and handed on, you, your sister, and your brother are the sole inheritors?"

"We're his only relatives. Yes. It is at times like this that one realizes how little money means, how passing its possession."

A question as to where Tait had lunched today met with an absolute inability even to guess.

"What exactly is the position of the young lady whom I saw standing for a moment on the landing?" Pointer asked.

Gillian Dundas was explained briefly but very accurately by Miss Etta.

"She hardly knew Mr. Tait, then?" Etta further explained about Vichy.

"So they had met at Vichy?"

She nodded. "Yes, but she knew him very slightly indeed. She certainly did not know him well enough to poison him." She said this with a certain gleam of the eye that made him feel sure that here was a bit of the real Etta Naylor. Pointer, finding that there was nothing to be learned from Miss Naylor without her will, an nothing with it, passed on for the moment, as he had done in the case of her aunt.

She, like her elder sister, claimed not to recognize the pen top.

"I wonder if you would kindly arrange for Miss Dundas to come in for a word?" he said as he went to the door. "I think she may be of great help."

For a second a curious look passed over Etta Naylor's handsome face. A very singular look made up of more than one emotion.

She shot a most penetrating look at Pointer.

"Can you ride in this race and win?" was in her eye. But she only said "Indeed? On the principle that outsiders see more than insiders?"

"Something of that sort," he agreed. As he opened the door for her Gillian Dundas came in very indifferently, very listless in look and bearing. She sank into a chair without a word, and resting her forehead on her white hand with its mandarine-colored nails, looked dumbly down at the table. Then she raised her eyes and Pointer was genuinely startled. Terror and dread stared from her white, delicately-painted face. And looking into his clear, calm, very fine gray eyes, the terror showed yet more plainly as guilty fear, abject and absolute.

THE STARS SAY . . .

By GENEVIEVE KEMBLE

For Thursday, June 21

A day of great energy, initiative and aggressive attack on large interests and enterprises is foreshown by the dominant planetary influences, both by lunar and mutual aspects. While the energies will be under high pressure for launching long-cherished projects and ambitions, there is also a sign read as advancing these by unusual outlay of finances and taking some important speculatixe hazards. Friends of power and prestige may be found ready to assist substantially in such investments, and these and large corporations should be cultivated to this end.

Those whose birthday it is are on the threshold of a year of great initiative and progress, with the forces and faculties keyed to a high degree of accomplishment with bold ventures succeeding by these personal stimuli as well as by the substantial co-operation of friends in places of power and position. An element of the speculative may be expected, with the necessity of a generous outlay of funds. But large accomplishments and fulfilled ambitions may be assured.

A child born on this day may be bold, adventurous and ambitious with the force and faculties to reach high standing and prestige.
